Even Sales Clerks Opposing Sales

TORONTO, Jan. 8 (CP)—Even the sales clerks don't like the rising meat prices. A Toronto housewife asked her butcher yesterday for three lamb chops and the clerk said: "I wouldn't buy them. The price is too high and there is little meat on them." Pork chops? "Not worth the money," said the clerk. "You had better take some round steak. At least you will get some meat."

Meat Prices

In the position of facing the meat-buying public daily, the city butchers gave a monotonously similar account of the comments of the buyers: "it's a shame,"; "well, I'll just not pay it,"; "on a workingman's salary, who can afford that,"; "make that one-and-a-half instead of two pounds.'

"Customers want to know what it's all about," said a butcher on the north end of George street. "Nobody seems to know where the blame is—the customers say it's us; we say it's the wholesalers; the wholesalers blame the processors; and the packers blame the farmers. But the farmers just point to the prices of feed. Nice circle, gets nowhere."

Complaints have been fired at butchers continually since the jumps on Monday.

The new prices are certainly in no danger of being ignored. Hotel clerks throughout the city report that it is the favorite topic of conversation—in a shuddery sort of way.

In restaurants, in the majority of the booths, sooner or later the subject comes up. And, incidentally, if your eating that meal in some city spots, your check will cost another nickel or dime—just to remind you.

Just about every opinion on all aspects of the question has been aired many times in the past few days. In fact, everything but the question: when, how and by whom will the spiral be stopped?

Dismiss Appeal Of Simons In Resort Killing

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — The Ontario court of appeal today dismissed the appeal of Edgar James Simons, convicted of the murder last April 19 of Mrs. Catherine Rupert of Pancake Bay and sentenced to be hanged Jan. 21.

Ian. Munro, Sault Ste. Marie lawyer, appearing for the 19-year-old northwoods guide, held that evidence was withheld at the trial in the Sault and there were errors in the direction of the evidence to the jury. Chief Justice R. S. Robertson ruled there was no alternative but to dismiss the application.

Mr. Munro held that the defence lacked funds and was unable to engage experts as did the Crown. He felt that the trial judge, Mr. Justice M. A. LeBel, was influenced by the testimony of Crown-employed psychiatrists.

Simons was convicted of the cape-slaying of the 24-year-old wife of his employer, whose bullet-riddled body was found along with that of her two-year-old son at the husband's northern resort camp. The Crown charged that desire for sexual relationship with the woman was the motive for the crime.

Wanted Insanity

Mr. Munro argued that because of the "brutality and savagery" of the act the jury should have returned a verdict of "insanity." He held that in the trial judge's charge he did not impress upon the jury sufficiently that they could return a verdict of "insanity" rather than murder.

In his address to the jury following completion of the case of the Crown and the defence, Mr. Justice LeBel said that attempts of the defence to show the accused mentally deficient should be discarded. The judge described Simons, on the basis of Crown evidence, as "completely sane and stable."

Mr. Rupert, formerly of Altoona, Pa., was absent from the Lake Superior resort lodge he purchased with war-service gratuities when the crime was committed. In a note found in Simons' cabin, the young guide said he saw his employer's pretty wife standing by a kitchen window and shot her twice with a .22-calibre rifle. He denied raping the woman.

UNEASY QUITE— FOR A WHILE

After a morning of checking the altitude of price levels, there was a feeling of apprehension as restaurants were polled for the latest blow—how much are they raising cost of meals, snacks and that hot sandwich which forms part of the daily routine for many downtowners. No, not too many yet—. There are two or three who have already tacked on an extra nickel or dime to those meals which include the mountings meats. Most of them, however—like the long-suffering consumer—are hanging on grimly, keeping the old levels until the change is necessary.

As yet there has been no indication of any organized attempts to stage a "buyer's strike" in Peterborough. But butchers are anxiously watching consumer reaction to this latest blow to a stable cost of living.

Imperative Need Is Clothing Speaker Reports

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 8 — (ENS) —The Catharine Parr Trail Chapter, IODE, met at the home of Mrs. Currie for the nomination meeting on Monday evening.

Nominations resulted in ap- being nominated for each office, proximately six or eight members so it was decided that th enominating committee select the three having been chosen greatest number of times, write or phone them to tsee if they would accept the office if elected and present the names at the next meeting for an election. The regent, Mrs. L. Quackenbush presided.

Mrs. T. Chaplin gave two seasable readings, one a code of ethics for the New Year; the other on Bethlehem, the setting of the nativity.

The correspondence, which included several letters of appreciation for boxes of food sent to Britain, was read by Mrs. Ray Jackman and Mrs. Mary Lee.

Mrs. J. Arnott read a letter from the Civic Hospital regarding suitable donations to be made to the new hospitail.

An open forum was held regarding the shipment of food to Britain. Mrs. W. O'Brien and Mrs. C. Robertson were appointed to pack one box of food this month. Two boxes are to be shipped.

The regent suggested that the members bring any good used clothing to Mrs. Currie's home for shipment to Britain.

Mrs. J. McKerchar, who has recently returned from a trip to Scotland, England and Wales, stressed the uprgent need for clothing. While she was there, Mrs. McKerchar said the people were being issued thirty-two clothing coupons for eight months. A suit of clothes for a man took twenty-six coupons and a pair of shoes six. In ladies' clothing, a coat or suit took 18 coupons, a skirt four, and 4½ coupons were required for each yard of woollen material. Caps or hats do not take coupons, but are such a fabulous price no one buys them. Now the coupons have been cut to twenty for an indefinite period. "The people in Britain," said Mrs. McKerchar, "have no pride left where clothing is concerned, so send anything that is useful.

Mrs. J. Murphy, representing the Women's Institute, Mrs. E. Turk, representing the WA of St. Andrew's church, Mrs. W. W. Leonard, representing the Red Cross, Mrs. J. Arnott the Service Club of the Baptist church, and Mrs. R. Jackman the Service Club of Regent St. United church, said their organizations would assist in any way possible.

Mrs. J. Arnott and Mrs. K. Lickty were scrutineers for the nominations.

Lunch was served by Mrs. F. L. Erskine, Mrs. W. O'Brien, Mrs. Jackman, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Lee.

HONOR PAYS OFF—An innovation in honor system is the communication method in Japan where for the first time in the world public telephone boths are fed paper money instead of the usual coins. When a caller raises the receiver he tells the operator, the number he wants, and when the connection is made the operator tells the caller to deposit 50 sen. The operator has no way of knowing whether the money was deposited. A phone company collector may be seen at left scooping up the 50 sen notes (1 cent) which spilled from box. To date the company has been five per cent overpaid, due to the fact that 50 sen notes are scarce in this country afflicted with inflation. At right the first ambassador of Burma to the United States raises the flag of the Independent Republic of Burma in front of the embassy of Burma, Washington, D.C. In welcoming the new nation, acting U.S. Secretary of State Robert A. Guild Reports Finances Healthy MARMORA, Jan. 8—(ENS)—The annual meeting of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday evening. Rev. J. M. Brownlie opened the meeting with prayer and presided for the presentation of yearly reports. The secretarial report given by Mrs. D. B. Robertson mentioned the holding 10 monthly meetings in the year just closed. Mrs. D. McInroy, treasurer followed with the financial reports. That of the general fund revealed an increase of over $100 over the highly creditable receipts of 1946. Funds were also shown to be in excellent condition in the Redecoration Fund, which is still left open to complete the redeocration scheme.

Another gratifying report was that of the flower fund given by Mrs. E. Hewitt. For the sick committee, Mrs. G. Kerr as convener mentioned 17 homes having been visited in that connection. The rector gave the report for the Altar Guild and spoke words of appreciation of its work. Ten dollars was voted to the Save the Children Fund. The sick committee comprising Mesdames G. Kerr, I. B. Nichols, E. Hewitt, and L. R. Rundle, were re-elected. It was decided to hold the meetings for the remaining winter months at the homes of members. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. Robertson. The membership was then divided into two groups.

Widow Discovers Sympathetic Saleslady Wife Of Man Charged With Slaying Husband

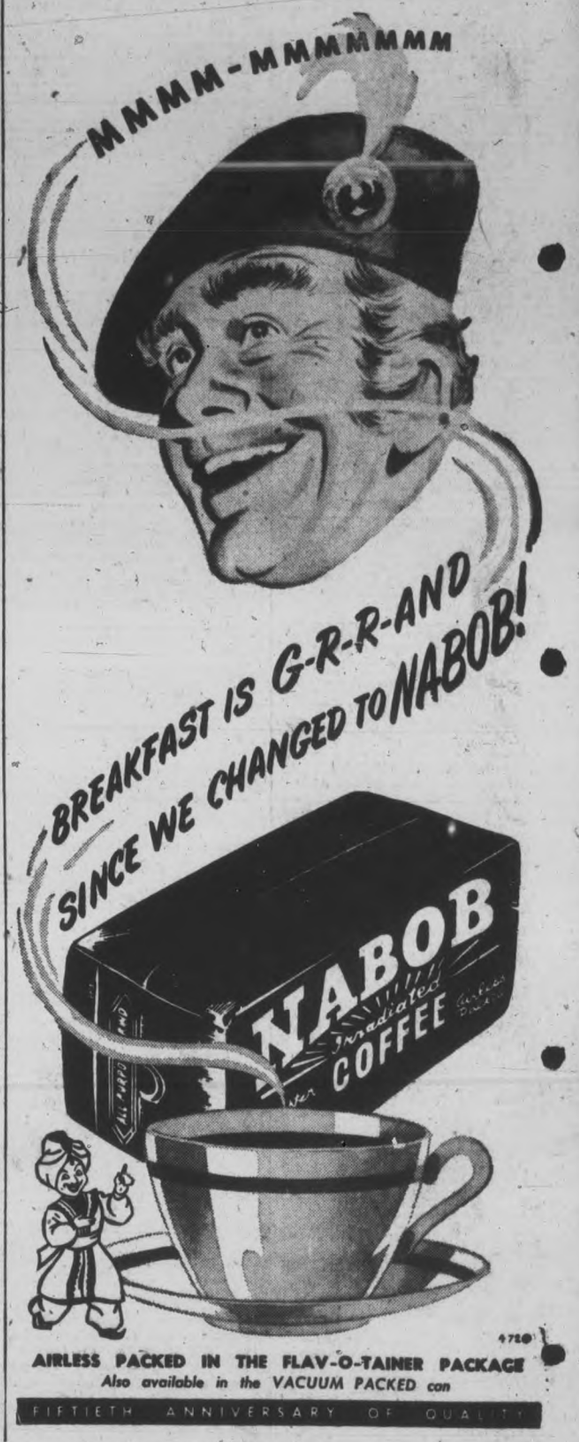
DETROIT, Jan. 8 — (AP) — Just a few days before Christmas a grief-stricken young widow stopped beside a wellstocked dress rack in an East side department store.

"I would like to see a dress —a black dress for my husband's funeral," she told the greying saleslady, a sympathetic but inexperienced workers employed during the Christmas rush.

Within a short time Mrs. Henry Mach, whose patrolman husband had been killed by a gunman's bullet, had selected her dress.

Several days after the victim's 21-year-old wife, Martha, attended the funeral, police arrested Reece Lawson, 47, an ex-convict in the slaying. Lawson was held for trial yesterday, and two women were among the spectators at his arraignment.

Mrs. Mach glanced disinterestedly at her middle-aged co-spectator, then looked back sharply. "The dress— the store— the saleswoman," she whispered.



An inquiry of court attaches confirmed here recognition. Seated with her in the courtroom was Mrs. Dixie E. Lawson, 44, the sympathetic saleslady and wife of the man charged with Mach's slaying.

DEATH ENDS FEUD — Gracie Pitt and Maggie Gannon lived in their respective cabins only a few hundred feet apart atop lonesome Half-Moon Mountain but as Maggie says (left), "We been feudin' for years. We ain't talked to each other since the feud began." The feud is really over because Mrs. Gracie Pitt is dead. Police brought her remains down the snowhidden trail to Ramapo, New York. While they were atop the mountain, police dropped in on Maggie to try to persuade her to come down to the civilized world but she is shown spurning their pleas.

Can't Rule Out Murder At Frankford

Gun Close To Head When It Was Fired Pathologist Declares

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 9 (CP). — The death of Jean Badgely, 25-year-old blonde secretary, remained a mystery today as the coroner's inquest stood adjourned to Jan. 14.

The girl was found dead in her parents' summer home at nearby Frankford on Nov. 30 with a bullet wound in the head and a .22 calibre rifle belonging to her father near the body.

The girl's father denied that it could have been suicide and suggested she had been attacked by some assailant while she was alone in the house, her parents having gone to church that evening.

The first autopsy showed death due to strangulation but this report later was corrected and at a second autopsy, Prof. W. L. Robinson found death resulted from the bullet wound.

Prof Robinson told the inquest yesterday that death might not have been instantaneous. "It is quite possible for the girl to have held the gun," he said. "Accidental shooting is a possibility. Purely a pathologist I cannot eliminate murder; that's the investigator's job."

Prof. Robinson was one of four experts among seven witnesses called yesterday with Coroner Dr. J. R. Scott presiding and Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan conducting the questioning.

Gun Close To Head

Prof. Robinson said death was caused by the gunshot wound in the head. The wound resulted in a brain hemhorrage and the post-mortem showed the gun must have been close to the head when it was fired.

Sgt. W. W. Sutherland of the RCMP at Ottawa testified there was small possibility of accidental discharge of the gun.

Dr. C. B. Waite of Peterborough also testified Thursday that the girl had died of a rifle wound in her temple.

France Makes Protest

LONDON, Jan. 9 — (Reuters).—France has protested against Britain's failure to inform her of plans to strengthen the bizonal economic council before the plans were presented to German leaders, it was learned today. Rene Massigli, French Ambassador in London, was said to have called at the Foreign Office yesterday to make the representations. Massigli is understood to have pointed out that there are several features of the proposals which are unwelcome to French opinion.

U.N. Commission Asks 3-Way Consultations

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 9. — (AP).—The United Nations Palestine Partition Commission today called on Britain, the Jewish agency for Palestine and the Arab High committee for immediate consultations on the situation in the strife-torn Holy Land.

Moving swiftly at its first session, the five-power partition commission decided to talk with representatives of the three interested parties as the first step toward implementing the U.N. plan to cut up Palestine into Jewish and Arab countries by next Oct. 1.

LONDON.—Highly qualified informants in Whitehall said tonight the United States has asked and received approval from the Palestine government to dispatch United States Marines to the Holy Land as a guard for the American Consulate there.

The commission acted as dispatches from Jerusalem reported the first instance of infiltration of sizeable "volunteer" bands from Arab country territory adjoining the Holy Land. One report quoting Jewish sources said 300 such "volunteers' had entered Palestine from Syria and attacked a Jewish settlement.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie opened the meeting here by expressing confidence that the Security Council would exercise "every necessary power" to see that the partitioning is carried out by next Oct. 1 without fail.

Frank Statement

Lie did no mention the creation of an international military force as a specific partition enforcement measure, but this was implicit in his statement, since the Council has the power to set up such a force.

Lie did not minimize the difficulties ahead.

"I am under no illusions. You have a hard road to travel. I am, however, calmly confident of your ability to surmount all obstacles. I pledge you every resource at my disposal to that end."

He made it clear that these "resources" did not include military support and that assistance of this type was something the commission would have to work out with

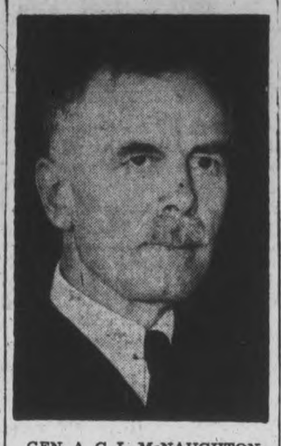
Import Bans Help Keep Canada Going

Says Marshall Plan Will Be Big Help If Congress Approves

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (CP). — The United States' projected European recovery plan may help to solve Canada's current economic crisis—if it receives congressional approval — but the Canadian government's long-range program of redressing the present adverse balance of trade is not based on outside help, Finance Minister Abbott said today.

Explaining to a press conference what ERP, popularly known as the Marshall plan, will mean to Canada, the minister said that "if it is put into effect and offshore purchases will be permitted, it will help us." The only way it would benefit the Dominion would be through "substantial" payments in American dollars for exports of goods and commodities Canada ships to Europe.



The minister was unable to estimate the extent of such "offshore purchases"—products purchased by the United States in other countries as part of its projected $17,000,000,000 program to enable Europe to regain its economic feet. But he noted that Canada is "sending 160,000,000 bushels of wheat to Great Britain and all the eggs and bacon we possibly can." It was implied that at least part of these exports would be paid for by the United States if ERP is approved by Congress.

Winter Tryout

The minister in outlining Canada's "austerity program" — "I don't like that word; I prefer to call it a mild form of austerity which we will relieve as soon as possible"—Abbott would venture no forecasts at his press conference as to when regulations barring certain imports from the United States would be relaxed. This would depend upon results achieved this winter. It wouldn't hurt Canadians "to eat canned

U.S. Transfers Four Subs To Turk Fleet

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP). —The United States is transferring to Turkey four fleet-type submarines and navy crews will deliver them to a Turkish port.

The submarines are among 15 navy vessels of various types which the navy announced to-day are being transferred under the $100,000,000 Turkish aid program voted by the last session of Congress.

The announcement came at a time that 1,000 marines are en route to strengthen crews aboard United States warships in the Mediterranean. Some of these ships are in waters about Greece where guerrilla warfare marks the conflict between the Communism stemming from Soviet Russia and her Eastern satellites, and Western Europe and the United States.

Russia, Turkey's huge neighbor, has repeatedly been reported by navy officials here to possess one of to-day's largest submarine fleets.

While the transfer to Turkey of torpedo boats and minesweepers had been contemplated since the start of the Turkish aid program, there had been no previous official mention of submarines.

The navy said Greece also has received six motor gunboats under the $300,000,000 Greek aid program.

Belgians Contact King Leopold

BRUSSELS, Jan. 9 (Reuters)—Premier Paul Henri Spaak will establish direct contact with King Leopold of Belgium, now in exile in Switzerland, to seek a solution to Belgium's three - year - old "royal problem," it was officially announced today.

After a cabinet meeting, Pierre Vermeylen, minister of the interior, read a communique stating that after hearing from Spaak the contents of a letter from King Leopold, the government decided the letter was of a nature which would allow the premier to make direct contact with the King to find a solution to the royal problem within the framework of the government's declaration last March.

The declaration to which the communique referred was made when Spaak formed his two-party government of Socialists, who were opposed to the King's return to the throne, and Social Christians, who are the King's supporters.

Four Gunmen Snatch $100,000 From Bank

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9—(AP). — Four armed and unmasked men held up a mid-city branch of the Hibernia National Bank today and escaped with an estimated $100,000 in cash, police said.

Officers said that $60,000 which the bank kept in the vault was missing, and that bank officials estimated that $40,000 was gone from other parts of the vault and the tellers' cages.

Fears Margarine Import Will Keep Young People From Staying On Farm

Farmers Want Moderate, Stabilized Prices And An Assured Market Hannam Tells Federation Of Agriculture

By HARRY THEOBALD

TORONTO, Jan. 9. — Oleomargarine "will hold back bathrooms from rural homes" and discourage young people from staying on the farm, William Newman of Lorneville declared in opposing return of the butter substitute at the convention of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture on Thursday.

"I'll give you an example," Mr. Newman continued in supporting his contention that the import, manufacture or sale of margarine will deprive farmers of income they need. "In our creamery at Lorneville we have 400 patrons, dairy farmers from around our section of Victoria county. The other day I figured out that the value of their cows, separators, trucks and creamery amounts in capital investment to more than $500,000. It is just a country creamery, turning out around 400,000 pounds of butter a year.

"I believe that five of those patrons have waterworks in their houses, but I doubt whether one of them has a bathroom. Electricity is going into farm homes, and I discussed with a hardware man what bathrooms would cost. It would take $700 to put a bathroom in a house. Multiply that sum by 400, and you have $280,000 that would have to be expended in plumbing materials and labor."

If the price of butter fat remained where it was, Mr. Newman said, farmers who have not yet been able to afford bathrooms would gradually reach the position where that common city convenience could be brought to the Lorneville district homes. He suggested also that his community could be multiplied by hundreds of others throughout the province in the same tubless or showerless condition.

Must Have Sales.

Mr. Newman said farmers did not hesitate to spend money when they had it, and their earning and having of income depended upon the sale of their products, of which not the least important to them was butter.

"Oleomargarine will hold back the supplying of a great need among the rural people of On-

Coal Gas Blast Kills One, Rocks Stores

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 — (CP).— A mid-afternoon explosion rocked the heart of Montreal's shopping district yesterday, killing one youth, injuring five persons and showering an additional hundred with flying glass.

Today, officials feared that the building—King's Hall—located on downtown St. Catherine street, may be condemned because of damage done to its foundation by the blast.

The explosion — attributed by fire officials to coal gas — also caused three radio stations to go off the air when police ordered the top floors of the building evacuated and power turned off. The stations suffered no damage.

It was the second major explosion in the city within 36 hours. Wednesday 12 men were injured when the two-storey building housing the hydrogen gas plant at the Montreal locomotive works was demolished.

Dead is Vladimir Kaslay, 17-year-old furnace attendant who was in the basement at the time. The five injured were customers of the five shops located on the main floor of the five-storey building.

An employee of a dress shop located in the building, told reporters that he had informed building authorities that there was an odor of gas on several occasions.

Gambling King Found Guilty

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 — (CP).— Harry Ship, recognized as a former king-pin in Montreal gambling, to-day was found guilty by Recorder E. J. McManamy on four charges and one complaint of keeping a betting establishment on East End St. Catharine Street during 1940-1946.

To-day's verdict came just a year and two days from Ship's first court appearance and since then his trial has embraced one postponement after another. Ship will be sentenced on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

The arrest of Ship was a high point in the anti-vice campaign launched more than a year ago by Pacifique Plante, Deputy Director of Police.

Constable Loses Battle With Horses

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Constable John Bailey was fighting a losing battle with a team of horses last night when fellow officers came to his rescue in a police cruiser.

After locking up a teamster on a charge of drunkenness, Bailey turned to what looked like a strictly routine task — leading the man's horses and sleigh away to a shelter.

But the team bolted. With Bailey straddling the sleigh and howling "whoa!" at the top of his lungs, the horses dashed four blocks before the cruiser edged them into a snowbank.

British Forces Throw Back First Invasion By Arabs

JERUSALEM, Jan. 9 — (AP). — Officials said 600 armed Arabs opened fire today on Jewish settlements in Northern Palestine and invaded the country from the Syrian hills, killing three Jews and wounding eight before British troops and the Royal Air Force intervened and brought the "situation under control."

Attacks centred on a finger of Palestine which sticks northward into Syria from Tel El Quadi and fell heaviest on the Jewish settlements of Kfar Szold and Dan.

There were unconfirmed reports that Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji, an Arab chieftain of the 1936-39 revolt in Palestine, headed the band. After firing from the hills, the Arabs penetrated into Palestine and threaded their way between the Jewish settlements, blasting particularly at water pumps at Dan, Biblical northern boundary of the Holy Land, the army said.

British military forces joined the battle from Metullah, northern frontier post. Two or three Spitfires aided in air spotting, but were said to have taken no direct action. Jews said the Arabs were volunteers of an "Arab people's army" and that they crossed the frontier in trucks.

Take In Supplies

In Jerusalem, British soldiers, behind police armored cars, took four truckloads of supplies into the old walled city, where 1,500 Jews have been besieged by Arabs since New Year's Day.

The convoy went through the Arab blockade after a Jewish leader declared the beleaguered people inside the old city were "in danger of starvation." Arab guns dominate all the gates to the walled city, its Jewish quarter and the historic wailing wall, where Jews have prayed for centuries.

Two Arabs and a British policeman were injured in an explosion of a crude shoe-box bomb planted in an Arab bus in Jerusalem.

Passengers in the bus saw smoke curling from the box and hurled it from a window just before it exploded.

The explosion blasted a hole in the sidewalk and shattered windows in nearby Arab shops, most of which have been closed for weeks because of Jewish-Arab strife over the impending partition of th Holy Land.

Princess Leaves For Switzerland

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 9.—(AP). —Bareheaded and smiling, Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma boarded a train for Switzerland today to meet former King Michael of Romania and complete plans for their wedding.

The blonde princess departed aboard a regularly scheduled train and with complete absence of ceremony.

Princess Anne was accompanied on the trip by her mother. There were tears in the princess' eyes as she said goodbye to her father, but she obviously was in high spirits.

Just before the train pulled out she leaned from an open window and told reporters:

"I'm so happy and I'm looking forward so much to seeing Mihai (Michael) again. That's all I can say at present."

Yesterday the newspaper Berlingske said Anne and Michael might go the United States "immediately after" their wedding.

Special Guards To Halt Escape

KITCHENER, Jan. 9—(CP).— Special guards have been placed around the Waterloo County jail here as a precaution against any underworld attempt to free Lorne Morgan Burns, 35, of Toronto, sentenced yesterday to 20 years for wounding a policeman in a gun battle which last Dec. 7 broke up a store robbery.

Similar precaution was taken yesterday at Burns' short trial in County Criminal Court, at which he pleaded guilty to the wounding charge and to a charge of armed robbery and three of receiving stolen goods.

Sheriff T. H. Gillies said he has Ontario Provincial Police to assist in guarding the jail.

Authorities said they definitely are considering the possibility that the "Numbers Gang," of which they believe Burns is a member, will try to free him before he is sent to Kingston penitentiary.

Post-War Germany Seeks A Pied Piper

BERLIN, Jan 9 — (AP). — A crying need in the cities of post-war Germany is a Pied Piper of Hamlin, even in the cities of the legendary piper's home province of Hannover.

Some mayors would give their city halls if they could get rid of the "armies of rats" marching in the bomb ruins of their battered cities.

In a country pitifully short of cats and other rodent destroyers, rat-killing campaigns have become a necessity. Most municipalities have undertaken such campaigns, including Berlin, which is estimated to have a rat population at least equal to its 3,250,000 humans.

One rat extermination drive was conducted in the city of Hannover, a scant 25 miles from Hamlin, the piper's town.

Seize 57 Tons Explosives In Raid On Farmhouse

ASBURY PARK, N.J., Jan. 9 — (AP).—A police search launched by an anonymous tip from a farmer netted a new cache today of 57 tons of surplus army explosives which authorities said was "tied up with" the Palestine-bound shipment of 30½ tons of TNT seized last Saturday on the Jersey City waterfront.

Forty tons of the explosive were discovered in a raid on a farmhouse in nearby Wall township and the other 17 tons were taken in a large truck-trailer found outside an Asbury Park garage. A state police alarm was broadcast for two other trucks reported headed here from the Seneca government war surplus depot at Romulus, N.Y., listed by authorities as the source of the 57 tons already taken here.

Nine men were arrested by police as a result of the new discovery of explosives in the farmhouse and the big truck-trailer.

The truck, Carton said, was found near a warehouse owned by Charles Lowy, of Ashbury Park, who he said also owned the farm. Lowy, arraigned last night, pleaded innocent to a charge of storing explosives without a permit and was held in $5,000 bail.

Lowy's bail was increased to $15,000 after the seizure of the truck in Ashbury Park, Carton said.

Carton said the farm, located on a county road, was raided by state troopers and prosecutor's detectives after an anonymous tip was received by state police that trucks were unloading in the area of the farm.

The explosive were army surplus demolition blocks which had been sold at the surplus depot at Romulus, and were consigned to the Foundry Associates, Inc., 41 S. 42nd St., New York City. In New York, the telephone company said it had no firm by that name listed for the East 42nd St. address.

Windsor's Memoirs Start On Saturday

The story of the education of a prince written by Edward, Duke of Windsor with photographs from his personal albums, all captioned by the author will commence in the Examiner tomorrow. Growing up under the shadow of his great grandmother Queen Victoria. Edward's memoirs are a backward look into yesterday, and a glance from the tumultous times into the life of a famous prince who was also a British boy in an age when boyhood seemed utterly secure and good.

Written last summer in France the story is such as a British subject would expect a prince of the Royal Family to write, and is considered by the Examiner to be the finest serial story ever presented to its readers.

Dismiss Driving Charge

Reserve Judgment On Passenger Grabbing Wheel

OSHAWA, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Magistrate F. S. Ebbs to-day dismissed a dangerous driving charge against the driver of a truck involved in a fatal highway accident, but reserved judgment on a similar charge against a passenger who grabbed the steering wheel seconds before the collision.

George Carrod, the driver, and Walter Boyer, the passenger, both of Picton, were both charged with dangerous driving following the death last August 14 of Morley Griffin, 72, of Toronto, in a truck-automobile collision on No. 2 Highway near Whitby. The driver of the car was Griffin's son, Rev. O. B. Griffin of Toronto.

Boyer tesified he grabbed the wheel of the truck in an attempt to help Carrod avoid collision with a smaller truck which suddenly slowed down in front of them. The Crown contends Boyer's action swung the Carrod truck into the path of the oncoming Griffin car.

Carrod and Boyer both pleaded innocent. Judgment on the charge against Boyer was reserved until January 23.

85,000 Germans On Strike

Many Factories Idle As Workers Demand Food

ESSEN, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Thousands of German workers streamed out of the bomb-scarred remains of the huge Krupp plant and other factories in Essen at noon to-day in a general strike for more food. Five hundred coal miners also participated.

Trade union officials estimated that 50,000 persons had walked out, bringing to 85,000 the total number of Ruhr workers protesting against low food rations.

Police mobilized 400 men, including mounted squads to patrol Burgplatz Square, where the strikers were called to a mass meeting.

British military government officials said the striking miners refused to heed appeals by trade union leaders to return to the pits as Essenkary.

At Solingen, famed for its cutlery works, 35,000 workers began a two-day strike yesterday.

Miners receive the biggest food rations of all workers in Germany, with supplementary overseas food packages as an added incentive.

Most of the 12,000 dock workers on strike at Hamburg returned to work when they were told that if their strike continued the German food supplies would be jeopardized.

$200,000 Fire Wrecks Toronto Market

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Loss was estimated at $200,000, including $65,000 worth of provisions in a fire which late yesterday broke out in the bacon smoking room of the Don Avon market in east-end Toronto.

Firemen brought the blaze under control after a three-hour battle which saw customers and the market's 45 employees driven into the street and rush-hour streetcar and automotive traffic held up for two hours.

Greatest damage was caused to the roof and second storey of the building where offices, storage rooms and bacon smoking room are located. Flames pierced the roof shortly after the fire started.

Firemen said they believed a side of bacon being "smoked" in the room where the fire started had fallen and ignited a tray of sawdust, starting the fire.

Two employees lost money in clothing which was burned. Violet Combe lost $60 she had been saving to pay a medical bill and another employee lost $50, left in his suit.

One employee trapped in a smoke filled room was rescued by firemen and nine others working in the basement did not know there was a fire until they buzzed for the elevator and were soaked with water coming down the shaft from fire hoses.

Hold Dorland On Drug Charge

TORONTO, Jan. 9 —(CP)—Albert Dorland, central figure in two sensational investigations in the early '30s into charges he was "framed" by Toronto police, today awaited trial on a charge of illegal possession of narcotics.

Sought by police since Dec. 29, he surrendered to authorities yesterday and said he decided to give himself up when he learned the R.C.M.P. held a warrant for his arrest.

Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow remanded him to Jan. 15 and set bail at $20,000. Dorland provided bail bonds and obtained his release.

Police had watched for Dorland since a night two weeks ago when law officers' guns raked an automobile which morality officers claimed was dropping drugs in a laneway in the east-central Ontario street area. The automobile later was found abandoned a few blocks away.

Almost forgotten until Dorland surrendered yesterday were the Royal Commission investigations into Dorland's charges that he had been "framed" by Toronto police officers who sought to convict him in connection with a bank robbery.

Released from penitentiary through the commission's findings —which also led to the resignation of three police officers—Dorland soon was back behind bars. He was convicted of the robbery of another bank and sentenced to a penitentiary term which ended in 1938.

Find Two Men In Schoolhouse

Two brothers, Dalton and Gordon McCarthy, were charged before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in the Police Court today with being found taking shelter in a school near Lakefield known as the Tucker School, and having no visible means of support and being unable to give a good account of themselves.

Provincial Constable A. Howden testified that he receives a telephone call and investigated. "I want to the Tucker School House on January 1 at about 3.30 in the afternoon," said the officer. "I found the door locked, but looking through a window I found the two men lying on the floor, I ordered them out and they climbed through a window.

"They said that they were on their way to Peterborough as some of their clothes had been left behind when they left to work for the Hydro-Electric Company. As they could not give a satisfactory account of their movements I arrested them."

Both men said that they had climbed through the window for shelter as it was cold and they had lost their way. When questioned by the Crown, Dalton McCarthy admitted that he had been previously convicted in Toronto on a charge of breaking and entering.

Magistrate Philp found both men guilty and fined them $3 and $5 costs each, in default three days. The men said they would serve the three days. Evidence showed that they had been in custody since their arrest on Jan. 1.

To The Ratepayers of South Monaghan:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the electors of South Monaghan who gave their support to re-elect me as member of their council for 1948.

Respectfully Yours,
JOHN BRACKENRIDGE.

Fractional Losses Dominate Industrials

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Trends turned downward in dull trade today on the stock exchange as fractional losses dominated the industrial list, golds failed to extend yesterday's rally and turned soft, base metals were easy while western oils were off in majority for minor losses.

Volume for the first three hours was 435,000 shares, about 233,000 lower than yesterday's similar period.

A handful of key industrials added fractions including Algoma Steel, Argus, Bank of Montreal, Bell Telephone, Brazilian, Canadian Breweries, Canners, Dominion Founderies, Great Lakes Paper, International Petroleum, and McColl, but the majority eased.

Golds softened on losses for Aunor, Cochenour, God's Lake, Hard Rock, Louvicourt, Upper Canada, Teck Hughes, San Antonio, Preston. Ahead were East Amphi, Dome and Pioneer.

Waite Amulet touched a new high at $5 on a gain of 15 cents among basemetals and Osisko added four cents.

On other Canadian domestic questions, the minister was unable to say whether or when price decontrol on pork and beef would be put into effect nor whether, as reported, the combines commissioner is investigating the widening spread between production costs and retail prices. He thought the latter was possible but pointed out that he had been out of touch for some days with Ottawa affairs.

Noting that he had remarked last year that the Canadian cost-of-living index probably would level off about 145.00 and that it now hovered at the 146.00 mark, Abbott declined to prophesy, in answer to a question, whether it would continue to rise. But a figure of 150.00 was "quite possible."

Butter Surplus Reported At Low Point

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 9 (CP).— J. F. Singleton, associate director of the Federal Government's Dairy Marketing Products Service, said here yesterday Canada would have to make or import more than 79,000,000 pounds of butter before April to satisfy the domestic market and provide a "working stock" of 10,000,000 pounds.

Addressing the opening session of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association, he said increased domestic consumption last yea rhad left butter and cheese in short supply but exportable quantities of evaporated and condensed milk are available.

Mr. Singleton reported butter production during the first 11 months of 1947 was 18,700,000 pounds higher than in the corresponding period of 1946. However, domestic consumption increased by about 30,000,000 pounds.

Cheese production decreased in 1947, the drop amounting to 27,000,000 pounds, or 19.1 per cent up to Dec. 1. The domestic supply situation is indefinite until year-end stocks are reported.

In his presidential address, Roy Fraser of Dutton, Ont., said that while excessive prices invite recessions, further increases in dairy produce prices were likely as a result of the feed grain shortage with consequent cut in herbs.

Plea For Unity Goes Unheeded

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)— A new plea from a Democrat for Congressional unity raised a faint whisper today among the echoes of a speech by Senator Robert Taft (Rep.-Ohio) condemning President Truman's program as the road to "national bankruptcy" and a "totalitarian state."

Senator Carl Hatch (Dem.-N.M.), long-time close friend of the President, proposed that the Republican and Democratic policy committees of the Senate form "one policy committee for the nation" to deal with inflation and foreign aid.

His olive branch apparently was withered on the vine, however, by Taft's steaming radio attack last night describing proposals in Truman's "state of the union" message as "the ghosts of the old new Deal with new trappings."

Justice Nullifies Effort To Oust Bridge Member

TORONTO, Jan. 9—(CP).—Finding that the Niagara Falls Bridge Commission was instituted by Act of Congress of the United States, and therefore that the commission was in effect a "foreign corporation," Chief Justice J. C. McRuer yesterday dismissed application by A. J. Haines of Jordan, to unseat Carl D. Hanniwell as a member of the commission.

Mr. Haines was one of three members of the bridge commission who were relieved of their posts by the Ontario Government last June in the controversy which arose over the inscription on the main bell of the $100,000 carillon installed at the Canadian end of the Peace Bridge at Niagara Falls.

His Lordship said it was not necessary to consider the arguments in support of Mr. Haines' application.

"Even if the Lieutenant-Governor in Council has acted without any statutory authority in making or revoking the appointment of the commissioners it is no part of the duty of this court to determine whether those who perform the functions of commissioners of a foreign corporation are rightly appointed."

Reason for His Lordship's refusal to grant the Haines application for an order to compel Mr. Hanniwell to show cause "why he unlawfully exercises or usurps the office" was that the proceedings were not proper because the bridge commission was instituted by the Congress of the United States and was, in effect, a foreign corporation.

His Lordship pointed out that the Niagara Falls Bridge Commission was created by joint resolution of the 75th Congress of the U.S. to facilitate international commerce. It was authorized to construct, maintain and operate a bridge and approaches thereto across the Niagara river at Niagara Falls subject to the approval of the proper authorities in the Dominion.

In the joint resolution by which the commission was created members were to be appointed by the governor of New York state and the Dominion or the Province of Ontario.

Steal $5,000 Jewelry

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Jewelry valued at $5,000 was seized by two hold-up men yesterday who ransacked a jewelry store on eastend Christopher Columbus street while forcing the lone woman clerk to lie on the floor. The pair fled in a waiting automobile.

Counsel Says Indians Cheaply Treated

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Defence counsel continued to argue in Exchequer Court to-day the 105-year-old case of Indians of the Six Nations Tribe who want $1,289,000 from the Dominion and are seeking the right to have the case brought to actual trial.

Auguste Lemieux, counsel for the Indians, yesterday countered argument by Justice Department lawyers that the statute of limitations had outlawed the claim of the Indians for compensation to lands and moneys lost to them in construction of the Welland and Grand River Canals.

The Indians, representing 5,000 of the Oshweken Reserve near Brantford, seek payment with interest for lands taken over or flooded in canal-building and for $160,000 of their tribal funds lost in investment in the new-defunct Grand River Navigation Company.

The Indians were granted 1,500 square miles of land along both banks of the Grand River by King George III in the 18th century in recognition of their fidelity to the Crown during the American Revolution.

Since then the holdings of the tribe have shrunk to a fraction of that area and they charge a breach of trust on the part of Upper Canadian authorities during the early 1800s in the dissipation of their property.

Mr. Lemieux said the Indians had been trying to get their case into court since about 1860. That it was only being heard now was no fault of theirs. Successive governments had refused to allow them to sue the Crown until a fiat was obtained from the Governor-General in 1943.

High Commissioners Hear Secret Decisions

LONDON, Jan. 9. (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee and his top cabinet officers met the high commissioners of the Dominions today and summarized for them new but still secret diplomatic decisions aimed at curbing the spread of Communism.

The meeting came less than 24 hours after the cabinet reviewed the difficulties between the western powers and Russia in general, and the situation in Germany and Greece in particular.

It is customary for ranking cabinet ministers to call in the high commissioners to acquaint them with any decisions affecting the whole British commonwealth.

Doctor Suffers Memory Loss

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP) — Missing from his home since Tuesday, 48-year-old Dr. T. Frederick Nicholson was found by police last night wandering along the highway east of Toronto suffering from partial loss of memory.

"He admitted being very depressed and said that he had been worrying over his lectures at the University," said Chief Constable Moss of the suburban Scarboro police department, who called a doctor friend of the professor to take him to hospital.

Dr. Nicholson is associate professor of pathological chemistry at the University of Toronto.

Dr. Nicholson told police that he remembered boarding a bus on the Kingston Road a few days back and thought he had been on the bus yesterday but he wasn't sure. He had last been seen boarding a bus on Tuesday. He said that he could not remember where he had spent the first night except that it was "somewhere north."

the Security Council.

Lie had told reporters previously that the question of security forces was one for the commission itself to decide and that if such forces were deemed necessary the commission must take the issue to the Security Council.

This was one of the first big questions before the new agency, which was created by the U.N. assembly last Nov. 29 to carry out partitioning of Palestine into Jewish and Arab countries by Oct. 1.

Must Have Guards

Apart from the question of military forces to back up the commission's decisions was the problem of providing for guards to assure the personal safety of the commission members and the U.N. secretariat personnel assigned to it.

Lie said yesterday that bodyguarding also was a question for the commission to decide, but if necessary he would make available some men of the uniformed private security force which now guards U.N. headquarters at Lake Success.

Meanwhile, a six-member subcommission of the trusteeship council continued work behind closer doors on a statute for the government of Jerusalem as an international zone under U.N. rule.

Expansion Plans Aid Business Experts Hope

By The Canadian Press.

The drive to increase the production power of North America which has featured the post-war period, shows no sign of let-up.

President Truman has called on United States industry to invest $50,000,000,000 over the next few years as "the beginning" of a 10-year program, and his advice follows expenditure of some $15,000,000,000 for industrial expansion in 1947.

In Canada in 1947 industry spent an estimated $1,800,000,000 on expansion, and a higher figure had been planned for this year, but the amount will depend on how the capital import restrictions program is applied.

President Truman said American output can be increased by at least one-third and the standard of living doubled over what it was 10 years ago. "If we distribute these gains properly we can go far toward stamping out poverty in our generation."

The President's statement comes in an election year, but it is the view of the present administration.

These programs of expansion, apparently intended ultimately to give the individual a greater share of goods, come at a time when the rise in the cost of living is threatening to curtail the individual's present share.

It would seem that economists, with fingers crossed, hope to get these two forces reconciled, but with plenty of reason for grey hairs for both economists and householders these days.

Have Tax Guide To Aid Farmer

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 (CP).—Revenue Minister McCann today announced the issuance of an income tax guide and farm account book to help the Canadian farmer through the complexities of income tax.

At the same time, he issued at a press conference copies of the Prairie edition of the book, now being made available in post offices and taxation offices in the West, and said a similar edition will come out next Monday for farmers in the Maritimes, Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia.

While the first aim is to enable the farmer to reap greater benefits from exemptions to which he is entitled, Dr. McCann conceded that the Revenue Department hopes to receive a larger inflow of revenue from the farming population through more accurate returns.

The book is 43 pages of which 20 pages are made up of explanations and interpretation. The other 23 pages are blank ruled pages provided with headings under which the farmer may list his receipts and expenses for use later in making income tax return.

Tax Collections Good

COBOURG, Jan. 9 — (ENS) — Collection of current and arrears of taxes in 1947 amount to more than 100 per cent of the 1947 levy, the records of tax collector E. A. Hircock reveal. The current levy was $156,931.24. Current collections totalled $150,931.24, leaving a balance of $6,134.96. But collections of tax arrears, exclusive of interest and penalties, amounted to $6,336.13, or $201.17 more than 100 per cent.

Ottawa Should Soothe Taxpayer, Minister Says

PICTON, Jan. 9 — "Canadians are too easy-going about many political and civic matters," Rev. Arthur Smith, Belleville, told Rotarians here this week. He believed we should show intolerance toward imperfections in government and civic affairs.

"The public has a strange attitude toward taxes and tax-paying," he said. "People who would not think of stealing other people's property have a different set of standards when it comes to paying income taxes. They consider the government a monster watching their every step and ready to get them by hook or crook. They take the attitude the government is fair game and they must adopt guile to meet the situation.

"I feel the government's attitude is all wrong. Instead of using warnings about the penalties which will be meted out for inaccurate tax returns, the government should stress the benefits we receive from our tax payments —benefits provided by services and in the making of a better Canada," the speaker declared.

Fined $25 And Costs Failed To File Tax

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9 — (ENS). — For failing to file the 1946 income tax returns of the Burnley Cheese and Butter Company, J. E. Ferguson, president of the company was fined $25, and $2.50 costs by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, in police court, Thursday.

Charges of common assault and threatening against Daniel Lawsin, 34, RR 1 Warkworth, were withdrawn by the complainant, his wife. Since similar previous offenses have been committed by the accused and always he was under the influence of liquor, the Magistrate, J. F. R. Douglas, the complainant's attorney, and the accused himself, recommended that Lawson be placed on the interdicted list.

George Mitchell, 77, Trenton, pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving, laid by Provincial Constable Arthur Kellog, but was found guilty as charged and fined $10 and $7 costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Club Changes Name

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9 — (ENS). — The St. John's Young Adult Club is the new name adopted for the former M and M (Mr. and Mrs.) Club of that church. The name was officially changed last night to conform with a change in polling which admits young single adults to the club as well as the young married couples who before were the only ones eligible for membership. Other business discussed was the desirability of promoting a fund, with the co-operation of the other church organizations, for buying a projection lantern for the church.

To open the meeting, Wes Richardson led the group in a sing-song, assisted by Don Bennett, pianist. Mrs. G. N. Maxwell installed the new officers. All members were assigned to groups of four and the responsibility of arranging and presenting a program of entertainment will be allotted to a different group each month during the year.

Mrs. Gerald La Brash conducted the devotions. Don Meyers took charge of the program. A tap-dancing duet, Dennis Sharpe and Gaele Meyers presented several lively numbers, and a solo, "The Road to the Isles," was sung by Ross Richardson. Rev. G. N. Maxwell introduced an amusing puzzle to the group and lunch was served. The next meeting will be held January 22.

Paid $200 Bounties For Wolves Killed

COBOURG, Jan. 9 (ENS). — Counties Clerk Bill Barr reports that in 1947 he paid out $200 in wolf bounties to residents in Northumberland and Durham. This represents eight wolves that bit the dust. Township bounties are paid in addition, ranging from $10 to $15 per animal. Loss to sheep far outweighs the compensation in the form of wolf bounties. Manvers Township seems to be bothered more by wolves than anywhere else in the counties. A few wolves have been seen around the Northumberland Forest, but they have been too wary to fall prey to the gunners. There are plenty of foxes, however, throughout Northumberland and Durham, accounting for scarcity of rabbits and depopulation of the chicken roosts.

Third Execution Stay

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Lawrence Deacon, 35, of Winnipeg, sentenced to be hanged at Heedingley Jail Jan. 21 for the March, 1946, murder of taxi driver Johann Johnson, yesterday was granted this third stay of execution. Chief Justice E. A. McPherson of the Manitoba Court appeal set the execution date back to March 15 to allow time for hearing of an appeal.

Farmers Hide Excitement At Prospect of Oil Wealth

STAPLES, Ont., Jan. 9 — (CP). — An air of hopeful but cautious expectancy mixed with the pungent odor of oil pervaded the atmosphere of this tiny Essex county village today as farmers in the newly-found oil field district pondered the chances of making a healthy profit from the "black gold" without lifting a finger.

There were glints of anticipation and excitement in the eyes of weatherworn faces, but the folks who till the soil of this farm community are not given to counting chickens before they hatch.

"More bother than I've had in 60 years on this place," snorted 76-year-old Samuel Lynn on whose 100-acre farm just east of the crossroads heart of Staples the gusher came in Monday night.

Mr. Lynn heard the racket shortly before 10 p.m. but he didn't get out of bed to see what it was. It was partly because of his arthritis but mostly because he never could stir up much interest in what the men with the drills were doing on his "back fifty."

He didn't want to lease oil and gas rights on his farm when the Imperial Oil Company advance men, planning "the most important development in oil in Ontario's history," came around last spring.

They offered him $5—a nickel an acre—at first. He wouldn't listen so they upped the offer to 50 cents an acre. That was $50 in all. His resistance softened.

Not So Smart.

"But I wasn't smart after all, the way it turned out," he said. "Steve Herman, right across the road, held out for $1 an acre and got it—$6.50 for his 67½ acres. And John Rivest, who runs the general store, got $1 an acres for every one of the 366 acres on his two farms."

The oil company says the well on Mr. Lynn's farm has a daily flow of 144 barrels, of which Mr. Lynn will receive the price of one barrel in eight as a royalty besides a share of the 300,000 cubic feet of gas produced daily as a by-product."

At Thursday's price of $3.20 a barrel, Mr. Lynn stood to receive something like more than $21,000 a year besides the $50 for his lease.

Not over-confident about the wells, Mr. Lynn recalls that there were oil wells in the neighborhood 35 or 40 years ago. While some farmers made money on them for a time, they did not last long and nobody got rich. So Mr. Lynn figures he will get excited about all that money "when I see it."

Gunman Gets 20 Years For Wounding Policeman

KITCHENER, Jan. 9 (CP). — Lorne Morgan Burns, 35, of Toronto was sentenced to 20 years in penitentiary on a charge of wounding Police Constable Richard Cowan in a gun battle last Dec. 7 in a downtown store.

He was given concurrent terms of five years for armed robbery and two years on each of three charges of receiving stolen goods.

Burns pleaded guilty to all charges.

Constable Cowan was shot in the thigh during the exchange of shots in the Woolworth five-and-ten cent store on King street. Constable Harold Ulmer arrested Burns but three other men escaped.

Constables were stationed in buildings around the courthouse as a precaution against any attempt by Burns' confederates to help him to escape.

Burns was handcuffed as he sat in the prisoners' box. Asked by Judge E. W. Clement if he wished to make any statement before sentence was passed, Burns replied: "I have nothing to say."

The Crown did not call Willard Marshall, manager of the Woolworth store, who was held captive by Burns and the three other gunmen fo ra short time before police shot it out with the robbers.

Mrs. B. Colpus Heads Board Of Education

OSHAWA, Jan. 9—Mrs. B. C. Colpus was chosen as chairman of the Oshawa Board of Education at its inaugural meeting Thursday. A member for the past 17 years and chairman in 1937, Mrs. Colpus has never missed a board meeting since her first appointment. L. M. Souch, vice-chairman, who headed the board last year, stated that ,"increased costs of school maintenance as well as overall salary increases last year, created our largest budget to date in 1947."

Mrs. Colpus forecast a large building program this year. Oshawa electors recently approved erection of a proposed new collegiate institute to cost $700,000, and Vice-Chairman Souch also pointed out that "two sites have been obtained for new public schools when the demand warrants."

Committee chairmen are: J. L. Beaton, management; Dr. F. J. Donevan, property; E. A. Lovell, finance; Dr. G. L. Bird, external relations; George A. Fletcher, advisory vocational.

Meters Clear Of Snow

COBOURG, Jan. 9 — (ENS)— There will be no excuse now for not using the parking meters on Cobourg's business streets. The heavy snow of last week made it impossible to get near enough to the meters to drop in a coin. Some of the meter slots were filled up with snow even if the motoris' was able to wade through the snow. However, the street department has now removed all the snow piled at the curbs and business has been resumed. If the motorist doesn't respond he gets the business— a summons.

Are Price Ceilings The Answer?

Is a restoration of price ceilings the answer to the present unendurable increase in the cost of living? No, we do not think so. Price ceilings cramp and warp the economic life of a country. Is the Government's austerity program the cause of the violent rise of food prices? No, we feel that the Government's policy, while bound to cause some readjustments in prices, has not made necessary the extraordinary increases of the past fortnight. The cause of the increase in food prices, in our opinion, is the rapacity and lack of foresight of a few industries which have decided to make a killing at the expense of the consumers. If we are wrong in this opinion we shall be glad to be corrected, but so far no evidence has been brought forward which shakes our belief that the present ridiculous prices of basic foods are artificially created by unscrupulous profiteers. As we see the matter, the Geneva trade agreements, Canada's new trade pacts with Britain, and the removal of the excess profits tax have created in the minds of some industrial leaders the idea that this is a good time to make a killing.

A few people may make a great deal of money by running up the prices of basic foods, but they will also do great harm to the country. It is the claim of socialism that it can prevent such profiteering, and public disgust at profiteering makes socialists. It is also the claim of socialism that depressions can be foreseen and avoided by proper economic controls. Anybody with a grain of common sense can foresee a depression as the result of the present sharp rise of prices; the industrialists who are causing the price increase can see it, too, but we are sure that they will be among the loudest groaners and the most dramatic public sufferers when the depression comes. Violent increases in prices of food cause demands for higher wages, and the industrialists who have caused the rise will be among the first to deplore such demands. And it is a sad fact that the wolfishness of a few greedy capitalists can make the whole system of capitalism stink in the nostrils of honest men.

* * *

The public is thoroughly sick of engineered shortages, throwing blame on the Government, complaining about the very reasonable bargains which have been made with England (and guaranteed for two years) and all the other hocus pocus of profiteering. The public is sick, too, of industrialists who pretend to be national leaders, but who seem never to have learned that capitalism has its responsibilities as well as its opportunities. The public is sick of the abuse of economic freedom, and the public has a very long memory. The remedy for the present inflation of prices lies in the hands of the men who created it, and if they are wise they will manoeuvre prices back to a decent level by the same means which they used to force them up.

Peterborough Prices Vs. Russian Prices

One of the blessings of being a communist living in Soviet Russia is not the low cost of living. For a country where human life is held to be rather a cheap commodity the cost of living is remarkably high. On December 15th, the Russian ruble was revalued. The value of a ruble means little in terms of foreign currency because there are official, black market and open market values; a more real estimate of the cost of living in U.S.S.R. has been made by an American economist who has drawn up a list of commodities priced in terms of man-hours. He has made his computations on the basis of one hour's work being the equivalent of two rubles, forty-one kopeks.

Our contemporary, the Kingston Whig-Standard, has prepared a parallel list, with Kingston commodity prices expressed in terms of man-hours. This list is, we think, valid for Peterborough. In 1943 the average industrial hourly wage in Canada was 70 cents. There are no recent official figures, but a cautious estimate of the hourly earnings in Peterborough now is 80 cents. It is on this figure that the Whig-Standard's table is based, and on which we plagiarize in the lists below:

Commodity	U.S.S.R. Hrs.	Cost Mins.	P'boro Hrs.	Cost Mins.
Rye bread, 1 lb.	..	31	..	06½
Wheat bread, 1 lb.	1	10	..	06
Macaroni, 1 lb.	1	41	..	08
Sugar, lump, 1 lb.	2	34	..	07
Calf meat, 1 lb.	5	15	..	41
Salted butter, 1 lb.	10	42	..	54
Vegetable oil, 1 qt.	11	30	1	36
Fresh fish, 1 lb.	1	59	..	25
Ground salt, 1 lb.	..	18	..	06
Oats, 1 lb.	..	25	..	07½
Milk, 1 qt.	1	18	..	14
Eggs, 1 doz.	4	57	..	45
Tea, 1 lb.	11	00	1	20
Coffee, 1 lb.	14	06	..	39
Beer, 1 bot.	2	51	..	17
Ice cream, 1 qt.	7	55	..	45
Caviar, 1 lb.	73	03	3	00
Vodka, 1 pt.	23	50	3	30
Matches, 1 box	..	05	..	02
Toilet soap, 1 bar	1	39	..	06
Kerosene, 1 gal.	3	07	..	30
Cigarettes, 20	2	04	..	26½
Cotton thread, 1 spl.	..	43	..	07½
Women's cotton dresses	31	51	7	00
Women's woollen dresses	252	00	33	30
Men's semi-woollen suits	178	25	50	00
Men's worsted suits	580	15	70	00
Men's leather shoes, pr.	104	30	12	30
Women's shoes, pr.	107	30	14	22½
Women's cotton stockings, pr.	2	54	..	45
Men's printed socks, pr.	7	03	..	45

We think that our prices are high, and perhaps it is no consolation to consider them in relation to Russian prices—for if we were in holy Russia, wooden shoes, thick skins and devotion to Stalin would lift us far beyond any woollen-suited nylon-stockinged Canadian heaven.

Show Of Hands At Council Meetings

The Peterborough City Council conducts its business decorously and efficiently. Its system of voting on motions is, however, often careless. We are not implying that the members decide an issue carelessly; but they record their votes in a sleight-of-hand way, and seldom is a record made of who voted yes, who voted no and who abstained.

The Mayor or the chairman of a committee usually asks: "Those in favour?" Hands go up, others half way up, and perhaps one member is merely rubbing his ear. A quick count is made; if there is a good flurry of hands the motion passes. If there are only two or three, the motion is turned down. The audience in the council chamber as well as the people who did not attend, might like to know how each alderman voted, if he did vote. We think that the voters for a motion should be recorded, and that a negative vote should be called for by the chairman and the votes recorded, and that the names of abstainers should be set down. It would take only a minute and would be interesting to the public.

New Words For 1948

The American magazine Time is an incurable coiner of words. Many of them ring hollowly and like counterfeit currency are speedily detected for their baseness and never pass into general circulation. In this week's edition we noticed two new additions: "telecasting", meaning broadcasting for television reception, and "helicopter-hopped". The latter phrase was used to describe how a New Yorker marooned in a country house escaped to his business in snow-blanketed New York.

There may be a need for two new words but we cannot believe that either of these has sufficient merit to recommend it. The "vision" part of "television" should be incorporated, not the Greek prefix meaning "far off". When sound was first introduced into moving pictures, the inventors of words tried to popularise "talkies". People tasted the word, found it disgusting, and fell back on "movies". "Broadcasting" still may serve when our radios exude pictures as well as sound.

We are not hepped on "helicopter-hopped". It is a bouncing, bobbing and bicephalous fabrication which twists the tongue, exhausts the breath and gives us mental hiccups. Time needs a Milton if it wants to create a new word for a demoniacal flight.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We gasped when we read that Scnozzle Durante had been operated upon for tumour removal. For a horrible moment we thought it said "humour removal".

When the Soviet Government revalued its currency and gave only one new ruble for ten old ones, how much did the Canadian Ambassador and his Moscow staff lose on the deal? Or did they, like the Chinese Ambassador who was anxious to save his and his country's money, buy up quantities of Russian wine with their old rubles?

Shall Americans Fight In Greece?

By LELAND STOWE

THE U.S. government is now deeply involved in a most serious and admittedly, dangerous situation in Greece. Its $3,000,000,000 appropriation is fast running out. A major portion of this amount has been spent on equipment and food for the Greek Army. Yet the northern guerrilla forces are more active and stronger than before. Internal peace is far from being restored. A Communist-led "free government" has been proclaimed in the mountains. Grave international complication are feared. In addition, American aid has as yet accomplished almost nothing toward getting shattered Greek economy on its feet.

If Greece is to get economic reconstruction, this must still cost Americans hundreds of millions of dollars—probably more than another $500,000,000 for that purpose alone. But that can't be done until the Greek civil war somehow is ended. Now an infinitely more serious question than huge dollar costs in Greece is raised. It is urged that American troops be sent into Greece for use against the Communist guerillas who are suplied from Yugoslavia, Albania and possibly Bulgaria. It is proposed, then, that American soldiers should fight—and a good many of them die—in Greece.

IS this what the American people want? Is it necessary? How many U.S. divisions might be required to liquidate the guerrillas in their formidable mountain fastnesses? In what and how perilous international complications could such armed American intervention end up? Is there no way in which such an enormous adventure can be avoided?

Before we can find safe answers to these questions we must try to understand why and how we got to the present alarming dilemma about Greece. As a war correspondent I saw Mussolini's crack divisions made monkeys of in the same mountain citadels from which the guerrillas now strike. I was also in Athens when it was a civil war battleground in 1945. I saw Churchill's policy impose a reactionary, corrupt and anti-republican regime upon the Greek people. British officials said such a regime would restore internal peace. In two long years it has had precisely the opposite efect.

CIVIL warfare has increased rather than diminished. If there was to be any pacification in Greece both the Army and gendarmerie had to be "re-screened"—purged of its most vicious Rightist elements. Admittedly, this was an extremely difficult thing to do. Only a broad coalition government could have attempted it. The American mission apparently did not dare to demand a cleanup of the Army and gendarmerie. But until this is done the Greek Army will be in no sense democratic and in no sense representative of the Greek people. To hundreds of thousands of Greeks their present Army is nearly or quite as much "the enemy" as the Communist guerrillas are.

So it is proposed that American divisions should become the fighting allies of this reactionary, widely-distrusted Greek Army. American soldiers, in the name of democracy, should bleed or die alongside the most reactionary elements in Greece. How could the majority of Greek people possibly interpret such action? How could they make such actions jibe with Washington's professed intention of aiding and building democracy in Greece? To the average Greek American troops might well become symbols of anything but democratic freedoms.

Add to this a most practical military consideration. Some 600 miles of very mountainous, northern Greek borders cannot conceivably be sealed of by only two or three American divisions.

THE Truman Doctrine was "America carries the bag alone in Greece." This is where that fantastically short-sighted, impetuous action has brougat us—to the frank recommendation that American troops should fight and finish off the Greek civil war. The American people must consider with utmost gravity where such a step threatens and promises inevitably to lead us. They have a right to demand why we should accept this dangerous gamble and, in any event, why accept it alone?

The Greek Communist-guerrilla problem is in every sense an international problem. It concerns the future security of Britain, France and all western Europe as much as Americans. If the Greek borders must be patrolled and the guerillas eliminated, that should be first of all the task of a United Nations police force. In any case it should be a multi-nationed responsibility. The U.S. is in this alarming mess in Greece because Washington rejected a collective international action. It was foolhardy to plunge into Greece alone. It will be impossible for Uncle Sam, alone, to get out of Greece. Nothing but disastrous results could come from sending U.S. divisions into the Greek civil war. The only solution to the Greek problem must come from intensive and statesmanlike diplomacy along lines of international co-operation.

Beveridge On Britain

There was a time when sterling was one of the strongest currencies of the world. Now it is one of the weak currencies of the world. We cannot put that right by seeking to have good times in this country. If we cannot, by argument, get the building operative of this country to do much more per day than they used to do in the comfortable old days, if we cannot, by argument, get the unions of all kinds to drop demands for more and more leisure, then we shall be driven to get all this by want. What the Government have tried to say is true, but they say these things and do not hold out as stiffly as they should against the sectional claims put forward against them by one industry after another, by one union after another. We are in a difficult position and we should act as though we were in a difficult position, and that means acting much more stiffly against pressure of all kinds.—Lord Beveridge in House of Lords Hansard.

Letters To The Editor

A RULE WHICH IS A NUISANCE

Sir: As all parents know, it is a rule that a child who has had an infectious disease may not return to school without a certificate from the Medical Health Officer. I am not quite sure whether this is a local or a provincial regulation, but I suggest that it should be altered as a matter of convenience.

In the first place, every child which has an infectious disease is seen by its family doctor, and I cannot see any good reason why a certificate from him that the child is fit to mix with other children should not satisfy the school authorities. In the second place, the M.O.H. is a very busy man, and this issuing of certificates is a nuisance to him. Anyhow, can he be expected to examine every child thoroughly enough to decide that it is free from infection? Doesn't he have to rely heavily on the word of the mother and the family doctor? Why load a busy man with a job which, in epidemic time (as during the recent outbreak of mumps and chickenpox) wastes many hours both for him and for the mothers who must take their children to see him? And it must not be forgotten that the M.O.H. has to be out of town sometimes, and that means further waiting for a child who has already missed some weeks of school.

This rule seems designed to catch a small minority of irresponsible parents. Why have we so many laws which assume that a majority of us are stupid and neglectful of duty? Why not make a certificate from the family doctor sufficient for the school authorities, and let the M.O.H. devote himself to more important civic work?

Yours faithfully,
MOTHER OF SCHOOLCHILDREN.

MEMORIAL CENTRE OR MONEY BACK!

Sir: I would like to inquire why the snow-loader was not put in use until this late date?

Why should motorists, taxpayers and citizens wade through snow to their knees to put a penny in a parking meter? It was a real hazard with the show obliging motorists to narrow up the traffic lanes in downtown Peterborough. Guess while I'm at it I might as well say that the jay-walkers are still dodging the cars and fingering their noses at the lights!

Not long ago in your paper some one took a rap at the motorist for turning into traffic on foot off a red-light....making right hand turn. He feels sorry for the man on foot! So do I....But, if a motorist goes through a red-light he is fined...and pays that fine or else!

Did anyone ever hear of a jay-walker ever being find in Peterborough?

Oh yes, I also see letters in your column for the Memorial Centre and against. Well, if the people who promised to give us a Memorial Centre are not going to do this...Then, I want my ten dollars back!

Parents who had sons who could have tried out for junior hockey when they donated to the Memorial Centre are beginning to think that their sons will have long beards before we have a decent skating rink.

Thanking you,
MOTORIST AND TAXPAYER.

MEMORIAL CENTRE FOR GEORGE ST.

Sir: Please allow me a little space to express my opinion as to where I and many others tnink the Memorial Centre should go, now that it can not go to the Exhibition Grounds.

Put it on George Street on the lot (which the city owns) between Rink and Townsend streets and west of George street back to the west side of the old Allin ice property, on part of which property the Lacrosse Bowl now stands.

I know some one will say that it is impossible to get foundations here, but has any one ever made an honest effort to find out? Only a couple of years ago a well known construction company built a new storehouse for a lumber company much closer to the lake than this property and I am told they only had to excavate about 13 feet to get good foundation soil, and that building today has housed several carloads of cement without any sagging. Only recently another firm seeking foundations for a service station close by only had to go to a depth of about 8 feet and got good gravel.

I have had some experience myself along parts of Rink and Townsend streets and I certainly am of the opinion that any extra monies spent for foundations at this location would be only a fraction of what it might cost to purchase properties on either east or west sides of Burnham street, and the city owns this property now. It must also be remembered that under the most parts of the building, all that is needed is concrete pillars, not a continuous foundation.

This property has been an eyesore from time immemorial and we now have a chance to beautify it and also have all the parking space that might be had at any other possible location. So put it on city property, save expense of buying other property and also expensive lawyers' fees. The objections to this site were only because of foundation difficulties and any experienced construction man will not balk at what will be found at this location.

The property is there waiting, so let us get going with the erection of the Centre at once. And, by the way the city is growing this location is just about the geographical centre of the city.

Yours truly,
ONE WITH SOME EXPERIENCE.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord, The heaven is my throne, and earth is my footstool: where is the house that ye build unto me? and where is the place of my rest? For all those things hath mine hand made, and all those things have been, saith the Lord: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my word. (Isa. 66: 1, 2.)

At the same time came the disciples unto Jesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven? And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them, and said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh!

Wherefore if thy hand or thy food offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire. (Matt. 18: 1-4, 7, 8.)

A BRITISH OPINION

"Give it up, George. Christmas is over now, anyway."

Doug Bentley Thinks Hockey Not So Rough

By HARRY ECCLES

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP).—Old-time hockey fans are probably chuckling over Doug Bentley's remark the other day that present-day hockey is not nearly so rough as it was when Doug entered the National Hockey League.

Doug, senior member of the famed brother forward pair with Max, entered the NHL way back in 1939 after seven years in amateur hockey in Saskatchewan. He had not thought of getting into the never-ending discussion about the old greats—about the stars of the NHL's first season in 1917, or the old National Hockey Association that started in 1909, or the circuits that were operating before that.

But even in 1939, says Doug, "a little guy didn't have much chance." He weighed 132 pounds when he started in the major loop. Now he runs 150. All today's NHL teams are dotted with 200-pounders; Ed Slowinski of Rangers is tops at 207. Boston Bruins have the heaviest average, 180. Toronto Leafs average 176, Montreal Canadiens 175, New York Rangers 171, Detroit 167, Chicago 14.

Boxing Problem

Harry (London Free Press) Eisen comes up with a kind word for that genial Toronto boxing figure—Jack (Deacon) Allen. His remarks were inspired by the recent wedding — with Athletic Commissioner Syl Apps holding the shotgun — of the Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union and Allen's Ontario Amateur Boxing Association.

When the Ontario amateur organization revived a year or so ago, possibly with an eye on the approaching Olympic Games, they would have nothing to do with Allen, chief promoter of the fight game in Toronto and a number of Ontario cities. But that has changed now and the Deacon's group has been whitewashed and declared fit for amateur competition.

'Sanitary' Code May Set Off Big Argument

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 — (AP).—Although the people involved on both sides try to give the impression that there won't be much difference of opinion shown when the National Collegiate Athletic Association's "sanitary" code comes up for discussion to-morrow, you get the impression that it would not take much to set off a heck of an argument.

One thing for sure is that the South-eastern Conference voted 9-2 to tell the national body to go climb a tree and then "reconsidered" at the urging of a few important members when it was learned that the Southern and South-west Conferences would not string along with the rebellion.

Sports Before Your Eyes

The NCAA boxing tournament will be conducted on the Olympic weight scale instead of the usual 125 pounds and up, because it is a qualified event for the Olympic trials . . . Virginia claims to have two of the most sought-after high school football backs, Billy Ferris of Woodrow Wilson High, Portsmouth, and Ted Filer of Richmond's John Marshall, who have had bids from at least 20 colleges.

Dots All Brothers

Maybe Bob Higgins won't admit it, but the reason Penn State was throwing passes all over the field in a desperate effort to break that 13-13 tie with the Southern Methodist in the last few minutes of the Cotton Bowl game was that Coach Higgins thought SMU had a 14-13 lead . . . "If Hig had known it was a tie," says out informant, "he would have been out there lying on the ball himself . . ."

Fortune, Jr., C. Stevens, F. Tyler, S. Carron, W. Dupree, D. Dupree, L. Miron and J. Bickford. U.S. teams usually win the topflight bobsled races.

Queen's Seeking Full-Time Coach

KINGSTON, Jan. 9.—(CP). — Out to strengthen its senior football team, Queen's University Athletic Board of Control is on the hunt for a full-time coach to direct the team which has given a dismal performance in the last seasons in the Intercollegiate Football Union.

Bob Elliott, who stepped into the coaching breach at the last minute last season, has rejected a five-year contract, referring to devote his time to his industrial job. Frank Tindall, who was slated to handle the 1947 job and decided to remain at Syracuse, N.Y., is another prospect.

The Board also is reported to have made overtures to Frank Gnup, who has turned in a competent job for two seasons as mentor of Hamilton Wildcats in the Ontario Rugby Football Union. But latest word from Hamilton was that Gnup, product of New York's Manhattan University, will handle the Wildcats for another five years.

Rules

Games must start on time. One point per minute penalty for teams being late.

A team must have four players on the court to count as a league game. All players in uniform must be used in every game. Extra men will stand out in turn and re-enter whenever the team rotates.

If one team has more than one player above the number of players in the other team the teams shall be balanced, within one player, by shifting according to mutual agreement of the captains.

When the receiving team has a player or players standings out it may rotate without winning the service if the serving team has made three consecutive points. When a team so rotates it shall not rotate on winning the service.

Each game won shall count two points in the league standing. In order to count two points in the league standing for a game that does not finish a team must have at least eight points and be three points ahead.

Barbara Ann's Skating Triumphs Ranked As Top Sport Achievement

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP).—Smiling Barbara Ann Scott's figure skating triumphs of 1947 ranked today as the achievement of the year in Canadian sport.

The winsome Ottawa Miss became the first of her sex to gain this recognition from Canadian sports editors in The Canadian Press year-end poll. It gave her a clean sweep of poll honors. Previously, telegraph editors selected her as the Canadian news personality of the year and sports editors named her the outstanding woman athlete.

The 19-year-old Ottawa girl was a solid choice for the achievement honors. She received 44 of a possible 75 points. Tied for second place, with nine points apiece, were the acheivements of footballers Joe Krol and Bob Sandberg and that hockeyist-golfer, Bill Ezinicki of Toronto Maple Leafs. Voters named first, second and third choice and points were awarded on a 3-2-1 basis.

The selectors mentioned three of Barbara Ann's 1947 achievements — with the emphasis on her triumph in the world skating championships at Stockholm. She also won the European title and successfully defended her North American crown.

Next Goal

Her next main goal is the Olympic title, for which she has been training in Switzerland. Next week she will perform in the European championships at Prague. After the Olympic Games—Jan. 30 to Feb. 8—she will defend her world title.

A year ago, sports editors picked Krol's play with the Dominion football championship Argonauts as the achievement of the year. The way the triple-threat opportunist performed for the Argos again last fall brought him the second place tie in the 1947 poll.

Sandberg, powerful back of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, won recognition largely for his amazing iron-man performance against the Argos in the Dominion championship. The University of Minnesota product gave as great an individual show as a Canadian gridiron has seen in years.

The selectors who mentioned Ezinicki put his golfing prowess ahead of his hockey skill. He was one of the Dominion's outstanding amateur golfers last year and took a long stride toward his aim of becoming a competent pro. But his tough, unruffled hockey play helped attract attention too.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The whereabouts of Suzanne Morrow of Toronto and Wally Distelmeyer of Kitchener proved a poser for officials today.

Canada's Olympic figure skating pair was scheduled to give an exhibition at London's Wembley Arena yesterday but they didn't appear and officials apologized to a crowd of nearly 10,000 persons for their absence."

"We made a last-minute substitution," they said. "We have no idea where they are." It was learn that the skaters arrived by air Wednesday but no one came forward to add anything to this information.

Funeral services were held at Pasco, Wash., yesterday for Alfred C. Jewell, 72-year-old former Canadian walking champion, who died Monday. Jewell broke into prominence as a walker at Toronto in 1907 when he met and defeated such Canadian walking champions as Chuck Skeene and George Goulding.

Vince Bryant, coach of Hamilton Tigers, said in Hamilton yesterday his team was handicapped by poor playing conditions in its two-game series with Vancouver Blue Bombers for the Dominion junior football champions.

Eight members of the Winnipeg Falcons when they accounted for western Canada's first Memorial Cup triumph with a victory over Stratford Midgets in 1921, held a reunion at Winnipeg yesterday. Those attending included Scotty Comfort, brilliant goalie, Harry Neil, Sammy McCallum and Harold McMunn.

The United States ski, bobsled and speed-skating teams arrived at St. Moritz, Switzerland yesterday to begin final preparations for the Olympic winter games.

Flyers Batter Guelph 6-2

By The Canadian Press

Hap Emms' Barrie Flyers went to Galt last night with vengeance in their hearts. His burly crew doesn't like defeat, particularly from eighth-place teams—such as Guelph Biltmores. Whatever Hap whispers in their ears prior to each tussle, reputedly, bodes little good for the opposition.

Last night was no exception. Smarting from Wednesday night's 5-3 downfall on home ice from the Biltmores, the Flyers battered Guelph 6-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association junior A game.

In this contest which threatened to erupt into a donnybrook throughout the 60 minutes of play Barrie moved one point ahead of the idle Galt Rockets into third place. It was Flyers' 15th victory in 23 tries.

Fans Roused

The tilt was delayed several times as aroused fans pelted the ice with bottles and programs. Referee Dinty Moore had difficulty keeping the game under control.

Rugged Barrie defencemen, Ray Gariepy was the chief target for most of the fans' missiles. In the third period he cracked Ron Plumb over the head with his stick but escaped without a penalty.

This brought fresh showers of paper and one bottle. Biltmores were "in the game" until the third period when they tired from the rugged checking.

Sid McNabney led the Barrie attack with three goals. Gil St. Pierre, Jerry Reid and Rusty Aikin snared Barrie's other counters. Ron Plumb and Lorne Ferguson scored for Guelph.

Hamilton Patricias visit Toronto Marlboros, Brantford take on Hamilton Tigers and Stratford meets Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen in tonight's scheduled senior tilts. There are no junior games slated.

Marmora Victors Over Tweed 10-7

MARMORA, Jan. 9—(ENS)—Thrills aplenty marked Marmora's home game with Tweed at Madoc on Wednesday evening when Marmora emerged victors by the score of 10-7.

In the first period, it appeared as though the old jinx which used to mark Marmora's past games with the Easterners had been resurrected for the score at the end of that period read Tweed 4, Marmora 1.

But fortunes change in the second period and once in the lead, Marmora sustained it to the end. Tweed got their first goals as the brothers Leonard were in the penalty box with Marmora's counter coming after Tweed's second goal. Marmora tried to improve their score but found Jones a plucky defender.

In the second period, a fifth goal by Tweed spurred Marmora to an aggressiveness which counted for they responded with five goals to assume the lead. End-to-end rushes marked the final period in which some good combination and sparkling individual play was indulged in, in turn by both teams.

Tweed—Goal, Jones; defence, Alexander, Lead; centre, B. Gehan; wings, Rivers, Meraw; alternates, L. Gehan, Prout, Long, Cotton, Price.

Marmora—Goal, Koski; defence, G. Leonard, E. Leonard; centre, Cousins; wings, Goodchild, K. Trumble; alternates, Loveless, E. Trumble, McInroy, Forestell, Brooks, Smith, Maloney, Doyle, Shannon.

Knights Trim St. Paul As Rangers Triumph

By The Associtaed Press

Omaha Knights and the Fort Worth Rangers have special cause for celebration in the United States Hockey League.

The Knights broke a string of seven games without a victory last night when they won at St Paul 7-4.

The Rangers treated their home fans to a 3-1 victory over Minneapolis, the first the Texas club has achieved over the northern division leaders this year.

All the scoring in the game at Fort Worth was confined to the first period. The Millers went into a 2-0 lead on goals by Bus Wycherley and Art Strobel before Billy Warwick and Russ Kopak tied it up for Rangers. The winning goal came in the final second of the period off the stick of Ott Schmidt.

Andberg Ready To Show Fans How Good He Is

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP). — How good is Olle Andberg?

That's the subject up for discussion tonight at Madison Square Garden when the tall, blonde Swede from Stockholm, who upset Joe Baksi last July, meets the Cleveland "cutie," Joe Maxim in his American pro debut.

The 10-round heavyweight scrap has been lost in the shuffle while the 20th-Century Sporting Club has been signing Joe Louis on the dotted line for a defence of his heavyweight title next June.

But there has been enough talk about the Swedish swatter to lure about 12,000 customers and an expected $60,000 to the arena.

If Olle can prove that his decision over Baksi was no fluke he can win himself a piece of change. For the heavyweight situation is wide open, ever since the night Jersey Joe Walcott twice dumped Joe Louis on the seat of his pants.

Although it's a sure-fire thing that Louis and Walcott will do an encore next June, there is nothing certain about the rest of the picture. If Louis wins and retires, there will be a wild scramble for the job, in which tonight's winner might cut an important figure. If Louis wins, the boys will be jumping over one another to get in the ring with Jersey Joe.

Big hockey attraction tonight is the Legionnaires' "home" game at 8.30 in Lindsay against Kingston Saints. While the Saints beat the Petes, who edged Legion, the latter crew hold a decision over Belleville, who in turn beat Kingston. So, it's quite a scramble in this OHA senior "B" grouping. Ned Vitarelli reckons his Legion pack will be tough anytime on Lindsay ice and should take the strong Saints this evening, but they'll have to hustle all the way. Both are scrappy squads with good goaltending, and there was never much love lost between Peterborough and Kingston clubs. So, it looks like a fine puck fray on tap, and no doubt will draw another hefty crowd of city and district—and Lindsay—fans.

Dit Clapper's Boston Bruins have indeed fallen on evil days—for the time being. They played two exhibition tilts recently with amateur (?) teams and lost 'em both. Ottawa Senators smeared them 9-2 in Ottawa, while Marlboros took them the other night in Kingston by a 4-2 count. Bill Walshe of the Journal wrote: "The opinion of this corner is that Senators were hot and the Bruins cold. With Frank Brimsek in goal, Milt Schmidt at centre, and Johnny Crawford on defence, it is certain that Bruins will be much better, although the younger members of the team did not seem in the same class that is expected of National Hockey League players."

Still Pack 'Em In

Our personal opinion is that NHL hockey is not of the high calibre it was, while senior "A" so-called amateur hockey is real good now. Many amateur stars are making large money as well as holding down business jobs with a future, so they hesitate to go pro. And the demand for pro stars exceeds the supply—with most of the States and Europe draining much of the Canadian talent. Jim McFadden could step up from the QSHL and in less than two seasons be fighting it out for the NHL scoring leadership. Other ex-juniors have done nearly as well. There are some ace players in the NHL but there are also a lot of Neil Colvilles and so-so guys up there.

* * * * * *

Let's squeeze in a softball item here. Cam Ecclestone was in Keene the other day visiting Howie Dalton. And Cam promised to bring down a team of Toronto "name" players for an exhibition tilt with the Keene-plus-Peterborough bunch on May 24. Dough raised going to help the Keene rink committee, which plans on a covered rink there. Howie is handling a Keene hockey team in the rural loop, by the way, and Jack Mackness looks after another. They are in with Indian River and Hiawatha. Down that way, they figure (with a bit of bolstering) they could enter a good City Softball League team next spring. With Howie and Jack, there are George and Tom Walton, as well as Phil Pryde and George Hawkes.

Basketball on two local fronts tonight and one tomorrow. Girls go at eight this eve in the YW with CGE playing Lock Works, followed by the Kawarthas and Neill's. Latter team plays Lock Works on Monday, also. At Collegiate tonight, the North Toronto juniors and seniors of their Collegiate play PCVS junior "A" and senior "A" teams, first fray at 7.30, the junior joust, and next number about 9.00. Visitors will bring some outstanding gym artists for an exhibition of tumbling and on the bars. And at the Collegiate tomorrow night, two classy men's melees are listed. Cobourg plays Marines' "B" band at seven in a Lakeshore League fixture, followed by a game betwixt Toronto senior York Belting and our Marines' "A" champs. Lot of fine cage action, eh?

* * * * * *

Revised schedule for the midget PMHA-ers is in tonight, the Rotarians having been added. Games this p.m. at the Bowl rink are: Trojans vs. Northenders at seven in a bantam fray, and St. Peter's Midgets vs. Northenders an hour later. Lakefield Juves couldn't make it for their joust. And the Monday melees are off till Thursday, Jim Buchan advises. The PMHA could get but one night a week in a covered rink (in Lakefield) and has to play other games on an outdoor cushion. The three winners go into OMHA playdowns and must then play games in a covered arena. Local officials are doing a stout job under trying conditions and may be in line later for the OMHA award for the biggest contribution to minor hockey.

Re The Centre Site

Another meeting of the Memorial Centre committee will be necessary before progress can be reported on the site situation. City council favors the Burnham St. site now and J. A. Jebson will recommend this to a meeting of the committee shortly. There may then be a hitch in obtaining structural steel, though we note where they're planning on a $400,000 artificial ice arena in North Toronto to be ready for next winter. Evidently some places expect to go right ahead and we hope local officials—making a good start this year—explore every angle and push the matter all the way. With action and any luck, Peterborough could have its auditorium ready within two years, we feel confident.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: City Hall rolled 2923 (999) to lead the mercantile bowlers this week . . . And we're told that John Hill of this city, rolling for Port Hope Dairy in Port Hope the other night, had a perfect 450 count, after scores of 150 and 108 . . . Pete Haggis, owner of the alleys, gave him a $50 prize . . . Jack Dugan expects to do some pro fighting shortly in Toronto . . . Dr. Lawrence's rink was second in an open bonspiel at Bobcaygeon . . . Volleyball schedule is in . . . Lakefield Juves beat Omemee 7-2 . . . Trenton Fliers took Cobourg 8-4 last night in OHA intermediate "A" competition . . . Morrow Park Club peewee puck schedule is in tonight and all players should clip it . . . Church hockey coaches and captains are asked to attend a meeting at seven tonight in the "Y" . . . Dave Kerr still holds the franchise for Peoples' hockey club which plays to big crowds at Varsity . . . Bobcaygeon plays in Omemee on Monday in juvenile "C" . . . Pittsburg Hornets of the AHL recently had a record of 13 wins and three ties in 16 home games; last year they had 19 straight wins . . . Highway to Lindsay is reported in good condition . . . So, merrily we roll along.

Harriers Club Organized Reviving Sport

At a meeting in the "Y" last night of those interested in bringing back track and field sports to this city, Jim Flowers was elected president, Ron Douglas secretary-treasurer, and Al Clark coach and counsellor. The manager and trainer have not been selected yet. The club will be known as the Peterborough Harriers Club.

Winter training will be held on the YMCA track until a suitable indoor wooden track can be obtained. Tuesdays will be workout nights at present. Plans are to have long distance races, relays, an athletic night and short middle distance handicaps during the winter months. Everyone interested is invited to take part.

Wants Hockey Cushion

COBOURG, Jan. 9 — (ENS)— Cobourg has no covered rink, but the outside rinks are serving a useful substitute until the big arena becomes a reality. Due to the efforts of Councillor Fred Bell, the site of the old covered rink on University Avenue is now an open-air rink and is lighted at nights. Councillor Bell is inquiring about getting a hockey cushion built. There is also ice on the Collegiate grounds and a fairly good sheet is located in Victoria Park.

PCVS Hoopsters Getting Set For The Season

(By JOHN LEWIS)

This year PCVS is going in for basketball in a big way, fielding seven teams in inter-school competition, five boys' teams and two girls' teams. This shows that the local Collegiate is becoming more and more basketball conscious and perhaps the successes of last year are urging the students on. Last year marked the first year in all Cossa records, when a team outside the Niagara Conference has won a Boys' Cossa championship, and the PCVS Juniors did just that, and in fine style too. But they weren't the only team which got to the Cossa finals. The PCVS Senior Girls' team of last year won their semi-final handily and then went into the finals only to lose by two points. Then too, the PCVS senior boys' team got as far as the Cossa semi-finals, only to lose to Niagara Falls by one point in a high-scoring affair, the score being 53-52.

Good Coach

These successes however are not all that is prompting this rising popularity of the cage game. The students now have a greater confidence in their coach and are recognizing him to be of the high calibre that he is. Mr. Goulding is proving to be of inestimable value to this city and district, having coached a Cossa championship team in football in '46, in basketball in '47, in football again in '47.

The girls' teams look good too, with a goodly number of last year's senior team still eligible, and a lot of recruits in the junior ranks. One drawback however will be a skiing accident suffered by Anita Davis, the high scorer of the senior, whose sprained ankle will keep her from practices for some time.

Another point we might notice is that PCVS is the only school in the Lakeshore district with seven teams entered in league competition. Oshawa, a somewhat larger collegiate has only four boys' teams entered, two senior and two junior, while PCVS have a bantam entry. That team, by the way is probably the most important of the five, for from it will come the stars of the future.

Two Teams

The senior A team is in a two-team grouping, with Oshawa, and so will only have two league games. However, it will have several exhibition games with high quality teams before playing those two games. This Friday night at the Collegiate gym, the North Toronto Collegiate seniors will play an exhibition with this senior A team, which is composed mainly of the players of last year's junior A team which of course won the Cossa. The local juniors travelled to North Toronto last year and were defeated 32-26 so the same two teams almost, will meet again as last year. That game with North Toronto was the only defeat suffered last year by the Cossa winners.

Then on next Wednesday, the senior A and junior B teams will travel to Trinity College for a pair of exhibition tilts, and these two games should be classy also. Another game, as yet only a possibility is one promised to Coach Goulding by the Coach of Merritton Steel Hayes team with the Merritton High School seniors, last year's Cossa winner of which he is also the coach. If this could be arranged, it should really be worthwhile.

The bantam team starts its schedule on Jan. 23 with Lindsay, in the first game of a home-and-home points-to-count series for group honours. The winner will then play Cobourg for the right to play the western winners for district honours.

The first team to play in league games this year will be the Junior A team which visits Cobourg. The big opening night for the local Collegiate will be here with three games against Lindsay — senior, junior and bantam on the 23 of this month. So remember those dates Jan. 9 and Jan 23 at the PCVS gym

Cataracts Defeat Boston Olympics 6-4

Shawinigan Falls Cataracts preserved their slim one-point lead atop the Quebec Senior Hockey League last night by defeating Boston Olympics 6-4 while the second-place Ottawa Senators were walloping the lowly Valleyfield Braves 7-3.

In the Quebec Provincial Hockey League, the league-leading Victoriaville Tigers increased their lead to 12 points by trouncing the second-place Sherbrooke St. Francis 6-1. The third-place St. Hyacinthe Gallos downed the last-place Cornwall Cougars in the other game.

Bill Elliott Will Star In 5 Westerns

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 9 (AP). — Bill Elliott will star in five Western features at Republic this year, all of them reported to be "A" productions with "name" players.

This may be Republic's answer to Roy Rogers, who, like Gene Autry, before him, has been tiffing with the studio. Aside from the pictures, Elliott will also tour with his rodeo this year.

Around the Lots

John Lund goes into "The Tattlock Millions" which will be Richard Haydon's first chore as a director . . . Sonny Tufts will make a Western, "The Wcangler," for Harry Joe Brown. He turned down a role in "The Three Musketeers" for money reasons . . .

Walter Huston will be able to make his usual guest appearance in son John's "Key Largo." Pop Huston will play a bus driver . . . Jimmy Durante will be leaving the hospital in two weeks and that'll make nobody unhappy except the nurses. After a week's rest a home, the popular Schnoz will be back on his air show . . .

Meet The Press

The directors of The Associated Press paused from their business sessions long enough to partake of Hollywood's hospitality. Louis B. Mayer tossed a party for them at his house and the event was one of the season's social highlights. Esther Williams, Cary Grant, Walter Pidgeon, Charles Boyer, Joan Crawford, William Powell and Loretta Young of Hollywood mingled with Robert McLean of Philadelphia, Kent Cooper of New York, Col. R. McCormick of Chicago and many others. Entertainment was supplied by M-G-M- entertainers including Jane Powell, Betty Garrett and Danny Thomas.

Bisons Dump Ramblers 5-3

By The Canadian Press

Two months ago, American Hockey League fans thought that Pittsburgh Hornets were in an unreachable position atop the loop's western section. But today, Buffalo's charging and revamped Bisons are in the leading rung held by the Wasps since opening night.

Last night in New Haven, Bisons moved two full points ahead of Pittsburgh with a 5-3 victory over Ramblers. Tommy Cooper, Len Haldeson, Jerry Brown, Leo Gravelle and Murdo McKay divided the Buffalo scoring while Jean Paul Denis, Jack Lancien and Bing Juckes scored for New Haven. Chuck Rayner—sent down by New York Rangers—was in the New Haven net.

In the only other fixture last night, Indianapolis Capitals rammed home four goals in the last period to dump Philadelphia Rockets 5-1. Pat Lundy led the Caps attack with a brace of tallies while Barcy Sullivan, Enlo Scilsizzi and Baldy Mackay picked up one each. Johnny Mahaffy counted for Rockets.

Providence Reds journey to Washington tonight for the only fixture scheduled.

Canadiens Show New Life Fight Detroit To 1-1 Tie

By The Canadian Press

One of the most cheering displays seen in the National Hockey League in this season of upsets was the performance of Montreal Canadiens last night, when they fought the league-leading Detroit Red Wings to a standstill and were held to a 1-1 tie only by brilliant work of Detroit goalie Harry Lumley.

The result gives Detroit a two-point leadership margin over Toronto Maple Leafs. Canadiens are still in fifth-place, but they've risen to only a point behind Boston Bruins.

It was a heartening revival that the slumping Canadiens put on before a home crowd. Canadiens were first to score, after 12 minutes of the last period when Elmer Lach connected on passes from Roger Leger and Toe Blake, Wings roared back with the tying counter in 18 seconds, Leonard Kelly scoring on a pass from Fernand Gauthier while goalie Bill Durnan was flat on the ice from a previous scramble.

Sensational Work

The Habitants would have had an easy victory on the play, but for the sensational game of Lumley in the Detroit nets. Lumley was given rounds of applause as he made 33 saves, compared with 11 for Durnan. Canadiens were chasing desperately in the closing minutes but couldn't beat Lumley.

The whole circuit resumes action Saturday with Chicago at Toronto, New York at Montreal, and Boston at Detroit, with another three games Sunday night.

At Toronto were Chicago Black Hawks have been practising this week their new coach, Charlie Conacher, threw cold water on rumors that Montreal's big defenceman, Butch Bouchard, might be traded to the Hawks. Conacher said he'd talked to Dick Irvin of Canadiens in Toronto a few days ago but Bouchard hadn't been mentioned.

12 INJURED IN WORKS' BLAST—Shattered building (left) is all that remains of the Montreal Locomotive plant's hydrogen storage tank house, which blew up in Montreal East, injuring 12 workmen. Hundreds of windows were smashed in surrounding area. Piece of hydrogen tank (right), one-inch thick boiler plate, was tossed against smokestack. Bits of steel, flying glass and wreckage flew through the building as if in bomb blast.

Do Not Intend To Slash Menus

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 9—(CP)—George S. Hougham, of Toronto, managing director of the Canadian Restaurant Association, said here today that "no wholesale slashing of food items from menus in restaurants across Canada is foreseen as an immediate result of the price situation."

About 15 association directors are holding a one-day closed session here, but Mr. Hougham said that the price picture was not being discussed until this afternoon.

Mr. Hougham declined comment on the state in Halifax where steak and pork items reportedly have been removed from bills of fare because of higher costs.

Advocates Force In Dealing With Douks

NELSON, B.C., Jan. 9—(CP)—Government-authorized force today was held as the only way to halt the wave of arson and pillaging which has kept the West Kootenay valley in a state of terror for the last seven months.

Yesterday Judge H. J. Sullivan of New Westminster, special commissioner appointed by the British Columbia government to investigate Doukhobor disturbances, announced that until order was restored his hearings would be adjourned.

He called for "emergency legislation to ensure . . . force necessary for the purpose of restoring law and order" and said he would recommend to the attorney-general that steps be taken.

"While the country is being blown up and burnt up" he could not attempt to solve differences between the Doukhobor sects.

18-Year-Old Gunman Sentenced To Death

RENO, Nev., Jan. 9 — (AP) — David Blackwell, 18-year-old gunman who pleaded guilty to a murder charge, yesterday was sentenced to death by a judge who said he was astounded at the boy's "cold-blooded and ruthless disregard for human life."

Blackwell, who figured in a string of robberies and shootings after his escape from a Washington state reformatory Oct. 13, was ordered to be executed in the state prison gas chamber the week of March 14.

Blackwell pleaded guilty to murdering Police Captain Roy Geach, 56, Nov. 8. He has not entered a formal plea in the death of Detective Allan Glass, 36.

Both were shot fatally as they sought to arrest Blackwell for questioning.

Plan To Arrest Liquor Clerk

KITCHENER, Jan. 9 — (CP) —Two warrants charging Eldon S. Weber with theft of liquor from the Ontario liquor store in neighboring Waterloo have been sworn out by a liquor control board official, it was learned today.

Weber is a former employee of the store.

He is accused of theft of liquor during last September and October and on a specific day in October. The warrants are returnable Jan. 16 in magistrate's court here.

Decision to prosecute reverses a decision announced in a liquor control board announcement last fall that employees of the Waterloo store had been discharged or permitted to resign after it was discovered that liquor had been watered.

Making the previous announcement, Col. William Griesinger, the liquor board chairman, said no charges would be laid. In a subsequent statement, he absolved E. G. Seyler, manager of the store for 13 years, of any connection with the tampering.

Word 'Blizzard' Greatly Misused

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP) — The recent storms in New York, Halifax, and the Windsor area brought the word "blizzard" into prominence, but one of Canada's leading meteorologists said today that the word was greatly misused. In fact, he wouldn't admit that it was properly used in any of the cases.

Andrew Thompson, Controller of the Meteorological Division of Canada, told The Canadian Press that the Dominion Public Weather Service had announced a new and more definite definition of a blizzard in order to enable the public to better understand weather reports.

He said, "there is a tendency . . . to apply the word 'blizzard' to any heavy snowstorm accompanied by winds of varying speeds. This broad use of the term impairs its usefulness for purposes of exact description. The true blizzard is characterized by intense cold, high wind, and blinding clouds of dry, powder, 'snowdrift' and may last for several days.

"Heavy falls of snow without strong winds or low temperatures will continue to be forecast as 'heavy snowfall' or 'snowstorm' warnings. High winds and drifting snow without low temperatures will be described as appropriate if they did not fulfill the conditions laid down for 'blizzard'."

Say King George Gave Indians 'Magna Charta'

By JOHN LEBLANC.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 — (CP) — An 18th century proclamation of King George III was cited in the Exchequer Court to-day as the "Magna Charta" of Canada's Six Nations Indians in their claim for $1,289,000 from the Dominion Government.

The proclamation was the deed under which the King, in recognition of the fidelity of his Indian "allies" during the American Revolution, granted them a huge tract of land near Brantford. It is for the loss of some of these lands, and revenue from thetm, that the Indians are suing the Government.

"This treaty, signed because of the decision of the Indians to side with the British forces, is the Magna Charta of the Six Nations," declared Auguste Lemieux of Ottawa, counsel for the tribesmen in their petition-of-right case.

Mr. Lemieux, who contends the Dominion now is liable for recompensing the Indians because of breach of trust by Upper Canadian officials more than a century ago, said the case should be decided on something more than straight law.

"This case is based, not only on cold legal documents, but on history," he said.

As to the claim of the Department of Justice that any action in the case had been barred by the Statute of Limitations, the lawyer said the fact that it was based on "a solemn treaty or proclamation by the King" defeated the Government contention.

Carried Weapon Pays Two Fines

Carrying a concealed weapon proved to be an expensive hobby for Lloyd Peacock, 93 Hunter Street, when charged before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in the Police Court Friday.

Peacock faced two charges, one of carrying a concealed weapon and one of having a weapon in his possession for which he had no licence. On the first charge accused was fined $50 and $2.50 costs and on the second count $10 and $2.50.

Evidence was given by Traffic Constable Harold Mesley, who stated that on receipt of a telephone message he went to 93 Hunter Street, where he found accused sitting in a chair. "I asked him where the revolver in question was," said the officer, "and accused pulled a revolver out of his pocket. There was one shell in the chamber, but the revolver was not in the firing position. Asked by the counsel for defence if he considered the revolver a dangerous weapon in this case, witness testified that the revolver chamber would not work with the type of shell it had in it at the time, but the revolver would fire if the shell was inserted in the firing chamber.

Accused pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined as reported. In default of payment a term of two months was ordered. Arrangements were made for the fine to be paid.

Nails And White Lead Still In Short Supply Glass More Plentiful And Stock Growing

Austerity appears to be making its presence felt in many ways in Peterborough. The tariffs imposed on vegetables from the States already has the housewives wondering what they can find as a suitable substitute for cabbage, lettuce and celery.

The same situation almost applies in the matter of hardware. Enquiry at several hardware stores reveals that Canadian wire nails are next to impossible to obtain. Of a number of stores checked, only one has a few Canadian wire nails in stock. American nails are coming in slowly, but the situation in respect to cut nails is grim. The demand for steel girders for construction work has been largely the cause for the shortage in nails, and in every community the demand has far exceeded the supply.

White lead and paints are other items causing a headache for the builders. Raw linseed oil is very scarce, and the white lead itself is now almost impossible to obtain. Until a short time ago few supplies were dribbling in, but the position has worsened and supplies are strictly limited to a bare minimum. Prices have jumped 50 per cent. since last shipment.

The question of glass is a little easier. Several stores report they have good stocks in at the moment, and there is every indication of further shipments being made at an early date. Reports show that in the near future there will be fairly large quantities of Belgian glass on the market.

High Cost of Food Likely To Boost Hospital Rates

Both city hospitals will be forced to raise rates for private and semi-private rooms and public ward beds. This is the prediction of officials of St. Joseph's and the Civic hospital. The increased food costs play the major part in the projected increases. They affect the hospitals even more because those institutions must use high-grade foodstuffs only, as well as supply special orders of food.

John Hornal, superintendent of the Peterborough Civic Hospital, said yesterday that "there is no question" but that the subject of raising rates would be discussed in the meeting of the directors of the hospital, scheduled for next month.

"Rising costs during the past year have been to such a degree that the board must consider where the increase in revenue will be obtained to cover our increased expenses."

There have been no increases yet, Mr. Hornal stated. The annual meeting, as mentioned, will include striking the budget for the coming year. This will determine the extent of the expected hike in prices.

Sister Priscilla, Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital, said that rates had been upped on private and semi-private rooms by about 50 cents per day on the first of December last. She also predicted that a further increase would be necessary in the near future.

The Sister pointed out that, besides the tremendous increase in the costs of food, there has also been a raise in the cost of gauze, linens, sheeting and other essential hospital requirements.

It would be possible to establish new rates shortly after the end of this month, she said, following the annual audit.

Clothing Order Irked Natives In New Guinea

"Dress gives little cause for headaches where the New Guinea native is concerned. However, I feel that many practices of misguided missionaries in past years are to be deplored." This was the opinion of W. M. Clipstone, who addressed the Kinsmen Club at Kawartha Country Club Thursday evening.

Mr. Clipstone felt that missionaries had done a lot of good, especially in the matter of trying to stamp out, through Christianity, such practices as head hunting and cannibalism. "However, in the cases of the coastal natives, who though not Christians, were at least friendly with the white men, the foolish order of compelling them to dress like white men has only led to unnecessary deaths," the speaker said. "Some of the missionaries, and I refer to the grim puritanical kind of the 19th century, did a lot of harm in taking to the south sea islands their hair-shirt brand of dogmatic theology, which was widely accepted in religious circles at the time. Natives were compelled to wear clothing, being told that semi-nudity would be punished after death with torment. This resulted in their donning of the voluminous neck to ankle costumes to be followed with their falling victims of tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, as well as diseases of the skin.

"The ills which beset the natives today are mostly of foreign origin. The morals of these natives are of a very high standard, and we people of the western world could do well to pattern our lives along some of their teachings where morals are concerned."

Mr. Clipstone was introduced by Harry Huff, and a vote of thanks was moved by Jack Vingoe.

Storm Delays Liner

NELSON, B.C., Jan. 9 — (CP). — The restricting of British Columbia's Doukhobors to certain areas and a clamp-down on their activities in the Kootenay Valley was foreseen yesterday as a possible step by the provincial government in an effort to halt violent discord among the strange religious sects.

'Caygeon Whips Lakefield Team

BOBCAYGEON, Jan. 9 (ENS). —Bobcaygeon Kinsmen, sparked by the Phillips brothers of Kinmount and with an advantage of heavier players, swamped Lakefield Lions 10-2 in a well-attended game here last night.

Outstanding for the losers was little "Red" Waffon, goalie, who played a sterling game despite the score. The heavier homesters pushed back the Lakefielders tim after time.

Bd. Education Facing Deficit Of $5,000

There will be a deficit of operation of approximately $5,000 for the last year in Peterborough's schools, it was reported to the Board of Education last night by Secretary J. E. Huggins.

The estimated expenditures for 1948 will likely be $600,000, the highest in the history of the city. Last year's total was $568,000.

In detailing the sources of the deficit, Mr. Huggins stated that about $13,800 had been spent over budget estimates. With an excess of $4,200 in revenue over the estimated figure, and a saving on the estimates for expense accounts of $4,700, the final deficit of $4,900 has been reached.

Among the factors which were responsible for spending over the budget, he mentioned: $2,500 additional for boiler installation in the South Central School; extra salaries for male teachers, $2,000; extra salaries for caretakers, $1,300; extra salaries for night school teachers, $1,100; board of reference, $2,000; band instruments, $1,400; $2,500 not yet received from the provincial Department of Education.

The addition to the Queen Mary School will exceed estimated costs, it was reported. The board moved that arrangements be made to finance the amount in excess of the debenture issue, and that arrangements be made with the city to cover this.

500 Attend Sales-Ad Course

More than 500 men and women thoroughly enjoyed an hour and a half, two-part lecture which introduced the five lecture Lacy Sales Course at the Collegiate Thursday evening. Sponsored by the Sales and Ad Club, the course is directed by W. (Bill) Wright, Toronto, noted lecturer and sales authority.

Mr. Wright illustrated his talk by means of a series of drawings on three easels, and spoke for an hour on selling. Then he switched to the shorter period, dealing with effective speech and diaphramic breathing.

"People stop learning too soon, and they should be disturbed into doing some thinking" he said. "I intend to be the disturber during the next five weeks."

He said there were two ways to learn anything, the first is by the trial and error method, and the second is by benefitting from the mistakes and experiences of those who have travelled the path one wishes to follow.

"In the field of selling, the time has come for the actual selling of the goods, not just taking of orders" he said.

In his lesson on selling Mr. Wright took three characters, Tom, Dick and Harry, and showed how each tackled the selling job. It was plain, applicable, down-to-earth talking and easy to understand. He mentioned the three essentials as technical knowledge, willingness to work, and personality, and showed how a combination of the three, produced dollars. His theme was "organize your mind to make it sales-wise."

Mr. Wright's description of the various sales types while a lesson to the gathering was also humorous.

His simple explanation of how to feel at home on a stage or when called to speak at any function was a tonic and inspiration to many of the students. He went on to coach the class in diaphramic breathing and suggested exercises to be done between now and the next meeting.

Sales and Ad Club members are still selling tickets on the course, and many who were unable to attend Thursday will start next week.

Ted Weir, president of the club, welcomed the students and Percy Dallin, chairman of the ticket-selling committee introduced Mr. Wright.

Unduly Alarmed

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9 — (CP) — "Rh Negative" women whose peculiar blood may kill their newborn, have been unduly alarmed by poor publicity, the American Medical Association was told yesterday. Dr. Philip Levine, of the Ortho Research Foundation, Raritan, N.J., said that nearly all these women can have two or three healthy children before their blood begins to produce the killing substances.

CHAIRMAN OF BOARD — Re-elected chairman of the Board of Education at its opening meeting last night, D. V. Canning also headed the Board in 1947. This is the first time in six years that the chairman has held that post for two years.

D. V. Canning Re-elected Board Chairman

D. V. Canning was re-elected chairman of the board of education at its inaugural meeting on Thursday night. It is the first time in six years that a chairman has been elected to head the board two years in succession. Mrs. F. W. K. Harris was re-elected vice-chairman.

Members of the board, re-elected this year, who were sworn in were: G. Wilson Craw, Dr. H. G. Carleton, D. V. Canning, A. Pitchford and Mrs. Harris.

Other members of the board are W. E. Bannon, F. H. Jobbitt, Dr. R. C. Honey, W. B. Gordon. Members to represent the county and the separate schools have not yet been appointed.

Committees for the coming year were struck as follows. The first named in each case is chairman:

Finance—Craw, Canning Pitchford, Jobbitt, Honey and Gordon.

Property—Jobbitt, Craw, Canning, Pitchford, Gordon and county representative.

Supervision — Pitchford, Canning, Mrs. Harris, Carleton, Honey and separate school member.

Health—Honey, Canning, Carleton, Pitchford, Bannon and Gordon.

Appointment — All members with Mr. Gordon as chairman.

Accommodation — Craw, Canning, Carleton, Pitchford, Jobbitt and Gordon.

Vocational (no chairman) — Canning, Harris, Bannon, Jobbitt, county member and separate school member. Also members of this committee, not members of the board, are: I. F. McRae, G. A. Macdonald, C. Westbrook, E. J. Ferguson, Newton Hamilton and C. Porter.

Rev. H. G. Douglas, Knox United Church opened the inaugural meeting. Leading in prayer, he invoked the blessing of God on the work of the board, and asked Divine assistance in "the privileged part we can take in bringing about Thy will."

The board moved that the city council be asked for $55,000 a month to carry on the schools until the year's estimates are brought down.

New Site Recommended To Centre Committee Expect Decision In Week

Joseph Jebson told a joint meeting of Council and Memorial Centre Committee Thursday night that he would recommend Riverside Park as the site for the long-delayed Memorial Centre at a special meeting of the committee of the whole to be held within the week. Members of the committee he felt did not have sufficient notification of Thursday's meeting and he would not put the matter to a vote until a committee of the whole had met.

This announcement by Mr. Jebson followed Mayor William Ovens' presentation of Council's tentative suggestion that Riverside Park in Ashburnham be decided upon, now that building on the Morrow Trust property was unlikely as a result of legal advice.

The Mayor asked those present not to rehash old issues but decide at the meeting the new location of the project. Then he spoke of the Riverside Park proposal. The meeting was thrown wide open for all opinions to be heard.

So far as achieving a decision on the new location of the Centre is concerned, the meeting was inconclusive. But it placed the onus of a decision squarely on the shoulders of the Memorial Centre Committee when that body meets again.

After the main meeting, Mayor Ovens asked Council members to sit in with two representatives from the Exhibition Board to explore the possibility of building a secondary rink on Morrow Trust property. One suggestion was that the building could be used as a community centre — with a cement floor and artificial ice thus allowing a variety of uses—and as an agricultural show place.

It was requested that Gordon Hancock, president of the Exhibition Board determine the feeling of that body when it meets Friday night.

No Permit Available

Clarence Neal said he had contacted by telephone an Ottawa official of the Department of Reconstruction and Supply and had been assured that there was no chance of the proposed structure receiving a priority project permit. And without it, he said, there would be little chance of obtaining the structural steel required. The situation was all part of the US dollar situation, as steel he felt would have to be imported from the US.

Mr. Neal said he had no personal interest in the location of the centre but believed the best place was at Exhibition Park.

"I contend that the terms of the Trust are not conducive to the best interests of the citizens at this time and I feel that Mr. Morrow himself would, under ordinary circumstances, be the first to wish it changed."

To illustrate his point that Peterborough citizens had an interest in that property which he described as "an eyesore for 20 years", he gave a preliminary estimate of the potential tax revenue from it if it was divided into lots and used for building purposes. The tax revenue he calculated would be $27,600 if the present mill rate was maintained.

He said he did not wish to make the point that lots should be built on the property, but that citizens are subsidizing it to the value of $27,600 a year, "so that the Peterborough Agricultural Society may use it for a period of two weeks out of the year." Citizens are not free to develop and use it to the best advantage despite this "subsidizing", he said.

This view was vigorously attacked by Herbert Bradburn who contended that under our legal system people had the right to dispose of their property as they saw fit. And he said if the matter came to an issue he would have no part in trying to break the Trust.

Solution Imperative

"In the interests of the young people of Peterborough we must have some rink solution," said Alderman H. Dodds. He criticized the existing state of affairs where hockey-playing youths had to leave the city in order to indulge in their pastime. "A city of 80 hockey teams and no rink," he jibed.

Mr. Dodds said that for $96,000 a full-sized rink holding 3,200 spectators, with a cement floor and artificial ice plant could be installed in the Exhibition grounds. And by not having a local rink the city was losing purchasing power.

Mr. Neal said that as soon as a site is decided upon the Building Committee will go on at full speed. He suggested that they go through with plans right to the stage where tenders can be let. If building materials were unavailable or the cost was prohibitive, the public would be able to see, he contended, that those responsible for the Memorial Centre had done all possible to push the project.

This plan seemed to meet with general favor and received commendation from Mayor Ovens, Frank Buckland and Ald. Doug Miller.

Mr. Buckland in agreeing with the "go-ahead" proposal added that the community of Weston had bought a hangar which was used to build a rink. He pointed out that perhaps all the steel required for such a structure did not need to come from the US after all.

Mr. Miller said he doubted that the import restrictions on steel would last much longer and urged that plans for a rink before next winter should proceed immediately.

Present at the meeting called by the Mayor after the main gathering had dispersed were the two representatives from the Exhibition Board—Mr. Hancock and Mr. R. M. Glover. Also attending were Aldermen Young, Swanston, Doug Miller, Dodds, Grant Miller and Waddell.

Winter's Heaviest Snowfall Hits City

Seven And One-Half Inch Fall Makes Roads Heavy, Little Drifting

Winter's heaviest snowfall to date started well before midnight Thursday and by daybreak seven and one-half inches had fallen. The temperature rose slightly and percipitation still continued in freezing rain that laid down a crust and covered vehicle windshields which amounted to hazardous driving for early-morning workers.

Transport companies whose vehicles thread in and out of Peterborough from as far as Windsor and Montreal reported that driving was slightly on the heavy side but not impossible. The roughest stretch appeared to be on Highway 2 between Brighton and Port Hope with Nos. 7 and 2 in fair shape. The Lindsay bus was 10 minutes late and the Warsaw coach, just a few minutes off schedule.

The transportation head of one of the bread companies said that his transports were running in and out without undue delay and the only holdup was their own terminal yard. There has been no report on Highway 7's condition but there have been no delay warnings received at the bus terminal which the operators consider a favorable sign, nor have there been any reports of delays on the bus southbound from Bancroft.

In the city, people on their way to work this morning met the new day by plowing through heavy snow to the roadways. Snow plows were on the job well before five o'clock, and sidewalk plows were not far ebhind them.

The "big snow" meant a brisk business for tow-truck operators. One of them is still a bit red in the face about it—his towers were marooned in the garages until nearly nine o'clock until a clearance could be made at the entrance.

On the basis of a sample check, about 150 Peterborough motorists called on the services of the garages in getting them to work this morning.

To The Ratepayers of Emily Township:

I wish to take this opportunity of thanking you, the ratepayers, for the generous support accorded me at the polls Monday, Jan. 5.

I hope that in the coming year I will measure up to the confidence you have placed in me.

Loretta McCarthy is Bride Of John R. Bolin at Keene

St. John's Catholic Church, Keene, was the setting for a pretty wedding Thursday morning when Rev. W. C. McCarney solemnized the marriage of Loretta Jane McCarthy and John Richard Bolin. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vince McCarthy, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bolin, all of Keene. A basket of lovely white and yellow chrysanthemums graced the altar table. Mr. Edgar Boland of Peterborough, was at the organ and played softly during the ceremony. He also sang Rosewig's "Ave Marie" and during the signing of the register, "On This Day."

The bride chose a street-length dress of blue crepe wtih black lace insertions on a flaring peplum, long black gloves and small black hat with pink feather trim. Her corsage was of red roses. Mr. McCarthy gave his daughter in marriage.

The bridesmaid was Miss Catherine Bolin of Peterborough, sister of the groom, who was attired in aquamarine wool jersey with black accessories and had a corsage of pink and white carnations. Mr. Joseph McCarthy, brother of the bride, attended the groom.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dorris. About 26 guests were present.

Variety Program Opens Year Mr. and Mrs. Club

Wednesday evening meeting of the Mr. and Mrs. Club at George St. United Church proved to be one of the highlights of the club history. A sparkling program of music and comedy was coupled with a very successful business session, during which plans were made for future meetings.

Selections by a talented trio of young pianists known as "The Three M's," Mary McBride, Margaret Martyn and Mildred Hayward, were a feature of the musical program. Also vocal duets by the Delahaye sisters, June and Jean, and piano numbers by Mrs. Ross Moore.

Under the stage billing, "Mr. and Mrs. Popinoff and Sons," the men's quartet presented their own versions of two popular songs with appropriate costumes and actions. Doug Brown, Lloyd Wells, Gord Marshall and Bob Healy were the songsters, with Charlie Allen at the piano.

A short skit depicting a quiet evening at home with a temperamental radio was cleverly done by several club members and was uproariously received. Club news, read by Clayton Bullock and Norm Millen, was equally amusing.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

NUPTIAL ADVISORS
Girl Should Ignore Dissuaders To Ideal Marital Prospects

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a man in whom I see the perfect husband. He is not good-looking and I am.

Dorothy Dix

Also he is ten years older than I am. He loves me very much and we plan to get married, but neighbors and relations tell me that he is not the man for me on account of the difference in our ages.

This makes him very unhappy, for he says he loves me so much he doesn't want to ruin my life. What shall we do, marry or not?

DOUBTFUL.

ANSWER: The first thing I should advise you to do is to quit listening to the awful warnings that the buttinskies are pouring into your ears. You are the ones who are contemplating marriage, not your sisters nor your cousins nor your aunts, and if you two suit each other, it is nobody else's business.

The success of a marriage depends entirely upon the taste of the individual. A man might have every virtue in the world, but if there was nothing in him that appealed to you and if you didn't enjoy being together, your marriage would be an utter failure. A girl might be pretty as a picture, and as amiable as Patient Griselda, and a good cook, yet she might bore the man she married so that he simply couldn't stand her.

Make Own Choice

Also, the reason why our friends and relatives and mothers have no right to try to pick out our husbands and wives for us is because different natures click in different ways. The man who might be one girl's dream husband would be another one's nightmare, and the woman who might be the ideal wife for one man might drive another man to drink. So pick out your own medicine. You are the one who has to take it.

As for the ten years difference between you and your fiance, don't give it another thought except to be thankful that you are getting a man who knows what he wants in a wife and is ready to settle down. Also, you have another trump card. It is always to the wife's advantage to be better looking than her husband. It keeps off the flirtatious women and makes the man think he is some picker.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have just gotten married. Will you please tell me where I can go to learn how to cook and get recipes. I know how to cook a little, how to make pies, or fry chicken, or boil noodles. My mother would never let me cook, and in high school all they ever taught us was how to make muffins.

ANXIOUS BRIDE.

ANSWER: You are a wise girl to begin your married life by learning how to cook, for there is no surer way of keeping a husband's love than by feeding him. The happy homes are those in which a wife keeps a clean hearth and a good table. The Other Woman that every wife has to be afraid of is not the beauteous blonde, it is the woman who is a good cook.

There is no mystery about learning how to cook. Any woman who can read and who has energy and industry can get a good cook book and learn how to cook in a dozen easy lessons. There are many good cook books on the market. Buy the one that looks the simplest and that contains the recipes for the kind of food that you are accustomed to and that your husband likes, and go to it.

But it is my opinion that any mother who doesn't teach her daughters how to cook fails in her duty and commits a crime against them and the unfortunate men who have to eat their amateur dishes.

DEAR MISS DIX: A widower and I are in love with each other and are thinking of marrying, but I have two children and he has two children and there is every likelihood that we might have other children. Do you think we could be happy with these children who do not agree? Would it cause friction between us?

WORRIED.

ANSWER: Nothing short of a miracle would enable three, or even two, different sets of children to live together in peace and harmony, and unless you are of an adventurous nature I advise you not to try it. I once heard a badgered woman call out to her husband: "John, your children and my children are beating up our children."

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, January 10

Judging by lunar aspects, established programs in which firm foundations seem to warrant great expectations, are threatened by some abrupt shift in procedures, or even an erratic twist in the mind of cooperative forces, which might possibly reverse, or hold up the works. A strange or unorthodox visitation of unpredictable nature may upset all calculations.

It might be wise to let it simmer over the week-end.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by an unforeseen development in their affairs, in which the wheels of progress seem to be blocked by strange, irregular or disintegrating factors, difficult to analyze for the time being. Shun all erratic individuals who might attempt to interfere from some quixotic notion. Side step all crises, as there are firm foundations based on sound sense, industry and practical techniques, holding promise of future success and security.

A child born on this day although splendidly equipped for establishing itself by industry, sound judgment and practical talents, may have erratic or irregular impulses upsetting its plans for progress and security.

First Naval Ball On January 27 At Club Aragon

Making their debut in the social circle, Peterborough Naval Association, recently organized, will be hosts at the first "Naval Ball" on Tuesday, January 27, at Club Aragon. Plans for the party promise an outstanding event, long to be remembered. Bobby Kinsman's orchestra will provide fine music for dancing.

Highlighting the evening there will be a navy skit entitled "'awkin's 'alo," presented by members of the Association. Additional attractions are a floor show, a special door prize of a mantel radio, and six spot dance prizes.

Peterborough did well in the matter of naval enlistments in World War Two, having more than 1,600 boys in the service, which was the record for any inland city in the Dominion of Canada. It is hoped therefore that the public will respond in helping to make this first naval ball a success. Membership in the Association is open to all navy enlisted men in the city and district.

Tickets may be purchased at Bert McLeod's Drug Store, The Centre Smoke Shop, George Street, or Duffus Motors Ltd. Members of the entertainment committee are Jim White, Benny Aekerman, Fred Kiff, and Stew Gardner.

Re-elect Officers For Church Year At St. Luke's

Annual meeting of St. Luke's Church Year was held at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. R. H. Parsons, Tuesday evening, with a splendid attendance.

Mrs. D. Wyatt, president, opened the meeting with prayer.

Monthly report of the treasurer was presented, after which the financial report of the year was given by Mrs. W. King. The report showed a great deal had been accomplished during the year and it was pleasing to note that the collections for 1947 were greater than for the previous year.

Mrs. Wyatt expressed thanks for the spdendid help given her during the year, after which Rev. W. J. Gilling took the chair for election of officers.

It was the unanimous choice of the meeting that Mrs. D. Wyatt, Mrs. A. McIlvena and Mrs. W. King be returned to office as president, secretary and treasurer, for the year 1948.

A new office, that of vice-president was created, and Mrs. W. Gilling was elected and will also be convener of the program committee.

Refreshments were served by "January" convener, Mrs. G. Maniece, and her committee.

On behalf of those present, Mrs. Gilling tendered a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Parsons for her kind hospitality in opening her home for this meeting.

Learning that Mrs. Parsons would be having a birthday in a few days, the members joined in singing, "Happy Birthday To You" and "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," Mr. R. Johnson playing the accompaniment.

Mr. Parsons took the opportunity, on behalf of the Church Wardens and the men of the congregation, to express sincere thanks to the women of the Church Year for carrying on the work of the church and accomplishing so much during the year.

BURNING SHIP SETS PIER AFIRE — A fireboat, in foreground, battles flames eating away Pier 8 on the Brooklyn, N.Y. waterfront. Fire which broke out aboard the Argentine ship Rio Parana quickly spread to the pier. The blazing ship, loaded with 1,000 of grain and wheat was towed to midstream by coast guard vessels and New York City fireboats where it continued to blaze fiercely. Five alarms were sounded before $1,500,000 fire was brought under control. The 1,000-foot pier is thought to be a total loss.

Two Bern Papers Doubt Denial

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 9 — (AP) — Two Bern newspapers which inquired yesterday whether Prime Minister Stalin of Russia was dead met denials today with doubt.

Above denials under London and New York datelines, Der Bund put a headline: "Denials but not from Moscow."

Berner Tagwacht headlined the denials: "Denials that are not denials."

Tass, the official Russian news agency, yesterday called reports of Stalin's death "nonsense" and Vladimir Pavlov, counsellor of the Soviet Embassy in London, declared the reports were "obviously a slanderous and monstrous provocation." He added: "I do not think it is true."

Canadians Now Bean Eaters As Living Costs Soar

OTTAWA, Jan. 9. — (CP).— Canadians appear to be turning into a gang of bean-eaters, perhaps as a result of the rising cost of living.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today that production of baked beans during July, August and September of last year totalled 11,278,295 pounds, compared with 71,015 during the corresponding period in 1946.

And while the housewife served an economical bean dinner for the grownups, she also put baby on his own austerity program. The report said that production of infant food had dropped from 5,350,609 to 4,010,719 pounds.

Fancy meats were hard to come by. Spiced pork and ham production fell from 4,304,60 pounds to 3,094,497; beef stew and boiled dinners from 5,506,229 pounds to 1,118,554; meat paste from 5,400,409 pounds to 905,278.

Biscuits more than ever satisfied the Canadia sweet tooth in that period. Plain and fancy biscuit production increased from 18,287,628 pounds to 25,101,395. Chocolate confectionery in bars increased from 9,686,783 dozen to 10,783,881.

Tomato soup also appeared to be tickling the appetite, more than any other variety. Canned tomato soup production rose during 1947's third quarter from 3,076,616 dozen tins to 4,151,369. Vegetable soup fell from 388,819 dozen to 307,497.

Strong Local Rule Aids Freedom—Drew

WATERLOO, Jan. 9—(CP)— Premier George Drew said retention of "strong" local governments was the best assurance for freedom and vigor "that has contributed to Canada's prosperity and growth," in an address last night at the Waterloo Cityhood banquet.

Premier Drew addressed an audience of about 450 Waterloo citizens, district and municipal representatives and mayors of surrounding cities, at an official ceremony marking Waterloo's newly-acquired city status.

A scroll of the copy of the special act of legislature, granting cityhood to Waterloo, was presented to Mayor Wilfrid Laurier Hilliard by Premier Drew.

The premier said Waterloo's per capita debt was lower than that of the average Ontario municipality. "This is not an accident," he said. "But the result of careful planning by the local government."

Needy Veterans To Get Aid Soon From Fund

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—(CP).—The Army Benevolent Fund Board will open its first meeting here this week-end, in hopes that it will be able to start "fairly soon" with making grants to relieve distress among former army personnel.

Major-Geu, B. W. Browne, chairman, said requests from former soldiers have been received since it was announced the fund would be established. While officials had done "everything possible" to help, funds could not be provided until the provincial committees and local subcommittees had been organized.

"We expect, however, that following this week-end's meeting, we should be able to move ahead very quickly. I anticipate we will be in a position to disburse funds where the situation warrants it by March of this year."

Cases of hardship still could be assisted now, however. An interim fund of $50,000 has been set up which is being administered by the Veterans' Department.

Some progress has been made, notably the appointment of a provincial committee in Nova Scotia, "where the situation appears to be the most serious."

One important item of business will be the appointment of a permanent secretary.

Ripley Man Elected Cheesemaker Head

LONDON, Ont., Jan 9.J(CP).— G. M. Eckmier, Ripley, was elected president of the cheesemakers of western Ontario at a sectional meeting held last night at the 81st convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association.

The Association at large will elect its oficers today.

Elected with Mr. Eckmier were Vice-President C. O. Stockman of Embro, Directors Irvine Clifford of Thondale, Sam McCartney of Dorchester-Union and Calvin Smith of Atwood. Wesley Krotz, Millbank, was elected secre tary-treasurer.

Most cheesemakers of Canada are "reasonably happy" at the five cent increase in cheese prices permitted under the British export agreement, Eardley Wright, Montreal creamery-man told the conference. He pointed out, however, that for the first time in history domestic consumption of cheese in Canada was more than half the total "make" in 1947.

Named Vice-President

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—(CP)— Election of Joseph E. Duffey, a native of St. Thomas, as vice-president of the Diamond Match Company, was announced here yesterday. Duffey, president since 1932 of Management Engineers Ltd., Montreal, and Industrial Management Engineers Inc., New York, will be responsible for timber and lumber operations of the company and will have general charge of production of all other departments and divisions.

Denies Breaking Law

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Charles Sims, Communist alderman for Ward 5 in the Toronto City Council, said last night that "in my travels abroad I have never violated any Canadian laws and I have never surrendered my British or Canadian citizenship, nor do I intend doing so." The Board of Control is to hold a meeting Jan. 14 to consider whether or not Alderman Sims is eligible to hold his seat in city council.

Wants To Break Film Monopoly

LONDON, Jan. 9.—(Reuters). —Government measures to break up British film monopolies to get the best out of an industry which Woodrow Wyatt, Labor Member of Parliament, described as "the pitome of capitalism gone mad" were recommended yesterday by Wyatt.

Writing in the Weekly Statesman and Nation, Wyatt said that the new films bill to be debated in parliament shortly is weak because it merely introduces a new "system to provide more room for British pictures, but fails to curb the power of the producer-controlled theatre circuits to cut out the independent producer."

"The government has caught a glimmering of the vices that beset the industry and it has tackled some of them. It should now display sufficient courage to investigate them thoroughly and to stamp them all our."

Declaring that the new bill, with the recently-imposed 75-per-cent tax on incoming United States productions, constituted Britain's answer to United States competition, Wyatt said that in 1946 more than two-thirds of the rent paid for films shown in Britain went to the United States, not because American films were better but because of the ramifications of the British film industry.

Hydro Secretary

TORONTO, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Ernest B. Easson of Toronto was appointed acting secretary of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission it was announced yesterday. The position was left vacant when Osborne Mitchell resigned in December to become secretary of the Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company.

Need Security To Banish Fear Of War

KINGSTON, Jan. 9—(CP). — All the talents and determination of mankind must be used to attain peace if mankind itself is to survive, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said here yesterday after receiving an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Queen's University.

And if war is to be eliminated, the fear of war must be banished. As a preliminary to this, the fear of want should be driven from the minds of men, said the widow of the wartime President of the United States.

"I have come to believe that just as long as people have to struggle for their next meal, as long as they have to live in conditions which make living a mere existence, there cannot be any sense of security or of confidence among nations and we cannot hope for peace," she said, addressing 1,500 students of the University where President Roosevelt accepted an honorary degree 10 years ago.

Busy Day

A delegate to the United Nations, Mrs. Roosevelt spoke at the morning convocation and again in the evening when she attended a dinner in aid of a crippled children's fund, a charity dear to her husband's heart. In the afternoon she granted a press conference and was a guest at tea of the Faculty Women's Club.

Mrs. Roosevelt said the UN was the responsibility of everyone. "We must not be depressed by failures," she said. "The international machinery now functioning will work exactly as we human beings make it work. Where we faiu, it will fail."

Gunman Takes $1,600

WINDSOR, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Isaac Muroff. owner of the Peoples Fruit Company, told police he was robbed of $1,600 in cash and cheques late yesterday by a lone gunman. Police said they are holding for investigation Alfred Parent of Windsor who was questioning Muroff about a job when the masked man entered the warehouse.

Recover Transmitter

WINDSOR, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Police yesterday recovered a portable wire photo transmitter valued at about $2,000 which was stolen from a parked automobile belonging to John Boyd of the Toronto Globe and Mail. Harry O'Neill, 22, of Windsor was arrested at Windsor Bus Terminal and charged with the early morning theft of the equipment.

US National Guard Flier Killed Chasing 'Saucers'

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 9—(AP).—Several areas of Kentucky and adjoining states were excited today over reports of "flying saucers" which led to the death of one National Guard flier and fruitless chases by several other pilots. The National Guard headquarters at Louisville said Capt. Thomas Mantell, 25, was killed late Wednesday while chasing what was reported as a "flying saucer" near Franklin, Ky.

Two other members of the Kentucky National Guard, also assigned to a flying investigation of reported "flying disks" in the area near Fort Knox, returned to their Louisville base.

Two Hopkinsville pilots, James Garret and William Crenshaw, said they chased a flying object which they believed to be a balloon.

Astronomers at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., reported they saw some object in the sky Wednesday afternoon which they believed to be a balloon, but the Nashville Weather Bureau said it knew of no balloons in that vicinity.

In Southern Ohio, meanwhile, observers reported seeing a flaming red cone near the army air base at Wilmington. Army spokesmen said they had no information on the object or its origin.

Cut Oil Imports

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 — (CP). — W. E. Uren, chairman of the Dominion Fuel Board, said yesterday that major Canadian oil companies had agreed voluntarily to reduce fuel-oil imports from the United States to about 6,000 barrels a day, a 50-per-cent cut. The action was necessitated by a critical world shortage of fuel oil.

Announce Details

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 — (CP). — The government announced yesterday the details of the agreement signed in Washington earlier in the day covering $300,000,000 credit which Canada is obtaining from the United States export-import bank.

Trailer-Truck, Car Collide On Hill

The rear of a passenger car was completely demolished and both vehicles involved were forced into the snow-filled ditch in an accident near Springville Wednesday morning. The car, owned and driven by Fred Deyell of Springville had stopped by the side of the road on its way to the city to pick up a passenger, Mrs. Roberta Hogan. According to the report of PPC Lloyd McClure, the collision occurred when a trailer-truck of A. Weese, Peterborough, also going north, failed to clear the Deyell car, which was starting up at that moment. The truck crashed into the back of the car, smashing in that section. Both skidded into the ditch.

1. Certain Dominion of Canada bonds now have a relatively short period to run to the redemption date and are, consequently, in demand by institutions which require short term bonds. For this reason these bonds command a price which does not justify an individual retaining the security. In some cases investors actually lose money by retaining them.
2. Individuals frequently miss seeing a notice of redemption of some security they own and learn to their sorrow a few months later that interest has ceased to accrue on the redemption date.
3. From time to time some securities sell for a price above their intrinsic value and others sell below, making a change desirable.
4. Economic, political and other factors often affect the potential value of a security and justify the sale or purchase of the security before this effect is generally appreciated.

Your Portfolio should be surveyed regularly!

We offer you, without obligation, the facilities of our statistical department. If you care to send us a list of your securities in confidence we will inform you if a change in your portfolio appears advisable. We shall also be pleased to give you a current valuation of your securities, if you so desire.

ALL RISE AND NO FALL — This chart indicates the sharp climb in Canada's cost of living since April, 1946, when the government started removing wartime price controls. During the remaining nine months of 1946 the index rose approximately seven points with only slight temporary recessions in August and December. In January, 1947, prices started an upward surge again and there has been a sharp and constant rise of 20 points in the last 12 months. Up and up she goes, where she stops nobody knows!

PARRY AND COUNTER'

BOTH fencers and boxers understand how to parry a lead or counter it. Sometimes an able performer can parry and counter in the same move. It is so with a superfine bridge player when a slick opponent has figured out a promising method of downing him. Employment of a safety play in such circumstances is equivalent to the parrying, ducking, side-stepping or blocking of the intended blow. When smartly conceived and aptly timed, it may also constitute a return wallop which strikes down the enemy at the same moment that it disarms him.

The way they were operating, without the aid of such props as the Blackwood convention, Bob Johnson, one of Pittsburgh's shrewdest campaigners, told his partner with the 5-Spade bid that he held the A of that suit. The rebid could not possibly indicate possession of five cards in the suit, since in that event he would have bid his spades before his diamonds. East therefore, knowing all about West holding four spades including the A, went to small slam.

In the North was another of Pittsburgh's smartest, Hugh Beals. Seeing the probability of a spade finesse which would give his singleton K a trick, he noted the chance of furnishing South a ruff if he had a singleton diamond. So he led the hard-to-count diamond 3.

Now it was Johnson's turn to reckon why North would lead right into his side suit, and decided it was because of either a singleton or else such length he reckoned South might have a singleton. To thwart that ruff, he decided to take the spade A on the first round, then lead a second round of trumps, so that if the K won that trick the hand opposite the K might then be trumpless. That play, as it developed, of course felled the K, and the rest was not too difficult, as the diamond J proved the only winner for the defense, after four trump rounds had been played.

Tomorrow's Problem

If the defenders had not bid, how should South play his 3-No Trumps for top results after the spade 5 lead to the J and A?

Strike Called Earlier Over Shipments

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Jan. 9.—(AP).—A company move to ship supplies to its Canadian plant brought a walkout yesterday of United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers (CIO) at the Carborundum Company more than 24 hours ahead of the time originally set for a wage strike of approximately 3,500 local employees.

Stephen McMullen, president of Local 12,058, announced the strike would become official at 12.01 a.m. after a meeting of the local's strike committee called to take action on the stoppage which began shortly after 3 p.m. yesterday.

The premature walkout, McMullen said, was the result of company efforts to prepare for the strike by stock shipments to other plants.

William Ehlers, industrial relations director at the plant, declined to comment officially, but in answer to questions described yesterday's disputes as "sporadic," declared the plant still was operating "to the best of my knowledge" and said negotiations with the union had stopped.

The union seeks an eight-cent hourly raise retroactive to Nov. 30, plus an additional five-cent hike effective Jan. 1. A company offer of six cents was refused, according to McMullen, who said current wages average $1.53 an hour.

Carloading crews declined to load two freight cars with stock bound for the company's Niagara Falls, Ont., plant earlier yesterday, McMullen said, and were sent home and penalized two days' pay. The walk-out then began and spread rapidly throughout the plant.

Retired Teacher Protests Pay To Females

A strong appeal for "justice" for the female teachers of the city schools and a protest against a "backward step" was received by the board of education last night. The letter, from Miss Alexandria Howson, retired high school teacher, referred to the move of the board last month in granting pay increases to teachers, treating male teachers more favorably than female on the grounds that the male teachers were required to support families.

As the letter was received after action had been taken, it was simply received by the board.

Miss Howson's letter stated that the saving affected the city by this move was "infinitesimal" and argued that the taxpayers of the city would not want funds saved by that means.

"I protest this backward step," the letter said, in urging that "justice be done to these female teachers."

Snow—beautiful snow—did you ever see anything like it. Snow conditions for the skiing fraternity has never been better in this district. Even last week-end there was six to eight inches of fluffy powder snow, out in Bethany, in fact the famed Laurentians haven't as much in many parts.

Skiing Last Week-end

There was a record crowd on the hills at Bethany and at Kemp's Hill last week-end. Those who failed to get out to Bethany passed up some excellent skiing. Conditions were well nigh perfect, and left little to be desired.

Kemp's hill, on the Warsaw road, now is lighted for night skiing by a generator and last night the skiing was perfect with the tow running from 7 to 10 p.m. Several took advantage of the instructors on hand, but please girls who sit in the challet at Bethany, let down your coiffures, wear your uphill pants, and get out and join the classes between 1 and 2 p.m. Don't be afraid of these boys, there are instructors, not wolves in ski suits. Look for the green arm bands, for they represent the instructors, both at Bethany and at Kemp's hill. Instructors are Toby Westbye, Bob White, Guy Pettersone, Karl Duffus, Agnes Strickland, Shirley Mortimer, Don Shiner, Eric Shiner, Otto Laderach, Hal Barker, George Cook, Andy Rutter and Cliff Boate. Instructions are yours for the asking.

Memberships. Your club secretary, Mrs. Molly Craig, 300 London St., would like all membership subscriptions turned in this coming week. If you haven't an application form, why phone Molly at 3271. Track—seem everybody wants to be a "hill-blaster." If you are a beginner or neophyte, please come and ask the boys with the green arm bands to show you a turn or two. We don't want anything to develop from some one's foolishness. Remember there are others on the hill who may fall and due to some over zealous amateur both parties will undoubtedly get hurt, which is no help to skiing. While still on the subject, everyone should use common sense and etiquette while riding the ski-tow.

Buses will leave from terminal at King and Louis St. on time, so if you want a bus trip to Bethany or Kemp's Hill be on time. Bus leaves for Bethany 10 a.m. Sundays and 1.40 p.m. for Kemp's hill Saturdays and Sundays.

If there is not more support than last week-end for bus service, the bus operators will discontinue the Kemp's hill service.

That's all folks. Take us at our word and come out to Bethany this week-end, where snow's snow—beautiful billowy tons of it, calling you for a week-end of perfect skiing. See you on Dizzy Dip Hill.

tario. It goes further than that. I can't hire a young Canadian farm helper in our district. There are none on our farms unless they have farms they got from their fathers. We have reached the condition where we have only foreigners for farm help."

Mr. Newman argued that only satisfactory income will keep young farmers on the land, and for that reason oleomargarine was bound to exert an adverse effect on the future of agriculture in this province. He said that he was not unthoughtful of low wage-earners in the cities, but 'city people are never so well off as when farmers are getting good prices and have money to spend for the things they need."

"The Creamery Producers' Association should get on their feet, and enlist all the backing they can. They should secure petitions in their own communities and put them in the hands of their Members of the Legislature."

The anti-margarine resolution was sent back to committee for further filling with cogent facts. It afirmed, in part, that the production of creamery butter "is the foundation of our dairy industry, providing a market for 45 p.c. of the total milk production of Canada," and is important in the maintenance of "a second home market for farm factory products. It also stated that "the present slight shortage of butter is a temporary condition arising from wartime restrictions," and finally protested against "the present temporary condition being capitalized by those who wish to establish operations in Canada in the form of a monopoly industry to manufacture margarine, at the expense of the entire dairy industry, involving 450,000 producers throughout the Dominion."

Raps High Prices

Herb H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said farmers were not advocates of high prices.

'Farmer people are consumers, doubly so, of family requirements and production supplies. They are hit by high prices just as hard, if not harder, than urban consumers. Their policy is one of balanced prices on a moderate level. Farmers are mostly concerned with the possibility of having an assured market at stabilized prices that are satisfactory to us. With those conditions we would have security in agriculture.

For several generations food prices have been relatively low. During war years food prices were controlled at artificially low prices, fixed by subsidies. Consumers were, therefore, educated to expect products below a fair exchange value. If consumers want low food prices while the general price is high, they can have them only by discriminating unfairly against food producers. In spite of alleged high prices, farmers' returns are not more than moderate today.

If there are any who think the farmer is getting too much, let us have in Canada an official investigation by a Royal Commission into the level of farm prices, wages and business returns. The Canadian Federation of Agriculture asked for that last year and the year before. We would welcome such an investigation and recommendations by a Commission as to how these returns may be maintained in balance."

Demonstrate Goodwill.

Mr. Hannam said that the organized farmers of Canada had demonstrated to the world that they would support and accept moderate prices while world market prices were far above them. He cited the long term British food contracts which Canadian farmers approved although the price Britain could pay, particularly for wheat, was substantially below the world market price.

Advocates of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange had subtracted the wheat contract average price from the world price and multiplied the difference by the total number of bushels produced in Western Canada, asserting that the total represented the grain farmers' loss. Their object was to try to induce the grain men to turn back to the Grain Exchange with its fluctuations from highs to lows.

Thoughtful farmers were supporting the British contract prices, Mr. Hannam said, because they remembered disastrously low prices, and preferred a policy that sought to bring about stability in their marketing. "If we are to demand world market prices for all we have to sell, then our costs will have to go up, just as costs have gone up to a high level in the United States. Frankly, I don't know whether our farmers would be beter off, but I do know that consumer prices would go higher if we had the open market for our selling. I feel certain that our price levels are more likely to carry on into the future, that they would be more stabilized, than if they were subject to the open world market."

Will Try Again.

Canada had supported the international commodity agreement proposed last year in London, but that conference did not reach agreement. Mr. Hannam said it was likely that the endeavor would be renewed this year.

At the time it was discussed the wheat ceiling was $1.80 and the floor price approximately $1.55, leaving a spread of 40 cents a bushel for world fluctuations in that range. "If we could arrive at such an agreement we would not need the same emphasis on long term commodity contracts. This is the basis of the United Nations policy. Canada has been a strong advocate of the wheat agreement, and also the least difficult in regard to demands and terms."

Mr. Hannam stated these circumstances brought the proposal and ideal of world agreements "home to every one of us."

The core of Mr. Hannam's afternoon remarks was that the Canadian farmer was not wrestling for high prices, that he was content with moderate prices, but sought price stability as an essential factor in his industry and planning of it.

The convention pledged its support and urged the Canadian Federation of Agriculture to continue its full support to the objectives of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers.

Mut Find Money

Paul Fisher of Burlington, said the government could find all the money it needed in war, "and if there is an emergency in economics we want the government to find the money needed to meet it. "We should never again let money be the cause of a financial depression. What is economically desirable should be financially feasible."

Mr. Hannam, in his morning address, reminded the convention of more than 400 farmers from all parts of Ontario, including a fairly large sprinkling of women and some juniors, that the Ontario Federation of Agriculture came into being 12 years ago, virtually to the day, with 12 organizations represented by 15 men who didn't know each other. Establishment of the Canadian Federation followed, and nearly all farm organization officers and many of their members throughout Canada do know each other and have demonstrated through the years that they can work together effectively and harmoniously.

"More than that, today we know the leaders of farm organizations of at least 20 countries. All that has happened in only 12 years."

High Prestige

Mr. Hannam said the Canadian farmers had acquired higher prestige and more influence in Ottawa than ever before. 'And, I should like to say that a substantial part of that recognition is because the Federation in this province is sound and active. We have made progress in another direction which I think is worth mentioning. Our farmers have acquired business methods in their orgainzations.

Their meetings are as well conducted as those of any other organizations. The latest evidence of that fact was brought home to me at five or six county meetings I attended in the last month or so. The Federation has been attracting many of our best farmers."

He reviewed some of the major affairs of the CFA last year, including its presentation to the Commission on railway transporation rates, negotiations in the packing industry strike, and so on. One disappointment was in failure to effect a satisfactory fertilizer policy. When the war time plant at Welland was disposed of to private interests the price went from $49 a ton to $70.25 at Dec. 1. The only satisfaction from vigorous objection was that the price today had declined to $64.75.

Mr. Hannam said the Federation had urged the federal government last June, after the adverse spring weather and crop conditions, to continue subsidies and controls, especially on coarse grains, warning the government that removal would cause a great disturbance to agriculture and unrest. It was a long time from Oct. 21 until prices were corrected, and in that result the protests of the Federation from its county locals, and provincial units "were a big factor in the government's moving to correct them. We got higher prices for our exports, which tend to act as floor in our Canadian economy. All that we wanted was that prices should be brought into line with feed costs."

Expect 20 PC Hydro Cut Will Be Asked

Power Consumption Still Increasing HEPC Gives Warning

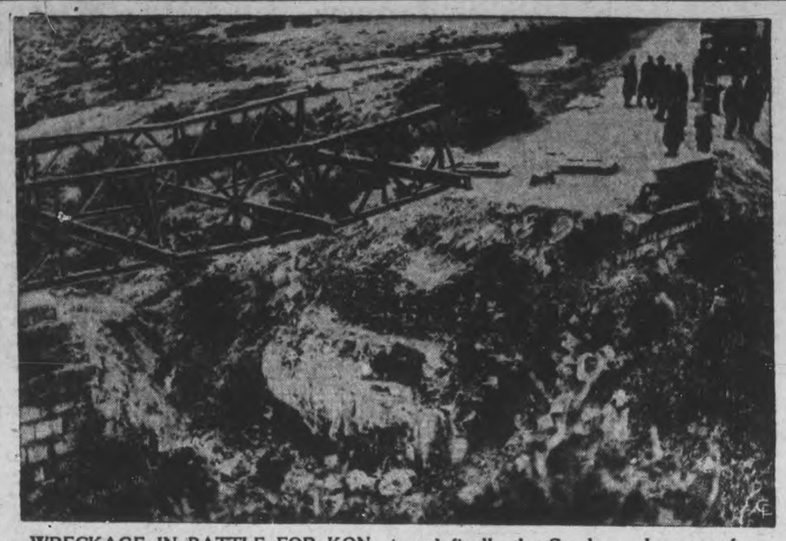
TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Ontario's power consumption is gradually increasing and—if the load increases beyond the ability of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission to handle it—municipalities will be asked to reduce their loads.

This warning was given last night by HEPC officials who said that despite the saving of more than 100,000 horsepower daily through power-conservation measures, the power supply situation in Ontario has not improved in the last six weeks.

They said the shortage was especially acute in the gold mining areas in the northeastern section of Ontario and that mines have been warned against wasting power.

The area between Sudbury, North Bay, Kirkland Lake and Timmins is short of water. Supplies of water in storage are being used at an abnormal rate. Hydro users are paying now for the dry summer and fall which cut river flow and brought down water storage.

Said a Hydro official: "We should all start praying now for a wet spring.



"Once winter sets in up north, precipitation is all snow and it doesn't run off. Chances are we will have to wait for the spring break-up, not only in the north but elsewhere, before the water situation improves.

"We have cut out non-essential power users wherever they are, so that power will be available to industry."

All municipalities have been asked to prepare plans for a 20-per-cent reduction in event of a minor emergency and a further

Lancers Form Armed Guard At Frontier

300 Arab Volunteers Reinforce Army Blocked By British

JERUSALEM, Jan. 10 —(AP)— British Lancers of the famed "Death or Glory" regiment stood armed guard on the northern frontier of Palestine today across the headwaters of the River Jordan in what appeared to be a move to seal off the Holy Land partition battle from outside Arab attacks.

If this was an indication of British policy, it was the strongest move yet in the mounting civil war that has threatened to become international through the participation of Arab volunteer forces from Egypt, Libia, aSudi Arabia, Iraq, Syria and Lebanon who now are training in Southern Syria.

Credence was given this supposition through Britain's "strong representations" to the Syrian government over yesterday's border crossing by 600 Arabs who finally were driven back by the Lancers and Spitfire planes.

The attack, carried to the village of Dan, appeared to be the possible beginning of a general attack by troops of the veteran Arab revolt leader, Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji, who is in command of Arab volunteers in Syria.

Arab sources here scoffed at any such possibility, declaring that the hour had not yet struck.

Reliable sources said 300 Arab volunteers crossed the Palestine border today to supplement the forces of Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji, Arab commander in the anti-Jewish campaign, massed along the banks of the River Jordan.

The sources also said an Iraq battalion arrived at Damascus yesterday en route to the Holy Land.

Government sources in London, meanwhile, said Britain would welcome any force the United States might want to send to guard the United States consulate in Jerusalem. The United States, according to the sources, had "sounded out" the British high commissioner for permission to send a "small force" of marines. They added, however, that no formal request had been made and no decisions reached.

Several theories were advanced on the frontier battle.

A Feeler Perhaps

One Arab observer implied that the fight could have been a feeler and training experiment.

Has Stalin Cancer?

MOSCOW, Jan. 10—(AP).—Dr. Elis Berven, Swedish cancer specialist, still was in Moscow today, although he had planned to return to Stockholm today or Monday, if possible, by plane.

Dr. Berven was called to Moscow last week for consultation on a "serious cancer case." The message did not give the name of the patient. The Swedish press speculated that the patient might be Prime Minister Stalin. Swiss newspapers this week published stories inquiring whether Stalin was dead. The Russian Embassy in London and Tass News Agency said he was not.

Indians Claim $1,289,000 From Canadian Gov't; Judge Considers Evidence

5,000 Indians At Brantford Reserve Claim $160,000 Squandered Want Century-Old Liability Recognized

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 — (CP). — The future of a $1,289,000 claim against the Federal Government by the Six Nations Indians rested today with an Exchequer Court judge. Decision on whether the ancient grievance was to be heard further was reserved yesterday by Mr. Justice C. G. O'Connor after hearing three days of arguments on the tribesmen's claim that government "breach of trust" cost them monies and lands more than a century ago.

The 1,500 square miles of land along Ontario's Grand River were owned by the ancestors of the 5,000 residents of the Oshweken Reserve near Brantford. They were given by Royal Charter in 1784 in token of the tribal warriors' fidelity during the American Revolution.

During the building of the Welland and Grand river canals, some of the lands were flooded and others were deeded for canal-building purposes. In addition, $160,000 in Indian funds was lost through investment in the early 19th century.

Auguste Lemieux, of Ottawa, counsel for the Six Nations, contended yesterday that the government of Upper Canada was responsible originally and that this liability has descended to the present Dominion government.

For the Department of Justice, W. R. Jackett, assistant deputy minister, and D. H. W. Henry, advisory counsel, claimed that at the time Upper and Lower Canada were united, the resultant new province did not take over their liabilities.

The Department also claimed the statute of limitations had outlawed any Indian claim that might have existed however. Mr. Lemieux held damages suffered by the Indians had continued up to now.

The hearing before Mr. Justice O'Connor was an argument on questions of law. He will rule whether there is legal justification for the Indians to bring their case to actual trial.

Freeze Orders Surplus Army Explosives

ASHBURY PARK, N.J., Jan. 10 (AP)—All undelivered orders of surplus army explosives were frozen today by the New York region of the War Assets Administration after New Jersey and New York state police had confiscated from 126 to 135 tons of explosives which they said had been gathered by Zionists for illegal shipment to Palestine.

Police said the remainder of a 199-ton consignment of explosives still was missing.

Three trucks containing 67 tons of highly - explosive cyclonite blocks were seized late yesterday in Ulster County, N.Y. This seizure followed discovery of a cache of 59 tons of explosives in a warehouse here and in a farmhouse in nearby Wall township Thursday night and yesterday.

Some 5,200 combat knives originally made for the United States navy and a quantity of first-aid kits also were found in the warehouse.

The freeze order was described by John R. Campbell, W.A.A. regional director, as a "precautionary measure" against "any possible illegal handling of explosives."

The Monmouth county prosecutor, J. Victor Carton, described cyclonite as being 6½ times more powerful than TNT. He said the warehouse and farm belong to Charles Lowy, who, he said, was a member of the Ashbury Park Zionist organization.

Greek Claims Rebellion Is Almost Over

ATHENS, Jan. 10 — (Reuters) —War Minister George Strator told reporters to-day that the Greek "Communist rebellion" in the north would soon be broken. He made the statement after attending a military conference at Volos, headquarters of the Northern Greek Government Army.

The guerrillas had received numerous reinforcements from neighboring countries since their offensive began last April. This, Stratos said, was proved by the fact that they numbered about 13,500 at the beginning of the offensive, had been brought down to 5,000 as a result of casualties and captures, and now were, according to military reports and foreign observers, up to 20,000.

The guerrillas' arms had also increased in quantity and quality during the period, particularly in mountain artillery and machine-guns. Instruction camps, hospitals and supply centres for the guerrillas had been established in the frontier areas of the neighboring countries.

5-Power Group Planning To Enter Holy Land Soon

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 10—(AP).—The United Nations Palestine Partition Commission today faced up to the pressing problems of when it should enter the turbulent Holy Land and what it should do about measures to enforce its decisions. Arabs, to emphasize their opposition to partition, are boycotting the commission.

Meeting in the wake of new outbursts of Arab-Jewish violence in Palestine, the five-power group hoped to draft a tentative program for entry into the Holy Land subject to consultations with Britain on their date of withdrawal.

Present indications are that the commission will leave here some time between the first week in February and mid-March. Plans included a stop in London for conferences with high British officials, the length of the stay depending on how far the U.N. progresses in talks with the British delegation here.

The general assembly resolution providing for partition of Palestine into Jewish and Arab countries calls for the end of British rule by Aug. 1 and independence for the two states by Oct. 1. British sources since have said unofficially they would be ready to get out May 15. A final agreement on these dates will be a major factor in selecting the date for the commission to go into Palestine.

Britain, as mandatory power, and the Jewish agency as spokesman for Palestine Jews, were understood to be prepared to open consultations with the commission next week. The Arab higher committee, invited to speak for Palestine Arabs, refused to bid yesterday only a few hours after the commission held its first meeting.

The action was anticipated, in that the Arabs have fought partition from the first and boycotted the UN special commission on Palestine all through its tour of the Holy Land last summer.

The question of physical protection for the UN party and enforcement of the partition plan also confronted the commission but a decision on this issue was expected to be delayed.

Rightist Groups Create New Coalition

ROME, Jan. 10 — (AP). — A new coalition of right-wing parties, its creation almost unnoticed amid the hullabaloo attending the Communist drive to form a "popular front" to contest the April elections in Italy, was about ready for inspection of the voters today.

A formal announcement of the new group's program was expected during the week-end, perhaps today.

With the 79-year-old former premier, Francesco S. Nitti, as the moving spirit, old-line Liberals (Conservatives), the Rightist "common man" movement and other Conservative factions finally have completed their long-heralded merger.

But with the Communist-Leftist Socialist combine fighting it out for first place with Premier de Gasperi's Christian Democrats and their supporters of the Moderate Left, most observers gave Nitti's bloc no better chance than for third place in the April voting.

There remained, however, the possibility that with the two big blocs so closely matched, the Rightists might emerge with the balance of power in the Italian Republic's first parliament.

In Rome newspapers formation of the Right-Wing coalition got far less attention today than other events in the land.

A new outbreak of labor troubles was topped by the 10-day-old bank employees strike, which Labor Minister Amintore Fanfani, fearful that it might spread as disgruntled workers faced a second Saturday without pay cheques, sat up well into the dawn trying to settle.

The 60,000 bank workers want temporary pay increases granted last year continued. The bankers say no.

Abbott Declines Any Forecast

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 — (CP). —Canada's Finance Minister Abbott declined to prophesy at a press conference here yesterday whether the Dominion's cost-of-living index would continue to rise.

Talking to reporters on Canada's financial position, he recalled that last year he had remarked casually that the index probably would level off at 145, and if it did, that would be satisfactory. Now it had touched 146, and he refused to prophesy whether it would reach 150 as expected in some financial quarters. The index is based on the 1935-1939 level of 100.

[illegible] question the [illegible] control to stem the rising cost of living was "possible," but the Government contemplated no return to the wartime system of overall control.

Moonshiners Hail Ultra-Violet Rays

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 10—(AP)—Moonshine mash note for 1948: Illicit distillers now are using ultra-violet rays to kill that telltale odor.

Joe Hull, chief of the Federal alcohol tax unit here, said his men had raided a 400-gallon still in Hillsborough County and seized 1,200 gallons of mash.

The still's progressive operators were using a battery of ray lamps to prevent the escape of odors.

Train Turns Over [illegible]ured

BOSTON, Jan. 10—(AP)—At least eight persons were taken to a hospital and more than 50 others shaken today when the locomotive of a Providence-to-Boston train overturned at Back Bay station.

First reports from the New Haven Railroad indicated 63 persons had been taken to hospital but a check showed only eight persons were taken to city hospital.

A railroad spokesman said later the other passengers were not believed injured seriously.

The four coaches of the train were tilted off the tracks after the engine smashed up over the loading platform at the station which is about five minutes out of one of Boston's major terminals, the south station.

Firemen worked with acetylene torches to free the engineer, identified as John L. Morehead.

A piece of rail flew clear and smashed windows in the station, and embers from the overturned engine started a blaze on the platform.

No Marriage For Michael At Least Not For Some Time

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Jan. 10—(AP). — Maj. Jacques Vergotti, aide to ex-King Michael of Romania, declared today that "for the moment" there is not going to be any wedding for Michael and Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma.

He said in an interview that the former monarch might "eventually" marry Princess Anne, whom he "really loves" and who is ideally suited to be his wife—"but no wedding for the moment."

He hinted broadly that the former monarch's advisers are opposed to the marriage, at least for now.

Declaring that Michael hoped eventually to return to his throne, Vergotti said the ex-King's advisers feel that "a romantic entanglement" immediately after leaving Romania might be used by Romanian Communists to represent him as having abdicated Dec. 30 in order to "enjoy himself."

Vergotti said Michael's unofficial engagement was "another reason" why he was forced from the throne, because the Communist-dominated Romanian government wanted to forestall an "upsurge of the King's popularity" which would have followed a royal wedding, making his removal more difficult.

Marriage while he was King would have been in his favor, but marriage now would "give the wrong impression."

(Princess Anne, who was en route to join Michael in Switzerland, left her train at Liege, Belgium, this morning and set out by automobile for Luxembourg, where she said she would spend some time to "have a little rest."

She gave no explanation of the apparent change in plans.)

Even while Anne was on the train en route here last night, Vergotti maintained she would not join Michael. And when the news came this morning that she had gone to Luxembourg, he gave an "I-told-you-so smile and declared:

"This is not the moment for that sort of thing."

Consistent reports from Copenhagen said Princess Anne would soon join the 26-year-old ex-king and that there might be an immediate marriage.

Vergotti said Michael definitely was hopeful of an eventual return to the throne and "determined always to stand by his people as his first duty." He placed the main blame for the abdication on Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

The King was compelled to abdicate, Vergotti said, after Tito had "imposed the principles of the comintern (Communist International)" on Romania during his recent visit to Bucharest.

Michael's main immediate problem was his finances. The royal party left Romania with "very little money" and all the King's properties, including a famous collection of jade, were held in Romania.

Negotiations were reported under way for release of some of the property, but without success thus far.

Most persons connected with the royal party have insisted ever since they arrived here that Michael did not abdicate to "marry the girl he loved" but for political reasons and "political reasons only."

Arm Paralysed Wins Piano Honors

LONDON, Jan. 10 — (CP). — When a flying bomb hit the ambulance depot to which she was attached in 1944, 36-year-old Miss Dorothy Maynard lost her right arm while the left was paralyzed.

But this did not prevent her from fulfilling her ambition to become a concert pianist. After months of treatment she began practising scales with her left hand. Then she sat for a scholarship at Blackheath Conservatoire of Music—and won it.

Her scholarship now has been renewed for a further 12 months and she has won the Conservatoire's Bronze Medal for the year's best pianoforte performance — a faultless rendering of Moszkowski's Etude for the Left Hand in D-flat and B-flat minor.

The association has invited Ontario Liberal Leader Oliver to speak at meeting and is awaiting reply from him before setting meeting date.

Customs Given $40,000 Bracelet

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.—(CP).—Another chapter today was added to the long and complicated story of the lost $40,000 gem-studded bracelet as customs collector Arthur Laing gained possession of it at the Montreal detective office and said he would probably go to Hull, England, soon to interview its owner, Mrs. Stanley Clark.

The diamond-studded aquamarine piece of jewelry, which had been recovered by two Montreal detectives in Farnham, Que., last November was turned over to the customs official yesterday.

The bracelet was originally lost by Mrs. Clark in New York last August. Police said it had been found by Gerard Theberge of Farnham while visiting New York and was taken to his home.

After its recovery by police some weeks elapsed before Scotland Yard and the jewelry firm of Cartier's identified it as a piece made for Mrs. Clark.

Newfoundland Votes In May

Future Status, Union Or Self Government?

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 10. — (CP).—End of the present national convention, after months of debate and discussion with Ottawa, appeared in sight today as Newfoundland's Commission Government said early submission of recommendations was mandatory for a spring vote.

Convention members were elected in July, 1946, to recommend possible future forms of government for the island colony. Their proposals will be placed before the Commission, which will then draft a list of questions for a referendum ballot.

The Commission said yesterday it would need recommendations by Jan. 31 to ensure voting in May. The convention had suggested the spring date because many residents leave the island for the summer.

Malcolm L. Hollett of Grand Falls told the Assembly he would prepare a motion of adjournment and probably would present it at the Wednesday session.

Most discussed possibilities of Newfoundland's future status are confederation with Canada as a 10th province or a return to responsible government, lost after the financial debacle of 1933.

Earlier a proposal was made to send a delegation to Washington to discuss federal union with the United States but the motion was defeated by an overwhelming majority.

Russian Warship Stands By

780 Passengers Aboard Stricken Ship

TOKYO, Jan. 10 — (AP). — Passengers of the stricken Russian ship Dvina are being transferred to a Soviet destroyer and an escort vessel in the waters off northeast Japan, the United States navy reported today.

The navy said there was no indication how many of the Dvina's reported 780 passengers had been rescued. The reports, radioed to the navy from Japanese vessels at the scene, said the passengers were being transferred via small boats.

The reports did not identify the passengers by nationality, or say whether women and children were among them.

The Japanese vessels—among eight standing by the Dvina 150 miles east of the southern tip of Hokkaido—reported calm seas. The Dvina had been lashed by 50-foot waves since her first distress called Wednesday night.

Earlier today, a Russian rescue vessel succeeded in putting a pump aboard the leaking and floundering vessel. A spokesman for the Russian mission in Japan said this had greatly improved the prospects of towing the Dvina to port.

Rural Areas Require More Doctors

Farmers To Seek Accident Insurance Covering Hired Help

TORONTO, Jan. 10. (CP)—The Ontario Federation of Agriculture declared its political independence and decided to draft a "strong statement of policy" at the concluding sessions of the 11th annual convention here yesterday.

Stating that "the government in Canada has given inadequate and tardy recognition to the needs of agriculture," the resolution called for a drafting committee to draw up the policy and urge government action on it.

The federation went on record as deploring the low percentage of doctors in rural areas. Delegates urged institution of special departments or rural medicine in the faculties of Ontario Universities with special provision for apprenticeship with rural practitioners and government assistance for students.

It was recommended that graded corporate income taxes be adopted as a means of preventing depression. This move would "encourage small business."

Because lack of adequate protection "is a handicap in securing farm labor," the federation requested legislation for complete accident insurance coverage for farmers, their families and hired help. Such workmen's compensation should be compulsory in areas where the plan is requested.

A committee was approved to investigate and offer corrective information to combat "the widespread belief that any increase in food price is directly brought about by an increase in price of the primary producer."

R. A. Stewart of Almonte was re-elected president, while K. M. Betzner of Waterloo was named honorary president. Others elected to office were: R. W. Morrison of Alvinston, vice-president and Hector Arnold of Campbellford, second vice-president.

Executive members are: Austin McQuarrie of Shelburne; Lorne Reynolds of Peterborough; Chas. W. McInnis of Iroquois; H. L. Craise of St. Catharines; W. J. Wood of Alliston; W. A. Davidson of Peterborough; W. A. Amos of Belleville; Alex McKinney of Brampton; Mrs. C. A. Campbell of Pakenham; Wesley Down of Hilton.

Steal $114,000 3 Captured At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10 (AP)—Three of the bandits who staged the biggest bank robbery in the United States in years were captured before the sun had set yesterday, but two others, described as "the brains of the outfit," remained at large today with almost half the $114,000 loot.

Police Superintendent A. A. Watters said $65,000 was recovered after arrest of the three, leaving $49,000 in the hands of the two "brains."

In view of the remarkably clever handling of the robbery and the daring arrogance of the missing bandits, officers said the pair might have climbed aboard an interurban bus, lugging in a suitcase their share of the haul.

Buses are being halted and checked in Alabama and Mississippi as well as in Louisiana.

Meantime officers of Mississippi and Alabama set up a motorized dragnet along the gulf coast, patrolling the area in search of a black sedan which may have been used as the getaway car.

A suitcase packed with $35,000 was found in the house where the Ricketts were arrested and $30,000 was found in a paper bag in Hassenback's room, police said.

The robbery occurred in midmorning and less than four hours later the Ricketts men and Hassenback were behind bars on charges of armed robbery. The charge is punishable by death in Louisiana.

The police superintendent said an informant heard the men talking loudly in a barroom Thursday about the pending job. The informant tried to get in touch with a detective friend Thursday night. When he learned the friend wasn't at headquarters, he waited until yesterday morning to phone again and his statement resulted in the quick capture of the three.

Police Recover $100,000 Of Bank Loot

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP).—Bonds, stocks, and jewellery, valued at more than $100,000 — part of the loot in Toronto's worst bank robbery—to-day is spread out for "drying" in police headquarters here after being recovered by two detectives, an Army sergeant and a mine detector.

Acting on a "tip," Detectives Arthur Keay and Alex Deans found the cache yesterday buried three feet deep in a snow-covered field, seven miles west of here along the Queen Elizabeth way.

Discovery of the loot came when Staff-Sgt. Philip Campbell of the 2nd Field Engineers, operating the mine detector, announced: "Here's something."

They dug down to the loot, contained in three safe deposit boxes, stolen during the $500,000 robbery of the Royal Bank of Canada branch at Dundas and Chestnut Streets here during the week-end of August 16-17.

Apparently buried for several months, the assortment of securitis, some Chinese Government bonds, necklaces, rings, and watches was in good condition, except for being damp.

Police said they believe the August robbery to be one of a series committed by the "Numbers Gang," so named because they refer to each other by numbers while "on the job."

First of the "Numbers Gang" robberies occurred at another Royal Bank of Canada branch in West-Central Toronto last April 23 when about $250,000 was taken. The same pair of detectives in mid-May, 1947, found $226,500 of this loot while searching a West-end warehouse.

At Kitchener, where Lorne Morgan Burns, 35, of Toronto, believed to be one of the "gang" was sentenced on Thursday to 20 years for wounding a policeman during the robbery of a store on December 7, police have posted extra guards to block any attempt by the "gang" to free him.

Pork Prices Sag Slightly In Buying Lull

TORONTO, Jan. 10. (CP) — Pork prices have sagged slightly here in the face of buyer resistance but elsewhere on the food front today's volume of purchases by housewives completing their buying of week-end supplies was watched with interest.

The question of how far they could beat down prices which shot up to the highest level in many years following announcement Monday that the United Kingdom would pay Canadians slightly more for meat.

The increase was only seven cents a pound in British payments for Wiltshire sides but Canadian meat retailers marked up pork products prices as much as 20 cents a pound and waited to see what would happen.

They had their answer here yesterday. A survey showed sales down as much as 50 per cent in some stores. Buyer resistance forced prices of pork and smoked meat down four to eight cents a pound from last Monday's rates. Packaged side bacon, for instance, crept back to 82 cents a pound from the 90 cents butchers demanded Monday. Said one merchant:

"Seventy-five per cent of the women greeted us with a demand for the cheapest cut we had in the store."

A federal cabinet minister said in Ottawa yesterday that the government is giving "serious consideration" to the rising cost of living but he knew of no plan to open a formal and public inquiry into price increases. Prices Board officials said they were keeping a close watch on rising food costs.

Already a combines investigation commission inquiry into handling of certain types of commodities, including some food products, is under way here.

Set Higher Prices For 1948 Crop Peas, Tomatoes

HAMILTON, Jan. 10 (CP). — Bargaining representatives of Ontario of canners and growers agreed here yesterday and today on a higher new price for the 1948 crop of tomatoes and peas. Negotiations for corn and bean prices are continuing this afternoon.

The growers' group, known as the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association, and the canners' group known as the Ontario Canned Foods Association, sent delegates here to bargain for the 1948 minimum to be paid Ontario producers for the four crops. When the minimum price for each crop is established, all Ontario canners are required to pay it, and payments are enforced through the Farm Products Marketing Board.

The 1948 tomato prices was set at $25.10 (ungraded, a $3 increase over the 1947 figure and about half what the growers asked. No. 1 price is $20, and No. 2 price, $30.

The 1948 price for peas must be no less than $65 a ton, $5 over last year's figure. Canners will sell seed to the crowers at $2.50 a bushel, which is less than it costs them.

The new prices are subject to removal of price ceilings as of March 31. These are the ceilings imposed by the Finance Minister when canned vegetable prices started upwards late last year.

3 Police Officers Face Theft Charges

BRACEBRIDGE, Jan. 10 (CP) —The trial of former Police Chief William Cudmore of Bracebridge, former Constable George H. Bishton and Part-time Constable Floyd Snider on theft charges started here yesterday.

The three men pleaded innocent to charges of stealing a case of beer, a carton of groceries and two chickens from a parked car on Christmas Eve.

Cudmore and Bishton were suspended from the Bracebridge Force after they were charged on December 2 with illegal possession of deer in the Algonquin Park Game Preserve. They were convicted on that charge and fined $75 each at Barry's Bay last Wednesday.

The theft trial is continuing.

Cooke, Dingman Fight Warrants

TORONTO, Jan. 10 —(CP)—A total of 54 legal volumes with paper slips jutting from every one of them was stacked up on counsels' tables yesterday when Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow reserved judgment on aplication to quash Alberta warrants against Jack Kent Cooke and Harold Dingman of New Liberty magazine.

The publisher, Cooke, and the Ottawa correspondent of the magazine, Dingman, were charged by Alberta authorities with conspiracy to publish defamatory libel as a result of an article in the magazine's Dec. 27 issue entitled "babies for export."

The charges were laid by the Alberta Attorney-General and, said Joseph H. Sedgwick, Toronto counsel for the respondents, referred in each instance to "Rex versus" his clients. Mr. Sedgwick attacked the procedure by which the Cro... in some of the prov... and therefore were not the proper persons to swear to the warrants."

The hearing before Mr. Justice Barlow was by way of action by counsel for the defence. Criminal warrants issued in another province must be signed by a magistrate before they may be issued in Ontario, and the hearing was an argument as to whether the warrants should be signed for issuance here.

The persons named in the Alberta warrant had refused to appear before an Alberta royal commission and defence counsel said the warrants were an "unusual means" of getting the defendants.

Lang School Places Second In Forestry Competition

By NICK NICKELS

Here are some questions that very few citizens could readily answer. For instance, who may obtain trees from Ontario Government nurseries and what kinds? What are the most valuable forest trees in Ontario? Explain coppice growth, explain the production of maple syrup?

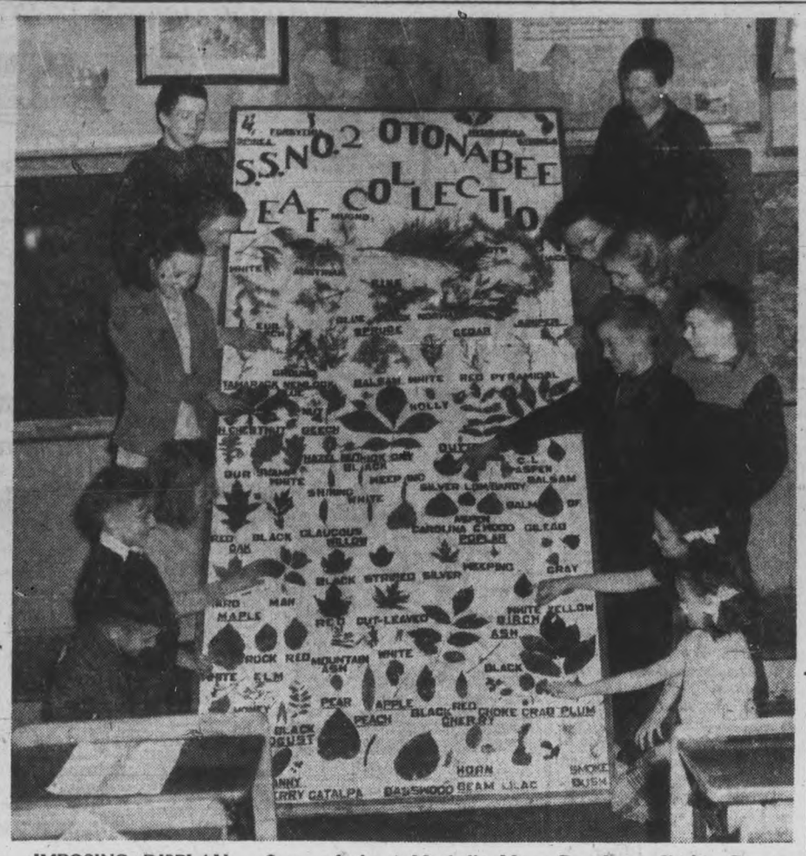
This is just a sample of a school forestry quizz taken from a sheet of 29 questions. The answers are not child's play, really, but you must admit children must be brighter than average to be able to answer them. Children at SS No. 2, Otonabee, certainly are better than most for they received word on Tuesday that they had won second place for rural schools in Southern Ontario for their part in the Provincial school forestry competition and had come first in their five-school township group, each carrying a cash prize of $25.

It all started back in May when Ione Forestry Inspector W. A. Anderson of Otonabee attended a school meeting in Keene and interested the teachers present in making application to the Department of Lands and Forests to secure and plant plots of seedling trees. He went further in his enthusiasm and donated a field opposite the Sixth Line school for the experiment. The trees were trucked from Orono Forestry Station and children from schools No. 1, Villiers, No. 3, Indian River, No. 4, Keene and No. 2, Otonabee were taken in buses in May to lay out and plant school plots—the pupils of the 6th Line school joined the others in the field across the road.

Each plot consisted of seedling trees of red and white pine, white ash, oak, maple and European larch (tamarack). The growing plots were weeded at various times during the summer and when the schools opened in September, the teachers inaugurated programs of collecting leaves and taught senior students a great deal of forestry lore to enable them to answer a paper of 2 questions.

Early in November, District Forester D. Kirk, of Lindsay, visited the plots and schools to judge each group. Pupils of S.S. No. 2, Otonabee, under teacher, Miss Lillian Bowie, were notified that their group of five "quizz kids" had won the top award in the written paper, and shared with the other 32 students' first award in the finest seedling plot and the most complete collection of leaves. They were awarded $25 just before Christmas and spent it on a "spree" trip to Toronto by bus to see the Santa Claus parade and visit the Riverdale Zoo. But that is not all.

Cash Second Time



Shortly before the Christmas holidays their school was visited again after they had entered the Provincial School Forestry Competition, by A. S. L. Barnes, Forestry Engineer of the Department of Lands and Forests. On Tuesday of this week they were advised that they had been nosed out of the first place in the Provincial showing by the Maple Grove school in Waterloo county. They were well contented with second place and the $25 prize that went with it.

Names of the winning quiz team are: Melba Richardson, Phyllis Edwards, Eileen Davidson, Carl Edwards and Roy Davidson. The school body of 37 pupils collected and mounted 106 specimens of leaves from local trees and shrubs and did most of the work at noon hours, recesses and holidays. Their natural science classes provided study time. Should you ask them some question such as, "Facts to be considered in woodlot management," they would answer you in a jiffy.

Hold Euchre Party

HASTINGS, Jan. 10—(ENS)—On Monday evening of this week a social evening was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hoard, when three tables of euchre were played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Basil Johnston, ladies' high score; L. E. Kelly, gents' high score; Mrs. Lottie Oliver, lone hand; Miss McCullough, teacher at Fleming's School, consolation.

During the evening Mrs. Hoard was surprised with the gift of a bath towel set from the gathering, presented by Miss K. German, and marking the former's birthday. Mrs. Hoard thanked her guests for their thoughtful gesture, after which tasty refreshments were served.

Salvaging Human Beings Urgent Task Speaker Says

ROSENEATH, Jan. 10 ENS)—Capt. Cox of the Slavation Army Cobourg, speaking to the members of Roseneath W. I. on Thursday afternoon said it is difficult or well nigh impossible to change people until home and environment are changed. Capt. Cox made clear how the Army fits into the picture as a social and spiritual agency. There are 1,200 agencies in Canada and the Army is established in nearly every country in the world excepting Russia. While the organization was to the fore in war, it is an organization that deals practically with war on the home front said Capt. Cox, relating many instances where the desperate ones, the down and out, are helped by the army, and in many cases tragedy averted. Where the non-care attitude is prevalent at home, moral looseness and violence can prevail, he opinioned." Our citadels where our services are held are our spiritual work shops, but it is hoped to set up a home as a proving ground to learn whether the unfortunate are sincere in looking forward to a better life. In the past Army captains have often taken men and women into their own homes to prove their worth and sincerity in their desire to again take their place in the world." Capt. Cox stressed the personal contact with the law breaking young boys and men and making useful citizens of them. However very often the procedure was slow, but the satisfaction derived from successful reforms has great compensations. Patience and understanding are so necessary, it is not possible to just walk in and perform miracles in an instant.

Capt. Cox thanked the branch for their effort in collecting money for the Army during the autumn, our objective he said was $2,400 and our collections passed $2,700.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Charles Sandercock and thanked by Mrs. A. Halstead.

The meeting was held in the town hall; Mrs. Charlton Grigg was hostess and Mrs. George Mouncey, president presided.

It was decided on motion ot donate $5. to the Hospital for Sick Children, Tronto.

Mrs. H. George was named to have charge of the novelty table at the bazaar to be held on January 17 in the town hall, replacing Mrs. J. McAleese who has moved to Akron Ohio.

Misis Jessie Johnston, Sunshine convener reported 27 cards sent out at Christmas to the ill, shut-ins and iderly folk.

Mrsc C. Sandercock had charge of the program substituting for Mrs. J. W. Pacey.

Program numbrs included, a speech by George Linton 6th grade pupil, Roseneath school and the presentation to him of a miniature silver cup as the third prize winners' trophy at the fall public speaking contest. George has spoken three times and won thre cups.

Readings were given by Mrs. F. Norris, Mrs. A. Pringle, Helen Sandercock and the convener. Contests were arranged by Mrs. B. Thackeray and Mrs. Norris, and a piano solo by Mrs. Thackeray. Supper was served by the hostess.

Abbott Needs a Car

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 — (CP). — Finance Minister Abbott commented wryly yesterday that he had omitted to order a new automobile before Canada last November sharply increased excise taxes on motor-cars as part of her program of meeting an economic crisis created by a shortage of United States dollars.

"I guess I'll have to do with the old one for a while longer," he told a press conference.

4 Go To Jail In Jewel Theft

KIRKLAND LAKE, Jan. 9 — (CP). — Four youths received prison sentences, one was acquitted and two elected to stand trial at the next Ontario supreme court sittings when they were tried here yesterday for a $6,000 jewelry store robbery last December and theft of $1,200 worth of clothes from a cleaning store.

Lionel Malcolm, 21, was sentenced to two years definite and 18 months indefinite in reformatory after pleading guilty to the two robberies and of possessing a sawed-off rifle.

Leo Desjardin received nine months definite and one year indefinite for breaking, entry and theft.

Eddie Pilon, 16, was sentenced to six months definite and one year indefinite and Milton Smith, 20, received nine months definite and one year indefinite for retaining stolen goods and illegal possession of gunpowder.

720 Die In Ontario

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP). — Motor vehicle accidents killed at least 720 persons in Ontario in 1947 but a new traffic safety program to go into operation early in the spring is expected to reduce the 1948 toll far below that figure, Highways Minister Doucett said last night.

Ontario Climate Does Not Make For Radical House Designs

With the expecience gained from the construction of more than 4,000 housing units during the war, as well as large building projects during the last 42 years, Hill-Clark-Francis Limited, contractors, will supply materials and be general builders for Peterborough's latest housing projects, the Brookdale and Parkdale subdivisions.

The company has the unusual feature of handling the building of their projects from the forest limits to the completed home. Owning their own timber stands, the company, equipped with extensive and mass-production machinery, is outstanding in its field.

William F. Lickley, general sales manager, said here Thursday that many of the "bottlenecks" in supplies and material which have hampered housing since the end of the war, have been removed. However, he pointed out that there are still some snags. Chief among these, he mentioned plumbing materials and fixtures. Steel is also difficult to obtain in some cases.

Mr. Lickley said there was small possibility that the unusual and radical designs advanced by some house designers would ever be adopted in Ontario. He said that there was little call for major changes in present designs. Climatic conditions, especially in the northern sections of the province, would make most of the peculiar theories recently advanced impossible to construct. Among some of the types mentioned was the one whose creator visualizes as turning on a base to face the sun continually.

The labor supply for the construction industry is now quite satisfactory, he said. There is, in most cases, adequate skilled and unskilled labor available.

Wartime methods of construction are assisting in speeding the current construction projects, he said. However, he stressed that the grade of houses being constructed today by the company are not the same type as those built during war. The wartime housing projects he described as "temporary or semi-permanent."

The local project, sponsored by the real estate firm of Sands and Bateman, covers 52 units in the Brookdale development and 74 in Parkdale. Work has already started on the Chemong Road portion (Brookdale), with 21 foundations poured to date. It is expected that these will be ready for occupancy by midsummer of this year. Plans have not yet been completed for the larger Parkdale section.

All the houses, it was stated, are of the two-storey medium-price rasge.

80th Session of Congress Important To Whole World

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—United States legislators, back this week for the second session of the 80th Congress, face historic decisions and tasks.

No matter how they write it the chapter of this period of Congressional history will be important to the whole world and will be talked about down through generations.

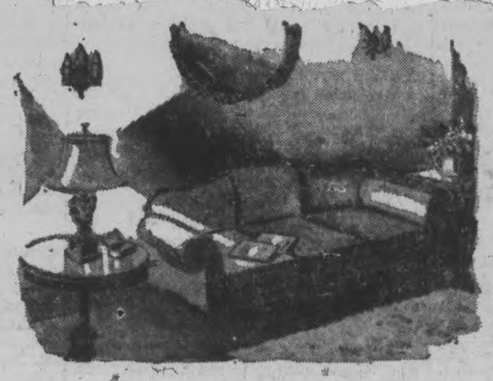
President Truman has asked this Congress to approve expenditures of unprecedented volume to save remaining European democracies from totalitarianism.

He proposes spending in the next four years upward of $17,000,000,000, much of it in Canada and other Western Hemisphere countries, for the tools and food necessary to enable the United Kingdom and 15 other European countries to have their war-shattered economies.

The President also asks for adequate measures to prevent an uncontrolled inflation at home, a threat that will be accentuated by the outflow of goods to Europe.

This is the year of a Presidential election. At stake is the White House tenancy, all 435 House seats and one-third of the 96 seats in the Senate.

Political Tinge



In an election year, especially a Presidential election year, virtually everything done in Congress is tinged with politics. Just now there are playing with subjects almost too serious for party political treatment.

The independent, crusading Post-Dispatch of St. Louis, in an editorial, sums up the terrific responsibilities facing this session of Congress and asks:

"Will it be a shining demonstraton of Democracy at work, the knd of performance which will impress weary people abroad that we practise what we preach about representative government?

"Or will it be merely the warm-up for the 1948 Presidential race with all the playing of politics that habitually has preceded such campaigns?"

If there is any basis for hope that the European recovery plan will save Europe from further inroads by Communism, the responsibility of Congress at this moment cannot be exaggerated. It must act quickly and with unity, in a manner to fill the non-Communist governments and people with hope and confidence in this great democracy.

Peace And War In Greece

It is a paradox that peace brings discord and war concord. This is true in a nation's domestic affairs and in international polity.

* * *

In wartime the people of a nation unite for an emotionally perceived purpose. Strikes are few, jobs are plentiful, life has meaning. After the war peace is hatched out like cowbird's eggs in a thrush's nest, and dissension rules the roost. Scratch and squeeze your neighbour; grab from the other fellow; set up the great god money again. Economic anarchy is the pattern of life.

* * *

In wartime, the world divides itself into two camps. That itself is evidence of more concord than exists in peace. There is real harmony. But when peace erupts international anarchy again becomes the world pattern.

* * *

These phenomena at home and abroad make possible a fresh interpretation of the Venetian inscription: "Happy is that city which in time of peace thinks of war". The more prepared for war a nation or all nations are, the greater would seem to be the chances of peace in times of peace.

* * *

That kind of reasoning always presupposes a next war. There are social and scientific experts who say (in the uninspired American terminology) that World Wars cannot go beyond the number III. The political realists, however, pay homage at U.N.'s shrine, the sarcophagus of World War II, and get on with the business of power politics—in Greece, for instance.

* * *

The political situation in Greece is not new. It follows upon the Crimean War a century ago, the Dardanelles campaign of 1915, the British defence of Greece and Crete in 1940-41. These were indulged in to keep hostile big powers from controlling the Balkans and Asia Minor. In 1945 Mr. Churchill's government felt an implicit Russian threat to Greece and the Dardanelles, and supported an anti-liberal, monarchical government there—with arms and food. Later the United States joined the crusade, and in doing so anticipated the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan. The Russian threat has become explicit, but the Truman Doctrine as applied to Greece is not working out very well. In the north of Greece communists have set up a republican government, and the rebels have already rendered homeless 500,000 Greek citizens who have fled in terror from them.

* * *

If Anglo-American power politics in Greece are to succeed, it is time that American and British troops were sent in to restore—or create—stability. It is not a time for sentiment about democracy and "self-determination". Britain and the U.S.A. will never willingly let Greece determine its own political future, unless it chooses a course friendly to theirs. The western nations' interests are in jeopardy in the Balkans, and even if the governments of Britain and the U.S. were communistic, it would be their national duty (in a world of power politics) to set Russian imperialism by the heels.

* * *

There is, of course, a U.N. Balkan Commission; there is the Security Council; there is the General Assembly. It would be shocking to the political "realists" if one or all of these organizations achieved a settlement in Greece. But then the cynics (and Russia) would say—Oh, they are merely tools of the Anglo-Americans.

The 40-years-ago column in the Kitchener Record says: "Seventeen were nominated for the mayoralty, 28 for the four reeveships and 49 for aldermanic office". Those were the days when people took municipal politics seriously.

S.S. No. 2 Otonabee And Tree Plantations

School Section Number 2 of Otonabee Township has won second prize in the Provincial school forestry competition, sponsored annually by the Ontario Horticultural Association. The prize is modest but the honour is worthy. The school won the prize by tending a woodlot replanted with young trees supplied by the government. Other schools in the county competed, and, we are glad to report, did well.

The annual contest is a good way of arousing the interest of citizens, particularly farmers, in reforestation, and supplements the long efforts of the provincial Departments of Lands and Forests, and Agriculture to popularize tree-planting. Farmers and owners of ranches have at last become conscious of the value of re-stocking cut-over, unarable land with trees. The dividends in money are not immediate, but they are very large. What finer patrimony can a man leave behind him than a flourishing stand of maple or pine?

The demand for free trees from the three provincial reforestation nurseries is now almost twice as great as Ordno, Midhurst and St. Williams can satisfy, although last year they supplied seventeen million young trees. The Honourable Harold Scott's department is doing its best to catch up with the demand. It is behind now because the requests for trees have suddenly become very great (a tribute to the Department's policy and the farmers' good sense), the tree nurseries suffered wartime casualties through lack of man-power and material, last year's drought was hard on seedlings, and trees do not grow from seed overnight. A new nursery station is being opened up at Kemptville, and the others are being extended.

The situation is gratifying. It is a good omen that demand is exceeding supply, and even though the nurseries double their production in the next five years we hope that the demand will still be putting a strain on the capacity of the nurseries.

The Problem Of The Exhibition Grounds

Recent discussions regarding a site for the Memorial Centre have given special prominence to the problem which the Exhibition Grounds present to this city. This very large, empty area, surrounded by a high fence, was at one time on the outskirts of Peterborough; now it is well within the city, and it cuts off George Street at a point where it should serve as the principal artery of the South End. Obviously Mr. Harold Morrow did not foresee this development; are we, by insisting on the strict letter of the Morrow Trust provisions, carrying out the wishes of a notably public-spirited man?

This newspaper has frequently warned against the danger of tampering with trusts. We are conscious, however, that the will of benefactors may press heavily upon a community. In this case, a compromise is possible: there is nothing in the Morrow Trust, as we understand it, which would forbid the removal of the fence around the Exhibition Grounds, or the landscaping and planting of the area to form a park, transforming an eyesore into an amenity which would act as a tonic upon the whole of the South End. And, if such action were taken, would it then be against the spirit of the Morrow bequest to continue George Street through the park, perhaps forbidding trucks and heavy vehicles to use it? The last thing that Mr. Morrow desires is to do harm to the city of Peterborough, and as it stands the Exhibition Ground is harmful.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An airplane can now be flown faster than the speed of sound. When cars can do the same the problem of the back-seat driver will be solved.

A circus reports that a laughing hyaena has escaped from its winter quarters. Can this have been the animal which was relaxing in the seat behind us at the movies last night?

From Pittsburgh comes word that a special wartime shock absorber may be used to end the jolting of trains. What, end our only means of getting exercise on a train?

Eamon De Valera, Prime Minister of Eire, is now taking to the hustings. The coming Irish elections will be sharp because of a new nationalist party, Clann na Poblachta, formed in 1946 in opposition to De Valera's regime. De Valera has been in power for more than fifteen years. So long, indeed, and not without chicanery and nepotism, that we can describe Irish history in three stages: the pagan era, the Christian era, and De Valera.

Diary Of Royalty

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: A man remarked to me that the days are already drawing out. It is true, and I disapprove of it heartily. If I had the ordering of such things, it would be dark every winter day at five o'clock, and every summer day at seven. Day should be day, and night night, and the present careless mingling of the two is distracting and annoying. As a matter of fact I think that time was much more sensibly dealt with in the Middle Ages when everybody got up at about 4 a.m., worked during the hours of daylight, and was in bed by 7 p.m. Midnight in those days was really the middle of the night, and not the hour when most people begin to think about bed. But for some inexplicable reason we now compound our normal day out of half the light and half the dark hours. And I stoutly maintain that when a man has done his day's work it should be dark. This is sheer cantankerousness, and I glory in it.

MONDAY: Some men of my acquaintance were discussing the late Victor Emmanuel of Italy, today, and they all agreed that he was a weakling and a peewee, and should have "stood up" to Mussolini and told him "where he got off". I would not dream of contradicting these experts, deeply versed in statecraft and familiar with court procedure, but I wondered what would happen to H. M. George VI if he were to say: "No, I refuse to appoint Sir Stafford Cripps as one of my ministers; he has repeatedly advocated the abolition of the Throne upon which I sit, and I detect seeds of tyranny and oppressiveness in him which I refuse to encourage". The King would, I am sure, be invited to abdicate, just as his brother was when he revealed a mind of his own. Not kings, but politicians, are the rulers in our day, and no king dares thwart a politician. Indeed, I can imagine no worse fate today than to be a king, and also a man of independent, humane and agile intellect. When he encouraged Mussolini poor Victor Emmanuel was encouraging The People's Choice, and the voice of the people, as we all know, is the voice of God. The Aristocratic Principle is dead; the Democratic Principle is a puny babe; the Demagogic Principle rages unchecked.

TUESDAY: Twelfth Night, and this evening my host offered me a drink of Drambuie; plainly marked on the bottle was a statement that this was the drink favoured above all others by Prince Charles Edward. It seems to me that this throws a light on the history of the 1745 rebellion which historians have unaccountably neglected. If Bonnie Prince Charles was in the habit of drinking Drambuie freely he was in no state to lead armies, though it is obvious why he so grossly overestimated the size of his forces. That look of being delightfully fried which he wears in all his portraits is explained, too.

WEDNESDAY: The estimable weekly "Saturday Night", usually has something to say at this time of year about the new calendars, awarding praise or blame on artistic grounds. But "Saturday Night" never touches any calendars save those with inspiring messages about Canada's Future, or World Peace, or Investing Your Savings Wisely; there is a whole world of calendars which it refuses to explore. I refer, of course to those calendars upon which appear young women of lush beauty, in advanced undress or entirely nude. Such calendars are usually distributed by discerning art patrons who run foundries, or sandpaper emporiums, and they are hung in places where men are men and connoisseurs of beauty. Personally I approve of such calendars. I look at calendars not only to learn the date, but also to rest my eyes, and I don't like pictures glorifying the achievements of banks or large industrial concerns. Woman is unquestionably God's noblest creation (much nobler than a bank) and woman, in the full beauty which God gave her, is an inspiration to man. After a good stare at a calendar with a lightly dressed young woman reaching upward on it I work brilliantly; a picture of a bank just gives me spots before the eyes.

THURSDAY: A lady was complaining to me about the foolish caricature of King Charles II which appeared in the film "Forever Amber"; the Merry Monarch was shown as a man surrounded by silly little dogs, to whom he cried "Come children!" from time to time....I replied that I had been annoyed by the same thing, and also by repeated film caricatures of Henry VIII as a gross monster, gorging, swilling, burping and pinching the bottoms of court ladies. Charles and Henry were two of the ablest kings every to occupy the British throne, and it is not wise to forget it. They would never have become Sunday School superintendents, of course, but they had many excellent, and indeed admirable qualities as statesmen. For some reason the British rulers who have been chosen by common consent for adulation are Alfred the Great (about whom we know nothing save what is told us by his person chaplain, who was on his payroll), Charles I, who was pious, but had no tact and owes much to the fact that Vandyke was his court painter, and Victoria, who carried goodness to a point where it became indistinguishable from self-indulgence.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Saw a barrel sitting in front of a shop this morning, wrapped in a discoloured and tattered Union Jack; on it was a sign saying "Shoes For Britain". As I passed a small dog lifted its leg against the barrel and insouciantly sprinkled the proud symbol of Empire. The sight filled me with melancholy....Reading Thackeray this evening. What tireless drinkers all his people are! Such bumpers of spirits! So many glasses of wine! Did our ancestors really guzzle to such a degree? Yet Thackeray told his doctor that he drank about 1,500 bottles of wine a year (mostly other people's) which works out roughly at three bottles a day, and nobody ever thought that Thackeray drank more than he could hold, or than was good for him. To be a drunkard in those days was a full-time occupation; so much had to be drunk before one had outstripped the ordinary, sober men.

SATURDAY: This week's diary seems to harp on the theme of royalty. Ah, well, I like royalty, although I often think it must be embarrassing for them to have their family history so very well known. Most of us are permitted to forget our disgraceful relatives, but not so royalty....Somebody reminded me tonight that T. S. Eliot got an O.M. in the New Year's honours. I suppose I ought to remember more of his poetry than I do.... All I can recollect offhand is the lines—

Mrs. Porter and her daughter
Washed their feet in soda water

—which is catchy, but I am sure he has written more ambitious things. The fact is, January has me in its clutch, and I am beginning to be a little depressed. Maybe the time has come for my Annual Heavy Cold, during which I shall have a chance to lie in bed and re-adjust myself to the universe.

Letters To The Editor

COUNCIL TOO FREE WITH PENSIONS

Sir: I like your paper! My father and my grandfather read it! I have read it for over thirty years!

Also I like your "Voice of the People" and "Letters to the Editor Column!"

Maybe in other lands citizens climb on a soap-box and spout....I have never seen a soap-box speaker in Peterborough!

But your columns do permit diverse persons to get something off their chests! So, we can put your column in the category of a safety-valve.

Now, we will get down to the steam I would like to blow off. First, I think you will agree that a good firm or company pays its obligations....

But if an employee resigns under pressure before his or her term of office has been completed, he or she usually is not eligible for a pension or any money unless a fund has been established. Even then, workers have been known to forfeit all claims.

If it were possible to estimate the number of taxpayers in this city who through the depression had earnings of three thousand dollars or more....how many would come in that bracket?

Then why should a lot of taxpayers who have struggled along....and could be, are still struggling to pay for homes be obligated?

Why should any man who has had a good income—better or as good as average—not be able to save for a rainy day!

The old taxpayer does not receive a pension when he thinks it is time to quit!

I have no axe to grind!

I have nothing against any man on our City Council!

But, our City Council would do well to remember that for years men who were working two and three days per week are beginning to wonder why city or civil servants who had a good steady position throughout the hungry thirties....and had more money should get a haul for the rest of their lives from the small bracket wage-earner.

If the council are going to pay out pensions—let them put it to a vote of the people.

Then, I will vote, no! I will vote no unless, said servant of the people has finished his full term of office and has been honourably discharged. Thanking you,

QUO VADIS?

SHARE PRIVILEGES, SHARE TAXES

Sir: Will you kindly allow me a space in your valuable paper; I think the way the taxes are placed on the owner of homes is all wrong. We, the owners of homes (which we have had to work hard and sacrifice a lot to obtain) have to pay for schools, streets, bridges, sewer, sidewalks etc., police, firemen, Library, administration of justice, garbage and disposal, Civic Hospital, Anson House, Public Schools, also Collegiate, unemployment relief, and the debentures the city holds. Yet the tenant has to pay the rent and he gets no rates to pay. Where I came from, everybody had to pay their quota of taxes and the property owner was charged a small tax as property tax. I think if tenant and owner were asked to pay their share of the taxes of the city it would be better for everybody.

We have lived here for almost 28 years and could never see that the city was right in their method of taxation. We all have the same privileges in the city so why not share the cost of it? Yours sincerely,

A TAXPAYER.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever. (Ps. 73: 26.)

And it came to pass, when he was in a certain city, behold a man full of leprosy: who seeing Jesus fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

And he charged him to tell no man: but go, and shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Moses commanded, for a testimony unto them. But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him: and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities. (Luke 5: 12-15.)

And it came to pass also on another sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue and taught: and there was a man whose right hand was withered. And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath day; that they might find an accusation against him.

But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Rise up, and stand forth in the midst. And he arose and stood forth.

Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you one thing, Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it? And looking round about upon them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other .(Luke 6: 6-10.)

Unconsidered Trifles

He was sitting in the train reading his evening paper. The man beside him got up and left. As he turned the pages he noticed on the vacant seat a new pair of gloves.

There wasn't a moment to lose; he snatched them up, dashed to the exit, threw the gloves on to the platform.

Then he returned to his seat. But his look of faint self-satisfaction vanished when the man on the other side of the vacant seat leaned across and said: "I say, old man—would you be good enough to tell me just why you threw my gloves out?"

"Well Joan, what's the scandal while I've been away?"

"While you've been away there's been no scandal, Freddie!"

The stingy young man asked his fiance whether she had been pleased with the card he sent her.

"Oh, yes, it's lovely and shows excellent taste," she replied. "I knew at once it came from you."

"Oh really," he said happily. "Why were you so sure?"

"Because I sent it to you a year ago," she said curtly."

RESORT OWNERS will converge on the Royal York Hotel, January 19th and 20th for the annual convention of the Tourist Resorts of Ontario. Robert F. Nelson, public relations director for the Commonwealth of Virginia will be the main speaker. He is an authority on resort operating, and is given credit for the finest managed State tourist set-up in the Union. Mr. Nelson will address the Institute Management course students at the University of Toronto, Monday morning, will be guest speaker at a dinner to be given by the Dept. of Travel and Publicity Monday evening, and on Tuesday at noon will be guest at a luncheon given by the Ontario Hotel Association. Tuesday evening he will address the wind-up banquet given by the Resort Section organization.

THREE SESSIONS of panel discussions have been planned. These will be held Monday morning, afternoon and on Tuesday morning. Top operators in the business will lead the discussions and two topics are Labor Relations, and Effective Resort Advertising. Gilbert Watson, owner of Gil-Mar Lodge on Sturgeon lake is president of the association this year and a large representation of resort operators from the Kawarthas and Haliburton areas is expected. It is likely in view of the serious fires this fall and winter, which levelled valuable properties, that discussion will be held on protection and proper insurance coverage of resort buildings. Members are urged to make hotel reservations early. C. O. Phillips, Cedar Villa Lodge, Rosedale is vice-president, Reg. A. Handscomb, Deer Lodge is treasurer, Mrs. A. C. Nicholls, Clearstone Lodge, Bob Harvey, Tall Pines, and Roy Hicks of the Rockland House are all members of the executive. Membership costs $15.

HERE'S A LAUGH. Some joker down in the States when he heard about Canada's so-called "austerity" program, (and if ever there was a misnomer that's one), decided the tariffs had been changed because Canada was short of FOOD. Hot dog, that's really something. If he had figured we had too much food and too few dollars, he would have hit the nail right on the snozzle. Still, I am told that this "food shortage" story appeared in the States. It is reasonable to expect that there would be some confusion in the minds of the Americans over this program, but surely one of the bread-baskets of the world, this Canada of ours, whatever her troubles, will never run short of food. To make it more plain, the head of Canada Packers admitted in the newspapers this week that the following was in storage: 55 million pounds of pork, 39 million pounds of beef, seven million pounds of veal and eight million pounds of lamb. No, sir, what Canada needs right now is American dollars, so tourists will be doubly welcome this year.

HE MET A WOLF. Mack Whitmore, Apsley, was taking a short cut to his father's farm last Sunday when he met a huge she-wolf and a year-old pup near Loon lake. He had crossed the lake and entered the bush, when he spotted the pair about 20 feet distant. His only weapon was an axe, which he had used to test the ice as he walked across the lake. The wolf stopped, and opened its mouth in a wicked snarl, then looked at it's pup and started after it. The two animals passed Whitmore again, not more than 30 feet distant and showed no fear of him. He claims the female was a timber wolf, and far larger than those which were shot recently in that area. Eight wolf bounties were paid in Northumberland county in 1947, and 26 were claimed in Peterborough county. Brush wolves are not supposed to rate a bounty, but few if any of the claimants for bounties had their requests refused. Pelts are sent to the Dept. of Lands and Forests for identification.

PORTIA PUGGWUZZIE, that's the one who makes a sound like a high-pitched outboard motor, as she whisks through the air, dropped down on my window-sill last night with some news. "The north country puggwuzzies from as far away as the 'Glory Hole' in Algonquin, the headwaters of the Gatineau, and the shores of Moccassin and Madawaska lakes held a binge near Barry's Bay this week," she said. "They feasted on frozen mountain ash berries, had a swig or two of hemlock sap with a chaser from the maple tree, and the party was noisy and merry. They made Magistrate McGregor of Pembroke an honorary puggwuzzie, for his conviction of the four policemen who took deer in Algonquin Park. Each was suspended from the force and fined $75 and costs. They toasted the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, Deputy-Minister Frank McDougall, and Dr. Jim Harkness, head of the Fish and Wildlife Division, and as the first streaks of dawn were wiped out by a howling blizzard, the puggwuzzies hurried home, carrying with them a birchbark banner on which was written, "We intend to enforce the fish and game regulations without fear or favor". This statement according to Jack Hambleton, Toronto newsman was made by the Hon. Mr. Scott early in December.

PORTIA TURNED HER HEAD AWAY, several times during the story, and apologized for her hiccups, proof that hemlock sap is a potent beverage. I asked her what she thought of the new beaver regulations, and she popped right back: "They'll never work in the Thunder Bay and Patricia regions. They are tackling the problem the wrong way. You must tell them to crack down on the buyers make the game wardens stamp every pelt with an indelible stencil that cannot be duplicated. Then conduct inspections of fur buying establishments, and every improperly marked pelt means a fine. Pelts are smuggled into Manitoba, flown into Manitoba, and peddled to buyers who ask no questions." Well, maybe she's right, I wouldn't know.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

NEW BEAVER REGULATIONS. Trappers have until Saturday, January 17, to obtain licenses to trap beaver this year. The season in this part of Ontario opens February 15 and closes March 31. A regular trapping license is no good. All Crown lands except those covered by trapline license are closed for trapping. This means that a trapper who has an established trapline may apply for a zone license giving him sole rights to trap beaver in the area. He must prove to the District Forester that the area has at least five beaver houses, or no trapping will be allowed. This trapline license permits the trapper to take one beaver pelt for each house on the line. Other trappers having no established trapline must obtain a special beaver license which permits them to trap beaver only in areas not allocated under a trapline license. Holders of such licenses can take a maximum of ten pelts.

THE IDEA is to make the trappers in zone areas responsible for proper management and protection of the colonies to get the maximum yield and at the same time maintain ample breeding stock to perpetuate the species. It is expected trapline license holders will be given authority to lay charges for theft or trespassing by other trappers on their zones. The license to trap beaver is only obtainable at the District Forester's office in Lindsay, but either Vern Windsor at Apsley or Stanley Windsor at Peterborough, game overseers, can advise trappers what steps are necessary. Every beaver pelt taken this year must be examined and tagged by an officer of the Dept. of Lands and Forests before being offered for sale.

Birth of Duke of Windsor Recalled By Messenger Who Carried Telegram

By F. C. HADDEN

My mother was sub-postmistress of Sunningdale at the time of the Duke of Windsor's birth. My brother-in-law and I are the only two survivors who participated in the postal work involved.

King Edward VII, when Prince of Wales, generally took a house in this neighborhood for Ascot Week. Harewod Lodge, Titness Park, Coworth Park, and Sunningrale to mention a few.

In 1894 King Edward's choice for Ascot Week was Coworth Park, then the property of Sir William Farmer (now owned by the Earl of Derby), a house about a mile from our office.

We generally carried out the additional work caused by the races at Ascot, without extra help, but in 1894, owing to the possibility that the birth might take place, an additional telegraph instrument was fitted up. A clerk (Mr. Bailey) from Newbury was sent to operate it.

Night And Day

But at three o'clock on the Saturday afternoon this extra instrument was removed and Mr. Bailey left.

When the office was closed at eight p.m. my sister and a friend (now my brother-in-law) and I went out for a stroll before starting on the accounts.

On returning we found the postmaster of Ascot here. He told us that we were to keep open night and day until we received further instructions.

About ten o'clock my sister took off the telegram conveying the important news. Our friend, Mr. Benn, went with the postman.

At Coworth Park they were informed that the royal party were down at the Fishing Temple. Mr. Benn, seeing two or three carriages in the drive, said: "We have a very important despatch for his Royal Highness. Have you a conveyance you can send us in?"

Brandished Umbrella

A carriage partly filled with hampers was just going down to the Fishing Temple and they got in this.

My brother-in-law, heedless of obstacles such as detectives, footmen, and so on, rushed into the ballroom, followed by the postman.

Here he was brought to a standstill by a bearded gentleman, who asked him what he wanted.

"I have an important despatch for His Royal Highness," said my brother-in-law.

"I am he," said the Prince.

The Prince opened it, held up his hand and stopped all dancing, gave an order to two footmen, who out a small table covered with a red cloth which they stood in front of the french windows and placed glasses and bottles of champagne on it.

Gift of Half-Sovereign

The band struck up with "God Save the Queen," followed by "God Bless the Prince of Wales."

He then read out the telegram to the assembled party, and the young Prince's health was drunk as well as others.

This ceremony completed, HRH called up the two messengers to the table and presented them each with half a sovereign and a cigarette from his own case.

My brother-in-law hung his coin on his watchchain and preserved it for many years, but unfortunately lost it recently.

The telegrams of congratulation from all parts of the world were very numerous, and both my sister and myself were kept going hard all through Saturday night, Sunday, Sunday night, until the royal party left on Monday.

And that Prince which was then born has written his own biography which The Examiner will commence publishing today, Jan. 10.

Fire Is Great Destroyer Of Canada's Forest Wealth

Fire, insects and disease wage unrelenting war against our forests. Few people are aware that during the ten years 1930-39 these three destroyers removed each year an overage of 1.7 per cent of th commercially useable timber in the accessible forests of Canada — 700 million cubic feet a year. Of this enormous total, 400 million cubic feet were removed by fire. Multiply this figure by twelve and we find that over four billion board feet of timber went up in smoke or lay charred and useless as a result of forest fires every year of those ten pre-war years. That we are doing little better of late is evidenced by the reports of further disastrous forest fires which headline editions of Canadian newspapers last spring. The single fire in the Hearst area is reported to have burned 4,000 acres of pulpwood and other types of merchantable timber.

If any but a fraction of the forest wealth of Canada is to be preserved for future generations it is necessary first to halt, or at least reduce to a mimium, the losses from fire. About 35 per cent of these are caused by carelessness on the part of tourists and campers.

The numbers of fires caused by these persons was brought to the writer's attention some years ago when he was serving as a fire ranger in Northern Ontario along the Algoma Central Railway. In the section beyond the reach of all but the more experienced camper there were two fires in the ranging season, which extended from May to early September. In the section near Sault Ste Marie, where the tourists had access to lake and stream, there was a continual series of fires. The smoke never ceased all summer long and the pumps were never idle. Fire fighting crews were augmented and pumps rushed in to cope with the situation, but new fires persisted in occurring. Cigarette smokers are often to blame; for in the dry season every lighted cigarette tossed into the dry bush will start a fire, and at such times it is most necessary that the camper take great care to stub out his smoke before he throws it away.

It would be a salutary lesson if potential fire starters could be made to patrol the area burned over by a forest fire immediately after the fire had gone through. There is no more heart rending sight than the vast scar left in the green woodland by a fire. There in the morning one walks with death. The green has turned to black. Great trees that flared like torches when the fire was at its height are gaunt black skeletons. Saplings burned out at the roots have tumbled over, crisscrossing and interlacing until it is almost impossible to get through the foot-snaring tangle of black poles that once were promising second or third growth. The very earth itself has been burned and sifts up in grey ash and black powder, filming the boots and blothing and clogging the nostrils. This is all that is left of the fertile top soil that nourished forest growth. An eerie silence hangs over this dead land, unbroken by any bird song or even the hum of an insect. The smell of death is in the air, the indescribable dank smell of the fresh burn, which once experienced is never forgotten.

Such a lesson would make a careful camper out of the most insensitive. For the person responsible for a forest fire has destroyed all that he went to the wilderness for,—its green beauty, its sweet untainted air, the living creatures that haunt its recesses. Fire is the great foe of them all, and it is the duty of all who love them to "Be Careful of Fire" and to seek by every means in their power to make others careful.

Old Historical Society Operated Museum

By CHARLES H. IRESON

The reference in an editorial in The Examiner of January 7 to the need and usefulness of a local historical society recalls the fact that in 1896 a Peterborough Historical Society was formed, but in later years forced out of existence.

On December 8, 1896, a meeting was held in the Council Chamber and it was decided to form an association and to affiliate with the Ontario Pioneer and Historical Association.

Among those present were Mrs. Catharine Parr Trail, the well-known authoress; Col. H. C. Rogers, Lt. Col. Bell, Mayor Yelland, Wm. Cluxton, J. H. Burnham, T. A. S. Hay, J. M. Irwin, C. Fessenden, and E. B. Edwards.

The chairman, Col. Rogers, read a clouse from the constitution of the Ontario Association. Its object was to unite the various Pioneer and Historical Societies of the Province into one central organization and thereby promote the union and intercourse of such societies for the better preservation of historical and other records and to promote the formation of new associations.

It was decided to form an association to be known as "The Peterborough Town and County Historical Society. T. A. S. Hay was appointed secretary, and the following officers elected: Hon. President, Mrs. Catharine Parr Trail; President, Col. H. C. Rogers; Vice-Presidents, J. H. Burnham, A. C. Dunlop, and Wm. Cluxton; Treasurer, Miss Halliday; Committee: Lt. Col. Bell, J. M. Irwin, Mrs. Lundy, Mrs. Aylmer, C. Fessenden, E. B. Edwards, Mrs. H. S. Green, Rev. C. Clements, H. T. Strickland.

Victoria Museum

Mrs. Richard Hall on behalf of the Nicholls Trust offered the new society the use of Inverlea House for the assembly of such articles and records as might be collected. This offer was gratefully accepted, and the society formed the nucleus of what was later known as the Victoria Museum.

On January 8, 1897, Inverlea House was formally handed over by the Nicholls Trustees. The Society adopted a motto or slogan suggested by F. R. Yokom, then editor of The Examiner: "The Past Preserve, The Present Prize."

The Victoria Museum was opened on June 22, 1897, Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee Day, and Mayor Yelland accepted the gift on behalf of the town.

The museum flourished owing mainly to the efforts of T. A. S. Hay as honorary curator who gave much time and self-sacrificing service. Mr. Hay was a native of Peterborough, and was born in 1849. He studied engineering architecture and land-surveying and was appointed town engineer in 1899.

However as the years rolled by the interest in the Historical Society seemed to wane. There was was also the prospect that Inverlea House would not be available and the question of providing a new home for the museum became a serious one. It was at first thought that the problem had been solved when the present Public Library was built and was formally opened in February 14, 1911. It was proposed to provide a separate department for the museum and make provision for the custody and care of the exhibits. Difficulties arose, however, and finally the exhibits were transferred to the Library Board, to be placed where convenient in the new building. This was done, but unavoidably, no provision could be made for their care and maintenance as time went on, and more space was necessary for purely library purposes. Literally "moth and rust did corrupt" and many treasured exhibits were spoiled. Some, including a valuable collection of Canadian metals and Canadian birds were transferred to the Prince of Wales School and are now housed there. Others are still in the Library, and others again from the lack of space and no funds available for care and attention have reached the junk-pile and the museum too as an organized unit has virtually disappeared.

An interesting relic which has been preserved is a wooden clock formerly installed in the tower of St. John's Church. This was made entirely of wood and cost some $500 privately subscribed. It was a wonderful piece of craftsmanship, but unfortunately the great variety in Canadian temperatures caused difficulty in its regulation. It was removed about 1853 and for many years was stored in the tower basement. It was later handed over to the Historical Society and became an exhibit in the Victoria Museum. Some years ago it was turned over to its original owners, the Wardens of St. John's Church, where it is carefully preserved as a precious historical record.

So, most unfortunately the Victoria Museum has practically disappeared as a separate institution, and the Historical Society has ceased to exist. This seems to be a real disaster and not in accordance with the Society's first motto, "The Past Preserve, The Present Prize."

Wm. Hare, a UE Loyalist, Given Land In Percy In 1804

By HELEN MARRYAT

The Crown granted on August 28, 1804, a block of 850 acres in the township of Percy, county of Northumberland, District of Newcastle, to William Hare, a United Empire Loyalist, of the township of West Flamborough, in the county of York, in the Home District. This land on the south side of the Trent River at Hastings, consisted of the north quarter of lot 12, the whole of lots 13 and 14 in the 11th concession; the broken lots 12, 13 and 14 in the 12th concession and the broken lot 14 in concession 13. The northern boundary ran westward against the stream (the Trent River) to the limit between lots 11 and 12.

William Hare sold on April 9, 1810, the land to James Crooks; the transaction took place at Niagara. Hare was described as a yeoman and Crooks as a merchant. The deed was signed by Margaret Hare, presumably Hare's wife, although his mother's name was also Margaret. The witnesses were James Morden and Abraham Luse. The price paid was £200 and the deed was registered in the East Northumberland Registry Office at Colborne by the registrar, David McGregor Rogers.

James Crooks disposed of the property on September 27, 1851, to Henry Fowlds and, if you are a land owner on the south side of the river in Hastings, that is the history of your property.

When William Hare disposed of his land to James Crooks, he stepped out of the picture, and there seemed to be no way of tracing him. However, Thos. Roy Woodhouse, president of the Dundas Historical Society, and president of the Head-of-the Lake Historical Society, read the series of articles in The Examiner dealing with the Hon. James Crooks and his connection with the early history of Hastings, (formerly Crooks' Rapids), and, in return for much new information about James Crooks, he has sent what he knew about William Hare.

William Hare was the son of John Hare, who was living at Jamestown when the American revolution broke out; he became captain in the Indian Department of the British Army and was killed at the battle of Oriskany, August 6, 1777. Mrs. John Hare came to Montreal in 1782 with her two youngest daughters. William served in Butler's Rangers from 1780-1783; he then came to Fort Niagara with his brothers, when they and their mother were granted 3,000 acres each, as United Empire Loyalists.

A description of the coming of the Loyalists to Niagara was given in a paper read before the Women's Canadian Historical Society, 1920-21, by the late Miss Sarah Mickle. "When Butler's Rangers were disbanded, 258 officers and men agreed to settle, making Niagara quite an important centre. We can picture the little settlement of these men and women, who had give up their all and had come to make new homes in this far land. Many had arrived at the Post, penniless, ragged and ill, from the effect of the hardships they had endured, refugees from the ill-treatment given by their former neighbors. Most Review Your Will NOW!

Many people make it a point to review their will the first of every year and give careful consideration to changed circumstances.

Your executor may have moved away, or become ill, or may have become so involved in his own business that he could not give sufficient time to the management of your estate. Beneficiaries may not now be living.

These are only a few reasons why you should review your Will now. A simple codicil is all that is necessary to secure the services of The Grey & Bruce Trust & Savings Company as your Executor.

Your Will . . .

Your will is one of the most important documents you will ever be called upon to sign.

Do not draw your own Will. Your Lawyer is best fitted for this task.

If you do not name an executor, the Court will be required to appoint one. Why not save this trouble and expense and appoint an experienced executor and trustee?

It costs no more to have a Trust Company act as your Executor.

Legionnaires Take First Place With 7-4 Win Against Kingston

Battling back in the third period for three goals without a return, Legionnaires beat Kingston Saints 7-4 in Lindsay last night to move into first place in their OHA senior "B" group standing. A crowd of 1,400 fans saw a fast, clean contest on ice which held up well. The ice became chippy at times but did not soften and both squads maintained a fast pace, with not much rough stuff showing. Of the eight penalties handed out by Referee Love of Oshawa, only three were drawn by Ned Vitarelli's bunch. Bud Goodfellow of Kingston drew three, one a major and one a misconduct, while Joe Rochetta got a major.

Led Attack

Bill Crowley and Bob Greenlaw sparked the Legion attack with four scoring points apiece,

LIKE HIS DAD — Following in the footsteps of his father, Bill Crowley, who starred here some 40 years ago, young Bill Crowley showed his stuff for Legion in Lindsay last night as they beat Kingston 7-4. Bill was in on four goals—as was Bob Greenlaw—and didn't draw a penalty all evening.

and Joe Rochetta was in on three.

The whole team turned in a fine effort, wtih Ross Nicholls solid in goal, Mortimer and Godfrey especially strong on defence and the three forward lines working their heads off to gain the win. They were expected to slow up in the third with the count at 4-4 to end the second period, but went on to outplay the visitors in the last speedy chukker. They had a 2-1 margin in the first but had a fair edge on play most of the way.

Balwa put Kingston ahead early in the first frame on passes from Stephenson and Ohlka in close. Godfrey came close as play was up and down fast with both goalies busy. Then Rochetta evened it up on a backhander on a partial breakaway. T. Greenlaw was robbed and both sides missed chances. B. Goodfellow drew his first penalty for hooking and got back before Burns—a Lindsay recruit—scored at close range on a fine pass from Ernie Nicholls.

Scored Early

Less than two minutes had elapsed in the second heat when Bob Greenlaw tallied on a corner passout from Rochetta, pulling Udall out neatly. Bud Goodfellow went away again for tripping but was back when Jarrell scored for the Saints from Aitken on a smart pass at close range. Bob Greenlaw got that back shortly when he took Crowley's pass at the blue line and went right in to pick a corner. Kingston roared back and Belwa scored from Stephenson after Nicholls had blocked a shot by Stephenson at his doorstep. Rochetta and Anderchuk tangled in a fist fight and got major penalties as play roughened up. Mortimer raced in fast alone around defence and tied up the count with a blistering shot. He went off shortly for holding after Kingston had threatened several times.

Early in the third, Rochetta put Legion ahead on a backhand drive, Crowley aiding on the rush. Bud Goodfellow got another penalty for slashing and, when he argued too hotly wtih the referee, he was given a misconduct penalty. Bob Greenlaw tallied once more on Crowley's pass in close and Legion had an edge on play in fast and fairly rugged going. All were back when Jarrell scored but his stick was four feet in the air when he deflected a shot and it was called back. The Saints pressed for a space but Legion changed players often and kept the pace up with them right to the finish. Crowley got in close and bulged the hemp on Greenlaw's pass, and then Vitarelli went off for interference. He got back with no score against his side, and Godfrey was gated for holding as Kingston kept pressing, with Ross Nicholls looking good in goal. It ended up with a 7-4 earned count for Legion.

The teams:

City Carpetball

Reports are slow coming in with only three games played according to results received. In these the Paper Dolls came through with their first double-header of the season as they wrapped the Busy Bees in no mean manner, apparently trying to keep them warm, the scores being 18-4 and 16-8 in favor of the Paper Men. King Billie's gang managed to get the better end of the count from the East City Wardens as they tied the first game 9-9 and won the second 16-6. In the other game played the Fighting Parsons and Paper Dolls played to even games to share the points with scores og 13-11 and 11-12.

We have still to hear from teams No. 8, 9 and 10 with the list of their players and the notation of those who desire to enter the memorial double. Out of the seven teams heard from 24 members have entered. As soon as we get word from the other three teams, the schedule will be drawn.

ELBOW THAT LAUNCHES HOME-RUNS — Joe DiMaggio, stellar outfielder and slugger for the New York Yankees baseball team, shows a group of reporters where he was operated on his arm. The operation is said to be a complete success, and there will be glum faces among the Yankee owners if it isn't. They signed to pay Joe an estimated $70,000 for next year's work.

Track and field may be in for a revival in Peterborough with the formation of the Peterborough Harriers Club. Jim Flowers, Al Clark and several others have been working hard the past year to bring back interest in track and field competition and we hope they do well. Jim has been elected prexy of the new club, while Al will act as coach. They have workouts lined up for Tuesday nights during the winter, using the "Y" track until a bigger indoor wooden track can be obtained. Various distances will be run by those interested and no doubt some drills in field sports will be arranged, too. And outdoor meets are planned for next summer.

Various basketball results of last night should be in elsewhere today. Two games on tap for tonight in the Collegiate. Cobourg Legion has a Lakeshore Loop fixture at seven with Outboard Marines' "B" team, and then there's an exhibition betwixt Toronto York Belting and Marines' "A" champs. The Belting bunch are now leading the Toronto senior circuit, so Marines have a real fight on their hands tonight. Girls' game Monday at the YW is between Neill's and Lock Co. at eight. Port Hope girls and men will be here for games next Wednesday, and the COSSA schedules get off to a start next Friday.

Plazas Rolling High

Plazas bowled themselves into second spot in the City Bowling League this week and amassed high pinnage of 3625 in the process. Ramblers led in singletons with a hefty 1345 count. Jack Playford of Plazas had high three for players with 850 as well as third best single, a 332 wallop. Looks like Johnny is getting into the race now for high averages as the second half of the schedule gets well underway. Maurice Caccavella of Fashion-Crafts led in singles with a thumping 372 and his 795 was second best in threesomes.

Canuck team has pushed off for the Olympics and Canadians, of course, will wish them luck in their international competition next month. It is certainly not the best club in Canada but it is supposed to be the best amateur one—and we wonder how many of those RCAF-ers and the nine others who are on the team but not Air Corps chaps can really swear sincerely that they are amateurs. Under the strict Olympic oath. One can't help wondering of Goalie Murray Dowey—recruited at the last moment—ever received a dime over and above bare expenses while being an ace senior softball hurler in Toronto. Others, too, in somewhat similar circs. We believe the chap who said there are no amateur athletes in Canada except maybe those of junior "B" category—and that's 'cause they don't draw the gates.

Hornets Buzzed Out

Belleville Hornets dropped out of the Lakeshore League. They wanted an OHA intermediate "B" rating, arguing that Belleville also had a senior "B" team, but the OHA wisely refused on account of the size of the city. It couldn't make flesh of one and fish of another. If Cobourg and Port Hope have to play intermediate "A", then 'twas but right that Bella Villa ice an "A" team, even with a senior "B" squad in another grouping. Peterborough could have entered in intermediate "A"—but not "B"—as they were required to ice only one senior "B" club. But Legion and Petes both preferred to play senior "B". Cobourg is now after Mark Storms of Belleville.

* * * * * *

Legionnaires showed their stuff in Lindsay last night when they beat Kingston Saints by a 7-4 count to go into top spot in their OHA senior "B" grouping. It wasn't so much the fact that they won—they are tough to take on Scugog ice — as the way they did it. Came through in the third period with three goals and no answers back to settle it after the second frame ended in a 4-4 tie. Sure they were tired, but plenty, and they changed players often. But they looked at least as strong as Kingston at the end. We like fight and the Legion crew showed it in the third, hustling every minute despite weariness and staying out of that sin bin. It was pretty clean throughout and a speedy tilt on fair ice before 1,400 cash customers.

Bill Stayed On Ice

We'd like to mitt Bill Crowley. He and Bob Greenlaw—a swell player always—led the scorers with four points apiece, as Joe Rochetta (getting back to his oldtime form) was in on three. Bill is carrying on an old puck tradition here, his dad being a star hockeyist some 40 years back before moving west. Young Bill is a speedster and a fine player but hot-headed at times. Last eve, he stayed on the ice and scored goals, especially in the third heat when they were needed. Ross Nicholls was his usual stylish self in goal and both Ernie and Ace worked hard. So did Godfrey and Mortimer on defence. But, then, they all did. That's why they are swinging merrilly today in the canary's perch.

Jack Playford Hits 850 For High Three

Paced by Jack Playford with 850 for high three Plazas took two games from Shockey's to take over undisputed possession of second place in the Men's City Five-Pin League Thursday night. They also took high pinnage with 3625. Fashion Craft took six points from Grant's to lengthen their lead to 14 points over the second-place Plazas.

Ramblers won four points from McGillis to give them a tie for third place with Shockey's as the Herron squad rolled high single game 1345. King George copped two games from Kawarthas to strengthen their hold on the fifth position, three points ahead of the sixth place Kawarthas.

Empress Old Timers showed some fine bowling as they totalled 3528 to whitewash the Freeman squad. Clappers blanked the strong Sunoco team and Generals and De Laval each won four points from Legion and Spartons.

Maurice Caccavella had top single with 372 followed by Gene Reynolds 342, Jack Playford 332, Mel Akers and Tony White 323, Tony Vitarelli 320, Bill Boon 313, Nels Routley 308, Phil Pryde 307, Bill Lewis and Ross Hopkins 305 and Vince Anthony 300.

Jack Playford picked up pins on the leaders in the high average race and has served notice that he will be right around the top position before the season's end.

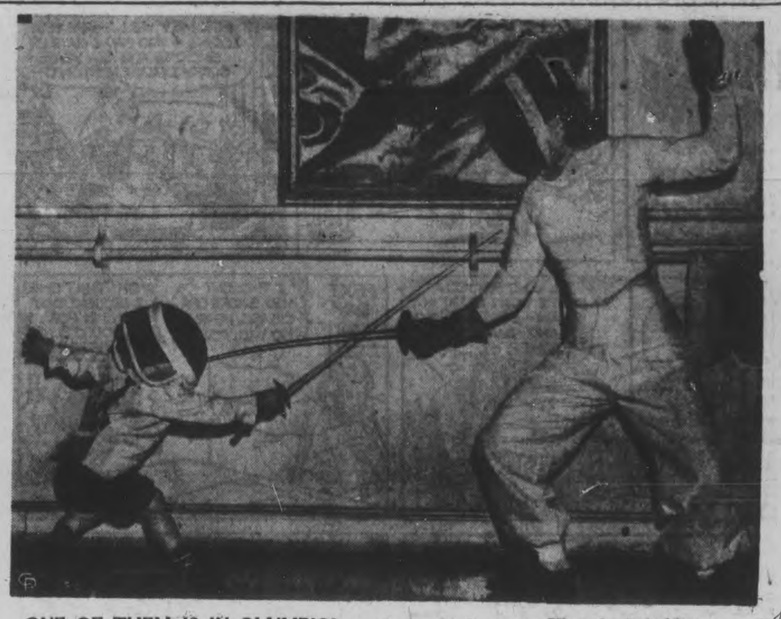
Hamilton Pats Bow To Dukes

By The Canadian Press.

It was Lachine, Queebc's, contribution, Joe Fitzpatrick, who, with 14 seconds left in the game, tallied the overtime goal giving Stratford Indians their 3-2 victory over the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen in their last scheduled meeting last night at Waterloo.

It was Stratford's 13th win in 24 tries in the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A race. Both clubs have won three times in their six meetings.



Despite playing coach Douglas Runions' hat trick Hamilton Patricias took an 8-4 defeat from Joe Primeau's high-flying Toronto Marlboros in a Senior tilt at Maple Leaf Gardens.

In the one other Senior game, Hamilton Tigers consolidated their hold on second place with an easy 10-3 victory over the bottom-place Brantford Redmen at Hamilton.

There were no junior games.

Consistent Winner

Most consistent winning skip in Ontario women's curling history, Mrs. Leroy Woolley led her Granite Club rink to victory in the Robertson Trophy final by shading a clubmate, Mrs. T. C. Hudson 10-8 here last night. Emblematic of the ladies' single rink championship of Ontario, the Robertson Trophy was competed for at the Toronto Granite Club this week. In the consolation event, two other Granite Club rinks took to the ice. Winners were Mrs. E. M. Thompson's foursome with a 11-4 victory over a rink guided by Mrs. R. B. Woodcock.

ONE OF THEM IS IN OLYMPICS — Most husbands, so they say, have trouble enough trying to get in a word edgewise at home, but take the strange case of Mr. Warren Dow, of New York, who has been his wife's coach and tutor, and will shortly become her boss when he captains the U.S. Olympic fencing team of 1948. For the Dows, Warren and Helene, fencing is a family business. They both held crowns in 1943 when Warren won the U.S. foils championship for men and Helene won the U.S. foils title for women. Now they have another fencer coming up. He is little three-year-old Robert. Bedecked in fighting regalia, Robert handles himself with skill of polished duelist when practicing with his mother. He's really that good.

CGE And Neills Take Wins In Girls' Loop

CGE defeated Lock Co. 23-16 and Neill's won from the Kawarthas 21-14 in the Girls' Basketball League last night at the YWCA gym. They were both fast and exciting contests before a fair-sized crowd, plenty of action being served up in every quarter.

The first fixture saw the Electrics win in the first half with a hard drive which gave them a 14-5 edge over Lock Works, the latter team playing on practically even terms throughout the lively second half. The three Stewarts sparked the winners' attack, with their buddies all going well, too. Jean Johnson was best with 10 points for the losers, and Betty McIlwaine was prominent, also. The teams:

Lock Co.: D. White 1, Y. Harvey, W. Floyd 1, A. Firth, M. Knox, B. McIlwaine 4, J. Reynolds, J. McIntyre, B. Cook, J. Johnson 10.

CGE: M. Crough 2, J. Meadows, M. Kennedy, I. Stewart 12, B. Stewart 4, T. Stewart 2, M. Hendren, M. Perrin 3, Marg Perrin.

Second Game

The nightcap was a lively and well-played number with Neill's emerging on top. They only had a 10-8 edge the first half and finished a bit stronger for an 11-6 margin the second half. Neill's showed more speed afoot and this showed more to advantage during the final part of the game. Dot Callan, Jean Vass and Doreen Gilmour went best for the victors, while Marion McKee, Mamie Sullivan and Ann Metheral stood out for the other side. The teams:

Neill's: J. Vass 4, F. Floyd, D. Callan 11, M. Freeman 2, G. Davey, D. Gilmour 4, B. Jaquith, N. Crowder, E. McFadden.

Kawarthas: E. McIlhagga 1, M. Sullivan 2, J. Smith, M. McKee 4, M. Honour 2, J. O'Brien, D. McNeely 2, A. Metheral 3, H. Duncan.

Referees, W. Smith and J. Stewart; timer S. Ecobichon.

CURLING NEWS

By HERB MARTIN

Congratulations to the members of the two Fenelon Falls rinks, who yesterday swept aside all opposition to win the District Cup competition of group three of the Ontario Curling Association.

The boys from the northern town followed a provincial snow plough to Peterborough and arrived at the rink around 11.00 a.m. At one time they telephoned and said they thought that they could not get through the snow, but they finally did. In the morning game they were drawn against the Peterborough curlers and from the start took a nice lead. Peterborough tried hard to overcome the lead and when Fred Green took a big five it looked as if they might do it, but it was not to be. The Fenelon boys finished seven up.

In the afternoon game Fenelon Falls were pitted against Lindsay—one rink was well up and the other rink down. At the end of the regulation play the total scores were all even. In the extra end, Fenelon Falls came through with the extra point and that put them into the finals against Oakwood.

In the final game the Oakwood boys were no match for the Fenelon curlers and conceded the game on the 10th end.

And now for the men's big open bonspiel of next week, commencing at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Remember the mixed rink bonspiel this evening at 7.30 p.m. Light refreshments after the games.

WRESTLING RETURNS — Gentleman Jack Clayborne, pictured above, and the Masked Marvel will be the participants in the main bout when the mat stars return to the Brock Arena next Wednesday. The Marvel is rated one of the best wrestlers in action today, and also one of the most hated, and the colored flash will have his work cut out trying to pin him. This bout appears a "natural" to open the new season for the pro grapplers. Two other all-star events are being lined up.

Hollywood Has Opportunities Outside Acting

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (AP). — This town is traditionally heartbreak haven for girls, but it can also be the land of opportunity. Nowhere in the world is there as much chance for women to gain fame and fortune.

That doesn't mean you should hop the next sleeper for California, girls. The place is already crammed with disappointed femmes. But it is interesting to note the many fields in which a girl can get ahead in Hollywood.

First, of course, are film actresses, scores of whom earn four-figure weekly salaries. But a gal doesn't have to give up Hollywood if she doesn't have the face, figure or ability to be an actress.

The movie business now boasts several female producers, including Virginia Van Upp ("Together Again"), Harriet Parsons ("The Enchanted Cottage"), and Joan Harrison ("Phantom Lady"). Dorothy Arzner ("Craig's Wife") has been a successful director, although she has been inactive in recent years. (Claudette Colbert has announced that she intends to try her hand at direction.)

Husband-Helpers.

Edna Skelton Borzage and Sylvia Fine conducted their husbands to fame and still manage them, although Edna is divorced from Red Skelton and Sylvia is separated from Danny Kaye.

Famed designers, whose fashions set styles for the world, include Edith Head, Irene, Leah Rhodes, Helen Rose, Bonnie Cashin, and Mary Kay Dodson. Women compose 20 per cent of the Screen Writers' Guild.

Aside from actresses, sole female worker on movie sets is the script clerk. She promotes the performers on their lines and performs the important chore of remembering wrether the star had his cigarette in his left or right hand in the previous shot, etc. Several women are film editors, and their job of cutting can often make or break a movie.

There are many lady press agents. And there are female hair stylists, vocal coaches, and sound cutters, and even a chiropodist at MGM. Not to mention the columnists.

Chicago Out To Upset Leafs

(By The Canadian Press)

All sorts of things could happen tonight when the Toronto Maple Leafs, now second to Detroit in the National Hockey League, clash with the tail-end Chicago Hawks at Toronto.

The cellar-dwelling Hawks have been practicing on Toronto ice all week for the game against the Leafs, likewise idle for a week.

Hawks' new coach Charlie Conacher, former star of the Leafs organization, has had the Hawks in a dipsy-doodle work-out on Toronto University Arena ice for days. With five former Leafs on the Chicago line-up, and ex-Hawks Max Bentley and Cy Thomas on the Leafs roster, the game looked like a natural.

It won't have any effect on the standing, Leafs now being in second place two points behind Detroit, while the Hawks in the cellar are a full five games behind the Montreal Canadiens. But it should be a lot of fun.

The top-place Detroit Wings tonight entertain Boston Bruins, while the New York Rangers play at Montreal, whose Canadiens Wednesday held the Wings to a 1-1 tie. On Sunday they're all in action again, with Toronto at Detroit, Montreal at New York and Boston at Chicago.

The rumors of a trade involving Montreal's veteran defenceman Butch Bouchard and the Chicago Hawks seemed to have been squashed. Hawks Coach Conacher didn't know anything about it and nothing happened. For the time being the line-ups stand as they are, and even so the experts are chary of predictions.

But it remained with tonight's game in Toronto to show whether Charlie Conacher has really got the lowly Hawks starting to fly. Big Charlie has been giving the matter his closest personal attention, such as when he grabbed the stick off Jaye Stewart in yesterday's practice, split it easily across his knee and explained that it wasn't the right kind of stick. It had too much whip in it, meaning the puck was bouncing off on passes.

Maybe with a new stick, or sticks, the Hawks can whip it into the Leafs.

Scripture—Isaiah 40:28-31; Matthew 6:9; John 14:8-14; Acts 17:22-31

By Alfred J. Buescher

Philip said to Jesus, "Lord, show us the Father, and it sufficeth us. Jesus said, "Have I been so long with you and yet thou hast not known Me?"

"Believest thou not that I am the Father, and the Father in Me?" The words that I speak unto you I speak not of Myself, but the Father speaketh."

Jesus said, "After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name," and prayers offered in secret, please God, He said.

Paul stood in the midst of Mars' hill, in Athens, and told the Athenians about the living God who made all things.

MEMORY VERSE—Acts 17:25.

Church Going Established As a Christian Habit

REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus Came To Nazareth, Where He Had Been Brought Up: And as His Custom Was, He Went Into The Synagogue On The Sabbath Day. St. Luke 4; 16.

A homely story in our Lord's ministry given by St. Luke, who wrote with remarkable charm. Perhaps Our Lord had an attack of home sickness; an earnest desire to see His mother and other friends in the place where He had been brought up. On that Sabbath morning He and his disiples would pass up the street to the synagogue greeting and receiving welcomes from many; some anxious to speak to the new Prophet.

The place is full of memories. There is the little cottage where His mother taught Him His prayers; the synagogue where He learned to read and write, An illustration of Jewish ideas of education for every child.

AS HIS CUSTOM WAS HE WENT INTO THE SYNAGOGUE ON THE SABBETH DAY. Let us not forget that the Jewish sabbath began on the evening of Friday and ended on Saturday evening. It was the outward and distinct sign of the Jewish race that he believed in Jehovah. On the Sabbeth the Jew went to the synagogue to worship. Do you go to Church to worship. Undoubtedly the synagogue worship was often very dull and dry and the Rabbi very prosy. Yet they went.

You who were brought up in a country community recollect this word picture. You knew everybody, the singing was not of a high standard and the peacher was dull. "You got no good" you remarked. The preacher was not always dull and prosy. He was full of hope and enthusiasm in the early days of his ministry, but the bitter criticism and indifference killed him spiritually. Did you help towards that end? The writer speaks from an experience of thirty years in the country work. He knows how heart breaking it is. Do you go to Church to worship God? Then your heart will be full of sympathy for the preacher and he will receive your sympathy and support.

HE STOOD UP TO READ. The distinguished worshipper is invited to speak. He chooses an old Scripture which is a prophecy of Himself. He read about Himself with deep feeling. "The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me because He has appointed Ms to preach the Gospel to the poor; He hath sent Me to heal the broken hearted; to preach deliverance to the captive and recovering of sight to the acceptable year of the Lord".

The Carpenter claims that this Scripture is fulfilled in Him. It reveals that Christ is to be "A SERVANT" primarily. Service and help are the outstanding thoughts of the passage. He poured out His soul in burning words. But their hearts were filled with anger and hatred when He taught that Jehovah loves the Gentiles as well as the Jew. They cast Him out of the synagogue and tried to kill Him.

How do you feel when your minister preaches on foreign missions? Would you cast him out of the Church or do you drop a nickel on the plate with the inward thought "I do not believe in foreign congregation who cast out the Lord Christ Himself. Are you rejecting. "The Word made Flesh, who came to reveal the Father and save us for the uplifting of man kind, Are you rejecting His command:—"Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature".

GOD HATH MADE OF ONE BLOOD ALL THE NATIONS OF MEN.

DR. A. W. TRUEMAN, President of Manitoba University, has been appointed to head the University of New Brunswick, it was announced yesterday. Dr. Trueman succeeds Fisheries Minister Gregg as president of the university, and a meeting has been called in Winnipeg to find a successor to him. The 45-year-old native of Waverley, Pa., has been president of the western university since 1945 when he relinquished the post of superintendent of schools at Saint John, N.B., which he had held for three years.

Mars' Hill," and addressed them.

"Ye men of Athens," he began, and then went on to tell them that as he entered the city, he had noticed an alter erected to "the unkown god." "Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship. Him declare I unto yon," he said.

God made the world and all things therin, and "seeing that He is Lord of Heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands:

"Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though He needed anything, seeing He giveth to all life, and breath, and all things.

"And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation. . . .

"For in Him we live, and move, and have our being: as certain of your own poets have said. For we are also His offspring." And as we are the offspring of God, we should not think of God as "like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device" —such as the statues of men and gods abounding in Athens.

God is Love, we are His children, and He our Father.

Paul from Thessalonica to Athens, famous city which was considered the seat of knowledge and learning, because they feared for his safety.

In Athens he had disputed with the Jews in the synagogue and "certain philosophers" brought him to the Areopagus, and asked him to tell them of this new gospel.

What We Know About God

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for January 11 is Isaiah 40:28-31; Matthew 6:9; John 8:14; Acts 17:22-31, the Memory Verse being Acts 17:25, He . . . giveth to all life, and breath, and all things.")

What do we know about God? We know Him through His wondrous works in nature; in the goodness in men, and above all through Jesus Christ, who for the first time called Him Our Father.

Are there any more inspiring and life-giving words in the world than those uttered by Isaiah, many years before Christ came to the earth, and when Isaiah was prophesying His coming?

"Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? There is no searching of His understanding.

"He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might He increaseth strength.

"Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall:

"But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

Young, middleaged and old persons all grow weary at times and feel they cannot go on with their many tasks. At such times, if they are quiet for a time, and pray for God's strength, it will come to them, and they too shall "run and not be weary," and "walk and not faint."

How to Pray

From the Sermon on the Mount we quote what Jesus said about our prayers to our Father in Heaven. First, He said that if we prayed in secret, God would reward us openly. And after this manner, therefore, pray ye: "Our Father, which are in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name," Our Father, you see—Father to every one of us.

Even those close to Jesus, who were with Him day after day, seemed not to realize how near they were to the Father while He was with them. Not until His death and resurrection did they realize it. John tells us that Philip said to Jesus: "Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us."

Jesus was grieved and answered him, "Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known Me, Philip? he that hath seen Me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, shew us the Father?

He promised them also that if they believed this that they would do great work—"and greater works than these (that He had done) shall He do; because I go to the Father." This was on the very last night that Jesus was with them on earth.

Now we come to a scene some years later, when Paul was spreading the Gospel of Jesus in many lands. People were troubled because there was a rumor that there was another king than Caesar, namely a person named Jesus. The brethren had sent

Kiwanis Lieut.-Governor Instals Officers For 1948

Peterborough Kiwanis Club held its inaugural meeting at the Empress Hotel Friday, when the new Lieutenant-Governor, Bruce Lattimer of Belleville, officiated at the installation. Immediately after the luncheon the outgoing president, Denny Fitzgerald, turned over the meeting to the Lieutenant-Governor, who said, "You have earned a most enviable reputation and have twice won the Lieutenant-Governor's award. I feel that I must pass a special note of praise to President Denny on the fine year he has had.

"There are two outstanding accomplishments the club has sponsored during his term of office and I speak of the musical festival and the Jackson Park project. Your work for the underprivileged children calls for the highest commendation, and then you are to be praised for your having again undertaken the work of the Sea Cadet movement. Other projects that you have reason to be proud of are the Sports Field Day, the vocational guidance work, and the work of the inter-club committee in building up the good fellowship in the community and putting into effect the meaning of Kiwanianship."

In addressing the outgoing president, the Lieutenant-Governor emphasized that although he was going out of office in the matter of leading the executive, a by-law says that the past president shall remain in the club as ex-officio, in order to give to the newly elected president his aid and counsel.

The Lt. Governor then addressed the board of directors and charged them with their several duties. Tom Roger, the newly-elected treasurer, was introduced to the board as was Ernie Bartlett, and both likewise given an outline of what was expected of them. The two vice-chairmen, Vince McCabe and Jack Allen were then addressed by the Lt. Governor, who charged them to give their every co-operation to the newly-elected president.

Addressing President Ted Pridham, the Lt. Governor said: "This is the highest honor Kiwanis can give you, and I know that you will serve your term with distinction and with your leadership enable this club to carry out its many projects which mean so much to the good of the community," he said.

Wilson Gemmel spoke a few words of thank to the Lt. Governor.

President Pridham added his thanks and said that it was an honor indeed to wear the President's pin. "This pin is the same one as was worn by the first president of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club and it has been worn by each succeeding president since," he said. The president then expressed his thanks to Past President Denny Fitzgerald for the help and guidance that he had given him during the preceding year.

"I only hope that at the expiration of my term of office I may feel that I too have accomplished as much for Kiwanis. We have many projects to carry out and it will take a lot of money, but I do feel that with the Ways and Means Committee under the leadership of Bill Garner, we shall achieve what we have set out to do."

On behalf of the executive, 1st Vice-President Vince McCabe assured the new president that he would be given the whole-hearted support of every member of the club.

Hit By Train Driver Escapes

Clare O'Toole, RR 6, Peterborough, had a narrow escape from a serious accident when he was struck by a train on the CNR tracks on Lock St. 2.30 Friday afternoon.

The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer Harold Mesley, who reports that O'Toole was driving north on Lock St. when he saw a train backing up. O'Toole applied his brakes but owing to the icy condition of the road was unable to stop his car. Seeing that he could not pull up in time, he stepped on the gas hoping to get across the tracks before the train passed. The train caught the rear left side of his car turning him around and the car came to rest on the south side of the tracks.

O'Toole's car suffered considerable damage, the rear left body was badly crumpled, the trunk damaged and the tail lights torn off. The running board was stripped off and the front left fender was crumpled. O'Toole suffered no injury apart from shock.

He left their employ when the plant was closed.

New Executive To Discuss Revival Of 'Ex'

Revival of the Peterborough Exhibition will be left in the hands of the incoming executive as proposed at the meeting Friday night of the directors. The annual meeting will be held Thursday, Jan. 22 in the city council chamber at 2 p.m., and according to sentiment expressed last night the future of the Exhibition, at least for 1948, will probably be decided there.

Opinion of veteran directors is simply, that if nothing is done this year, it will mean further delay and weakness of purpose. "If we can't restore the exhibition, let somebody be appointed who can." That was a dominant sentiment of the board.

They are also interested in the Ald. Dodds move for a secondary rink, and could put money into it, but they say that the city would have to contribute to the necessary fund, and some doubt was expressed as to whether that could be legally done.

The important decision was to arrange for the annual meeting, call out everybody who is interested in bringing the Exhibition back to life and is willing to do the spade work necessary to get it rolling again after the long wartime suspension.

The Board showed its interest in agricultural affairs by making a grant of $200 to the Quinte District Seed Fair which is to be held here in March, and is already acquiring the name "Farmers Week."

MAIN ST. TOPICS

HEATING UNIT WORKING

A new heating unit has been installed in the Richard Hall Co. store on George St. When the old unit broke down the city lent a boiler to the store, but it has been taken away now and the new heating system has been working since Tuesday.

MADOC MAN PROMOTED

W. J. Rupert, a native of Madoc, has been appointed assistant superintendent of the Belleville division of the CNR. In the company's employ since 1922, he served in many Ontario centres, including Lindsay. He served overseas during the last war.

BRRR ! !

The mercury slid to five below in the city last night, and was still hovering at that chilly depth at nine o'clock this morning, causing much stamping of feet, brrr-ing and grrr-ing among the people on their way to work. The weatherman, with small sympathy, lists tonight and tomorrow as: "Colder."

WANT 300 HOMES

Belleville Council has voted that negotiations be entered as soon as possible with the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for the construction of 300 houses, within the city limits. The houses would be constructed on township property to be annexed to the city.

STALLED ON GEORGE ST.

Yesterday afternoon saw a two-block lineup from Simcoe to Brock along George street while busses, cars and trucks lined up with more-or-less patience for nearly five minutes. The trouble was a heavy transport truck at the Simcoe corner, having difficulty jack-knifing itself around the snow-bank-narrowed corner.

TWO ALARMS GIVEN

Firemen were twice called out in the early hours of this morning. At 12.20 a.m. an alarm came from the curling rink at 216½ Charlotte St. when ammonia fumes were detected leaking from the freezing system. At 6.12 a.m. overheated furnace pipes resulted in a small fire at the residence of G. Daley, 439 George St., causing slight damage.

Two New Members Of 25-Year Club

Irene Conroy, George St., and Thomas J. Sarginson, Lafayette Ave., are the latest additions to the Canadian General Electric Co. Quarter Century Club. In line with a new policy announced by Works Manager I. F. McRae, these two received their Q.C.C. buttons as soon as they became eligible instead of waiting for the annual meeting for the presentation.

Now entering her 26th year of continuous service Miss Conroy started in the Armature department, and later went to Induction Motor department where she has remained.

A World War I veteran Mr. Sarginson farmed for two years after his discharge and then joined the Punch Press department at C.G.E. Since 1942 he has been working in the Mechanical department under Alf Spicer.

NOTHING MORE CAN BE DONE — A volunteer who aided survivors of the crash, his work done, views the piled bodies of the victims of the DC-3 airliner which crashed into Savannah river marshes near Savannah, Ga., killing 17 persons. Nine other persons were seriously injured in the crash. The aircraft was on a chartered flight from Newark, N.J., to Miami, Fla., when the accident took place.

Urge Kiwanians To Form A Junior Club

"If we are to hold the position in the world that the Dominion of Canada can be proud of, then we must teach the youth of the country to legislate, and to legislate wisely, said Everett Fairman, Belleville, when giving a short address on "What is a Key Club" at the Kiwanis inaugural meeting at the Empress Hotel Friday noon.

Mr. Fairman was the Chairman for the Key Clubs last year and accompanying him at the Kiwanis luncheon was the president of the Belleville Key Club, Jack Kuntze of Belleville Collegiate. "This is a newely formed club", said Mr. Fairman, and though these clubs are little known, this one is fast gaining publicity in Belleville and district, and is receiving very gratifying support for the work that it intends doing during the coming year.

Junior Service Club

A Key club is in the main a junior service club. The idea was first sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and in reality it is a junior Kiwanis Club. Membership to a Key club is limited to the key or leading students of a high school. There are in any high or collegiate schools several clubs; one finds a camera club, a literary club, a sports club, a dramatic and arts club and a debating club. There is no doubt that in their way these clubs do a lot of good within the confines of the school's activities, but they do not lend themselves to supporting any welfare to the community.

The Key Club was therefore given birth, and in Belleville the boys are members of the Belleville Collegiate. It was mentioned at the Kiwanis Club luncheon on Friday that the Principal of this Collegiate admitted that there were 13 clubs in his school but none of them contributed to the welfare of the community in the spirit of a service club.

"The Belleville Key Club", said Mr. Fairman has several projects they are working on at present. It is good to see these boys conducting their own committees in such a business-like manner, and without any help from their elders. The boys are taught to legislate among themselves. If we are to hold the position in the world, that this Dominion of Canada can be proud of, then we must teach the youth of the country to legislate and to legislate wisely.

"The Key Clubs will create a feeling of service, of fellowship, to the community and to the school to which it may belong. Another of their projects is to meet new students that may come to their school, make them feel at home and do all they can to assist them in the spirit of fellowship and brotherhood while they are at that school."

At the present Peterborough has no Key Club but it is hoped that in the near future a junior Kiwanis Club in the form of a Peterborough Key Club will be formed. The student severs his connection with the club when he graduates from school.

CGE Cobourg Plant Now In Production

The Cobourg plant of the CGE, completed recently, has now started operation on a limited scale, it is reported in Cobourg newspapers. Headed by Ray Pogue, well-known veteran foreman of the Peterborough plant, a number of men from the city plant are taking over the work of training female workers for the full production stage, which will not be reached until mid-summer. The press reports state that girls hired to date have been proving satisfactory.

The plant will be finishing and packing electrical plugs, plug-in receptacles and plates which are moulded in the Peterborough works before being sent on.

Have 'No Place' As Artists In World of Culture Says Distinguished Painter

"Canadians occupy no place in the world of painters today," said Mr. R. York Wilson, ARCA, of Toronto, as he opened an address to the Women's Art Association Friday afternoon in the YWCA. Mr. Wilson, who is a painter of exceptional ability, and a Canadian, is serving his second year as president of Ontario Society of Artists.

"No recognition has been given Canadian artists," continued the speaker. "If you wished me to tell you of their achievements and the manner in which they have been received in other countries, my address would end right now." Before continuing with a review of facts learned through a search for reasons for the oversight, Mr. Wilson showed groups of paintings by American and Canadian artists, done during the period from 1800 to the present day. An unbiased audience could not fail to find them comparable, and there are many who believe the latter group has a decided edge.

Not One Canadian

However, Mr. Wilson found 12 of the 18 American artists represented listed in the New Standard Encyclopedia of Art and not one Canadian appeared. For a fair comparison he chose American, George Bellows, and Canadian Frederick Varley, both being in the same age group, and painters of portraits, landscape and subject pictures. For confirmation he sought the opinion of five prominent artists and all agreed the work of the two men is on the same level. Research showed that six full-length books have been written on Bellows; and he has been featured in 21 other books. In addition numerous lengthy articles on him have appeared in important magazines and publications and he is constantly receiving mention. On the other hand, Varley, the Canadian, may have been occasionally mentioned in periodicals, but no other reference was found.

Essential reason for the difference appears to be that Varley is unfortunate enough to be a Canadian. Since Canadian exhibitions get a very favourable reception in United States, and when taken to South America, there were sufficient writings to make up in book form, it is reasonable indeed to conclude the works are of the same standard.

Possible Reason

With quotations from several well-known critics, Mr. Wilson showed his listeners a possible reason why Canadian artists are ignored. In spite of hordes of tourists who visit us each year, there is still a belief throughout the world that Canadians are Indians or possibly half-breeds who buy only at the Hudson Bay trading post, and that law and order is maintained by mounted policemen.

"A further reason" said Mr. Wilson "is that our Canadian artists are not taken seriously in our own country and few of them are widely known." On a show of the best Canadian paintings, only 30 lines of comment appeared in a prominent newspaper. "Nor do they get government support as is given in some countries, such as England" the speaker continued. "Only five men in Canada are able to earn their living by painting, yet if we buy Canadian paintings we know we are not receiving frauds."

No Laws to Protect Artists

"There are no laws in Canada to protect artists, and only going concerns can get backing." Mr. Wilson feels something must be done to increase the value of Canadian paintings and put them on a world basis, but it requires a lot of effort and the Women's Art Association can do a great deal to assist.

A fine collection of paintings, property of the OSA, were shown on the screen at the conclusion of his talk, and Mr. Wilson made brief comments.

Mrs. N. D. Seaton, chairman, thanked the speaker, also Mrs Quirt McKinney who operated the projector and Mr. Wm. Graff for bringing and setting up the screen. Tea was served by the social committee.

Mail Delivery By Carrier For South-End

Mail delivery in the annexed McKellar district will be in operation within ten days, if present plans can be effected as scheduled. Charles Lacheur, postmaster, stated that authorization for the extension of the delivery service has been received from the Post Office Department, Ottawa.

There are 261 houses in the new delivery area at present. At least one, Howden Avenue, will have more homes built in the near future.

Arndon Avenue, as yet not developed, will be included in the service when it is built up, if postal regulations regarding roadway, numbering of houses and setting up letter boxes.

One carrier will be handling the new route, Mr. Lacheur said. There will be the usual twice-a-day service given to other city residential sections.

The new area includes: Braidwood Ave., Rose Ave., King George St., Hamilton St., McKellar St., Monaghan Rd., Park St., Wilson St., Jane St., Herman St., Hurley St., Dennis St., Howden Ave.

Car Damaged By Tow Truck

Maurice Hughes, Monaghan Road, driving a wrecking truck on Aylmer Street Friday evening, struck a car driven by Eldon J. Todd, 271 Brown Street, resulting in much damage to the car.

Police Constables A. Edmison and Douglas Farthing investigated and their report shows that Todd was travelling south on Aylmer. He was going to make a right hand turn, and due to the snow on the side of the road turned slightly to the left before making the turn. Hughes, driving the wrecking truck and coming up behind Todd, said that he thought Todd was going to turn left, so he (Hughes) tried to pass Todd on the right, resulting in his crashing into the car.

The truck received no damage but Todd's car had the right door badly scraped, and the front fender torn and badly crumpled.

Record Shows Third Party Not Formidable

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—What chance has the third party candidae, Henry A. Wallace, to upset the United States Presidential election?

Nobody really knows now, but the record shows that of the three most formidable third party candidates in the past—all ex-Presidents—only one polled enough votes to influence an election.

Republican Theodore Roosevelt Progressive Party candidate in 1912, divided the normally Republican vote with President William H. Taft. That ensured an election victory for Democrat Woodrow Wilson.

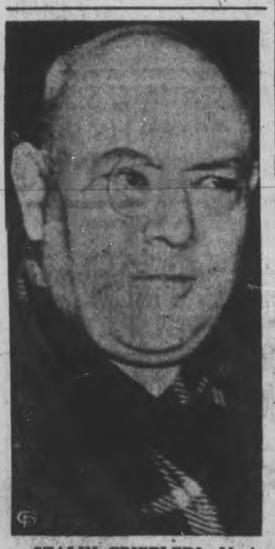
Democrat Martin Van Buren, President from 1837 to 1841, ran as the Free Soilers candidate in 1848, but failed to get any electoral votes. The Free Soil Party was composed of Democrats and Whigs who opposed the extension of slave territory.

Whig Millard Fillmore, who stepped up to the Presidency from Vice-President when Zachary Taylor died in 1850, was the Presidential nominee of the American, or Know Nothing Party in 1856. Fillmore got the eelctoral vote of only one state in the race with victorious Democrat James Buchanan and Republican John Fremont.

The Know Nothings were a formidable third party in the early 1850s, electing several Congressmen and Governors. Their main object was "to secure the government for genuine native Americans" and to resist the elleged political power of aliens and Roman Catholics.

Originally Secret.

The name derived from the silence of party members concerning the organization. The party, originally a secret association was organized as "The Supreme Order of the Star-Spengled Banner."



Senator Robert M. Lafollette, Sr., left the Republican Party in 1924 to run for the President as a Progressive. His platform advocated farm relief and public ownership of railways.

Lafollette captured the 13 electoral votes of his own state, Wisconsin. But President Calvin Coolidge was re-elected easily.

Until Wallace's candidacy this year, the most recent third party movement was William Lemke's race as nominee of the Union Party in 1936. The late President Roosevelt's lead over Republican nominee Alfred M. Landon was so overwhelming that the vote for Lemke, a North Dakota Republican, made no difference.

Australian Recruiting Lags Have To Keep Interim Army

By LESLIE BRODIE

SPDNEY, Jan. 10 — (CP). — The recruiting program for Australia's permanent army has been so unsatisfactory that the Government has been forced to retain the interim army as a major part of the country's military defence for an indefinite period. The army director of public relations, in announcing this change of policy, said that the Government had decided to re-enlist interim personnel for another two years instead of progressively discharging them.

Present plans call for a citizen force of 50,000 men, plus the regular standing army of 19,000. But since recruiting began for the regular army last August, less than 300 men a month have volunteered despite the lowering of age, medical and intellectual standards and huge 'glamor' publicity shows put on by the army.

Strength of the regular army now is only 4,100 men. Interim army strength is 21,000, of whom 10,000 are serving with the British Commonwealth occupational force in Japan.

All these men should have been discharged by August of this year.

Determine Policy

Prime Minitser Chifley last night concluded a three-day series of discussions with defence chiefs in Melbourne which, it is believed, will determine the general defence policy of Australia for some years.

The Sydney Morning Herald, commenting on the fall-down of recruiting plans and the disquieting knowledge of the country's leisurely defence program, says "upon this country now revolves the primary empire role in the Pacific and the Far East."

"In collaboration with New Zealand and South Africa, Australia today is charged with the security of the immense area formerly policed by the Royal Navy—but unless the defence plan is drastically reviewed, Australia will be in no position to meet her obligations for a long time to come."

Doesn't Like Appeals From Speaker's Ruling

MONTREAL, Jan. 10—(CP)—Dr. Gaspard Fauteux, Speaker of the House of Commons, last night expressed the belief that there should be no appeals from the Speaker's ruling in Commons.

Dr. Fauteux, who recently returned from England where he studied British parliamentary procedure, told the young men's section of the Board of Trade that in Canada a member ruled out of order by the Speaker had the right to appeal the decision but in England no such appeals were made.

In outlining his duties, Dr. Fauteux disclosed that he had written Jules Castonguay, chief returning officer, officially informing him of a parliamentary vacancy and ordering issuance of a warrant for a by-election.

He said he could not reveal the name of the constituency but it is known there are only two Commons vacancies—the Yale, B.C., and Ontario ridings.

Report Prosecutor Now Recuperating

TOKYO, Jan. 10—(AP)—The Japanese press today said that Joseph B. Ketenan, chief United States war crimes prosecutor, was 'recuperating" at a villa near Atami, 80 miles south of Tokyo, from his courtroom exchanges with former premier Hideki Tojo.

Keenan's office had no comment.

Keenan was reported the guest of two former Japanese premiers, Reijiro Wakatsuki and former Admiral Keisuke Okada, both of whom testified for the prosecution.

The prosecutor has not been present at the trial for two days. After his departure, Arthur Comyns Carr of Great Britain took over the prosecution during the final phase of defence testimony.

Keenan and Tojo had frequent and heated verbal exchanges.

Alberta Probes Conditions Of Juveniles

EDMONTON, Jan. 10—(CP)—Conditions existing in juvenile detention homes in Alberta were under consideration today by the provincially - appointed Royal Commission investigating welfare conditions in the province.

Yesterday E. D. Arnold, counsel for the Calgary Herald, read excerpts from articles which had appeared in that newspaper in May, 1947, dealing with conditions in the south side detention home for juvenile delinquents here.

Frank Drayton, superintendent of the Edmonton relief and child welfare department, had admittend previously he did not consider the old police station a suitable place in which to detain juveniles, but had added it had been impossible to obtain other premises at the time.

Mr. Arnold read from the Herald a report that "youngsters were penned up like animals, the place was damp and had a smell like a monkey house at the zoo."

Mr. Drayton said the place where youngsters were held was "a typical police station cell block with barred door and windows." He denied the floors were damp or that the place "smelled like a monkey house."

Earlier he said that the training school for abnormal children at Red Deer, Alta., had been overcrowded for the last five years and only when a child died was a vacancy created.

As a result of this overcrowding some children had been placed in nursing homes operated by "motherly women who are not trained nurses."

Bermuda Bans Hollywood Film

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 10 (Reuters)— Banning of the Hollywood firm "the Outlaw" Hamilton city officials following public criticism and a private viewing was expected today to result in the setting up of an official censorship in Bermuda, backed by statute.

The film came to Bermuda first in December, 1946, and was returned to the producers—United Artists — after several local groups including a Board of Education committee, had pre-viewed it.

United Artists, however, returned the film, saying the General Theatres Company, to whom they had released it, were obliged under their contract to show all films which United Artists sent them.

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 — (CP)—A spokesman for the Quebec Censorship Board today said the film "Duel in the Sun" will not be shown in Quebec Province in future, although it had already had a first run in Montreal previously.

(The film, scheduled to be shown in Sherbrooke Jan. 14, was recalled by the Board yesterday).

The Royal Bank of Canada Annual Meeting

Sydney G. Dobson, President, declares European recovery most important factor in Canada's economic life. "Should American Continent fail to provide what is necessary to save Europe, the effect on our economy would be serious." Intelligent participation in Marshall Plan will be of service to both Canada and the United States.

James Muir, General Manager, reports marked increase in commercial loans...public deposits again increase... profits improve. Royal Bank depositors now total 1,750,000. Unique service to foreign traders provided through 71 branches in foreign countries.

The vital importance of European recovery to the welfare of Canada, and the part Canada can play in restoring Europe to economic health, were stressed by Sydney G. Dobson, President of The Royal Bank of Canada, at the bank's annual meeting. "Should the American continent fail to provide what is necessary to save Europe," he said, "the effect on our economy would be serious. I mention this because it is not generally enough realized that Canada depends to the extent of 30% of her national income upon export trade. In addition it should be noted that Canada's exports to the Western European countries in the last pre-war year composed 47% of her total exports, a fact which emphasizes the importance of European recovery to the maintenance of Canada's economic health."

Mr. Dobson pointed out that Canada had already done much to help provide Europe with the necessities of life. Canadian exports to Europe in 1946 had amounted to $932 million. In the past few years Canada had provided over $2 billion worth of aid to Europe in the form of loans, credits and gifts. "However, what has been done by Canada and other countries, has not been enough," said Mr. Dobson. "Plans are under way which it is hoped will, in the course of a few years, permanently restore European economic health." The Marshall Plan, "one of the happiest suggestions ever made in international relations," and the Geneva trade agreements last November were, he said, important steps to world recovery. An intelligent programme for North American participation in the Marshall Plan would be of service to both Canada and the United States.

RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

Canada, said Mr. Dobson, had been singularly blessed by Providence. Notable progress had been made in both production and trade during recent years, and the standards of living of the Canadian people had shown marked gains. "Canada's foreign trade," he said "reached a new high total in the first ten months of 1947, ($4,435,600,000). This was made up of all kinds of goods raw and processed.

"Seventy-five years ago we exported goods to the money value of $18 per capita; in 1946 we exported goods for $184 per capita, an increase of ten times. Employment exceeded five million for the first time on record in August last. Productivity, too, is high. Canada's national income increased from $3,972 million in 1938 to $9,464 million in 1946. When translated into dollars of the same value, we find the increase to be 97 per cent, equal to an addition of $379 per person per year.

"I find that (in dollars of the same value) the personal income of Canadians has increased from $361 per capital in 1938 to $603 in 1946. The total personal expenditure on consumer goods and services amounted to $3,714 million in 1938 and $5,926 million in 1946, an increase of 60 per cent compared with our population increase of 10 per cent. This increase in the sum spent on personal consumption goods suggests a significant rise in the standard of living."

RECIPE FOR PROSPERITY

These figures, Mr. Dobson said, were gratifying and encouraging, but two dangers had to be faced to maintain present prosperity. One danger was the possibility of economic collapse in Europe. The other was inflation. "Price rises," he said, "make it more necessary than ever for us to measure our real advance in dollars of constant value. The rest of the rise in money value is for the most part the empty air of inflation. When money incomes are excessive relative to the available supply of goods, as they are now, the logical way to reduce the pressure on prices is to increase the supply of goods. We have the physical equipment to do this, but the human factor is needed; a competent workman seeking to get out of his machine the whole production of which it is capable. I believe that what I said a year ago still holds true. There are still too many people who make high wages and plentiful leisure the greatest aims of their lives; still too many who believe that less production and more pay per worker is a solid base for prosperity. This is, of course, a fallacy. An honest day's work for an honest day's pay is still a good recipe for prosperity, perhaps the only formula that will insure lower prices, a nigher standard of living, and lasting good times for all.

"Part of our current output, of course, is devoted to enlargement and replacement of plant and equipment. Necessary replacements of plant must be made, and at times expansion is essential; but a strenuous effort must be made to limit non-economic expansion of construction. Much construction is going forward now at costs so high that only continuous property at present levels can make it pay.

CONSERVATION NEEDED

"Canada's present prosperity, which is spread so widely in our nation, is based upon the development of Canada's natural resources.

"Agriculture, because it supplies the basic need of men for food, is of highest importance.

"This source of livelihood for farmers and of revenue for the country is worth preserving. It is becoming recognized that the fertility of our soil is not everlasting. Fortunately Canada has an opportunity to apply measures of conservation rather than of reclamation. We must not wait for 'dust bowls' to form, or for prairie farms to be buried in sand.

"The same need for conservation is found in our forest resources. More than 27 per cent of the value of our exports stems from our forests.

"Better protection and improved cutting practices have contributed in recent years toward preservation of our forest wealth, but there is still a very heavy annual loss from fire and insects which should be substantially reduced. Forest conservation is a 'must'.

"There can be no better example of newly created wealth than that of our mining industry. Forty years ago the total dollar value of our mine production in a year was $42 million; in ten years it had become $108 million; in the peak year 1941, it had reached $395 million. The mines have added to Canada's wealth some $12 billion since mining statistics were first kept.

"Not much is heard in Canada about our fisheries, athough they give employment to 85,000 persons in the primary and processing branches, and the investment in them amounts to $75 million.

"Development of hydro electric power in the last forty years has been rising sharply and consistently. Our present installations, producing 10¼ million horsepower, place us second only to the United States in development of water power, and as yet only 20 per cent of our potential power has been developed.

FREEDOM OF ENTERPRISE

"It is only right to say at this point that the greatest advances in well-being for their people have been made in countries like our own where freedom of enterprise has been allied to natural resources. The restrictive trade practices of so-called 'planned' economies deprive the world of that freedom of development, and expansion of business, and free interchange of goods which alone can bring decent living conditions on a wide scale.

"It is significant that in all the world the only countries to which Europe can turn for effective help are these two democracies of America, free-enterprise countries. It is obviously not we who are unstable, but the totalitarian countries. It is not we who are depressed, but the totalitarian countries. It is not we who are short of production of the things people need to live, but the totalitarian countries.

"It would, however, be very wrong to be complacent. Progress depends upon our keeping our freedom, and how much freedom business shall keep, and how long it will last, depend upon our ability to recognize, understand and meet our obligations to the nation as a whole. It should be our objective to show that free enterprise is the only economic system in the history of the world flexible enough to change in keeping with the needs of its people. At the same time it is the only economic system in the history of the world that has ever brought about great stability, and advancement of the standard of living of the people living under it."

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

In presenting the bank's 78th Annual Report, Mr. James Muir, General Manager, reported that the bank's total assets now stood at $2,093,641,218.61 and that liquid assets constituted 74% of the bank's liabilities to the public.

"One feature of this year's balance sheet is the marked increase in commercial loans in Canada," said Mr. Muir. "This item is $126,138,687.47 large than a year ago, reflecting an experience common to all banks. The reason for it is the very high level of business activity, the expansion of production facilities, the increased volume of goods on hand, and, of course, the influence of higher prices. It takes more dollars than it did a year ago to conduct a comparable amount of business. As a consequence, the amount of commerical borrowings represents a substantial sum, and I think I may say in passing that I do not view a rapid and large increase in bank loans with equanimity.

"The number of personal loans made during the year continue large. These are principally in the $500 and under category, where, in fact, the number of new loans totalled one hundred and fifty-five thousand. When one considers the high volume of these personal loans from banks, plus the substantial business of personal loan and allied companies, all at a time when there is full employment and high wages, the thought occurs that perhaps a living-beyond-one's-means policy is abroad. If so, it is unhealthy."

Mr. Muir pointed out that there had been an increase of $33,654,989. in the bank's public deposits and that total deposits stood at $1,934,185,849. He reported that the number of depositors continued to expand and now totalled over one and three quarter million.

PROFITS

"It will have been satisfactory for you to learn that the profits were $1,818,132.96 higher than in the preceding year," he said. "The amount required for government taxes was $2,850,000, after deduction of which there remained $5,874,519.46 from the year's operations. Dividends required a disbursement of $2,975,000 and depreciation on bank premises amounted to $892,687.01. After providing for all of the foregoing charges, there is a residue of $2,006,832.47 in Profit and Loss Account, leaving a carry-forward of $3,474,246.55."

71 BRANCHES ABROAD

The important role played by the branches of The Royal Bank of Canada in foreign countries in providing facilities for foreign traders was stressed by Mr. Muir.

"Over a long period of years our activity in foreign countries has been an outstanding feature of our service to Canadian business. We have expanded in keeping with the progress of the foreign country and the development of Canada's external trade. The result is that The Royal Bank of Canada is very much integrated with the commercial life of many nations and has become for their business men a real and attractive symbol of Canada.

"Last year I made reference to the unique position we occupy regarding our branches abroad and I believe it bears repeating, because it is our belief that there is no adequate substitute for direct representation by our own trained organization, experienced in Canadian ways and fully informed by close liaison of the needs and offerings of Canadian businessmen.

"Apart from world-wide relations with banking houses, we have seventy-one branches outside of Canada. There is a constant flow of information regarding market and general conditions from these branches to a central department at our Head Office in Montreal, and similar information reaches us from correspondents throughout the world where we do not operate branches of our own. This, you will appreciate, enables us to furnish a highly efficient, unmatched and valuable service to exporting and importing clients."

TRIBUTE TO STAFF

A warm tribute to the staff for their splendid co-operation and service, and devotion to the welfare of the business in which they were engaged was voiced by Mr. Muir;

"I have reason to hope that our personnel know of the high regard in which they are held," he said.

"I have never come across in all my years of contact with other business institutions, a staff more earnest, more devoted to the welfare of the business with which they were associated, or more conscious of their important place in the economy of the nation. A good banker must be part accountant, financier, diplomat, lawyer and economist, and above all he must be a human being with the ability to understand his fellow men. I am proud to say that the staff of this bank, with all these necessary qualities, has also the spirit of teamwork which is so essential to happy relations, and which counts so much in the fine results of the year's activity.

"The staff of the bank numbers in excess of 10,400—more than half of whom are women. They have done a splendid job throughout the year. We are grateful to them and commend them highly to you."

Marmora Urged To Stress Tourist Business

MARMORA, Jan. 10 — (ENS. — A dinner meeting of Marmora district Chamber of Commerce was held Thursday evening, A. F Fraser president, made a few remarks. He touched briefly on the business arising at executive meetings and welcomed two guests, Reg. Bousfield, former member of a Toronto Board of Trade, and Frank Long of Port Hope, brother of Capt. Herbert Long, guest speaker. The latter was then introduced to the gathering by Lt. Col. A. V. Yates.

Capt. Long, president of the Port Hope Board of Trade, in his opening remarks, expressed the opinion that Marmora, like many another municipality, had kept itself rather in the dark. He then explained that the Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce were virtually the same thing. The one was of English origin and the other of American origin. He pointed out that it is better to work for the welfare of a community in the group system rather than as an individual. More public spirit was enthused thereby. He added it was important to have an extremely capable executive to control the activities of a Chamber of Commerce because of its wide functioning. The secretary, he maintained had the weight of the organization on his shoulders. He cited the Board of Trade at Port Hope in illustration of how such a body could work in unison with the Council and outlined methods to be employed to obtain such unity in any community. Next he emphasized the need of each Chamber of Commerce affiliating with headquarters and mentioned campaigns such as the courtesy campaign which headquarters suggests and furthers as well as the surveys which it carries out.

Capt. Long then made suggestions for the local organization to put into effect. One was the setting up of an active tourist bureau. He fel the Marmora Chamber should concentrate on the tourist angle and push it. He stressed the importance of the various committees which work for the success of a Chamber. He said he was keenly imbued with the need of a Chamber of Commerce in each community. It definitely takes an anti-communistic attitude, he pointed out in closing remarks.

A vote of thanks was accorded Capt. Long upon motion of R. E Bonter.

Reports of committees were then presented.

Major Percy Gray told of the success of the Santa Claus parade. James Shannon, for the membership committee, advised the gathering that up to that moment there were 60 paid up members.

H. A. McNally read the constitution and by-laws of the newly organized Chamber for ratification by those present. The following motion was then moved by F. R. Wells and seconded by F. Loveless "That the following be the executive and board of directors of "The Marmora District Chamber of Commerce" for the year 1948.

President Alex Fraser, vice-president Irwin McCoy, treasurer, H. R. Pearce, secretary R. E. Neal, directors H. A. McNally, H. A. Burwash, C. H. Buskard, H. J. Neath, G. Forestell, D. P. Marett, J. L. Shannon, W. Bonter, R. E. Bonter, W. Barlow, A. V. Yates.

Under general business it was decided that the executive be empowered to arrange for a slogan. It was further decided that dinner meetings be held once a month with a summer recess, with the executive given the option to call extra meetings when found necessary.

Sport Editors' Biggest Thrill Dominion Final

By JACK MITCHELL

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP). — A story-book struggle from start to end, the 1947 Dominion football final that was won and lost on the last play of the game gave Canadian sports editors their biggest thrill of the sport year.

Twenty of the 25 editors who participated in a year-end poll conducted by The Canadian Press voted thrill-of-the-year honors to the memorable battle unfolded at Toronto's Varsity Stadium Nov. 29, when Winnipeg Blue Bombers won new glory for the West in bowing, 10-9, to Toronto Argonauts.

Three of the remaining five editors chose Barbara Ann Scott's international triumph in winning the world figure skating crown at Stockholm in February.

The other two divided in their choices—one selecting the winning of the Stanley Cup by Toronto Maple Leafs from Montreal Canadiens last April and the other giving top mention to the upset victory by Calgary Stampeders that forced a third and deciding game with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in their Western Canada football final.

Argued For Years

In the Dominion final, with Winnipeg still leading 9-7 late in the third quarter, there came the play that will be argued for years —the Bombers' bold strike for a touchdown with a forward pass off a fake placement that was called back when the officials ruled the pass was taken illegally.

From then on it was a fight against time as Argos struck for three single points to win the Grey Cup for the third straight time. The winning point, booted by Joe Krol almost at the final whistle after Winnipeg's abortive gamble for a first down in their own end, wrung out the last bit of drama.

In the 1946 poll, first ranking was awarded to the Memorial Cup series in which Winnipeg Monarchs upset Toronto St. Michael's for junior hockey honors.

Pucksters Think Good Fight Best Way To Show Aggressiveness

By WILFRED GRUSON

TORONTO, Jan. 10—(CP).—Ostensibly on the assumption that a fight on the ice is as good a way as any to show their aggressiveness, that characteristic which coaches demand among other things in a hockey player in these days of high-powered competition, a good number of pucksters today don't hesitate to pick on the least little thing to precipitate a free-for-all. The frequency of the number of free-for-alls in the game nowadays has reached the point where many a fan heads for a hockey game hoping above anything else that one will break out and that a near riot will develop.

Such just about occurred in Cleveland last week in an American Hockey League tilt between the Western division - leading Pittsburgh Hornets and the fourth-place Cleveland Barons. The turbulent game, in which 17 penalties were handed out altogether, reached its high pitch in the third period with a Donnybrook that eventually involved nearly all the players, spectators and, according to Pittsburgh manager Johnny Mitchell, "about 25 policemen."

Before it all ended Pittsburgh Coach Bob Davidson, a none-too-boisterous defenceman and forward in his hockey-playing days with the Toronto Maple Leafs, was tossed out of the rink on his ear by the cops. And the whole thing started, according to Mitchell who related the story to Jim (Toronto Globe and Mail) Vipond, because of a red tie.

The story goes back to Christmas when Cleveland owner Al Sutphin presented all his players and rink employees with red ties. This popped into Davidson's mind when he decided to let Referee Hugh McLean of Hamilton know what he thought of the way he was handling the game.

Ordered From Bench.

The Pittsburg coach believed his club was getting the worst of the officiating, and he suggested to the official that he "wear a red tie." Bob didn't hesitate to repeat the remark and McLean then promptly ordered him from the bench.

This is what happened then, as related by Mitchell in his pow-wow with Vipond

"Bob sat down on a step not far from the bench and then a policeman came along and told him to move. When Bob objected, the cop man-handled him and I ran over and told him he had no right to touch our coach, and then the entire Hornet team followed me.

"In the excitement Bob was clipped on the lip and arguments developed on the ice."

At first, Mitchell told Vipond, he wouldn't allow his players to return to the ice until the police had been removed from the building, but after the heat of the battle had died down he was prevailed upon to change his mind.

The free-for-all that night is one of many involving the two teams down through the years, and, to veteran sportswriter Mike (Kingston Whig-Standard) Rodden, the one in the campaign of 1924 ranks among the best.

Mike recalled that Pittsburg, then known as the Yellow Jackets and spearheaded by "the big train," Lionel Conacher, shocked the Ohio fans by eliminating the Cleveland club right on the latter's ice and then had to fight their way to the dressing-room.

Conacher stood on the stairway that led to safety and with his stick swinging beat back the attackers and saved the situation.

Marmora Victorious Over Madoc In TVL

MARMORA, Jan. 10—(ENS)—Madoc were at home to Marmora in the Trent Valley schedule on Friday evening and in a clean game marked with no displays of temper, took a 12-2 defeat at the hands of their old rivals.

Marmora had Brooks in the nets for his first game and his performance throughout evoked admiration. Madoc used Hearns as goalie for two periods but Carswell took over in the third period when the score stood 7-1 in Marmora's favor.

The winners opened the scoring when only fourteen seconds had elapsed, Cousins registering on an assist from E. Leonard. After five minutes of play Nickle equalized. In a scramble shortly before the period closed, Earl Leonard put his team ahead again. In the second period K. Trumble starred for the visitors getting three goals. The brothers Leonard got a goal apiece to bring the score to 7-1. In this period Earl Leonard retired hurt for the remainder of the game.

The third period opened with Cousins scoring unassisted. Reynolds shortly afterwards netted for Madoc. Marmora however were having the best of play at this juncture and K. Trumble, Cousins, Goodchild and E. Trumble beat Carswell in turn before the game ended.

Stewart, Kellar, Baker and Nickle played hard games for the losers who may prove formidable contenders before the season closes. All the Marmora players showed up well. A good crowd witnessed the encounter. Interest centers in Marmora's home encounter with Campbellford at Madoc on Monday evening.

PCVS Cagers Hold Own With Toronto

By JOHN LEWIS

In a couple of thrilling basketball games last night, PCVS Juniors and Seniors won and tied. In the first game PCVS Junior "A" team had a wide margin on the play as they took a 54-18 win over a fairly good North Toronto outfit, while in the senior game the North Toronto boys rallied in the second half to score 22 points and the provide one of the most thrilling finishes yet seen in collegiate basketball here as they held a good PCVS senior outfit to a 29-29 final score. At the half time in each game, a six-man tumbling team from North Toronto staged an excellent display of matwork and parallel bar artistry.

In the senior game PCVS got off to a quick 5-0 start on hoops by McKee and Connell and a free throw by Connell, but from then on plenty of shots were missed, and PCI was held 5-all at quarter time. Al Lee played a steady game all through and especially in the first quarter when several missed shots disorganized the PCI'ers temporarily. The second quarter was the big one for PCVS as these classy players, most of them members of last fear's junior Cossa winners, rapped in six field goals, two by Connell, two by Welsh and one each by McKee and Hugh Dibben, while holding North Toronto to two foul shots by Carr, making a half-time score of 17-7. North Toronto's high scorer of the game was put off in the final frame with five fouls, but he wasn't the only guilty one, as there was a total of 38 fouls in this game. However action was fairly fast.

In the third quarter PCI was held to two baskets, one each by Al Lee and Hugh Dibben, as the visitors got baskets by Pogue, Carr and Boynton, and two foul shots by Bell, to push the count to 21-15. Then, in the last frame, Henry rapped in two baskets and then one by Boynton. McKee scored a foul shot and Carr's field goal tied it up 22-all. Then North Toronto took the lead on a basket by Montgomery, but McKee came right back to tie it up at 24-all. Carr's foul shot put them one up, then Connell came in to score a basket and a foul shot, but Carr's free throw left them only one point down 27-26. Then Carr went out for fouls, and Connell tried a foul shot and missed. PCI made only four out of 23 free throws, as North Toronto made nine out of 21. Pogue's basket put the visitors one up again 28-27. Then Connell tried another foul shot, and made it tying up the game. Then another foul shot missed by Field. After a time a double fould pitted Field against Al Lee. Field missed and Al Lee scored making it 29-28 for PCI. Then just before the final whistle Montgomery was successful in tying up the game with a foul shot.

PCVS Sr. "A" (29)—Connell 11, Lee 3, McKee 7, Welsh 4, Richardson, Hugh Dibben 2, Dave Dibben 2, Morrisson.

Junior Tilt

The junior game was PCI all the way with the visiting team never threatening. The local boys showed good passing and checking as each player turned in a fine effort. The score at the end of the first quarter was 12-3 with Griffin getting seven and Northcott five. Milne got most of his team's points with 11 out of 18 and was easily the best of the visitors. Al Northcott featured a right hand push shot from deep in the corner as he racked up 17 points to become high scorer of the night.

At half time PCI led 22-5 as North Toronto showed decided weakness under the basket. There was little scoring in the third quarter as PCI demonstrated some smooth passing plays, but in the last quarter both side really turned it on as the score rose from 29-11 at three quarter time to 54-18 at the final bell. It would be hard to pick a star among the local boys on last night play, but we would take Griffin, Northcott and Thompson.

PCVS Junior 'A' (54)—Griffin 15, Northcott 17, Thompson 13, Dinsdale 1, Grafstein 7, Sergeant 1.

Swedish Boxer Loses Verdict

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 — (CP). — Whatever hopes Sweden's Olle Tandberg might have had of dispossessing Joe Louis of his world's heavyweight boxing championship were dispersed today.

Tandberg, who built up a name by defeating Joe Baksi in Europe last summer, went through the motions last night in a dull 10-round event with Cleveland's Joey Maxim in a bout that brought forth repeated demands for actions from the "gods." Maxim was awarded the decision.

As far as last night's set-to was concerned, Jersey Joe Walcott didn't have to turn a hair as far as the No. 1 challenger was concerned.

A disappointed crowd of 10,488 persons who crowded Madison Square Garden and contributed to a gross gate of $43,670, went home with the opinion that Olle can't fight and Maxim can't punch.

The tall blonde Swede from Stockholm, who outweighed his opponent by 29 pounds, 208 to 175, exhibited nothing but a willingness to try and was handled by Maxim like a big rubber doll.

Referee Eddie Josephs and Judge George Lecron handed Maxim seven rounds and three to Tandberg while Judge Charley Shortell gave five rounds to Tandberg, four to Maxim and one even, a decision greeted with derision by the crowd.

A Canadian Press score card gave five rounds to the Cleveland fighter, two to Tandberg and three even.

Tandberg was crude and slow while Maxim hooked away with both hands, although few of his punches carried any steam, in the bout that was mainly confined to clinching and close fighting.

Currency restrictions have made it necessary to cancel the scheduled two-game, total-goal, Europe vs. North America hockey series planned for Prague Feb. 17 and 19, John Ahearne, general secretary of the International Ice Hockey Association, announced yesterday. The series was to have brought together the Canadian Olympic team, bolstered by four AHA players, and an all-star European outfit.

President Branch Rickey of Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday called on institutions of higher learning in the United States to abolish professionalism in college athletics and promised that major league baseball would keep hands off college players who remain true amateurs. He spoke before a joint session of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and various coaching groups at New York.

Felix Bocchicchio, who handles the fistic activities of Jersey Joe Walcott, hinted at Camden, N.J., yesterday the contract heavyweight champion Joe Louis signed this week to fight in New York in June might not be binding. He said Louis promised Philadelphia Herman Taylor, who made Louis an offer to appear there, that he would not agree on a date and site for his next bout before Jan. 19. "We have taken Louis at his word. We're waiting to hear from him."

Fred Ladd, Washington county welterweight, plans one more fight and then he'll retire—at 72. Ladd has performed for three generations in 331 battles and his last fight, he says, will be a six-rounder with 49-year-old Marty Dwyer at Salem, N.Y., April 6.

Dublin Players Begin Touring Eastern Canada

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (CP). — The Gate Theatre Company of Dublin arrived here this week, preparatory to a tour of Eastern Canadian cities in a repertoire of four plays which Milton Edwards, one of its directors, says are representative of at least one phase of current Irish drama.

The company of 20 actors opens in London, Ont., Jan. 15, playing there three nights. After a one-night stand in Ottawa Jan. 9 it proceeds to Montreal for the balance of that week and then is scheduled to play in Toronto for two weeks.

The repertoire includes two plays by Michael Macliammoir, co-director and a found with Edwards of the Gate Theatre which was organized 20 years ago. They are "Portrait of Miriam" and "Where Stars Walk." The company also will present Shaw's "John Bull's Other Island" and a play by Dennis Johnston, "The Old Lady Says No."

Evoking Irish Legends

For its tour the company seeks to avoid presenting "typed" Irish plays such as those by O'Casey and Singe. Instead, says Edwards, it has turned tor play which recreate some of the old Irish legends. "The Old Lady Says No" he described in an interview as a study in stagecraft. It portrays an actor in delirium who imagines he is Robert Emmet, Irish 18th century nationalist hero.

"Where Stars Walk" is a drawing room comedy based on the centuries-old Irish legend of Etain and Midhir. Etain is a Celtic Princess who is awakened from her dream world in a castle as the wife of an Irish King when a minstrel, Midhir, recalls to her by a song her old days in the world of common people and takes her back to that sphere. "Portrait of Miciam" is a modern play along classical lines, with the real plot in the mind of a man in a state of "malaise" typical of the state of the world of today at large.

Anent D'Oyly Carte

The D'Oyly Carte Opera Company of London continued to please critics and public as they continued their run of Gilbert and Sullivan operas this week with "Trial By Jury" and "The Pirates of Penzance." Next week's offering is "Iolanthe," for which Rupert D'Oyly Carte, the impresario, admits he has a slight leaning. D'Oyly Carte, who has managed the company since 1913, incidentally doesn't think that the operas are suitable for movies.

Norwood Wins Close Game 4-3

NORWOOD, Jan. 10 (ENS). — The largest crowd of the season to date packed the rink here Friday night to watch the best game of the year, between Norwood and Hastings, with Norwood eking out a 4-3 win over the ever-threatening Hastings team, which came within a breath of tying the score in the last period.

A fast-moving game, the third period saw plenty of battle, with referee John Hamblin handing out six penalties.

Outstanding for the home team were Neil Rogers, Jim Brown, B Payne, Ralph Hamilton and Bud Webb.

Spacking the visitors in the close race were Paul Pettigrew and J. Muncey.

The teams:

George St. Victors

George Street Seniors defeated Salvation Army No. 1, 4-3, in a very evenly fought game. The going was tough, as snow was falling steadily. Bruce Braund scored the winning goal and played good hockey all night. Wellwood, Vern Marshall, and Jim Marshall were the other scorers for the winners.

Slaughter shone for Salvation Army, collecting two of his team's goals. Shadgett got the other for the losers. All players on both squads worked hard in this close match.

Stirling Boys Beaten 7-4

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 10 — (ENS). — With their number one forward line accounting for six goals, the Campbellford hockey team defeated Stirling 7-4 on Friday night in a TVL game in the Davidson Arena.

In their first game the locals tied with their Norwood 11-11, but that might have been a win if Peloquin, who has set the scoring pace in the last three games, had played.

The Stirling lads fought hard, and it was a closely contested battle right to the finish. At one time in the third period it looked as if ther might be another kind of a battle when the visitors' goalie chased Hendy all the way up the ice to the Campbellford blue line and broke the goal stick over his back, and got away with neither a return blow nor a penalty.

The teams:

Stirling — Goal, Aquiano; defence, D. Bastedo, Armstrong; centre, B. Bastedo; wings, Twigg, Stapley; alternates, Desjardin, Cook, Muffitt, Pukanick, Hanna.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

A crowd of 16,000 turned out for Ellsworth Vine's professional debut at New York, 14 years ago today. He was no match, however, for 41-year-old Bill Tilden who scored a dazzling three-set victory. In 1937, Vines was humbled by England's Fred Perry in the latter's pro debut.

Randy Ellis Starring In Scotland

DUNFERMLINE, Scotland, Jan. 10.—(CP). — Scotland's scrappy eight team hockey league, made up mostly of junior age players from Canada, is producing some of the best play in years north of the Tweed and a scorching two-man battle for scoring honors has keyed up interest.

Scottish-born Al (Squirt) Gordon, who learned most of his hockey around Toronto, holds a five-point lead over Randy Ellis, born in Lindsay, Ont., and the "experts" call Ellis to finish the season in the number one slot. He is tabbed as the fastest and most dangerous player in the circuit.

Gordon, Ayr Raiders' centre, has compiled a total of 73 points from 29 goals and 44 assists, but Ellis, who plays centre with Dunfermline Vikings, has found his shooting eye and is coming up fast. He has 68 points—44 goals and 24 assists.

Gordon, who is playing his second season in Scotland, has headed the scoring parade since the 1947-48 season opened last September, but if Ellis keeps up his recent form it is likely that he will take over the leadership.

One of the oldest players in the league at 24, Ellis, who is a non-smoker and a non-drinker, was lost in the pack behind the pacesetter early in December. But he has been getting three or four goals a game lately and now is ranked as probably the best centre man in England and Scotland.

Jack Thaler, 19, who went to Paisley Pirates from Oshawa Generals last season, is third in the scoring list with 58 points, one better than Al Senior from Verdun, Que., who is wtih Ayr, and Johnny Evans from Edmonton with Dundee Tigers.

Johnny Sergenese of St. Catharines, a second-year player with Perth Panthers, is next in line with 56.

Bans Sunday Hockey

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP). — The Board of Police Commissioners yesterday told J. Bedford Allen, proprietor of Icelandia Skating Rink, that unless he ceased to permit Sunday hockey practices the rink would not be granted a licence for 1948.

"There won't be any more Sunday hockey but I'm going to take the matter up with my lawyers." Allen replied.

Hosiery Stylists Present Eight New Shades

Stressing the significance of smartly individual hosiery tones that achieve a subtle harmony with the costume and accessory colors in spring fashions, eight new shades are being presented for Spring, 1948.

With one exception, they are in the medium register, but because of the sheerness of nylon, they give a flattering lighter effect on the leg. The collection comprises "pastel nude," a suntinted flesh tone, "glace mocha," an animated light brown, "morning mist," a versatile taupe, "brown shadow," a hazy brownish version, "town smoke," a light gunmetal, "bronzlite," a rich bronze, "bludusk," a shadowy medium blue, and "navy lustre," a lively light navy.

Controversy now raging about the length of the skirt has drawn attention more and more to women's hosiery styles. No woman dares go out today without her legs smartly clad in slenderizing, full-fashioned stockings. Wherever she goes, eyes are on her hemline and therefore on her legs.

Consequently, the well-groomed woman has become extremely stocking conscious. She selects her stocking wardrobe with greater discrimination, choosing a wider range of distinctive tones to go with her various costumes. For example, glace moch is a pleasing blend with new beiges and warm light browns and is closely keyed to the fashionable brown almost leather shade. With the marked favor accorded navy and other blue ensembles in the spring, high style acceptance is assured the smart hosiery tones, navy lustre and bludusk.

The following fashion guide indicates close co-ordination of the new hosiery colors with leading costume and accessory shades for spring:

Pastel Nude—Harmonizes most attractively with the entire gamut of summery pastels, as well as with white and off-white, including cream, ivory, champagne and natural shades. Goes smartly with honey, burnt straw, amber and cinnamon shades, clear medium blues, lemon or citron hues, turquoise and aqua tones, fresh spring greens and bright sports hues. A beautiful shade for wear with shoes in summer cream, white and the lively resort colors as well as all pastel leathers. Very lovely with brown or black shoes for dressy wear. The ideal shade with evening sandals in gold, silver, pastels or brilliant jewel colors.

Glace Mocha—Rating high as a complement to costumes in beiges and browns and spirted greens. Also a dashing shade for wear with golden and burnished tones and gay sports shades among the gypsy hues and Moroccan colors.

It is the preferred tone for wear with shoes in the fashionable new leather shade, brown almond. Also a stimulating accent to shoes in the lively green pepper tone, as well as gypsy brown and burn mocha.

Morning mist, in smart rhythm with a very wide range of costume tones, including navy, subdued medium and neutral shades in the grey and taupe family, as well as black. Especially appealing with the high fashion mauve to purple gamme, including orchid, lilac, heather and dashlia versions. Also a pleasing shade with rosy-tinted reds.

Brown shadow blends effectively with frosted coffee and other cool neutral browns and beiges. Enjoys high style prestige wtih medium and darker greens, smoke grey and light brownish taupe tones, the deeper violine range, also black.

Town smoke imparts a distinctive well-groomed look to spring costumes in neutral tones, including medium and darker greys, navy and muted blues and black. Also a smartly conservative tone with ruby or garnet reds and subdued purplish shades.

Bronzlite is highly significant, because of its fashion newness, with costumes in rich warm browns and beiges and the important spring greens in medium and darker versions, including subtle bronzy or mossy types. Also an excellent tone with tortoise shell, amber and spicy shades, burnt orange, terra cotta and henna hues, deeper greenish blues and black.

The shade strikes a gleaming note with dressy bronze shoes for cocktail, dinner and evening wear. Also very smart with shoes in brown almond, green pepper, gypsy borwn or black.

Bludusk, an illusive greyed blue, effecting a perfect symphony with soft shadowy blues in spring costumes. Also a subtle accept to navy, steel and other metallic greys, as well as the bluish rose to red gamme and hazy violet tones. It is especially harmonious with shoes in admiral blue or metallic blue leathers; is also appropriate wtih cherry red or misty grey shoes when worn with greyish blue or navy costumes.

Navy lustre is especially tuned to the swagger navy blue costume, so important in the spring fashionscape. Also distinctive with lovely medium blues or bluish greys.

GOOD LIGHT NECESSARY

Letter From HRH Acknowledges Gift of Cloak

A letter expressing appreciation of the ermine cloak sent by the IODE to Princess Elizabeth as a wedding present has been received by Mrs. Ryland H. New, national president of the Order in Canada.

The letter, which was signed "Elizabeth" reads:

"Dear Mrs. New: I am delighted with the ermine cloak which I have received from the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in Canada. They could not have chosen a wedding present which has given me greater pleasure or one which I shall use more often. Would you tell all who subscribed to give me this beautiful cloak that, quite apart from the magnificence of their present, I am deeply grateful for the layalty and for the goodwill towards the Duke of Edinburgh and myself with which they send it.

I am glad to hear, also, that The Queen Elizabeth Hospital is to receive equipment, supplies and special foods as part of the present which the Daughters of the Empire are giving me so that many others will benefit from their generosity and my happiness. Yours sincerely, Elizabeth."

William Hare

of them came from the Mohawk Valley in New York State. In this state nearly all the principal people were Loyalists; the wealthier merchants, the great proprietors, and the wealthy families. The Hares were among those owning handsome estates, which were confiscated. When Butler raised his Ringers, his force was drawn from the flower of the population . . ."

There is no particular reason for knowing how and where William Hare knew James Crooks before 1810 when he sold him his land in Percy, but Mr. Woodhouse drew attention to the fact that Hare and Crooks were both Justices of the Peace in West Flamborough. There were many closer ties to bind the men, one of which was suggested by the connection of William Hare and his brothers with Butler's Rangers, in which Peter Hare was a captain and John, a lieutenant.

The year 1808 was a momentous one in the Crooks family. In that year James Crooks married Jane Cummings, whose father, Thomas Cummings of Chippewa, had been a ranger in Butler's Rangers; in the same year Capt. William Crooks, an older brother of James, married Mary Butler, a daughter of Col. John Butler, who had raised the Rangers. In 1808, William Hare, who had drawn his 3,000 acres in 200 acre lots in the township of Louth, sold his land and moved to Dundas, where he bought land. But it should be noted that in 1804, when he obtained his grant in Percy, he described himself, as of Flamborough West.

There is no trace of the locality in which Lieut. John Hare drew his lots, and it would be interesting to know if the Hares of Haldimand township, who are still living near Grafton, are the descendants of the missing John. A crayon sketch of Richard Hare, "Who was on the old homestead, 1878," and who was a son of an grantee, a U.E. Loyalist, is to be found in Belden's Atlas of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, along with that of James G. Rogers of Haldimand and Henry H. Humphries of Percy Township (Warkworth).

James Morden, a witness, was a private in His Majesty's Provincial Regt. King's Royal of New York. Morden has been mentioned as a neighbor of James Crooks at Crooks' Hollow. I do not know who Abraham Luse was.

"David McGregor Rogers, in 1803, was living in Cramahe, engaged as a merchant, holding the office of clerk of the peace, clerk of the District Sourt, Registrar of Deeds, besides being a member of Parliament and carrying on a farm. His name is pretty closely identified with the early history of Upper Canada."

He was elected a member of the first parliament, and must have met the Hares, Crooks and all the Loyalists of the Niagara District on his appearances at Newark to attend to his duties as a member. In 1810 he was a member for Northumberland. According to Lady Edgar's "Ten Years of Upper Canada, 1805-1815," Rogers was "on the people's side, as opposed to the government, but being more moderate in expressing his views, he did not get into such trouble as his friends, Judge Thorpe and Jos. Willocks,"

Fairmount WMS January Meeting

Members of Fairmount WMS met at the home of Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge for the first meeting of the new year, the theme being "New Year's Message."

Roll call was answered with a verse from a favorite Christmas card. Dr. Reddick preceded the dedication of officers with a short address of inspiration.

A letter from Mrs. Runon Lowes was read, asking that her resignation as leader of the Mission Band be accepted due to her departure from the community. Mrs. Roy Hooton was appointed as leader with Miss Jean Hanbidge as her assistant.

Mrs. J. H. Sanderson read a letter from the dominion board stressing urgent need for good used clothing and quilts for overseas. It was decided to prepare two quilts to be quilted after a pot-luck dinner to be held at the home of Mrs. F. R. McIndoo on Jan. 15.

Advisiability of joining the Association of Consumers was discussed and it was decided that more specific details concerning its aims and objects be learned before canvassing for members as suggested.

Mrs. Windrim took charge of the worship service and Mrs. Russell Earle had charge of the program. Mrs. Reddick gave a very interesting resume of the first two chapters of the study book, "Great Is the Company."

A reading taken from "Streams in the Desert" was given by Mrs. Fair, followed by a duet by Dr. and Mrs. Reddick.

Dr. Reddick closed the meeting with a prayer. Lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. R. K. Earle and Mrs. H. M. S. McBain.

Little Theatre Groups Prepare Regional Festivals

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Jan. 10—(CP).—Little theatre groups of Eastern Ontario have shaken the last dust of wartime apathy from their feet and are headed for a couple of regional festivals which, if anything, will be better than those before the war. These early skirmishes, which will see stage groups vie for a spot in the Dominion Drama Festival here in April, open next month in Kingston and Ottawa. And judging by the number of entries, Robert Stuart, the British actor who is adjudicating the regional festivals, has a big job ahead.

Sparked by several new groups, the French-language festival in Ottawa has been scheduled for three nights, Feb. 9-11. Last year there were only sufficient plays for a two-night contest.

For the first time the French players are working for a prize other than an entry into the DDF. This year there's a challenge trophy for the best play, awarded by Le Droit, Ottawa's French-language newspaper.

Keener Competition

In Kingston, Feb. 12-14 has been set aside for the English-speaking regional festival; and while all entries have not yet been received, Prof. William Angus of Queen's University, chairman of the festival, reported that already it looks as if competition will be keener than a year ago. Five three-act plays have been entered, a greater number than in 1947.

As in other years there are two awards at the Kingston Festival, the Davies Trophy, given by Senator W. Rupert Davies, publisher of The Kingston Whig-Standard, and the Fulford Shield, awarded by George Fulford of Brockville. The first is for the best full-length play and the second goes to the group with the best one-act presentation. Prizes also are given the best actor and actress in the festival.

Canadian Entry

"Eros At Breakfast," a one-act play by Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, is the only Canadian-written play in the Kingston Festival. It will be produced by the Workshop of the Ottawa Drama League, along with a second one-act play, "Possessions," by Lawrence Housman.

"Eros At Breakfast," won the Workshop's $100 prize last year in annual competition for the best one-act work by a Canadian.

The French-language Festival also has a Canadian-written comedy entered in its competition, "Un Homme Et Trois Femmes," by Dr. Marius Barbeau of Ottawa, and Juliette Dupont of Montreal.

Other entries in the Ottawa Festival include a one-act comedy, "Les Deux Pierrots," by Edmond Rostand, entered by the newly-formed L'Institute Canadien Francais of Ottawa: "Le Legataire Universel," by Regnard, entered by Ottawa's famed Le Caveau; "L'Heure 'H'," by Pierre Chaine, entered by La Comedie Nouvelle, Ottawa's second new dramatic club; "La Paix Chez-Soi," by George Courteline, entered by Les Amis of Hull, Que.

The title of a six play by the newly-formed Les Cercles Gascon of Hawkesbury is not yet known.

Kingston Entries

Entries in the Kingston Festival include: "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," by Robert Schummel, entered by the Dramatic Guild of Hawkesbury; "Poppa Is Ally" by Patterson Greene, entered by The Ottawa Drama League; "Ladies in Retirement" by Reginald Denham, entered by the Carleton College Drama Class of Ottawa; "The Family Album," by Noel Coward, entered by the Recreation Association of the Civil Service, Ottawa; "Lovers and Friends," by Dodie Smith, entered by the Brockville Theatre Guild.

Entry of the Faculty Players of Queen's University, Kingston, is not yet known.

STRIKE AT SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE—The port of Singapore was paralyzed completely today when all of its approximately 5,000 dock laborers went on strike. The work stoppage was ordered by union leaders yesterday because of a dispute over whether future hiring would be direct, as the unions want, or by contract, as the employers want to continue.

ORIGINATED ON RHINE

Rhinestones are so named because they were first made along the river Rhine.

Will Not Accept '48 Hemline Local Fashion Prediction

Better dressed business girls in Peterborough are going to wear a lot of ballerina suits this spring if predictions of George St. merchants come true. The skirts will be full and swirling and the lengths will be longer than they have been, but local damsels will not concede to the present average, 12 inches from the floor.

Local retailers estimate barely 25 per cent of their customers favor lowered hemline. Though they are carrying only the more conservative styles, as yet, practically all dresses sold have to be shortened at least two inches. The longest street dress to leave one prominent store so far was at the 13-inch height.

This season's styles are adopting sound-effects and the rustle of taffeta petticoats is expected to be an accepted dress-up fashion. Advance models in monotone printed crepes show the New York rage, with skirt two inches longer at centre back than at centre front.

Modified versions of the newest "new look" are on order for spring collections and will soon be in stock. However, Peterborough merchants do not anticipate selling many dresses with the just-above-the-ankle hemline, as decreed by '48 fashion designers, and even throughout the summer season, they feel the local gals will insist on showing a good bit of the calf.

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Syrup at Home

This well known recipe is used by many thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them an effective, dependable medicine for distressing winter coughs. It's so easy to mix—anyone can do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for effect on throat irritations.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all and takes but a moment. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey instead of sugar syrup.)

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough syrup, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

Pinex Saves You Money. Fast Relief. Easily Mixed.

Little Theatre Group Plans To Present Three Plays

The members of the Peterborough Little Theatre are now busily at work polishing their performances, and putting the finishing touches on scenery and costumes for their first productions on January 20 and 21. The group organized last May, and have been at work on their presentation since September. Three short plays will be given in the evening's program; the first is Bernard Shaw's witty play "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," in which Shakespeare meets Queen Elizabeth by moonlight and lectures her on the importance of the theatre in a well-conducted kingdom; the second is "Overlaid" by Robertson Davies, a comedy which is a comment on some aspects of life in Ontario; this play won the Ottawa Drama League's playwriting contest in 1946; the third play is the famous farce "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," by Anatole France.

Taken as a group, these three plays represent an ambitious evening's work for a group which is making its first public appearance. Scenery has been built and painted, and costumes of an unusual degree of elaboration have been designed and made. The actors have submitted themselves to a rigorous program of rehearsals. All these things have been done because the Little Theatre is anxious to give Peterborough something which it has not for a quarter of a century — living drama of high quality.

There are fifteen Little Theatres in Ontario, and the local group seeks to add a worthy 16th to the list. Little Theatre work is not "amateur theatricals" in the old sense; it is an attempt to wed the enthusiasm of the amateur with as much as possible of the professional's efficiency and sense of responsibility to the public. In the cities where Little Theatres exist they add to the pleasure of living for scores of people who find the theatre and absorbing spare-time pursuit, and they give pleasure to hundreds of others who go to see their performances.

If the local Little Theatre's first presentation is well received by the public it will go on to more ambitious projects. A high degree of public interest has already been shown by the seat sale, which now exceeds 1,200 for two performances which can only seat 1,700 as a maximum. This encouragement has given the members of the Ltitle Theatre keen satisfaction, and seems to point to considerable enthusiasm for drama in Peterborough.

THAT IN-LAW WAR
Differences Between Mother And Son's Wife Cause Bitter Heartbreaks

✧ ✧ ✧

THE INTERNECINE war between mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law still goes on at high speed, with neither side asking for nor giving quarter, or showing the slightest indication of running up the white flag. Yet it is doubtful if both the World Wars put together have caused as much misery and broken as many hearts as it has.

Dorothy Dix

It is a curious and a terrible war that has been fought, and is still being fought, by women over the bodies of the men they love, and for whose sole possession they are struggling, and to gain their ends they ruthlessly break up homes, half-orphan little children and wreck the happiness of the very ones over whom they are battling.

If these women were merciless savages who gloated over the torture of a sister woman, we could understand their conduct, but such is not the case. They are noble Christian women, overflowing with pity and tenderness and sympathy for all the human race except such as are united to them by the in-law tie and with whom they have to live.

Of course, miracles do happen and there are authentic instances, rare though they be, in which mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law, and even old maid sisters-in-law, do live together in peace and harmony. But, generally speaking, when Johnny brings home his bride the fight is on, for Mom is determined not to let any little chit of a girl run her house, and the little chit of a girl is equally determined not to let any old woman put anything over on her.

Futile Hopes

No man not a hopeless optimist or feebleminded would ever take a young wife to live with his female relatives without expecting her to be clawed to pieces, and no mother could listen to her son's know-it-all bride tell how SHE made lemon pies without hoping she would choke on her first bite.

Probably the Pentagon Building would cramp the style of the average mother-in-law and daughter-in-law if they attempted to live together; so the wise thing for a young couple to do is to put off the wedding until they can have their own small shack in which they can have their little brawls without any mother-in-law putting in her two cents' worth, and where they won't have to listen to advice from any outsider.

Statistics show that mothers-in-law are responsible for more divorces than any other one thing, but, in reality, the daughters-in-law are just as guilty as are their husbands' mothers. Their common crimes are that neither will use the slightest diplomacy in dealing with the other, and that they are both eaten up with jealousy. And neither one of them will stop their feuding to save the happiness of the man who is the son of one and the husband of the other and whose very soul they are tearing to tatters.

Such a pity, isn't it, for mothers and wives not to make friends with their in-laws. For it can be such a beautiful relationship when it flowers in love and kindness. Thrice blessed are they whose in-laws were the best wedding present they received when they got married.

AT WORK PREPARING PLAYS—An ambitious evening's entertainment is being planned by members of the Peterborough Little Theatre in the presentation of three plays on January 20 and 21. The members are seen above busily engaged in polishing their performances and putting the final touches on the scenery and costumes. In the production of "The Man Who Married A Dumb Wife" (Top Left) a surgical operation is performed in the medieval manner. Left to right, Clayton Bullock, Marilyn Munro, Lloyd Hale, John Londerville, Albert Hill, and Joseph Barnard. A family quarrel (Top Right) is in progress in "Overlaid", an Ontario comedy by Robertson Davies. Left to right, Arnold Noftall, Donald Munro and Helen Staples. A large committee (Lower) has been at work since September preparing scenery and properties for the productions. Some of the workers are, Left to Right, Fern Rahmel, Dorothy Shannon, R. J. Bolton, Helen Bonnycastle and Gertrude Cox.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday January 11

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a fortuitous one for all serious and solemn activities connected with Sabbath observance; also for profound study of philosophic or mystical works, involving reflection and introspection. Nevertheless, a trend to the unusual, unorthodox or unconventional might complexion such mental advocations. Shun all strange persons, accidents or misadventures. Keep to safe and sane routines.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which the routine and balanced procedures of workaday affairs, well on the way to progress and sound bases, may be interrupted by an unforseen event, disruption, or quee radventures in which impulses or emotion may overrule good judgment nd reason. Submit all matters to logic and accepted tenets before taking any sort of chances, or making changes.

A child born on this day has excellent ability and integrity for good performance and sound objectivs although having eccentricities or unusual impulses.

For Monday, January 12

Monday's astrological forecast is for a successful development of important objectives, by a careful and studied program of details, systems and sound judgment, in which the mentality may be in line for small rather than large-scope plans and programs. It might be advisable to confer with employers, superiors, sponsors, elders, or others of experience and foresight for collaboration, miaus hazard.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find their year most successful by affiliating with those of more experience or training, whose vision and judgment may be more reliable and dependable. Joint interests might prove far more lucrative than affairs launched on imature snap judgments.

A child born on this day has fair mentality and equipment for details and collaboration rather than wide-patterned operations. It should be trained to submit to superior judgments, for important efforts.

WA Plans to Aid Turner Fund

HASTINGS, Jan. 8. (ENS)—Mrs. E. Smullin and Mrs. C. M. Baker were hostesses at the former's home for the first meeting of the new year of St. George's WA. Opening devotions were conducted by Mrs. Baker and Miss D. Plant. The chapter from the study book was presented by Mrs. Smullin; and the questions in connection with it were answered by Mrs. C. R. Spencer, Mrs. J. C. Taylor, Mrs. W. McGrayne, Mrs. F. Foster, and Miss D. Plant.

Upon the suggestion brought forward by Mrs. Spencer, it was an unanimous decision to hold a tea in the future to raise funds toward the Mrs. (Canon) Turner Fund. Also discussed were plans for the supper to precede the Vestry Meeting on Jan. 26.

Mrs. J. Taylor and Mrs. E. Smullin were appointed to pack a parcel of good used clothing for the adopted family in Britain in the near future. The regular food parcel was packed this week.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Smullin assisted by Mrs. J. C. Taylor.

St. Paul's WMS Plans to Hold Tea

First 1948 meeting of the WMS of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was held Friday afternoon in the Guild Room with 40 members attending. Mrs. D. T. Diplock, president, was in the chair. Devotional period was led by Mrs. Robert Ross. Mrs. O. M. Steer acted as recording secretary in the absence of Miss M. Ross. Members were asked to bring in Christmas cards and materials for Mission Band work. It was decided to hold the annual expense fund tea on Wednesday, January 28. Interesting and helpful papers from the study book were read by Mrs. N. S. Courtney and Mrs. W. A. Cochrane. A delightful interlude in the afternoon was a presentation of a life membership in the WMS to Mrs. Robert Ross. A social hour with refreshments followed the meeting.

6—In Memoriam

GLAUM—In loving memory of John H. Glaum, who died January 11, 1947.
Gone dear father gone forever
How we miss your smiling face
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
—Ever remembered by his children.

GLAUM—In loving memory of John H. Glaum, who passed away January 11, 1947.
Those whom we love go out of sight
But never out of mind
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways
Upright and just to the end of his days
Sincere and true in heart and mind
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Sadly missed by his wife.

THOMAS—In loving memory of our dear baby son, Brian Donald, who joined the angels, two years ago, January 10, 1946, aged two months.
He is gone, but not forgotten,
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Always in the thughts of his mommy and daddy.

EVANS—In loving memory of Bella Evans (nee Belle Poley), who passed away January 10, 1934.

EXPECT IT OPPOSITE

HAVING found that one outstanding honor is held by a certain member of a non-bidding pair of defenders, you usually may count soundly on any other missing honor to be more probably in the hand of his partner than his own. The margin of likelihood may be very slight, especially if the crucial card is a queen or lower, but it exists just the same. And the player who observes that very simple principle will in the long run bring into port a number of contracts which otherwise would be sunk on the voyage.

After the spade 5 lead to the J and A, the diamond J was led by the keen declarer, Edward Ellenbogen, of Philadelphia, who with Simon Becker won the tournament in which this deal developed. West covered with the diamond K and the A won.

Now, decided the declarer, with West having shown one king, East is more likely than he to hold any other hidden honor. So he took the club finesse in a direction different from that followed by most players in the game. He led toward the short holding instead of the long one. The club J is what he brought forth from the dummy. There being no great per centage in favor of covering it, as near as East could see, he played low and the J won.

Immediately followed the club A and K, dropping the Q, and two more club tricks were added to those. The heart J was then led from dummy; East winning with the A and shooting back his spade 3 to the K. Three diamonds and the heart K then rounded out an unbid small slam for a nice winning score on the deal.

In what respects should a fine player vary his tactics between those used against competitors of his own rank and those employed against less skillful opposition?

County Farm Notes

—By HARRY THEOBALD

Lorne Reynolds and W. A. Davidson Elected To The Executive Of The Ontario Federation Of Agriculture —New Federation Zone Formed In Eastern Ontario —Farm Forum To Discuss Marketing Questions Monday, January 12.

Two Peterborough men were elected to the executive of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture at the closing session of its convention in Toronto Friday afternoon.

They are: Lorne Reynolds, Smith township, president of Peterborough branch of the Federation, and W. A. Davidson, assistant manager of Co-Op Services.

Mr. Reynolds was chosen from the new zone, No. 4, including Peterborough county; and Mr. Davidson is an additional representative of Co-Operative associations.

Wesley Down of Hilton, Northumberland county, moves up to the senior executive as the nominee of the junior farmers.

These executive changes now give this section of central Ontario strong representation in the inner council of the Ontario Federation. Hector Arnold of Campbellford was re-elected second vice-president. With him on the executive are Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Davidson and Mr. Hilton, and Mrs. Fred M. Rutherford of Campbellford is one of the six women members of the provincial directorate.

R. A. Stewart of Almonte was re-elected president and R. W. Morrison of Alliston, 1st vice-president.

Until this year the constituent 44 counties were divided into four Federation zones. No. 4 comprised all eastern Ontario from Hastings-Prince Edward to the Ottawa River. At the 1947 convention it was suggested that this group was entirely too large and scattered for representation by only one member of the executive, and that it should be split in two.

That change has now been put into effect. Durham and Victoria counties had been in Zone 3 with Wentworth, Halton, Peel, Simcoe, York, Ontario, Dufferin, and the northern districts.

Zone No. 4 now embraces: Victoria, Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough, Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington, and Frontenac. And Zone No. 5, consists of Renfrew, Lanark, Leeds, Grenville, Carleton, Dundas, Prescott, Russell, Stormont and Glengarry.

By an amendment to the constitution, adopted Thursday, the executive was enlarged from 10 to 14 members. One of the four is Mr. Reynolds, and another is Mr. Davidson. Co-Operative interests had only one member on the executive, and it was decided to allot a second representative. Mr. Davidson was the choice.

Mrs. C. A. Campbell of Packenham continues as the women's representative on the executive. She was the nominee of the six women on the directorate. One director is appointed by the Women's Institute; and five are appointed at the time of the annual provincial meeting from the official delegates from the counties, one woman from each of the five Federation zones.

Farm Economy First

In its 11th annual convention the Ontario Federation adhered to its original concern for the economic well being of the farmers of this province, and through its resolutions, some 20 of them, left a variety of proposals affecting agricultural interests for executive consideration and action. Discussions were marked by constructive and sound suggestions and also criticism, and the agenda was projected into phases of farm affairs such as county medical services, workmen's compensation for farmers, and other subjects at least indirectly seeking improved conditions in rural life.

Eighten counties have organized Co-Operative Medical Services providing group hospital insurance at cost. It was said that this experience in organizing and providing such essential social services strengthens county Federations and encourages farm people through successful results to advance in other fields of self-help and co-operative endeavor. For these and other reasons the Federation recommended that all counties try to establish medical services for their people.

Prices Support Act

Another resolution asked the Canadian government to make th Agricultural Prices Support Act permanent legislation, to give the board power to act, and to provided for a fair statistical index showing clearly when agriculture generally or particular commodities may be entitled to assistance under the terms of the Act.

The preamble to this resolution affirmed that the Act undertook "to ensure adequate and stable returns for agriculture by promoting orderly adjustment from war to peace conditions and to secure a fair relationship between the returns from agriculutre and those from other occupations," but no formula was provided by which such "adequate and stable returns" and such "fair relationship" were to be determined. Another flaw, it was said, was found in the Act's application only to the "transitional period" and also that many government statements regarding farm income and costs were based on the 1935-39 period when farm prices were extremely low in comparison with industrial prices.

Cost Of Production

Another resolution was inspired by the recently announced intention of the Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture, to establish a new branch of the Department to investigate the cost of production of various farm commodities.

The resolution commended the Ontario government's intention, urged farmers to co-operate in the gathering of such basic information, and requested the government to take prompt action in establishing a branch headed by an outstanding economist, that "when set up will (1) work closely with farm organizations in determining the jobs to be done and the accounting standards to be followed, and (2) will at the same time have prestige and independence that will enable it to present figures, free from farm organization or government influence, which will command the confidence of producers and acceptance by the public."

The resolution stressed the need of cost of production figures to substantiate agriculture's claim to fair prices. Some rural organizations attempted to make cost of production surveys for their own commodities but encountered difficulties due to lack of personnel, finances and statistical information. It was also found difficult to secure public and official acceptance of their figures.

Milk Control Act

Still another resolution asked that the Milk Control Act be amended to give the necessary powers to the milk control board to enable it to approve agreements entered into between producers and distributors, and, failing agreements, to arbitrate and to fix prices and conditions of sale. "And that in the drafting of the legislation persons familiar with the industry and representing the organizations involved be consulted in order to avoid as much as possible misunderstanding and error."

This resolution stated that the Ontario Milk Control Act had stabilized the returns of dairy farmers for ten years. But, the validity of certain sections of the Act was questioned by officers of the Crown, and the Legislature appointed a royal commission to enquire into the milk industry. Following publication of the Commission's report, the Legislature enacted amending legislation described at temporary, pending further study of the report. For those reasons the Federation is appealing to the government to write into the Milk Control Act full provision for any additional power its requires to become operative in the permanent interest of the dairy industry.

FORESTRY WINNERS

Second prize of $25 in the provincial school forestry competition was won by S.S. No. 2 (Lang) Otonabee, of which Miss Lillian Bowie is teacher.

Maple Grove school in Waterloo county was awarded first prize of $50 in the announcement by John A. Carroll, secretary of the Ontario Horticultural Associatoin which sponsored this primary school contest in conjunction with the Ontario Conservation and Reforestation Association, of whose No. 4 Zone, Reeve Johnston, is president.

Lang school was first in this district and two other schools were second and third prize winners.

They are: 6th Line school, Miss Barbara McLeod, teacher, second prize of $15; and Indian River school, on No. 7 Highway, Miss Jeanette Stewart, teacher, $10.

This school forestry contest will be continued in 1948. Each school participtaing is required to plant and maintain a plantation of not less than half an acre, the trees for which will be supplied by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. There must be a minimum of five schools entered in each district. Planting must be done by the pupils, but assistance may be given by others with the heavy work. Entries must be made to the local school inspector not later than Feb. 14. The judging will be done after Oct. 1.

For the provincial contest only the schools winning first and second place in each district will be eligible. The counties in No. 4 district are: Victoria, Haliburton, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham.

It appears to be significant that Ontario township with three schools in the prize awards for 1947 is the home municipality of Wm. A. Anderson, who is engaged in forestry promotion for the Provincial Department. He was largely instrumental in obtaining the trees for the subnursery demonstration plot on O'Carroll Ave. and Benson Ave. for the students of the Normal school.

Some of those trees were delivered to Lang school, winner of second honors in the provincial contest. There are nearly 900 named coniferous and deciduous trees in that plot from which schools may obtain trees.

It was learned yesterday from Leo W. Copp, principal of the Normal school, that on Thursday of this week a replacement order was sent to Orono. In the deciduous species are: silver maples, locust, three varieties of oak, butternut, walnut, birch, white ash, hard maple; and in the evergreens, red, white and Scotch pine, white and red cedar, and one variety of spruce.

Farthest distribution of trees from the Normal sub-nursery was to a school at Napanee. The teacher reported that they arrived in fine condition for Arbor Day

"It is probably known that reforestation is for rural areas, and that might have prevented us in the city from having this project," Mr. Copp said. "I think it is only fair to say that Mr. Anderson was much interested in the lot and supported application for it to the Department office at Lindsay. There are 31 varieties of trees and all are named."

Teachers acquire knowledge of these trees during the Normal school course, and are thereby equipped to continue the work in their school departments. They also may obtain trees from the plot for planting at their schools. Mr. Copp himself is greatly interested in this branch of the Normal work, especially in the possibility of its practical effects wherever the graduate teachers go.

Otonabee schools have blazed an emulative trail in this forestry work in Peterborough county and the inspectorate of K. O. Burkin, and their pupils have earned general congratulations on their success.

"MARKETING" ON RADIO FORUM

Farm radio forum is getting down to hardpan in the subjects listed for January broadcasts. They are directing rural attention far afield next Monday night with the discussion, "The World Is Our Market", and they are following that more or less global survey with the question "Do we need a national marketing act?", Mon. Jan. 19.

Producing and selling are the beginning and the end of farm business, and markets are always of paramount importance in farm income. The Forum Guide presents an outline this week of world trade conditions, and underscores the grim recollection that in 1932 Canada's exports of domestic product had dwindled to $490,000,000 from $1,261,000,000 in 1926, and in the same time net income per farm was down from $1,000 to $200.

Income recovery kept pace with exports. In 1944 exports of Canadian domestic products mounted to $1,700. "When Canada's exports are high, farm cash income is high." Those records relate the welfare of every farm to the nation's business abroad.

Incidentally it may be suggested that farmers should obtain copies of the Guide. "We must not think that our prosperity depends on the exports of agricultural produce alone. Our manufacturing industry was greatly expended during the war to meet export needs. Full employment in manufacturing means greater domestic consumption of food, and full employment depends on the export as well as the domestic market."

Trade is a two-way affair, based on exchange of goods. The Canadian farmer has a big stake in the nation's export trade, and he must recognize that he likewise has a stake in Canada's import trade. "But, a situation exists today that endangers our trade. The people of Europe and Asia are in desperate need of food, but they haven't the means to buy it."

The Guide explains briefly the Marshall plan which is to come before the United States Congress this winter. "This plan is a proposal that the U.S. government make available some 20 billion dollars, partly in gifts and partly in loans, over the next four years to provide aid to 16 European countries. The Canadian government hopes that if the Marshall plan is adopted that 16 European countries will be allowed to use some of the money to buy Canadian goods. Our government says we have done all we can to help Europe and more than any other country."

With his demonstrated ability to produce in excess of domestic demand and consumption, the Canadian farmer is vitally concerned about the maintenance of export outlets. That was essentially the reason why the Canadian Federation of Agriculture gave in its recommendations first place to the re-negotiating of British food contracts, which were recently effected by the federal government.

These two next radio forum broadcasts should attract a large farm audience in the Peterborough district.

Ernestown Rally

Clare Burt, Ontario forum secretary, reports that six of the eight forums in Erin township were represented at the township rally Dec. 10. Its purpose was to acquaint each other with activities of each forum as well as to develop township unity; to study problems and assess accomplishments; to make future plans. He urges other township groups to plan a simliar rally for Monday, Jan. 26.

Receipts included $24,326.02 from county and district groups; $8,332.80 contributed by other organizations; and miscellaneous contributions of $6,115.37.

Huron topped the county Federation grants to the provincial body with $1,645 last year; Middlesex, $1,500; Kent, $1,410; Simcoe, $1,300; Durham, $1,051 for 1946 plus 1947; Lambton, $1,051; Bruce, York and Wellington, $1,000 each. The name of Peterborough county does not appear in the 1947 list. Victoria's grant of $100 was the lowest, apart from Dryden district Federation's $36.15.

Canadian Zionists Ask Hagana Be Used To Police All Palestine

Feel Sure Underground Have No Trouble Keeping Unrest Under Control; Will Now Seek More Aid From Outsiders

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—(CP).—A call for use of Hagana, the Jewish underground army in Palestine, as the official police force to keep order in the strife-torn Holy Land, was heard as the 29th national convention of the Zionist Organization of Canada opened a three-day conference. The call came from Israel Rokach, mayor of Tel Aviv, around whose city much of the fighting has taken place since the United Nations ordered the partition of Palestine into Jewish and Arab states. At a press conference he said that if Hagana were legalized as the official police force, unrest could be controlled.

The Jews in Palestine have no fight with the Arab but when Arab nations outside Palestine incite unrest some police force is necessary, he said. The situation has become so tense, the Jews will fight in self-defence whether or not the United Nations Palestine Commission appointed an international police force. He said some 30,000 Jewish men and women await only a call to arms.

Earlier at the opening meeting, Louis Lipsky, former president of the Zionist Organization of America, said that Palestine Jews will use all the force necessary to keep the national homeland, backed by arms and money from world Jewry.

Samuel Zacks of Toronto, Z.O.C. president, asked Canadian Jewry to subscribe $5,000,000 for supoprt of Jewish claims in Palestine.

Trigger-Happy Gunmen Raid Gambling Joint

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Provincial Police said today they were on the trail of the four gunmen who held up a suburban gambling house Saturday night and shot three patrons with a burst from a sub-machine gun. The hold-up reportedly netted the bandits about $7,000.

The shooting occurred in a farmhouse on lonely Cote de Lissie Road on the outskirts of Montreal where the gamblers had been operating for only two days. Morality police arrived shortly after the holdup to make a raid on the premises.

There were about 20 persons in the house when the four gunmen entered. Two, including the one carrying the sub-machine gun, were masked. They approached the group around the dice table and ordered everyone to put their hands up.

One of the other two bandits remained in the doorway while the fourth kept a watch outside.

The bandits scooped up about $400 from the table and then ordered all the house attendants and patrons who were lined along the wall to take their trousers off.

One bandit began a search of the pants and it is reported that he picked up about $6,500. He was still going through some trousers when his partner armed with the sub-machine gun fired a burst for no apparent reason.

Three patrons fell while the gunmen made a hasty retreat, fleeing in an automobile. All those in the house also fled except one attendant who remained to call police and to help out the injured men.

The Provincial Police hold-up squad led by Lieut. Marcel Patenaude arrived at the farmhouse at the same time as the morality squad which was on the way to raid the game.

Skier Breaks Leg

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Jan. 12—(CP).—Pierre Jalbert of Quebec, Canada's leading hope for the Olympic downhill ski event, broke his leg today while training for the event. Blinded by falling snow, Jalbert fell down a steep slope and was brought back by ambulance to receive treatment at a clinic. Doctors were unable to estimate the seriousness of the fracture pending X-ray examination. Jalbert was staying with other members of the Canadian Olympic team at Davos and came here intending to make only a brief study of the downhill track.

U.S. Educator Arrested By Russ Authorities

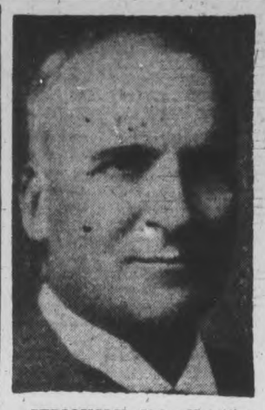
BERLIN, Jan. 12 — (AP). — United States army police said today that Dr. Herman B. Wells, United States educator, has been arrested by Russian authorities and held several hours before being released.

Wells is president of Indiana University and is serving as chief of the United States military government's education branch. He was picked up by Soviet police on a street in the Russian sector of Berlin, police said. He was released at Soviet headquarters upon American intervention.

Deny Michael Going To France

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Jan. 12.—(Reuters). — Maj. Jacques Vergotti, aide to ex-King Michael of Romania, today denied reports that Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma would meet Michael in France.

He said "the king has no plans for leaving Switzerland to meet the princess."



Circles close to the king believed that the meeting between Michael and Anne would not take place this week.

At Luxembourg, where Princess Anne was resting today in the medieval castle of Fischbach "after the emotions of recent days," the princess said last night: "Neither the date nor the place of our wedding has yet been chosen. I shall soon go to France where I am going to meet my fiance.")

The last members of the Romanian royal family to leave Bucharest are expected to reach Lausanne late tomorrow night.

MacDonald In London

LONDON, Jan. 12—(Reuters). —Malcolm MacDonald, Governor-General of Malaya, arrived by air today. He will stay in London for several weeks for consultations before sailing to Canada to join his wife in Ottawa and recuperate from a serious attack of typhoid.

SERIOUSLY ILL—Hamilton General Hospital authorities today described as "poor" the condition of T B. McQuesten, KC, who has been ill for the last several months. Mr, McQuesten, former Minister of Highways under the Hepburn administration, last week was named Hamilton's "man of the year for his efforts in parks development in his native city and the province.

Find Daughter Dead In Home; Father Arrested

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 12.—(P).—Frank Timmons, 72, former factory furnace tender, was held in jail today on a charge of murder as the result of the fatal beating of his daughter Helen, 42, and the critical wounding of his 82-year-old invalid wife, who is not expected to recover.

He appeared before Magistrate H. D. Hallett today and was remanded for a week without plea.

Timmons, respected for his industry and quiet dispostiion, knocked on the door of a neighbor, Mrs. Alfred Cort, shortly after 7 a.m. Sunday and said: 'I have killed by daughter and I am afraid I have killed my wife," police reported.

Mrs. Cort went with Timmons into the bungalow on north-east-end Vine St. and summoned police to the house to take Timmons into custody.

Helen Timmons, 42-year-old former school teacher, lay dead on the dining room floor. In a bedroom a few feet away was Mrs. Catherine Timmons, bleeding from the throat but still conscious.

Strikes Wife

Police said that Mrs. Timmons, bed-ridden with rehumatism for the last four years, told them her husband struck her with his fists and tore her throat and mouth with his fingers.

An autopsy indicated the daughter had been knocked unconscious and that, as she lay on the floor, her tongue slipped into her throat and caused strangulation.

Detective James Anderson said as far as he could learn, no argument preceded the slaying.

"About 6.30 a.m. Timmons went to the basement to attend to the fire. His daughter had dressed and was preparing to get breakfast before going to mass.

"When he came upstairs, we understand, Timmons met his daughter in the dining room and, without saying a word, he struck her. When his wife began to scream, he went into the bedroom and hit her."

Major Battle Shaping South of Albanian Border

ATHENS, Jan. 12. — (AP).—Dispatches in Athens newspapers said today that movements of a large force of guerrillas and a number of army units were under way in northwest Greece south of the Albanian border, indicating that a major encounter was shaping up.

The dispatches said a force of between 1,500 and 2,000 guerrillas, withdrawn from Konitsa, was skirmishing near the frontier. It was reported that the insurgents used mortars and artillery.

Earlier reports said 200 guerrillas crossed the Yugoslav border and attacked the Greek frontier town of Idomeni. Some 20 houses were reported to have been burned, The guerrillas took five hostages and retreated into Yugoslavia, the advices said.

In Warsaw, a group of Polish parliament members have formed a "democratic Greece friendship committee" under the leadership of Zenon Kliszko, author of Poland's general election law. The Communist guerrillas of Markos Vafiades, who proclaimed a Communist Greek state Dec. 24, call themselves "Democrats."

RCMP Probes Smuggling Of Aliens

Displaced Persons Finding Way Into This Country

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 —(CP)— The Royal Canadian Mounted Police are pressing an investigation into a plot to smuggle aliens into Canada from Europe, it was learned today.

Already they have determined the existence of an illegal immigration pipeline which appears to run from the displaced persons camps in Germany through Britain to this country and are gathering evidence to break it completely.

Considerable further investigation will be necessary and meantime the RCMP here are tight-lipped about details.

The six aliens arrested recently in the cosmopolitan "ward" district of downtown Toronto were the first to be apprehended in connection with these investigations. But the plot has many more ramifications and further arrests are expected.

While the RCMP would make no affirmative comment, they did not deny a newspage story in the London Daily Telegraph which said "it is suspected several hundreds of aliens, mostly from Germany, have passed through Britain into Canada with the aid of faked British passports.

There is a close check in Britain on the issuance of British passports but during the war a considerable number fell into German and foreign hands.

Some of these probably have been doctored up for use in this illegal pipeline. The various wartime undergrounds in Europe were expert at faking passports by altering the attached photographs and the signatures to make them appear valid.

Pay High Prices To Secure Arms

JERUSALEM, Jan. 12 — (Reuters). — High prices being paid for arms in Palestine today seem to indicate that neither Jews nor Arabs consider their armories adequate for the scale of fighting likely to follow the end of the British mandate on May 15.

A British army rifle fetches up to £50 ($200) a revolver about £25, a Sten gun £90, a Thompson submachine-gun £120.

Many of the arms in circulation come from wartime British and Australian army stores, but police searchers have unearthed a great variety of continental and American makes as well.

There have been rumors that Jewish forces have at least six tanks and some artillery.

Asks Information On Arab Invasion

LONDON, Jan. 12. —(AP).—Britain has "called for information" from the Syrian government on details of the Arab "invasion" of Palestine Friday, a foreign office spokesman announced today.

British diplomatic representatives saw Syrian and Lebanese government leaders over the week-end and, expressing concern over the attack, asked that action be taken "to prevent the situation from being aggravated," he said.

The spokesman specifically avoided describing the British representations as protests.

Ordered From Court

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan 12—(CP)—Police Chief I. L. Robertson was ordered from the court room today by Magistrate James McEwen when the chief pressed for prosecution in the case of a driver charged with passing through a red light.

The magistrate held that there was insufficient evidence for a conviction and the police chief strongly protested against a dismissal of the charge. As the police chief's protest continued the magistrate asked him to leave the court room and dismissed the case.

POLICE BREAK UP RALLY—Part of a mob of 2,000 students are shown running through the entrance to the Kangar Maidan (workers' field) in Bombay, as they sought to attend a protest meeting against the government ban on public gatherings. The rally was organized by the Communist-controlled All-India Students' Federation. As soon as the students assembled inside the field, police, armed with tear gas and staves, charged the crowd, scattering the demonstrators in all directions. Six students were wounded by gunfire, a score injured by the stave-swinging officers, and 300 others taken to the hospital for anti-gas treatment.

Gunmen, Girls Rob Bank In Tel Aviv

JERUSALEM, Jan. 12 — (CP). — Armed Jews, including several women, today held up a bank in one of Tel Aviv's main streets during the rush hour and escaped with bags of money stated by Jewish sources to be worth $40,000.

Jews brandishing tommy-guns entered Barclay's Bank and ordered the staff and customers to turn their faces to the wall. Seizing several bags of currency they escaped in a waiting car while other Jews covered the entrance of the bank with machine-guns.

Meanwhile, sporadic shooting was reported throughout Palestine as civil war continued between Jews and Arabs. The results of yesterday's violence raised the unofficial death toll to 688 persons since the United Nations voted Nov. 29 to partition the Holy Land.

The Palestine government health department announced that Arab doctors and nurses had been withdrawn from a government mental hospital at Bat Yam, a Jewish colony south of Jaffa, "because of continued sniping at Arab staff by Jews." To get to work the Arab medical staff frequently had to crawl across open ground, the statement said.

A British constable died in Haifa of wounds received when a Jewish-driven taxi in which he was riding was shot up by Arabs.

Killed In Skirmish

Police said two Jews were killed in a skirmish yesterday at Kefar Uriah near Lydda and two more killed on a nearby highway in Arab attacks.

Reports in Jerusalem said snipers were still active in the old walled city and that there was a brief exchange of fire in the "No Man's Land" area between the Jewish and Arab quarters in the centre of the new city.

Sniping also continued today between Jewish and Arab sectors near Mejor Hai, Jerusalem suburb. A Jewish ambulance entered the settlement today under escort of two police cars.

"As far as I know this is the first attempt ever made with this type of experiment in Canada," said Mr. Ambridge.

A plane is standing by in Timmins to freight the supply of dry ice above the clouds when weather conditions are favorable.

Says UK Steel Production Million Tons Short In '48

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

LONDON, Jan. 12—(CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced today that United Kingdom steel production in 1948 will be at least 1,000,000 tons below requirements and disclosed cuts in allocations for factory and government building, shipbuilding and the gas industry.

But he said engineering and vehicles industries will be allocated "rather more" than what was actually delivered in 1947; there would be a "little more" for consumer goods; a "very substantial increase" for agricultural machinery manufacturers; and important additions for transport, coal mines and the electricity industry.

Sir Stafford, speaking at a press conference, said a lack of scrap and coke was a limiting factor on steel production, expected to reach 14,000,000 ingot tons this year.

Public Ownership

He reiterated that the government's ultimate aim is public ownership of the steel industry.

Despite a shortage at home, steel exports in 1948 would be an estimated 1,000,000, exclusive of another 2,000,000 tons used in finished products shipped abroad.

Can Apply 1942 Refund Against Back Income Tax

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 — (CP). — Refunds on the savings portion of the 1942 income taxes, payable on or about March 31, will be applied against income and excess profits taxes still outstanding for all years prior to 1947, the revenue department announced today.

The department's income tax branch has been authorized to allow Canadians still owing back taxes to pay them off in this way.

Officials stressed, however, that the offsets of 1942 refundable savings portion against tax indebtedness will "only occur in those cases where the tax debt has been established by the issuance of an official assessment notice by the department which has remained unpaid for more than one month.

"It does not apply to income taxes for 1947 or any other year in which the taxpayer has not as yet received his assessment notice showing a balance due. Taxpayers who are up-to-date with payments as assessed will, therefore, not be affected by this offsetting process and will receive their full 1942 refundable savings portion with interest in the normal way on or about March 31."

During the next two months, taxpayers who have received assessment notices and have failed to make payment, and who also have 1942 refundable savings portion due them, will receive a notice from the taxation division informing them of the details of the application of their 1942 refundable savings portion with interest against their arrears of tax.

Any balance of the savings portion that remains payable will be noted in the advice and mailed to the taxpayer.

Truman Asks 39 Million For Budget

Say Federal Revenues Break Record For Surplus In 1948

By CHARLES MOLONY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP). —President Truman fired an unprecedented peacetime budget of $39,669,000,000 at Congress today to meet "the realities of our existing international and domestic requirements" during the 1949 fiscal year beginning July 1.

He told the Republican-dominated Congress that nearly four-fifths of the spending estimate represents the aftermath of the second world war and efforts to head off a third world war.

Although it exceeds by $2,000,000,000 his budget request for the current year, Truman declared its preparation was governed by "rigid standards of operating economy" in the government.

"The plain fact is," he said in his accompanying message, "that our budget must remain high until we have met our international responsibilities and can see the way clear to a peaceful and prosperous world."

In an obvious reference to the hoped-for effect of foreign aid in curbing the spread of Communism, Truman said:

"Should failure of these programs result in a further extension of totalitarian rule, we would have to re-examine our security position and take whatever steps might be necessary under the circumstances."

Reflect War Costs

Seventy-nine per cent of the expenditures he proposed "directly reflect the costs of war, the effects of war, and our efforts to prevent a future war."

In this class he listed the two biggest items in his budget: $11,000,000,000 for national defence, 28 per cent of the total and $279,000,000 higher than this year; and $7,000,000,000 for foreign and other innternational affairs, 18 per cent of the total and up $1,500,000,000.

The biggest single item in his new budget is to be spent for the defence of the United States.

He said that "if Europe should succumb to totalitarian rule" the cost would be far greater.

Crew Abandons Blazing Ship

NEW YOPK, Jan. 12 — (AP)— The United States Army Transport Joseph V. Connolly caught fire early today and was abandoned by its crew of 43, 900 miles East of New York.

The coast guard here reported that the S. S. Morrison R. Waite reached the scene shortly after 7 a.m. and was searching for the Connolly's lifeboats. The port of embarkation said no injuries or deaths were reported among the transport's crew.

The Connolly, carrying 5,000 empty caskets to bring American war dead back from Europe, sent its first call for immediate help at about 4:30 a.m.

The fire, which started in the engineroom, was spreading but the extent was not know here because the ship's radio went out of commission before the Connolly was abandoned, the United States coast guard said.

New Safe-Crackers Nearly Killed Selves

TORONTO, Jan. 12—(CP). — It's a wonder they didn't kill themselves," said an investigating detective here today after inspecting the havoc wrought by nitro-glycerine "soup" used by an inexperienced gang of safe-crackers. They blasted open a section of a heavy safe door but were unable to open the strongbox.

The box contained several thousand dollars, the week-end receipts of a west-end store.

Noise from the explosion and shattering glass must have frightened the gang for they fled, leaving their burglar tools.

Export Firm Charges FBI Knew All About Explosives For Palestine

Jewish Agency Acknowledges Purchase Of 199 Tons Confiscated Explosives; Say Shipments From US Procured Legally

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(AP).—A representative of a Manhatten import-export firm, Samuel Nattis, said last night he had been liaison man in the purchase of 199 tons of explosives destined for Palestine, and that the "Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Army and War Assets Administration knew all about it. I don't see why they let the trucks leave the depot warehouses with the stuff if there was anything illegal about it," he said in an interview.

Nattis said the WAA had advertised for sale a quantity of M-3 demolition blocks, and he had been commissioned to buy the stock for approximately $18,000 by Foundry Associates, Inc., identified by waybills as the shipper of 67 tons of explosives seized by New York State police at Saugerties, NY, Friday.

The FBI here declined to comment on Nattis' declaration. Officials said he went to Washington, DC, and received WAA assurance that his offer for the explosives was acceptable.

Acknowledges Purchase

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 —(AP)—The Jewish agency for Palestine has acknowledged that it was the purchaser of 199 tons of explosives seized by police and federal agents in New York and New Jersey.

As the last of the consignment of war surplus explosives earmarked for the Jewish forces in the Holy Land was accounted for at army depots at Romulus, N.Y., the Jewish agency said in a statement Saturday night that the explosives were "legally procured" and were awaiting "legitimate shipment" to Palestine when discovered.

The statement said:

"The Jewish agency for Palestine has the responsibilities of a state about to be born. It must protect the lives and homes of the 70,000 men, women and children of Palestine."

The statement came after Leonard Weisman, 32-year-old importer and exporter, said he had helped a firm known as Foundry Associates, Inc., obtain arms and military equipment for Hagana, the Jewish agency armed force.

In an interview, Weisman said: "I consider it an honor, first as an American, and second as a Jew, to legally procure the means of self-defence of the Jewish state against the Arab maurauders armed by the British."

17 Fishermen Rescued From Ice Floe

STONEY POINT, Jan. 12 — (CP). — One man received a ducking and his automobile was submerged in six feet of water today when the ice broke away from the shore and carried 17 Canadian and American fishermen out into Lake St. Clair.

G. D. Butzer of Windsor had his car on the ice while finshing when a strong south wind broke the ice away from the shore for the second time this winter. Moving around looking for a path to shore for himself and the car, he happened on to thin ice which gave way plunging both into the icy water.

Butzer was pulled out and taken ashore with 13 other fishermen in two rowboats.

Game Warden Ed. O'Neil took five ashore in one boat while the other nine were rescued by Wilfred Labute.

The remaining three managed to get back to shore by jumping from one cake of ice to another. However, two of them, Stanley Romanski and Bill Van Horne, both of Wyandotte, Mich., lost $50 in fishing equipment, while making their way to safety.

Game Warden O'Neil said this is the first winter in his memory that the ice had broken away before the thaw. Several weeks ago 28 fishermen had to be rescued when the ice carried them a half mile out into the lake.

MORE ABOUT—

Truman Asks

Military security and the impossibility of separating many of the tiems between military and civilian use left undisclosed the amount of funds destined to go into the development and manufacture of atomic bombs and other nuclear weapons.

The budget shows a contemplated outlay of $660,000,000 for the Atomic Energy Commission, compared wtih the $456,000,000 the agency is spending this year.

After allowing for veterans' benefits, interest on the public debt and tax refunds, only 21 per cent of the outlay would remain for social welfare and ordinary expenses of government.

Some Optimism.

He injected a note of optimism, however, with an estimate that "under existing tax laws" federal revenues will yield a record-breaking surplus of $7,482,000,000 this year and another of $4,808,000,000 in the following 12 months if Congress adopts his fiscal plan.

Income for the 1948 fiscal year now half over, should reach $45,210,000,000, the highest for any year except the $46,467,000,000 received in wartime 1945.

He estimated next year's receipts at $44,477,000,000.

But Truman insisted the government should use all excess over spending to scale down the $256,000,000,000 public debt. The debt should be cut to $250,000,000,000 by next June 30 and to $246,20,000,000 one year later.

To do this and still leave room for the $40-a-person tax cut he suggested last week, the President reiterated his call for a $3,200,000,000 hike in corporation taxes.

Expect Acceptance.

The new budget is based on the assumption that Congress will accept a variety of other projects outlined in Truman's State-of-the-Union message which Republican leaders denounced as "Santa Claus" bidding for votes.

It includes a new program of financial aid for state school systems, health insurance, extension of social security to such groups as farmers, domestics, and the self-employed, long-range housing aid, and expanded food control.

Mentioned for future consideration is a new sea-level canal to connect the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

Ask Miners Boost Output To Get Canadian Wheat

CWMTWRCH, Wales, Jan. 12. —(CP).—James Griffiths, minister of national insurance, today called upon Welsh miners to boost the output of anthracite coal because "our daily bread may depend" on anthracite exports to Canada.

Two-thirds of Britain's bread was made from Canadian wheat, he said, and sooner or later, Britain must earn the dollars to pay for "this massive contribution" to the country's food supplies.

Before the war, Britain sold Canada more than 1,000,000 tons of Welsh anthracite annually. Last year, only about 50,000 tons could be spared.

"We cannot continue to impose upon the good-will that exists between members of the British commonwealth," Griffith said. "We must pay our way . . . we must produce in the anthracite coalfield sufficient to meet our own needs and to send to Canada and elsewhere exports on a pre-war scale. Coal is the best export we have to offer."

The minister said that the long-term wheat agreement with Canada was possible "because Canadians are confident that this country is on the way to recovery; that . . . we will have the will and the ability to raise our output of goods of all kinds to such a level as will enable us again to pay our way in the world."

Declares Soviet Policies Risk New War

LEICESTER, England., Jan. 12 (AP)—Russia got its second blast from high British officials within eight days when Deputy Prime Minister Morrison last night asserted "provocative" Soviet policies are risking another war and impeding world economic recovery.

On Jan. 3 Prime Minister Attlee denounced Russian Communism as a "new form of imperialism" threatening Europe.

Last Thursday the cabinet met to survey British foreign policy. Informants said the decisions reached would align Britain closer to the United States in world affairs.

Only Go So Far

Morrison, in the first official address on world affairs since Thursday's meeting, told a regional council of the Labor party that Britain wants to co-operate with Russia, but added:

"We cannot be expected to be happy when country after country in eastern and southeastern Europe find themselves subject to undemocratic and unrepresentative Communist governments, coupled with the suppression of other political parties and freedom of the press, wholesale witch hunting, and even the very unjudicial execution of non-Communist political leaders.

"Nobody is seeking to upset the internal security of the Soviet Union," but "can they not begin to reverse engines and to discard provocative policies by which they are not only running the risk of war at some time, but which are impeding the economic recovery and progress of mankind?"

Industrials Showing Moderate Gains Today

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP). — Imperial Oil and Winnipeg Electric led industrials in activity on moderate gains on the Stock Exchange today but the list as a whole was mildly off on a majority of fractional losses. Mining issues were easy with golds off and base metals holding.

Volume for the first three hours was 555,000 shares, about 120,000 more than yesterday's similar period.

Industrials did not establish any group trends as gains and losses were scattered through the lists. A handful of steels moved up but losses took in Algoma and the Steel of Canada issues. Brazilian added ⅛, CPR lost ⅛. Winnipeg Electric Common gained -⅝ and Imperial Oil ⅛.

Losers among golds were Cochenour, Hard Rock, Hollinger, Kerr Addison, Kirkland Lake, Louvicourt, Wright Hargreaves, Springer, Pickle Crow and Pioneer. Gainers included Bear Exploration, MacLeod, Madsen, Negus and Osulake. Base Metals balanced gains and losses

Report Good Progress In Danish Talks

LONDON, Jan. 12 — (Reuters). — Informed quarters expressed belief today that good progress has been made during the last week by all three committees of th Anglo-Danish trade negotiations in London.

However, until agreement is reached on the prices Britain will pay for Danish butter, it is not possible to say that agreement is in sight. Even then agreement would be needed on the quantities of dairy products to be supplied by Denmark and on industrial goods, agricultural supplies and eventually coal to be supplied by Britain.

It would have to be a long-term agreement. Even last September, when Britain refused to pay Denmark's prices, Denmark was prepared to take lower prices from Britain in sterling than she could have got in dollars.

Edward, Duke of Windsor Tells His Life's Story

My boyhood was a strict one because my father was strict in his own life and habits. He was a perfect expression of the Victorian and Edwardian eras, those conjoined epochs to which his immediate forbears lent their names.

He had the Victorian's sense of probity, moral responsibility, and love of domesticity. He believed in God, in the invincibliity of the British Navy, and the vested privilege of the Royal Family.

At the same time, he had the British flair for clothes and fondness for sport, from grouse to tiger shooting, deer stalking and fishing.

He was a fine shot, one of the best of his day, and there were few in England who could teach him anything about sailing a boat.

Yet through everything cleaved the sharp concept of duty, summed up for him in the precept which copied in his round hand, he kept on his writing desk: "I shall pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show any human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer, nor neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

These lines are attributed to an American Quaker of the early 19th century, Stephen Grellet, and I was made, while very young, to memorise them and they have often influenced my actions in my varied career.

If, through my family's position my childhood was spared the mundane struggle that is the common lot, it was not devoid of conflict.

Concept of Duty

For the concept of duty was drilled into me, and I never had the sense that the days belonged to me alone.

Combined with this stern sense of duty was an almost fanatical sense of puntuality. Only through rare accidents was my father ever known to be late. His days were organised with railway precision—even to the habit of a post-luncheon nap, a carry-over from his watch-keeping in the Navy.

Such was the power of my father's will that he could fall asleep instantly and wake up exactly 15 minutes later, just as if an alarm clock had gone off inside his head.

In my father's rigorous schedule we children occupied small, fixed niches. We were summoned to his study at breakfast time to say good-morning, then we would go again in the evening after tea. He and my mother always popped into the nursery to say good-night while on their way to dinner.

My father, never demonstrative, would peer down at us gravely in the dim light, perhaps touch the covers gently, and then step quietly out of the room.

Often Scolded

I have often thought that my father liked children only in the abstract.

Bertie and I and mostly I, came in for a good deal of scolding for being late or dirty, for making a noise on some solemn occasion, for wriggling and scratching in church, for not getting up when an older person entered the room. My father literally pounded good manners into us, and we boys were taught to bow, and my sister to curtsy, to all our older relations.

Many of my father's highly individualistic habits and traits can be attributed to his naval upbringing in a hard seafaring age when the sail was still regarded as a major and fully reliable form of propulsion.

Long after his retirement to land the Navy's tradition and outlook permeated his thoughts. It developed in him a gruff, blue-water approach to all human situations, and a loud voice.

It gave him a fund of stories and reminiscences in which he delighted to indulge when we had as a guest a contemporary who had shared his sea experiences. And finally, he never lost the nautical habit of consulting the barometer and thermometer the first thing every morning and the last thing at night. No matter where he was—at York Cottage, in London, at Frogmore or Abergeldie, on his way to breakfast or to bed—he would make a bee-line for these instruments. He would peer at the glass, tap the case sharply to make sure that the needle was not stuck, and set it again.

Liked Scotland

My father had a great fondness for Scotland and Scottish ways, liked to wear a kilt, and with a view to injecting a Highland flavour to the household, engaged two Scottish veterans of the Boer War, who swiftly became heroic figures of my youth.

One, Henry Forsyth, had been a pipe major in the Scots Guards. The other, Findlay Cameron of the Highland regiment of that name had the reputation of possessing more medals than any other British soldier.

Every morning, in the Scottish manner, Forsyth would rouse the household with the skirl of his bagpipes rending the morning air.

Cameron, ostensibly a footman, never became proficient in the art of serving at the dinner-table, and I well recall one of his early entries into the dining room when, as a result of inattention, he tripped and catapulted across the room a large ham which missed my father by inches.

If an imperfect servant, Cameron, with his handlebar moustache, was none the less an exciting companion, though in time my mother was to suspect that he carried the Scot's traditional preference for whisky to a point that made him a dubious example for impressionable young Princes. We loved to hear Cameron tell of his hand-to-hand battles with the Fuzzy-Wuzzies and shooting it out with the Boers. And when in London nothing else that Bertie and I ever did could match the thrill of having Forsyth and Cameron take us atop the wall of Marlborough House, whence, across the street in Friary Court of St. James's Palace, we could watch the changing of the King's Guard. To salute the Colours as they passed by became for us a veritable religion.

Preacher Shows Church Survived Many Scourges

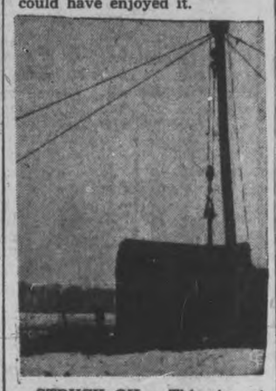
"Jesus prayed not only in the open, but he went regularly into the Synagogue, despite the fact that it was desecrated with worldliness, a little vulgar, sordid and quarrelsome. He went into the Temple and did not stand aside and find fault."

Rev. Dr. J. Semple, BA, STB, ThD, made these points clear in his address in George Street United Church, Sunday evening when he spoke on "Would Jesus Go To Church." He said his remarks would be based on the references to the Church that were made by Mayor W. G. Ovens in his inaugural address. "I knew that these remarks would be made," said Dr. Semple, "for I had had a conversation with the Mayor previously. I believe the Mayor to be a good man, unselfish and to be commended for the excellent work he has done for the city. What he said at his inaugural address should be taken seriously especially with reference to his remarks on the Church.

"Tonight I want to speak on the social accomplishments of Christianity. The first is the abolition of slavery. The second is the boon that it has given in regard to the new evaluation upon each human life as being a child of God. And the third is that Christianity has given to women her rightful place in the Life of the Church and Society.

"The Church has withstood many things in its history. The Roman Empire tried its best to stamp out the Faith as introducing a superior loyalty to the collective good of the Empire, but the Church won out.

"Then there was the age of Asceticism. This was a time when the finest consciences in the Church ran away from their duties as kinsfolk and citizens to save their own souls in either the shelter of a desert or in the safety of a monstery. Again in this case the Church survived. Then there was an age when Christians fought Christian all in the name of religion. Men were burned at the stake and large sections of Europe were devastated by battling armies. On May 27th, 1593, John Penry was hanged by order of the then Archbishop of Canterbury; John Whitgift, because he had appealed to parliament to send preachers to Wales, his native country. He (Penry) had demanded reforms, and joined the separatist movement for worship in secret in various places in London. Another man was hanged because he did not believe in immortality. Yet we have proof that the Church survived the wars of religion.



"The Church is not a charity organization. It is not a Mutual Benefit Society. It is not an uplift organization, It is not a philanthropic institution. Nor is it a week-end rest cure for tired businessmen. The Church is the borderland of Eternity. It is a bridge between the seen and the unseen. It is the trysting place of God and man. The Church is the Temporal Body of the Invisible Christ. It is for a worshipping, praying community.

"Our Lord, as was His custom went into the synagogue on the Sabbath. The synagogue was bankrupt. The service was lifeless and formal, but He went into the church and did not stand outside and find fault."

During the service the choir sang "The Church in the Wildwood" (Pitt). Mr. Robert, the soloist, sang "Just For Today," and during the Ladies' Chorus, singing "Whispering Hope" (Hawthorne), Mrs. James Goldie sang the solo. The organist was Mr. C. E. Allen. The church was filled to capacity.

OIL ON LAND, NOT HAPPY—Sam Lynn, 77, is owner of a farm near Tilbury, Ont., where oil has been found. Though if the 144-barrel-a-day production estimate is realized, Sam will receive about $21,000 a year in royalties, he says it's too late; it should have happened 20 years ago when he could have enjoyed it.

STRUCK OIL—This rig, set up by the Imperial Oil Co., as part of their program of oil exploration, struck the lode at Sam Lynn's farm. The company has 100,000 acres under lease in the area.

Unfair Taxation In Peterborough

Unmarried men who are not property owners and are of legal age are being taxed by this city, but given no vote. It is a monstrous example of taxation without representation. The tax we refer to is the annual poll tax of five dollars.

* * *

There are some old bachelors in town, there are quite a few middle-aged ones, and there are thousands of young men who are required to pay this unfair tax but who are not allowed to vote in the municipal elections. They pay the tax but have absolutely nothing to say about how their money should be spent. There are probably more young men affected by the poll tax in Peterborough than in other cities of comparable size because of our numerous factories. It seems to us that either this ridiculous tax should be removed (as has been done in Toronto) or that these men should be allowed to vote.

* * *

The poll tax is a relic of early settlement days when able-bodied men who were not property owners were required to do statutory labour. In most municipalities the statutory labour has been commuted by the poll tax; in many the tax has been dropped. The local Council exacts the five dollars under the Statute Labour Act, but it could forego it if it wished. There are thousands of young men here who should demand that it be dropped — unless the right to vote in municipal elections is afforded them.

* * *

Another manifestly unfair aspect of the poll tax is that it applies only to unmarried men. Unmarried women get off free. Why should that be? It is no excuse in this day to say that women couldn't do road work. We suspect they could if required (they do in Finland, Germany and Russia)—but the men of Peterborough would not be allowed to do road work if they insisted on that instead of paying the tax. They must pay the tax.

* * *

Four decades ago women were clamouring for the right to vote and other whimsical things; now it is time that men began to howl about their rights. An early howling theme should be the poll tax. Bachelors young and old should demand that it be removed or made applicable to women as well as men, so that one discrimination against men could be removed. If the abhorrent tax remains, it should carry with it the right to vote in municipal affairs.

Hockey On Sunday

In Toronto there is a commercially-owned skating rink called "Icelandia". The proprietor has been breaking the laws of the land, specifically the Lord's Day Act, by renting it on Sundays to hockey teams for practice. He was convicted of this offence last October, paid his fine, and stated, according to reports: "I know I am breaking the law, but the law's wrong and I shall continue to rent my rink on Sundays". He has done so, and the Board of Police Commissioners has warned him that unless he desists his license will not be renewed.

The proprietor has been breaking the law, and the police are in duty bound to take action against him. We do not consider the playing of hockey on Sundays to be a grievous sin, nor, apparently, did the deputation of five residents who appeared against him. The residents complained that the noise made by hockey teams arriving at the rink for Sunday morning practice disturbed their sleep. Therein lies the real crime, for every Canadian has a traditional right to "sleep in" on Sunday—whether in a church pew or in bed at home.

This business of hockey on Sundays is of concern to Peterborough citizens. The city provides us with 17 outdoor rinks, 8 for hockey, 9 for "pleasure" (a nice distinction). The "pleasure" rinks and the hockey rinks are usually in pairs. Youths armed with hockey sticks continually disregard the distinction, even on Sunday afternoons. They occupy not only the hockey rink but also the other rink. On it they are a menace to old gentlemen on uncertain skates, young ladies doing fancy figures and tiny tots just learning to stand up on ice. The rink becomes not a pleasure rink but an accident arena. The remedy is for the supervisors to supervise more energetically. They should not merely depend on young hockey players' ability to read the sign "No Hockey Sticks Allowed On This Rink". The supervisers, of course, should be on duty on Sunday afternoons and the huts opened and heated.

Should Provincial-Municipal Financial Relations Be Revised?

Under the present structure of municipal taxation, as we have noted before in these columns, virtually the entire burden of financing a municipality falls upon owners of real estate. It is true that there are certain provincial subsidies, but the relief they provide is negligible in comparison with expenditures considered by many real estate owners as constituting an unfair impost in terms of taxes. Because taxpayers on real estate are now paying the full cost of a municipality's share for certain services, and because of the prevalent feeling that this cost should be equally apportioned among all citizens of a community, municipal taxpayers and other interested parties are considering possible measures to revise the present taxation structure.

As we noted in a previous article, the cost of providing social services, which has increased very substantially during the past two decades, is the main item on which real estate taxpayers base their protest. Some of them have suggested, as a possible revision, assumption of the entire cost of these services by the province, to be met from a provincial tax levy upon all citizens of the province falling within certain income categories.

The suggestion sounds feasible, although it has not yet been presented in sufficient detail to permit considered judgement of its merits. It is undeniable, however, that a feeling that they are being discriminated against exists in the minds of many real estate taxpayers today. As long as it exists, the question of possible revision will continue to be a subject of discussion. And the feeling will continue to exist while one group in a municipality pays for services which do not enhance the value of their property but which, on the other hand, benefit all citizens.

If this suggestion should be adopted some time in the future, it might mark the beginning of a new era of financial relations between the Government of the province and the governments of municipalities within the province. The possibility that it may be adopted cannot be disregarded, for discontent over the present arrangement is growing, and many leaders in municipal affairs have expressed the opinion that municipalities are now in sight of their limit on expenditures in the fields referred to above. If this opinion is soundly based, it would be far better for local governments to begin now to consider a revision in financing than to wait until the necessity for revision is thrust upon them.

A Futile Bylaw

A law which is not enforced is futile. Peterborough has a bylaw which forbids citizens to leave their cars on streets overnight, because they impede the work of the snow-removal crews. So far as we have been able to see, nothing is done to enforce this law, and several residential streets now have strange twists in them because the scrapers have had to swerve to avoid parked cars.

There is nothing faddy about the bylaw. Its purpose is clear and in the present heavy snow it is essential that the snow-removal workers should have every reasonable co-operation from the citizens. Is it too much to suggest that the bosses of the snow-removal crews should take the numbers of cars which are parked on the streets overnight and turn them in at the police station? A fine for illegal parking could then be levied and this nuisance would shortly cease.

The bylaw governing night-parking on snowy streets is on our books. Let us observe it or scrap it; let us not flout it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Halifax spinster recently sued a salesman for $2,500 because he kissed her. Probably it was the high value which she placed upon her favours which confined her to the single state.

A woman in London, England, has given birth to three sets of twins in seven years, and a report says that she is doing well. Another instance of the British genius for understatement.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

ANTHONY Hope, author of The Prisoner of Zenda, tells some interesting stories especially in his younger years (in Memories and Notes, a lively and entertaining book).

"Thompson, a handsome man of very pleasant and gentle manners, was a famous surgeon, and had been called in to operate on Napoleon III in his last illness at Chislehurst. What was of closer interest to me: he had (as he told me himself) Thackeray among his patients, and had taken him into his own house for observation—he said nothing about an actual operation—for two or three weeks. In his professional capacity—yet, as I gathered, not too seriously—he asked the illustrious patient: 'And how many bottles of wine do you drink in a year, Mr. Thackeray?' Thackeray affected to think. 'Well — roughly — about five hundred, Mr. Thompson.' The doctor looked grave—or as grave as he could—and the patient added, in depreciation of imminent rebuke, 'But it's almost all other people's wine, you know.'"

◇ ◇ ◇

"AT that day the vendors of commodities were inviting people to write them 'Limericks' for advertising purposes. One of us, in the course of talk, mentioned these things, and I confessed to having written and sent in one that pleased me well, but, alas, had won no prize. 'I've sent in some, too,' said Mr. Meredith, unexpectedly. 'I send them in in my nurses's name. But I've never got a prize either.' That little accidental glimpse of the great old novelist and poet amusing the end of his days and cheating his infirmities with such pleasant trifling—and unsuccessful too!—has always seemed to me a very human and moving thing."

◇ ◇ ◇

"THE contributions of Sir William Christopher Macdonald to McGill University, which began about 1871, are said to have had a curiously casual origin", writes Edgar Andrew Collard in Oldest McGill (MacMillan). "In one of McGill's financial campaigns, students happened to be among the canvassers. Two of these students, so the story goes, mounted the steep and narrow stairway of Sir William's office at number 340 Notre Dame Street and laid the needs and claims of the University before the quiet little Tobacco King. To their surprise and to that of the authorities of the University, Sir William responded with a handsome donation."

"ONE of the professors who was brought to McGill to direct the new expansion in scientific instruction and research was a 27-year-old New Zealander, Ernest Rutherford (Later the Rt. Hon. Lord Rutherford, O. M., Cavendish Professor of Physics at the University of Cambridge). Ernest Rutherford's impressions of Macdonald were favourable. 'I have met Mr. Macdonald several times,' he wrote after his arrival in Montreal. 'He is a grey-headed Scotsman, simple and unassuming, and I like him very well.'

"For the research work in the New Macdonald Physics Building, by which Rutherford laid down certain fundamental principles of atomic knowledge, Sir William was ready to provide the required apparatus, however expensive it might be.

"On the matter of salaries, however, Sir William held Spartan principles. 'The salaries are small," wrote Rutherford, 'compared with the endowment of the laboratories and the enormous money spent on them, but that is chiefly due to the fact that the money has been advanced by Macdonald....and he lives on £250, so he reckons a professor should live on £500. However, £500 is not so bad and as the physical laboratory is the best of the kind in the world, I cannot complain.'

"SIR William's liberality was received in another direction; for though he was the Tobacco King of Canada, he was strangely intolerant to the use of tobacco. One day, while Dr. A. S. Eve was working with gamma rays in the basement of the Physics Building, Ernest Rutherford rushed in breathless.

"'Open the windows, put away your pipes, hide your tobacco!" he shouted.

"'Alf right,' said Dr. Eve, 'but what is the trouble?'

"'Hurry up!' urged Rutherford. 'Macdonald is coming round the laboratory.'

"As Dr. Eve, later recalling the incident, commented: 'We were all, men and laboratory, dependent on the sale of tobacco, but to use it was a crime!'"

IN his delightful autobiography (Memories of Four Score Years, Blackie, 1946), Sir John Marriott tells an amazing story of Sir William Hunter, a keen student of India.

"But the gods are jealous. Having spent twenty years in India collecting original materials for his magnum opus, Hunter travelled home with them. The Nepal, in which they sailed, was wrecked in the Mediterranean. Persuaded by his undaunted wife to return to India and renew his researches, Hunter collected more materials, and sent them back to England ahead of his own return. The ship to which he committed his precious freight was wrecked on the voyage. A third time Lady Hunter persuaded her husband to start afresh. This time his researches were confined to London, Lisbon and Amsterdam, and presently the first volume was published. In apology for delay he told in his Preface the story of the Nepal. But "Why only the story of the Nepal?" I asked him. "If I had mentioned the second wreck," was his shrewd retort, "no one would have believed the first."

ONE of the most recent and enjoyable books published in the space of the last two years is The Merry Wives of Westminster by Mrs. Belloc Lowndes (the English novelist).

"My husband and I (she relates) were fond of Epsom, where we sometimes spent a Saturday afternoon on the splendid downs; so we arranged to take the house for a month.

"We had been there a very short time when I became uncomfortably aware that I and my three children were being boycotted by the masters and their wives. If I spoke to one of the ladies when walking in the grounds of the College, she would scarcely answer, and quickly edged away. I was puzzled, and wondered whether it was believed my children were recovering from an infectious disease.

"At last the headmaster's wife called on me, and I summoned up courage to ask her why no one connected with Epsom College seemed to wish to make my acquaintance. She then hesitatingly revealed that it was owing to my being a novelist, and went on to tell me, with sharp resentment, that they had once had an assistant master, a quiet young man called Hugh Walpole, who after he left the College had written a dreadful book called Mr. Perrin and Mr. Traill. She said she hoped I had not read it, as it described with malignant fidelity a certain episode which had occurred while he was there, and which did not reflect credit on the people concerned. Everyone had therefore felt a great fear—indeed more than fear, a sensation of terror—when it was learned that another novelist was going to be in one of the College houses for some weeks, and might be tempted to follow his example.

"I never told Hugh Walpole of this odd episode, for I think it would have distressed him."

"I LATELY read an account of Hugh Walpole in which it was said he made a point of attending tea-parties where he could meet useful people, and so on. This is not true. What he did do, and I have sometimes wondered why his example was never followed, was to hold gatherings of writers in what were then his modest lodgings near Portland Place. It is agreed that the best talk always centres round 'shop', and Walpole conferred a real boon on the young writers of his day, especially on those then little known, by asking them to meet and make friends in an informal fashion.

◇ ◇ ◇

"THESE gatherings began about eight-thirty and went on till about eleven. I looked forward to them eagerly, and they gave me great pleasure. In my view rightly, though it caused resentment, Walpole firmly refused to include in any invitation a non-writing husband or wife. The only person permitted to break this rule was John Masefield. Long before his splendid gifts were recognized, both Hugh Walpole and I felt for Masefield's work an enthusiastic admiration, and when he refused to come unless Mrs. Masefield could come too, I begged Walpole to make an exception in this one case, and told him that I would willingly make a special point of trying to make Mrs. Masefield feel happy and at ease. As was instantly proved, she was a valuable guest, not only as a good talker, but also because she was deeply interested in all good contemporary writing."

Letter To The Editor

LET FIREMEN GET TO WORK

Sir: I got quite a laugh from an item in your Main Street Topics "Clear Snow From Hydrants", requested by Acting Fire Chief Smith. What's the matter with the firemen, are they all played out from playing rummy or dominoes all night? Who pays for all the equipment they have? Surely the time would go a little faster if they would take a drive around and check or shovel the snow themselves. I believe the majority of hydrants are on city property. Why should the taxpayers shovel them out?

I believe if there was a quiz for the firemen in regard to the location of some hydrants, there wouldn't be many jack-pots.

Yours truly,
J. P. CHALMERS.

CYCLE OF GREED

Sir: One canst but wonder at the loud talk of raising price of food and to wonder why people forget the past so easily. Just another cycle of the ways of greedy men.

Back 25 and 30 years ago after the last war prices skyrocketed it is not hard to remember. Sugar $22 a 100, butter 80c a lb. I myself, went on the market, paid $6 for 1 bag of potatoes, then the farmer would not bring it home for me; so I pushed it home in my baby's cutter. It was $5 for a sweater for a boy, also $4.50 for a pair of shoes.

Also the poor weary returned men marched on Ottawa for the help they did not get, although they had given so much. Although they have suffered now. Men strike to try to get money enough to pay the large combines who are keeping up the cycle of prices. It is easy to see the handwriting on the wall. High prices, then inflation, then closed factories. No doubt the water way will be built by relief program as of 1923-24.

High prices, no work, and worry cheated the country out of thousands of young men whose bodies were destroyed by undue nourishment in the chaos after the last war.

In my opinion there is no communism in this Canada, only what the big syndicates are bringing on themselves. By pushing the worker beyond his patience. One wonders if it will go as well this time as it did 20 years ago. A war government is never a good peace time one.

(Mrs.) W. DORRINGTON, Sr.

Lady Camper: "I'm awfully sorry. It's my husband you know; he always sleeps with his bedroom door open."

A Bible Message

Then Paul took the men, and the next day purifying himself with them entered into the temple, to signify the accomplishment of the days of purification, until that an offering should be offered for every one of them. And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia, when they saw him in the temple, stirred up all the people, and laid hands on him, crying out, men of Isreal, help: This is the man, that teacheth all men every where against the people, and the law, and this place: and further brought Greeks also into the tempie, and hath polluted this holy place. . . .

And as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was in an uproar.

Then the chief captain came near, and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains; and demanded who he was, and what he had done. (Acts 21:26-28,31,33.)

And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said unto the centurion that stood by, is it lawful for you to scourge a man that is a Roman, and uncondemned? When the centurion heard that, he went and told the chief captain, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Roman.

Then the chief captain came, and said unto him, Tell me, art thou a Roman? He said, yea. And the chief captain answered, With a great sum obtained I this freedom. And Paul said, But I was free born. (Acts 22:25-28.)

Traffic Deaths Make Half Of 10 Fatalities

By The Canadian Press

Traffic deaths accounted for half of the 10 week-end fatalities recorded by The Canadian Press in eastern Canada. One death resulted from a beating, a woman died of burns, a man was found asphyxiated, another was electrocuted and a third was found hanging dead in Quebec.

Miss Helen Timmons, 42, was found fatally injured in her home at St. Catharines where her 80-year-old mother, Mrs. Catharine Timmons, was found in critical condition. Police laid a murder charge against the husband and father, 72-year-old Frank Timmons.

Mrs. Lillion Dingwall, 87, died in hospital at Hamilton Sunday from burns received when her clothing caught fire from an electric grate Saturday.

Christian Gilmor, 47, said to have been in poor health, was found dead in his gas-filled room in Toronto. Louis Paquin, 44-year-old painter, was electrocuted when his ladder came in contact with a power plant at a Lachine factory in Montreal. William Capsie, 28, was found hanged Sunday at Stanbridge, Que., when police arrived to investigate the poison death of his wife last week.

Four of the traffic deaths were in Ontario. Mrs. Jean Bertie, 62, died in a Toronto hospital from injuries received when hit by a streetcar, Saturday. Harry Osbaldeston, 63, was fatally injured by a motorcar at Windsor and Thomas Hayes was killed on the highway near Newmarket Sunday when struck by a car.

The body of Robert Haystead, 16, was found on the highway near Collingwood apparently victim of a car driver.

At Quebec Thurebe Dermone of Montreal died in hospital Saturday from injuries received when hit by a car on the highway.

BRIGHT STAR

Astronomers estimate that the earth, if seen from the moon, would be 80 times brighter than the moon appears from the earth.

KITCHENER AUDITORIUM RAZED—A mass of twisted steel is all that remains of the former Kitchener rink destroyed Saturday in a spectacular $135,000 fire. For seven years it had been used as a dance hall and auditorium. The fire wall was credited with saving seven business establishments at the front of the building.

Cannot Agree How To Fight Prices

By The Canadian Press

The battle of the price bulge finds all combatants on the one side — no one openly fights on the side of higher prices. But, although all are agreed on the objective of lower prices, disagreement centres on the methods of attaining that objective.

Labor already has stated its position—a general "roll-back" of prices and return to controls. In addition, labor is on record for wage increases to meet higher prices.

Consumers, angered by the sharp price rise at the retail level, have called through consumer organizations both for an investigation into the rist and for controls.

Business generally is against price controls. Producers and business say that controls will discourage increased production and government officials join them in saying that increased production and disciplined demand for commodities still in short supply will bring the desired result.

Government records and reports from nearly all sections of industry joint to continued expansion of productive powers. But, to counteract the possibilities of lower domestic prices resulting from improved commodity supplies is the greater volume of exports at higher world prices.

Plan Euchre

HARWOOD, Jan. 12 — (ENS) —The first meeting of the New Year of the Harwood branch of the Women's Institute was held Thursday at the home of the president, Mrs. Arthur Lawton, who presided.

Five dollars was voted towards the Hospital for Sick Children. The secretary was asked to send a card to Mr. Al Finnie, who is ill in Toronto, and a plant to Mr. Crick. Mrs. Lawton and Mrs. Hogg were appointed to see about a pair of eye glasses for a child. The birthday gifts were auctioned by Mrs. Drope, and amounted to $6.75.

It was planned to have a euchre party in the Harwood Hall on January 16th, and to accept Mrs. Cheyne's offer to have a euchre party at her home on the Gore's Landing road on January 30th. There will be excellent prizes.

An exhibition of Christmas cake took place. An instrumental solo by Mis Drope and a reading by Mrs. Sandercock.

The hostess and group served dainty refreshments after the meeting, which included the Christmas cake.

The next meeting will be in February at the home of Mrs. Frank Shearer.

Defence Ends Tojo Testimony

TOKYO, Jan. 12 — (AP). — The defence today completed 10½ months of testimony in behalf of ex-premier Hideki Tojo and 24 other former Japanese leaders on trial since June 3, 1946, on war guilt charges.

Final defence testimony came from a former premier, Admiral Keisuke Okada, one of several prominent Japanese hosts of chief prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan at villa last week.

Okada testified by affidavit and was not called himself. He declared defendant Shigenori Togo, former foreign minister, had opposed war with the United States and Britain. He gave a number of instances to "show how intense is Mr. Togo's aspiration for peace."

Marshall Plan Gives More To Great Britain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP). —The United States State Department estimated Saturday that Britain needs $5,348,000,000 in outside financial help under the Marshall plan—almost twice as much as any of the other 16 participating countries.

This information, given the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, represents the first administration effort to break down how much assistance from all sources each country may get from the Western Hemisphere.

Second to Britain in need in the State Department estimates is France, which it said requires a total of $3,701,000,000 for metropolitan France, the French zone of Germany, and dependencies during the 4¼ years beginning April 1.

Italy ranks third, with a deficit figure of $2,913,999,999, and the combined Anglo-American zone of Germany next, with requirements of $3,499,000,000. The Netherlands stands fifth in the listing, with $2,436,000,000.

The State Department documents emphasized the United States does not plan to make up the full amount of the deficits in all the countries.

Canada, the Latin-American republics and the World Bank are counted upon to furnish about $4,100,000,000—abou 15 per cent of the over-all total deficit, which is put at $19,400,000,000 to $22,100,000,000.

The State Department originally called upon Congress to appropriate $1,000,000,000 as the United States contribution, but last week erased this over-all price tag in favor of yearly donations and loans.

The major commodities to be purchased in the Western Hemisphere with aid money are grain, fats and oils, coal, fertilizer, petroleum, and agricultural machinery, steel, cotton, tobacco, and other raw materials. The State Department made no attempt to estimate how much of these recipient countries would get, and whether they would be paid for by gift or loan funds.

Waterlogged Vessel Being Towed To Port

TOKYO, Jan. 12. (AP)— The waterlogged Russian vessel Dvina its mission and the identity of its 780 rescued passengers still a mystery, moved slowly northward under tow, Soviet authorities advised United States naval officials.

The ship previously had been progressing westward. The altered course was not explained. It was theorized, however, the Dvina needed emergency repairs.

Soviet officials said nothing about the present whereabouts of Dvina's passengers. One unofficial theory of their identity is that they were Russian political prisoners being transferred between labor camps.

Establish Committee To Handle A-Defence

CANBERRA, Jan. 12 (Reuters) —The Australian cabinet today decided to set up a sub-committee to deal with civil defence against atomic bombs. A group of senior officers with specialized knowledge will advise the sub-committee.

At the same time it was decided to offer rewards ranging from $4,000 upwards for the discovery in Australia of uranium ore used in atom bomb production.

Order Students Quit College

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12. (AP)— The 163 Roman Catholic students studying for degress at Baldwin-Wallace College must withdraw from the Methodist institution at once if they wish to conform with the doctrines of their church a Diocesan priest advised a mass meeting of the students last night.

A compulsory religious course and religious chapel programs at the nearby Berea Institution are contrary to Catholic canon law and make it "impossible for a Catholic to pursue courses leading to a degree and remain a good Catholic," Rev. Joseph T. Moriarty, professor of religion at St. John's College, told the students, who met in the auditorium of a Catholic school. Several of them already have withdrawn.

The long-brewing issue was brought to public light recently when a Catholic student, who has since withdrawn, asked for an authoritative statement on a course, philosophy of religion, which is required of seniors working toward degrees.

Msgr. Vincent B. Balmat, chancellor of the Cleveland Catholic diocese, asserted in reply that Catholics "may not under any circumstances or pretext attend a class of this kind."

5-Cent Bacon Cut

7 Killed In Blast

PARIS, Jan. 12.—(Reuters). — Casualties in Saturday's coal mine explosion at Petite Rosselle, near Metz in eastern France, were officially stated to be seven killed and 39 injured—including 16 severely—while rescue squads were still searching for missing miners.

Attack Seaway Power Plant

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—(AP) —Construction of a Hydro-Electrict power plant in connection with the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway was assailed yesterday by Carroll B. Huntress, chairman of the National St. Lawrence Project Conference.

Huntress, whose organization opposes any part of the seaway development, for which legislation now is pending in the senate, said in a statement:

"Instead of New Jersey, Vermont and other states benefitting from the construction of the Hydro-Electric plant at Massena, N.Y., the additional power would likely be absorbed within two years by the immediate area."

The plant, which army engineers have testified could produce 2,200,000 horsepower of energy a year, would, according to seaway advocates, be able to distribute its production to points within 4,300-mile radius."

"It has been estimated," Huntress said, "that it would take at least six years to construct the proposed plant.

"In the meantime, the privately financed companies which now are taking care of the area needs and indeed, increasing their services to take care of steadily increased needs, could not be expected—with their investments jeopardized—to continue improving their facilities.

"The natural growth of the area would be checkmated until the Hydro-Electric plant came into existence, and then there would be a surprising limit to its capacity."

Find $82,000 Of Bank Loot

TORONTO, aJn. 12—(CP)—The total bank robbery loot recovered from hiding places in the Toronto area was raised to $450,000 late Saturday when detectives found nearly $82,000 in securities in a dilapidated house in the city's west end.

Police said yesterday the search was still on as a result of tips which led police to a cache of $150,000 in bonds in a suburban field Friday and to the loot in the Toronto house Saturday.

The bonds, stocks and valuables dug up in a field near the Queen Elizabeth highway and that recovered Saturday were part of the $500,000 stolen from safety deposit boxes in a burglarly of the Royal Bank branch at Chestnut and Dundas Sts., last August.

Marines Basketeers Beaten Out By Toronto And Cobourg Teams

Toronto York Belting senior cagers yanked out a 64-52 decision over Outboard Marines "A" intermediates in a fine hoop exhibition before a fair crowd in the Collegiate Saturday night. Previously, on the same floor, Cobourg copped a 28-19 Lakeshore Basketball League win over the Marines "B" bunch.

Some of the best basketball seen here this season was dished up in the nightcap to the gallery of rooters. Marines were right in the fight from start to finish. They used a man-to-man defence for the first time on a large floor and led Toronto aces the first half, having a 35-27 margin at the breather. They faded a bit in the third quarter against stiff opposition but came back to battle on even terms throughout the fourth heat.

Pattern Play

The game opened fast with both squads playing a pattern game. Led by Capt. Joe Stewart, Al Stewart and Ed Nicholls, the Marines built up an eight-point lead at the half. Nicholls did a fine job in holding the Toronto Jewish star, Maxie Grossman, to eight points in the half. They slipped badly to start the second half and York came back strongly to take the lead. The game now changed to a hard-driving and fast-break type of play with play see-sawing rapidly from end to end.

Outboards rimmed a lot of shots in this half, as their luck went out, while the Belting bunch really clicked neatly to emerge on top in the close contest. For them, Grossman shone with 22 points, while Tennenbaum and Madonic also looked good, the whole team showing a lot of style. Joe Stewart played bangup basketball for the Marines and racked up 20 points. Nicholls got 14 and Al Stewart's effective long throws accounted for most of his 11 points. Gillespie was solid as usual on defence. The teams:

York Belting —Grossman 22, Bauman 5, Tennenbaum 13, Terler 7, Madonic 8, Rogers 9.

Marines — J. Stewart 20, A. Stewart 11, Smith, Gillespie 4, Burns 1, Nicholls 14, Edger 2.

Loop Fixture

The intermediate "B" league fixture was a close-checking and hard-driving duel between two well-matched clubs, though Cobourg Legion gained the decision. The referees had a busy time of it. The first half showed little difference between the teams as Marines had more play but missed scoring chances. Cobourg gradually pulled ahead in the second half as Marines still missed on shots. Platt, Bevan and Guy looked good for the victors, while Gardner, Griffin and Seabrooke were the pick of the Marines, with Hanbridge good on defence. Marines showed improvement but didn't have enough scoring drive. The teams:

Cobourg— Platt 7, Corbett 2, Ewart, Bevan 4, Guy 2, Ball 3, Irwin 3, Quigley 7.

Marines— Smith, Gardner 7, Jones 2, Burroughs 1, Butcher, Griffin 4, Hanbridge 1, Seabrooke 4, Routly.

Referees — R. Dyer and L. Grose.

With rinks entered from Fenelon Falls, Oshawa, Toronto Granite, Lindsay, Colborne and Peterborough, play began at 9:00 o'clock this morning, in the week-long open bonspiel for the Morrow Trophy and the Canada Packers Trophy.

The games will continue all day with the winning rinks returning on Friday to play in the finals.

Tomorrow (Tuesday) another group of curlers will take the ice at 9:00 a.m.

The Ladies' Open Bonspiel for the Warne Trophy is scheduled for Thufsday, Jan. 22 and Friday, Jan. 23. This promises to be a big affair as already entries have been received from Bobcaygeon, Kingston, Lindsay, High Park, Toronto Granite, Hamilton, Toronto Ladies' Club and Peterborough. The entries close on Friday, Jan. 16 and from what we hear it would not be surprising if this bonspiel will break all previous records, as far as entries go.

If the Saturday crowds keep on getting bigger we will pust have to enlarge the rink—so great was the demand for curling space on Saturday afternoon that we had to refuse many. Our entries were all in by one o'clock and the draw made by 1:15 p.m. The winning rinks were skipped by J. Welsh, D. Davis, J. Richmond and H. Darling.

At night another nice crowd came out for the mixed rink spiel. The successful skips were S. Lowe and R. Payne.

At the conclusion of the games light refreshments were served in the club's parlors. We understand the Saturday night committee intends to repeat this again in two weeks' time.

Pro wrestling returns to the local scene this Wednesday p.m. with a three-bout card at the Brock Arena. Main melee has the Masked Marvel matched with Gentleman Jack Claybourne, the New Zealand kangaroo. Don't know what the mysterious Mask is—maybe a Texas steer. Anyway, he's big and mean, but will have to step lively to keep pace with Jumping Jack. Semi-windup is between large Earl McCready and villainous John Katan, a roughish rogue. Don McIntyre is paired with Pat Flanagan in the prelim. So, it sounds like a lively grapple card for the hefty local and district following these guys draw.

At the CAHA meeting in Regina the other day, it was ruled that no more Canadian players will be granted transfers to play with Scottish Ice Hockey Association teams until the CAHA is paid $100 transfer fees for each of the 80 or so players transferred there last season. The Scots had agreed to the fee but haven't come through with the cash. It might be, of course, that they can't send the money out of Scotland, but the CAHA is going to crack down on 'em, anyway. Randy Ellis is starring this season in the Scottish League. The CAHA secretary, George Dudley, speaking of the RCAF Olympic team, said: "We won't be disappointed with the results."

Belleville Vs. Petes

Belleville Vets play the Petes an OHA senior "B" fixture at 8.30 tomorrow (Tuesday) night in Omemee. First clash this semester of these clubs and it should be well worth seeing. Vets lost to Legion but beat Kingston, who in turn beat the Petes. And the Petes trimmed Legion—who hold a decision over Kingston. So where does that leave tomorrow's tilt? On the laps of the gods, we suppose. Always lots of speedy and hot action when a Quinte crew plays the classy Petes, and this should be no exception. It rates a big crowd of puck fans.

Toronto Star writeup has this to say of an ex-Campbellford player: "Were those 2,228 customers at Maple Leaf Gardens cheering No. 8 for Hamilton Pats because of his youthful verve, vicavity, vim, vigor and velocity of shot power? No. 8 had the five Vees all right but not the youth. He was Doug Runions. Must be 19 years since he was Dougie Runions of West Toronto juniors and, on what he showed last night, he'll be good for another 17 years. He can outfoot a lot of his younger opponents and outthink all of them." The playing coach of the Pats scored three goals as Marlboros won by 8-4 count.

Ned Has Had Enough

On the other hand, Ned Vitarelli reckons he won't be playing any more hockey. Will settle as coach of Legionnaires from here on in. He says he could get in shape and turn in a fair chore yet but doesn't think it is worth it. "Too many young fellows coming up would be outskating me," he says, "and they get over a stiff check whereas the older player feels it all the way through. Personally, I'd sooner see the younger prospects given the chance to play in a strong grouping and stay on the sidelines myself." At that, Ned has played a lot of hockey since he broke into junior OHA some 15 years ago.

Five entries now in the Industrial Hockey League, but three more are wanted. What about Packers, De Laval and CGE—or anyone else? Those in are: Nashua Paper Co., Westclox, Marines, Quakers and Peterborough Automotive. The loop was slow getting started and we only got word of their week-end meeting Saturday a.m., so possibly clubs haven't had enough notification. But they won't get any more than this one, as entries close tonight at a 6.30 meeting in the Quaker clubhouse, when officers will be elected and general plans made for the season. Time is getting short and those interested in this circuit must act right smartly.

Classy Cage Contests

Two good cage games at the Collegiate on Saturday night before a fair-sized gallery. Cobourg Legion took a 28-19 Lakeshore Loop fixture from Marines "B" bunch, when the latter faltered on the attack. And Toronto York Belting seniors jerked out a 64-52 decision o'er Marines "A" champs—intermediate, that is—in a fine nightcap. Some right smart basketball served up by these teams and Marines looked good in their loss. Grossman sparked the visitors' attack with 22 points, but Joe Stewart of Marines was right on his heels with 20. Toronto Westend "Y" seniors play them here next Saturday, while Marines "B" crew entertains Port Hope on Wednesday and goes to Lindsay on Saturday.

Trojan Results

Hawks beat Bruins 3-2 in one tilt but lost 5-1 to Bruins in the other as their Trojan AC tadpole series opened. Both goalies were good in the keen opener with Heffernan tallying twice for Hawks as Bowen got one and an assist for Bruins. In the other joust, Hawks missed Goalie Douglas and were outplayed by the aggressive Bruins. Clarke got three for Bruins and Brown tallied two. Chamberlain looked good in goal. Carl and Douglas stood out for the losers, the former scoring late.

In bantam play, Wings beat Leafs 8-5 and Rangers took the Canadiens 5-1. Allen, Floyd and Collins starred for the Wings, with Graham, Gilmour and Brioux best for Leafs. Corkery was hot and Dauncey and Deck went well, also for Rangers, as Braund robbed his rivals repeatedly in a good game. Teams:

Wings: Evans, Allen, Floyd, LaRoche, L. Collins, Jones, Burfield, Hegadore, K. Collins.

Leafs: Scriver, McCarthy, Clarke, Graham, J. Collins, Barker, Pullyblank, Kent, Gilmour, Williams.

Rangers: Braund, Deck, Corkery, Dauncey, Staves, O'Dette, Holbrook, Mongraw.

Canadiens: Curtis, Armstrong, Reid, White, Lockie, Henderson, Hewie, Jennings, Guthrie, Stewart.

Lions Gain Win

Lions Bantams beat Lakefield 5-1 in a neat PMHA tusle, as they counted two goals each in the first and third periods and one in the middle. Lakefield scored in the first frame of a clean contest. Pammett and Stewart got two goals each for Lions and Scriver one, with Ferguson having two assists. Heffernan got the losers' tally. Teams:

Lions — Goal, Delahaye; defence, Stewart, Cunningham; centre, Pammett; wings, Ferguson, Langhorne; alternates, Byrne, McCormick, McGrath, Scriver, Allen, McGillen, O'Brien.

Lakefield — Goal, Wingett; defence, Wilson, Pue; centre, Sloan; wings, Heffernan, Hunter; alternates, Pearson, Wasson, Coyle, Mathews, Twist, Brown.

Teepees Maul Referee As Game Lost

By The Canadian Press

Their chances for a playoff berth fading, St. Catharines Teepees at least entered a strong bid for "badmen" honors during the week-end.

Referee Honey Kuntz of Waterloo required a police escort from Galt arena after the eighth-place Guelph Biltmores edged the seventh-place Teepees 7-6 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A tilt Saturday night.

The enraged Teepees from coach Art Jackson down charged over the boards and started to maul Kuntz after—of what they hoped—their tying goal was disallowed in the final second of play.

In the senior loop the rampaging Owen Sound Mercurys notched their fifth straight victory by blanking the second-place Hamilton Tigers 4-0 at Owen Sound. Mercurys are now two points behind the third-place Stratford Indians.

Penalty Counts

A second-period Brantford penalty was the victory factor as the fifth-place Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen edged the last-place Brantford Redmen 2-1 Saturday in the week-end's other senior tilt, at Brantford. Last season's Memorial Cup champions, Toronto St. Michaels' Majors showed signs of former strength as they fought for 60 minutes only to be edged out 3-2 by the second place Oshawa Generals in a junior game at Oshawa Saturday. The Majors remain in ninth place.

With five minutes of play left, George Armstrong netted a corner shot to hand the fifth-place Stratford Kroehlers a 4-3 win over the sixth-place Toronto Marlboros in the opener of a junior twin-bill at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday afternoon. In the night-cap the third-place Galt Rockets met unexpected opposition when when they edged the cellar-dwelling Young Rangers 5-4 in overtime.

At Galt's junior tussle the timekeeper ruled the game-ending buzzer had gone before St. Catharines' disputed tying goal entered the net. Coach Jackson complained throughout the third period that the time clock was off. It was Guelph's eighth win in 24 tries.

Tatter McClellan, Lorne Ferguson and Glen Sonmor led Guelph with two goals each. Neil Gordon tallied the other Biltmore counter. Topper Toppazzini with three goals led Teepees marksmen. Wayne Service, Fred Hildebrand and fiery Gogan notched other St. Catharines goals.

First Shutout

The senior tussle at Owen Sound saw Mercurys Goalie Bobby Gilson rack up his first shutout of the season. He blocked 52 Hamilton drives while Mercurys had 35 shots on Tigers netminder Art Childs. Mercurys had the distinct edge in the checking department.

Owen Sound marksmen were Tommy Burlington, Pat McReavy, Bun White and Doug Gillespie.

Referee Dinty Moore had a tough time at Oshawa in the week end's junior tilt. Generals' fireball forward Eric Pogue clouted him on the nose while arguing about a penalty and drew a match misconduct.

Dusty Blair led the Oshawa attack with two goals and Ward Brandow tallied the other counter. St. Mikes' marksmen were Bill Dunn and Bill McNamara.

Norwood Wins 3-1

NORWOOD, Jan. 12.—(ENS).—Havelock and Norwood intermediates played in Norwood arena Saturday morning. It was fast and close in the first period, with no score and no penalties throughout the game.

CAHA Votes For Players Under Contract System

By GEORGE FOSTER

REGINA, Jan. 12.—(CP).—Acknowledgment that Junior A and Senior A hockey is "frankly professional" was made by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association at its week-end semi-annual meeting here in adopting a voluntary contract system with open trading and sale of players.

President George Panter of the Ontario Hockey Association, who referred to the professionalism which had entered junior and senior hockey, said the "greatest absurdities" resulted from attempts to operate professional hockey under amateur rules.

The resolution adopted unanimously by the meeting provides thta contracts will run for a full season after the season in which they are signed but all player deals must be completed by Jan. 1.

Any player dissatisfied with his contract may appeal to the C.A.H.A. president, while no club may sign more than 10 players. Because of the master agreement between the C.A.H.A. and the National Hockey League contracts of the former will be subject to N.H.L. contracts.

Despite the one-year clause, junior players will automatically become free agent when becoming over-age.

Set Schedules

Tentative Memorial and Allan Cup playdown schedules were also set by the meeting, which concluded Saturday. The junior Dominion finals will start in Toronto April 21, with the Allan Cup finals to be staged somewhere in the west, the locale to be decided after the western champions are crowned.

A resolution of Cecil Duncan of the Ottawa and District A.H.A. that provision be made for a Dominion "major" series—ranking one grade higher than senior hockey—in case one or two senior leagues should begin dominating Allan Cup play—was rereferred to the contracts committee.

Another approved motion ruled that all reinstatements of professional players must be completed before Feb. 1.

Permission was granted Memorial Cup contenders from the Thunder Bay, Ottawa, Northern Ontario and Maritime regions to strengthen their teams by three players from the same league. The same privilege was given Allan Cup contenders from the Manitoba-Thunder Bay, Northern Ontario and Ottawa districts.

In approving new contract regulations delegates agreed that they would make little difference in operation of many leagues where a contractual basis of operations is already in force. But they expected the measure to end lengthy transfer squabbles and to protect clubs from "raiding" by wealthier teams.

Peewee Tilts Held In Norwood Arena

NORWOOD, Jan. 12—(ENS).—Two peewee hockey games were staged here Saturday, with Maple Leafs beating the Rangers 7-0, and Red Wings defeating the Hawks 5-0. Mangrum Wins Crosby Tourney, Beats Leonard

DEL MONTE, Calif., Jan. 12.—(AP).—Stylish little Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles, the man with the nifty golf swing, competitive spirit and swell personality yesterday won $2,533 and the professional championship in the 1948 Bing Crosby tournament, one of the most interesting events of them all.

Mangrum uncorked the brand of golf that bagged him the 1946 United States open title to win first prize money ahead of Vancouver's Stan Leonard.

Unique in its progress, the 54-hole tournament was played over three different courses here on successive days. Mangrum clubbed each one into submission, chalking up 10 under par for the three rounds, for a total of 205.

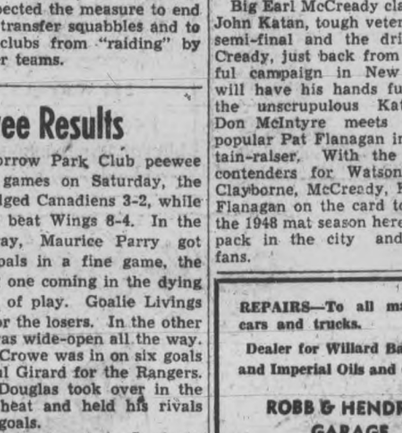
Third place among his fellow professionals, but a bigger money winner than Leonard because he was part of the winning pro-amateur combination, was Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa. Hogan's medal score was 211 but he teamed with Johnny Dawson of Los Angeles to win the pro-amateur ball competition with a low of 197.

Pressing Hogan but a strike behind to toke fourth position money, was Bobby Locke, knicker-wearing invader from Johannesburg. It was worth $1,233 to him.

The first four money winners compiled rounds as follows: Mangrum, 70-67-68; Leonard 71-67-72; Hogan 72-69-70, and Locke 73-69-70.

All-Star Lineup To Open 1948 Mat Season

Professional wrestling returns to Peterborough this Wednesday night at Brock Arena, following a layoff of three weeks. The main bout is between the mysterious Masked Marvel and Gentleman Jack Clayborne. The colored star from South Africa is faster than the Mask and just as ringwise, but the hooded one is a powerful and rough grappler. It should be a real humdinger of a battle between such topnotchers. The bout is the best two out of three falls with an hour time limit.



Earl McCready

Big Earl McCready clashes with John Katan, tough veteran, in the semi-final and the driving McCready, just back from a sucessful campaign in New Zealand, will have his hands full against the unscrupulous Katan. And Don McIntyre meets up with popular Pat Flanagan in the curtain-raiser. With the four top contenders for Watson's crown, Clayborne, McCready, Katan and Flanagan on the card to start off the 1948 mat season here it should pack in the city and district fans.

RE-OPEN ARENA—With $26,000 worth of artificial ice as a community memorial to Georgetown district servicemen, the town's arena was re-opened last night with a scrappy OHA Intermediate "A" game, Georgetown beating its traditional rivals, Milton, 3-2. In all, $35,000 is to be spent on renovating the 25-year-old rink, and providing more seating. Here is Kemshead of Georgetown dashing behind the goal.

Ottawa Senators Tied For Top Spot

By The Canadian Press

The power-packed Ottawa Senators were back in a first-place tie with Shawinigan Falls Cataracts today following a 5-5 tie and a 2-1 victory over the fourth place Quebec Aces during a five-game Quebec senior hockey league week-end.

The Cataracts who have played 32 games, two more than Ottawa, came up with a win and a loss, edging the fifth-place Boston Olympics 4-3 Saturday, and suffering a 7-1 walloping at the hands of the sixth-place New York Rovers Sunday.

The defending champions, Montreal Royals, moved to within four points of Ottawa by scoring a 4-3 win over the seventh and last place Valleyfield Braves Sunday.

Steelworkers To Ask Raise

TORONTO, Jan. 12— (CP). — A weekly wage rate higher than $45.00 suggested las October will be sought by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) on behalf of workers in Canada's three main basic steel plants, it was decided at a week-end meeting of the union's National Policy Committee.

"The present hourly base rate in the three main steel plants in Canada is 82½ cents an hour," said Cleve Kidd, union research director. "This means $39.60 for a 48-hour week, and is far short of the $44.45 figure which the Toronto Welfare Council has set as a weekly irreducible minimum to provide an adequate budget for a family of five in Toronto."

Present contracts are due for renewal in April. Union officials, who expressed belief living costs will rise still higher in the next 2½ months, decided to wait until shortly before the renewal date before setting the amount of additional wages they will demand.

Preliminary discussion of the new contracts will start February 2 with Steel Company of Canada in Hamilton, Algoma Steel Corporation in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. and Dominion Steel and Coal Company of Sydney, NS.

WITH THE HELP OF FIREMEN, the people above were being evacuated from the King's Hall building, Montreal, via the rear fire escape. The blast was caused by a furnace explosion.

Police Arrest Undertaker In Death of Recluse

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(AP).—Two men were charged on Saturday with scheming to name one of them heir to more than $250,000 in the estate of an 81-year-old recluse whose exhumed body revealed traces of a lethal dose of poison.

Fred Dresel, 53, was held in $50,000 bail and Fred Lasch, 56, in $25,000 bail on charges of first degree forgery in connection with the alleged falsification of the will of Miss Mathilde Molsberger. She died last June 30. For many years she operated dress shops catering to socially prominent customers.

Dresel is an apartment house superintendent and Lasch an undertaker.

In asking the high bail, Jacob Grumet, assistant district attorney, in charge of the homicide bureau, said "this was a fiendish plot to get the proceeds of an estate worth a quarter of a million dollars." He added that one of the defendants had admitted the forgery charge. Grumet did not say which of the two it was.

The alleged plot came to light when German relatives of Miss Molsberger objected to probate of the will which left the bulk of the estate to Dresel, superintendent of the apartment house in which the recluse lived for four years prior to her death.

Prime Minister King Receives Plaque

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King has been presented by the fraternal order of Eagles with a bronze plaque for outstanding service to humanity.

The presentation was made in a ceremony in Mr. King's office and was made to the prime minister as head of the government which legislated family allowances.

The order, a benevolent organization dedicated to such work as youth guidance, baby clinics and service for crippled children, endorsed family allowances and now is seeking passage of a similar act in the United States.

Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Mrs. Richard L. Cartwright, native of Kingston, died Saturday after a long illness. She had lived in Oakville before coming to Toronto. Her husband and two children survive.

London Mayor Says Suggestion A Joke

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12—(CP) —A statement by London's mayor George A. Weinige at the London and District Milk Producers annual banquet was termed "just a joke" by his worship and although officials of the Producers Association said they accepted the statement as such, other guests admitted Mayor Wenige had been "taken seriously."

Mr. Wenige took more than 600 guests by apparent surprise when he said:

"The price of milk? It doesn't matter how high or low it is, we've got to pay for it anyway, so bump it up.

"If you charge more and we pay more, you'll have more to spend in the city."

Bullet Hits Car

DELHI, Jan. 12. — (CP).— Shatterproof glass in the right rear window of a motor car last night perhaps saved the life of Ruth Campbell, 17, when a bullet was fired at the window of the car. Miss Campbell was a passenger in the car driven by Bruce Shaver of Port Burwell, who stopped the car but failed to find the person who fired the shot.

Presidential Candidate

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 12.—(AP). —Former Mayor William N. McNair announced yesterday he will seek the Democratic nomination for president of the United States. McNair said he will enter the Pennsylvania preferential primary in April.

Tackle Wage Problem Of Railroaders

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 — (CP). — Renewal of wage negotiations between the major railway companies and their 115,000 employees, under Federal Government auspices, are expected to open in Montreal on Wednesday.

Unable to reach agreement on the men's wage demands, disputants now will have the aid of H. R. Pettigrove, Labor Department Industrial Relations officer for the Maritimes, and one of the Government's ace conciliators. He has a long string of successful settlements to his record.

Some quarters here feel that the negotiations will go on cautiously, while the parties await the Board of Transport Commissioner's verdict on the companies' application for general freight-rate increases. The decision, which will critically affect railway revenues, is expected some time this month.

Zionist Meeting.

While troubled Palestine produces daily reports of strife between Arab and Jew, Canadian Jewry turned over in their minds how they could help fellow Jews. In Ottawa, the Canadian Zionist organization, 600 strong, met last week to map out plans for aid to their brethren in Palestine.

Present here were such noted Zionist leaders as Rabbi Philip Bernstein, the former advisor on Jewish affairs to United States Army commanders in Europe, and Abraham Harzfeld, an official of the Jewish National Fund and the Palestine Foundation Fund.

Also attending sessions was the Mayor of Tel Aviv, Israel Rokach, whose city was one of the focal points of the Holy Land strife.

Whatever Canadian Jewry has planned in the way of aid will not be clear probably until final sessions on January 14.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

Canadian Seeks Commons Seat; Starts Campaign

LONDON, Jan. 12 — (CP). — Down Somerset way, where the accents and traditions belong to olden times, a young Canadian is spending three days a week in an election campaign he hopes will take him to the House of Commons.

E. H. C. (Ted) Leather of Hamilton, 28, went from the Royal Military College at Kingston into the Toronto Scottish. He served in the United Kingdom, France and Germany, and liked Britain and British affairs so much that he became a Conservative candidate in Bristol South constituency in the 1945 general election.

He wos soundly trounced by a Labor candidate, but collected 12,379 votes, considered a good showing for a new entry.

Now he is settled in the insurance business in London, his wife and daughter have come from Canada. Two years before an election is expected, he is out on Somerset country roads in a little car chatting with people he hopes will vote for him.

A Canadian voice is a bit different from the Somerset accent, but they seem to like it," said Leather.

The constituency of Frome, where he has been asked to stand, is one of the largest in Britain, about 300 square miles without large towns. Under redistribution arrangements its name soon will be changed to North Somerset.

"My main interest is in politics and that is one of the reasons I intend staying here," said Leather.

In 1945 he was the Conservative choice for a constituency accustomed to hammer-and-tongs election fights. The opponents in the general election were the late Mrs. Mavis Tate, a fiery Liberal stalwart, and W. J. Farthing, a member of the Trades Union Congress General Council and an executive member of the powerful Transport and General Workers' Union.

Farthing had a majority of 5,507, with nearly 54,000 ballots cast.

AIR-SEA RESCUE OF FISHING BOAT CREW — The U.S. coast-guard has reported that 17 survivors of a wrecked fishing boat had been taken off Geronimo Island, 190 miles down the Baja, California, coast. Four who were injured were flown to San Diego aboard a coast-guard plane. Dollie Jenkins, on stretcher, is shown being transferred from small craft to the coast-guard plane.

Take Look At Plan For Steel Increase

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 12—(AP) —The 850,000 members of the United Steelworkers of America CIO) were given a look last week at arguments their union probably will use in negotiations next spring for wage increases from the United States steel industry.

"Steel Labor"—official publication of the big union—devoted much of its current issue to returning to an emphatic "yes" to the question: "Do steelworkers need a wage increase?"

Another ringing "yes" answers the question: "Can the industry afford a wage increase?"

The newspaper asserted: "In spite of wage increases of 1946 and 1947 the living standards of steelworkers have shown a steady deterioration. Steel profits have risen 204 per cent over 1939... 119 per cent over the average for war years... and climbed 59 per cent over 1946."

Meat Purchases Showing Drop

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP).— The first half of this week may be the testing days for consumers' resistance to buying meat and vegetables at inflated prices, retailers said last night.

A survey showed that week-end purchases had dropped almost everywhere in Ontario except at border points where the shoppers from the United States found it still cheaper to buy in Canada than in their own country.

One Hamilton butcher reported sales of bacon, price of which jumped as much as 20 cents per pound last Monday following the announcement that the United Kingdom would pay 7 cents a pound more than previously for Wiltshire sides, down 75 per cent.

In Vancouver, paraders carried placards which demanded lower food prices and restoration of price ceilings. The Edmonton Housewives' League called a buyers' strike.

Restaurant operators in London announced they would increase meal prices to-day, with steaks, chops and all pork products coming in for the heaviest price boosts.

Your Baby and You
by Ruth Parsons

From the moment baby starts toddling around the house under his own steam, every breakable object leads a precarious life. Some mothers solve the problem by moving all such articles well out of his curious reach. But many find it possible to teach him not to touch. You might try their method. When baby grasps some object he shouldn't, take it gently from him, saying "This is Mother's." As you retrieve it, give him in return some toy or book which is his own, saying "This is Bobby's." This method requires careful watching and vast patience for a week or longer, but in the end, it's well worth the effort. He learns to leave forbidden things alone.

There are some things you will want baby to reach for eagerly, and one is food. In the 22 varieties of Heinz Baby Foods, you will find many delicious soups, meat products, vegetables, and desserts to make his meals both tempting and nourishing. And when your doctor advises coarser-textured food, the 12 varieties of Heinz Junior Food stand ready to contribute to his eating enjoyment. Like Heinz Baby Foods, Heinz Junior Foods are made only from the choicest meats, vegetables and fruits. All are scientifically cooked to retain minerals and vitamins in high degree.

If You Indulge In Over Eating

Sourness of the stomach, biliousness, heartburn, headaches, belching or other temporary disturbances are often caused by over-indulgence. In such cases Burdock Blood Bitters should give quick relief.

Burdock Blood Bitters is a pure vegetable compound for minor disorders of the stomach, liver, and bowels. It stimulates the action of the stomach and digestive organs thus improving digestion, and elimination.

Kitchen Aflame Oil Burner Said Flooded

Firemen answered several alarms over the week-end. In one co[illegible]rable damage was reported when an oil burner became flooded; but the rest were minor outbreaks or chimney fires.

On Saturday afternoon two calls were received. One was due to defective wiring in a car belonging to C. Connelly parked on the lot behind 394 Water St. The other was due to a defective carburetor on one of the city buses.

Acting Fire Chief Geo. Smith said considerable damage resulted early Sunday morning when an oil burner became flooded at 226 Murray St., the residence of J. Morgan. Both kitchen and dining rooms were touched by the blaze; and in addition there was smoke damage.

Two chimney fires brought firemen Sunday morning to 211 London St. and 553 Elm St., residences of J. Edwards and L. Campanaro, respectively. No damage in either case.

Another chimney fire brought firemen to 291 Townsend St., residence of H. Clapham, early Monday morning. No damage.

Chief Constable Gets 3 Months

BRACEBRIDGE, Jan. 10—(CP)—William Cudmore, former chief constable of this town 85 miles north of Toronto, and George Bishton, a former constable, were convicted of stealing groceries from a parked automobile last Christmas eve.

They were each sentenced to three months definite and one month indeterminate.

A similar charge against Floyd Snider, former part-time constable was dismissed.

Cudmore and Bishton were suspended from the town police force after they were charged last Dec. 2 with illegal possession of deer in the Algonquin Park game preserve. They were convicted last Wednesday on that charge and each was fined $75.

Dodges Impounding By Selling Car

George Mack, Campbellford, was sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC when found guilty of being intoxicated while in charge of a motor vehicle.

The offence occurred November 13 when accused pleaded not guilty. Police Constable Gordon Trennum said that on the night of November 13 he found accused slumped over the wheel of his car, and he was in a very drunken condition. The car was parked on Charlotte St. but the engine was not running and the ignition keys were in accused pocket.

Accused had his foot on the brake and when he lifted it off after being spoken to by the officer the car moved forward. He was told to get out of the car, and was in such a condition of intoxication that he did not know what he was doing, Constable Trennum testified.

Mr. Philp ordered that the car be impounded but the accused said that since he last appeared in court he had sold the car to a dealer. "This is a very awkward situation," said the Magistrate, "and I very much fear you will be hearing from the Department about it."

Parking For Pigeons

The architecture of the roof cornices of the Oddfellows building at the southwest corner of George and Hunter Sts. were designed for ornament but the city's flock of pet pigeons have turned them to practical use, you're right, for roosting. In this morning's sleet storm, each cornice, which consists of fifty decorative divisions, was truly turned into a pigeon hole. Each one was occupied by a bird trying to keep dry.

CONVENIENCE APPRECIATED

Two fire alarms near the end of last week must have been planned with special consideration for wind-swept reporters. One, a false alarm, was on the opposite corner—at the postoffice. The second, a small fire in a car, was directly behind the Examiner building. All the news staff was required to do was lean out the window and take notes.

CLEAR CPR YARDS

CPR has found winter use of a sturdy machine which presumbaly was designed to spread gravel in summer operations. In the main outline it is a bulldozer on wheels, with a wide wing. TWO CARS COLLIDE

Icy driving conditions, causing the rear of a car to slide, were attributed as the cause of a minor collision about 8.45 Sunday night in which slight damage was done to cars owned and driven by Vernal Peters, Coe Hill and William Bullock, Young's Point. Little damage was done to the bus but Simonsen's car had a badly damaged front.

Morning Rain Coats Roads With Icy Armor Sharp Temperature Drop, Tuesday Forecast

Old Man Winter is giving everything on his list this winter, it seems. This morning the district was on the receiving end of a storm which developed in South Dakota on Saturday night. It moved northeastward over the week-end and its centre is now around White River. The storm is causing moderate to heavy snow in Northern Ontario and from its warm underside, rain and sleet in southern sections. Temperatures rose well above thirty during the night, and by 7 a.m. a slick coating of sleet made early-morning driving difficult and dangerous.

There were no reports of driving difficulties from the city's various transport firms, nor from the bus lines. Lindsay, Warsaw and Lakefield buses were delayed only by minutes, but drivers were taking it very cautiously.

The same storm which has brought all this dampness will bring sharp drops in temperatures tonight in the Peterborough district as the cold air moves rapidly southward behind the Dakota storm. The "Met" bureau in Toronto promises northwest winds and much colder tonight.

Lindsay Mayor At Inaugural Urges Caution In Spending

LINDSAY, Jan. 12.—(ENS)—In his inaugural address this morning Mayor Charles Lamb stressed the need of caution in municipal spending. "We must spend large sums," he saaid, "but let me urge upon all members of council to scrutinize any proposed expenditure very carefully. This is no time for a spending spree and only necessary work shrould be undertaken."

Referring to the interest of citizens of the town in municipal affairs he mentioned the 57 per cent vote in the recent election. "This is a healthy sign," he observed, "and shows increased interest on the part of the electorate." He was of the opinion that 350 meters installed are definitely assisting in traffic control. "Thought should be given to the appointment of one or two additional firemen," he stated, "and continued effort should be made to induce further industries to locate here."

Council was asked to consider plans for having fifty or more additional houses erected during the coming year. The mayor also referred to the Old Home Week and the provincial plowing match, both of which are to be staged in Lindsay this year.

The chairmen of the various municipal committees were appointed with Mayor Chas. Lamb as chairman of industries. Other chairmen appointed were finance, Reeve H. H. McFadden; board of works, Deputy Reeve J. M. Nesbitt; town property, Ald. J. C. Kingsborough; police, Ald. G. K. Garbig; lighting, Ald. V. E. Cote; relief and welfare, Ald. F. Speer; tourists, Ald. L. Burrows; market, Ald. C. E. Ferguson.

The meeting was opened by Rev. J. M. Scott. Other speakers included provincial treasurer, the Hon. L. M. Frost, who spoke of the transfer of taxation from municipal bodies to the provincial government; Mr. T. H. Stinson, chairman of the board of governors of Ross Memorial Hospital; Col. R. I. Moore, a former mayor; Mr. Bruce McNevin, a former member of parliament; Mr. Richard Butler, the 1947 Warden of the county; Mr. T. H. Eberlee, principal of the collegiate; Mr. C. V. Sleep of the Hydro board; Mr. A. T. Lacey of the Library board, and Crown Attorney L. W. Jordan.

Two Cars Tangle Damage Extensive

A slight traffic accident developed Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. at the corner of Park and Charlotte Sts., when W. G. A. Fair, Peterborough, was turning east on Charlotte from Park St. north. A Toronto driver, Rhys G. Thompson, at the time Mr. Fair was making his left hand turn, tried to stop at the Park St. light but skidded on the snow covered intersection into the other vehicle.

The results of the tangle was the left rear fender torn from Mr. Fair's car and damaged left front fender, headlight and bumper to Thompson's vehicle. The police estimate the visual damage at total of about $125 to both cars.

Hit-Run Driver Damages Parked Car

A hit-and-run driver has been blamed for damages estimated at $60 to the car of Bert Goodwin, 611 Chamberlain St. The car was parked in front of his home on Saturday night.

In the morning, it was found that some vehicle had crashed into the rear, damaging the fender and rear guard.

The offender has not been located. It was investigated by PC's C. J. McGillen and Traynor.

Piles Of Snow Aggravate Traffic Tie-ups

Habit or stupidity were factors in the traffic jam on Charlotte St. between George and Aylmer streets Friday afternoon and all day Saturday.

The market clock stroked off 18 minutes while one Byersville bus was caught in that block, and it is possible some of the delays were even longer than that. If dumbness were a statutory offense, a flock of motorists would have been led off to the corral. First they parked on sides that had been narrowed by snow banks, just as if accommodation were as usual. If only T. T. Bangs had been around to tell some of them off it would have been a broadly endorsed outburst.

Then with Charlotte St. restricted to a scant two-lane way, traffic followed Charlotte St. as if it were the only east-west artery in the city. If there weren't scads of bumped and scratched fenders the credit must go to the expertness of the bus driver who performed wonders all Saturday getting through narrow ports with hardly an inch to spare. And, even the buses could have been switched to King St. without loss of revenue, because total trips for the day must have been cut almost in half.

CAS Planning Service For Homemakers

A visiting homemaker service is an extension of social enterprise proposed by the Children's Aid Society and Victorian Order of Nurses for establishment at a public meeting in the City Council Chamber on Thursday, January 15, at 7:30 o'clock.

It is expected that Miss Nesta Hinton of the Nutritional Division and Homemaker Service of the Toronto Branch of the Red Cross Society, will be present to outline the scope of this work. Mr. James Dutton, chairman of the committee which was appointed to deal with this project in its preliminary stage, said it was hoped that citizens interested in this social agency would attend.

"There are many situations in which visiting homemakers can provide an essential service," Mr. Dutton said to-day. "If a wife dies or is removed to hospital, the home is upset in many ways, and one of them is in the very practical details of day-to-day living. Husband and father may not be able to get help. He may have to lose time from his employment. That one case will suggest many others which this service is designed to aid. It is not a free service. Families are expected to contribute for the assistance they receive, if they can possibly do so."

Mr. Dutton said the meeting on Thursday night was a call to men and women who are interested in helping the community by setting up this visiting homemaker service. Its details will ze explained by Miss Hinton.

Broken Gas Line Causes Bus Fire

More excitement than damage was caused late Saturday afternoon when a broken gas line resulted in an engine fire on a Peterborough city bus, at George and Charlotte Sts.

Firemen, and both provincial and city police were in attendance after the bus had discharged its undisclosed number of passengers while smoke poured from the engine. Driver of the Western Ave. bus was Jack Cochrane, 540 Waterford St.

Traffic was held up for several minutes at the busy intersection, but city police soon straightened out the snarl as the smouldering in the engine was quickly extinguished when the fire department arrived. Minor damage to the engine resulted.

Confusing Evidence Heard In Income Tax Evasion

Alex M. Pidgeon, 629 Aylmer St., was found guilty by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, today of failing to file a return for income tax for 1944 and 1945.

Accused said that he did file a return, but was not sure of the exact dates. He admitted receiving a registered letter from the income tax office at Belleville on August 29, 1946, but could not remember if he made a return within the prescribed 30 days or not. As far as accused could recall he made a return on one occasion about the end of February 1947. Defence Counsel W. J. A. Fair said that because Belleville could not find any returns from the accused was no proof that he had not made a return, and the court had only the word of one of the office staff at Belleville that such returns had not been made.

Mr. P. Scollard prosecuting for the Department said that had any returns been made there would have been no necessity for Belleville to contact Ottawa in the matter of making a charge against the accused.

Magistrate Philp contested that it was surprising no further correspondence had been made by the income tax office. Conflicting evidence resulted in the court having to make the decision as to whether accused had filed a return or not, and whose affidavit was the correct one, the one made by accused or the one from Belleville. "On the basis of the evidence," said Mr. Philp, "I must make a conviction." Accused was fined $25 and $1.75 costs.

Pulpwood Cut Hits U.S. Hard

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP). — Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep.-Wisc.) told Canada today that plans to cut down exports of pulpwood from Ontario "would have very adverse effects" on the pulp and paper industry in the United States.

Wiley wrote to Premier Drew of Ontario, asking his comment, after receiving from the Canadian embassy here the outline of a plan under which some exports of spruce, balsam fir and jackpine would end completely in 10 years.

Several letters and telegrams received by Wiley from pulpmill and paper company executives in Wisconsin protested Drew's action. One of these stated:

"Practically every mill that makes pulp in the States has been to a large extent dependent upon Ontario for its supply of wood for many years in the past.

"Should our paper company be prohibited from importing wood from Ontario, where we have invested $750,000 in logging equipment and camps, you can readily see the loss that we would sustain."

250 At Bethany For Sunday Skiing

Top skiing conditions were encountered once again over the past week-end at both Bethany and Kemp's Hill.

At Bethany the surface was described as corn snow, and between 40 and 50 enthusiasts turned out Saturday afternoon to try the slopes. On Sunday a crowd of 250 proved to be one of the best turnouts of the season. The ski patrol and instructors were out in full force looking after some 20 beginners.

Skiing at Kemp's Hill was described as even better than Bethany as it had a well-packed surface. Approximately 90 were there on Saturday, and 150 on Sunday.

Instructors will be out Tuesday and Thursday nights at Kemp's Hill with the tow beginning at 7.30 p.m.

Bob Curry, "Dude" Logan, Otto Laderach, and Don Dennison have been observed training on the Nassau jump for the meet to be held Saturday, Feb. 7.

Sees Four Elk

Here's another blow to the rumor that elk are becoming extinct in this region. Coming from Gull lake Saturday, Ellis Armstrong saw four elk cross the highway just north of Buckhorn. He said the quartet consisted of three cows and one bull, which he estimated weighed between 700-800 pounds. All were in remarkably good condition, he said.

POSTED TO BELLEVILLE

Prov. Constable Arthur Watson, Lindsay, has been posted to Belleville. A former vice-president of the Kawartha District Police Association P.C. Watson recently left the Lindsay police force to join the provincials.

Norman McConkey Heads Holstein Breeders Plan Sale of Kelly Stock

Norman McConkey was re-elected president of the Peterborough Holstein Club at its directors' meeting Saturday. The vice-presidents are: Joseph T. Tully, Vern Campbell and Henry Sharpe; and secretary-treasurer Stanley Wood. Kevin Hurley and Alan Drummond were appointed auditors. A social committee composed of Walter Thorn, Vern Campbell and Earl Doris will have charge of arrangements for a dinner to be held toward the end of March.

The club is assuming the details for the sale of the Holstein cattle and farm implements of the late Frank Kelly. This sale Wednesday, Jan. 28, at the Exhibition Park was decided by Mrs. Kelly, and the members expressed the wish to take charge of it for her. There will be 45 Holsteins offered to the public. Gordon Hancock will be auctioneer and will be assisted by Lorne Franklin of Toronto, particularly in the cattle auction. The sale of implements, heading the list, will begin at 12.30 p.m.

The club is arranging for a coach party to the annual Holstein Breeders' convention in Toronto Wednesday, Feb. 4. Tickets will be in the hands of directors.

Pat Conroy Here Next Wednsday

"Labor and the Rising Cost of Living" will be the subject of an address by Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, in the Collegiate auditorium Wednesday, Jan. 14, at 8 p.m.

This public meeting is being sponsored by two Peterborough unions, whose members are employed in food production. The unions are No. 210 and No. 293 of the United Packing Workers of America, whose members are respectively at Canada Packers and Quaker Oats.

Mr. John Beggs, president of No. 293, will be chairman. It is understood that Mr. Conroy will deal with the price peaks that have been sharpened since the middle of October. Labor contends that its wages are known and can be readily appraised in the examination of price spreads between producer and consumer. It is also felt that the farmer's share is known and generally recognized as not exorbitant, but somewhere in between have been participants taking extraordinary toll for whatever limited services they gave.

Mr. Beggs said cost of living affected everybody, and Mr. Conroy's subject should attract wide interest. He is recalled as the former head of the Seamen's Union from which he retired, alleging communist influence within its ranks.

Oven Produces Hourly 2,400 Loaves Of Bread

The housewife who bakes 10 or 12 loaves of bread per day may think she has a job on her hands A handy little gadget, aimed at increasing production and reducing labour, is the main oven used in the Wonder Bakery plant on Stewart street. Costing a mere $45,000, the oven is just the thing for the small kitchen. It is 60 feet long, 18 feet wide and 8 feet high.

One man can operate the mammoth machine. It takes pans of dough into the end, and returns it as properly baked bread at the rate of 2,000 per hour. Heat comes from oil (200 gallons per day) in the 80-ton oven.

The oven is the largest in the district and one of the few of its kind in Canada.

HANDY SNOW REMOVER

One of the handiest pieces of equipment for getting rid of snow was seen operating on Hunter street bridge. It was again the ubiquitous jeep fitted with a specially designed high-lift shovel in front, which worked on a long movable arm. The piled up snow was shovelled up and hoisted over the parapet of the bridge into the Otonabee.

Game Overseers To Advise On Wolf Bounties

Wildlife Inspector A. M. Hodgson, Department of Lands and Forests, Lindsay, has announced that three Wolf Bounty Officers have been appointed by his Department. They are O. V. Windsor, Apsley, C. S. Windsor, Peterborough and Fred Walton, Lindsay.

Purpose of the appointments is to facilitate payments of bounties and avoid unnecessary delays in making declarations and taking affidavits. Heretofore, hunters were obliged to take pelts to the county seat for this purpose and finding officials absent or busy, were forced to arrange another trip.

Now, they will only have to go to the offices of the local game warden who is qualified to handle all procedure necessary to making a claim for bounty payable. The officers will in turn deal with county officials.

Narrow Bridge Blocks Snowplow

A dangerous situation was encountered by the crew of the huge snowplow of the Department of Highways which passed through the city last week. The machinery weighing 32 tons, was mounted on a heavy truck-trailer, and was menat for duty north of here.

Reaching Young's Point, the load got over the first bridge successfully, to find that the second bridge was too narrow to allow passage of the heavy vehicle.

While pondering ways and means of getting out of the situation, the driver noticed for the first time the warning sign on the first bridge over which he had just driven his 32-ton-load in safe. It read "Gross weight limit 5 tons."

There was only one way to get out— the same way which had been used to get on the road between the two bridge, the first span. With hone-too-cheerful feelings, the driver, directed by an assistant who signalled steering directions from the side of the road, backed the load over the bridge again— this time fully aware of the fact that the weight was more than six times the safety limit. He had to return to Lakefield and detour the Young's Point bridges.

GOOD MARKET REPORTED

Post-Christmas doldrums seem to have departed from the market. Considering the cold and deep snow outside last Saturday the market was considered quite good. Chickens and eggs went fairly well; and some apples were also sold. Most marketers were chary of bringing in potatoes lest they should freeze in the zero weather. From 10 a.m. on selling by some 30 stallholders was quite brisk. Inside was not well filled with about 30 selling produce. Poultry was not moving very fast but lots of eggs were sold.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, January 13

THE sidereal operations bearing rule on this day point to the need of most critical analysis of underlying conditions with a sagacious insight to existing factors, which may be steeped in baffling or obscure foundations, in which expediency rather than principle may be employed in coming to conclusions in working with others for joint benefit. It might be well to consider all angles before signing up, else certain responsibilities or obligations might be overlooked.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is might encounter a year of complex situations, in which certain hidden factors, difficult to understand, call for a serene and profound analysis of basic causes, in which the interests of others are of prime consideration. A sense of duty and obligation might be wrapped up with singular or perplexing aspects in which the personal element is not to be underestimated. Keep pliable but conscientious for all programs involving others. Rewards are in sight.

A child born on this day may have excellent insight and talents for constructive work with rich rewards, based on consideration for others.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: A girl-friend of mine who was a WAC in the past war was very interested in French cooking when she was in France and said one of the friends she made while there was a very good cook and made a mayonnaise using hard cooked egg yolks instead of raw yolks to make the oil emulsify. Would you know how to do this.

Puzzled Cook.

ANSWER: Yes I do. The sauce is cold Ravigote Sauce and is especially nice with cold salmon or other cold fish or fish salads.

Sauce Ravigote

Mash the yolks of 2 hard cooked eggs to a very smooth paste with 1½ tablespoons anchovy paste or mashed anchovies. Add 1 teaspoon mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, and ¼ teaspoon pepper, mix well, and then proceed to add 4 tablespoons salad very slowly while beating all the time. When nearly done finely chopped chives, pulverized summer savoury, and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind may be added. The slow rate at which the oil is added determines whether the mix will emulsify or not.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I would like to make potato croquettes as I had them on a vegetable plate in a restaurant recently. They were lovely—quite yellow inside and golden and crusty on the outside.

Martha.

ANSWER:

The recipe I am giving you calls for 4 eggs in all and makes this item oin a vegetable plate quite high in protein so that meat is not missed.

Potato Croquettes
(French method)

Boil 8 medium potatoes with their skins on until tender. Peel them, and mash with 2 tablespoons buttr, ½ cup hot milk, until very smooth. Add 3 wll-beaten eggs, ½ to 1 teaspoon salt and generous shake of pepper. Shape this into croquettes, cylinder-shaped or round. Beat an egg, add 2 tablespoons cold water. Have ready another bowlful of fine cracker crumbs. Dip the shaped croquettes first in the egg then in the crumbs and fry in deep fat at 375 deg. Fahr. until golden brown turning once.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION:

When you have the space sometime will you print some recipes for Rice Puddings or other ways of serving rice. We love it. Thanks for the recipes you sent me at Christmas.

Tanja.

ANSWER: You are welcome, and I am glad you asked for rice recipes—there never seems to be enough room for me to print the recipes for things as they come back on the market.

Rice Pudding Creamy Style

In top of double boiler heat 1 quart milk, then add 1-3 cup washed raw rice, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ to 1-3 cup white or brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and ½ to 1 cup washed seedless raisins. Cook, covered, over boiling water for 2 hours stirring frequently. Chill to serve with plain or whipped cream.

Baked Rice Pudding
(using precooked rice)

Two eggs, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2¼ cups milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups steamed or boiled rice, dash nutmeg. Separate whites from yolks of eggs and beat the yolks, and add the sugar, salt, milk, vapilla and rice to them. Stiffly beat the whites and fold them into the mixture. Turn into buttered baking dish and sprinkle top generously with nutmeg. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about ¾ hour.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: If you are planning to go on a meat buying strike or if any of your readers want to know what I am doing because I have a family of seven and just cannot afford to pay the prices—here are two recipes:

Baked Rice and Cheese
(Contributed by Mrs. Greise)

Line the bottom of a buttered baking dish with cooked rice. Dot with a little bit of butter, then add a layer of sliced cheese, more rice, more cheese until you have used up 3 or 4 cups cooked rice and ½ lb. mild cheese. Sprinkle all with salt, add 1 or 2 cups milk—just so the milk will show. Cover top with crumbs and bake at moderate temperature for about ½ hour or until milk is "set".

Welsh Rarebit
(Contributed by Mrs. Greise)

Melt 2 tablespoons drippings then add 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of cayenne, stir well, then slowly stir in 1 cup thin cream or rich milk, until it thickens. Remove from heat and beat 1 beaten egg and 1½ cups grated cheese into it. Reheat just a little over hot water and serve on toast.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thanks for these Mrs. Griese, I inserted them here because I thought Tanja would be interested. See question above.

Office Practices Would Help Homemakers

The professor who recently announced, after a comprehensive survey, that women have better memories than men added that women actually carry too many unimportant facts in their minds. He said what most of them need, but never give themselves, is a mental housecleaning.

He's right. Women try to carry in their minds an assortment of facts, reminders and "musts" that a man would need a secretary and a modern filing system to handle.

When a woman's mind seems to be wandering, she is probably trying to remember whether Aunt Minnie wears a size 6 or 6½ glove, or just exactly when it was that Junior last had typhoid shots.

Running a house and a family is a complicated business. Yet most women try to handle the job of home executive by relying entirely on their memories. Every household ought to have a good filing system.

A filing system would not only make the house run more smoothly, but it would certainly help the woman in charge keep her mind details.

It has never occurred to women that they might simplify their lives by bringing common business practice into their job as homemakers.

When it does, they can really clean house mentally, but not before.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

NUPTIAL CO-OPERATION
Couples Need Each Other's Opinions and Advice on Matters.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Our Family Relations class is having a very serious argument. One of the students (a boy) claims that a woman's place and say is in the home and the home only, and that a man's place and say is outside of the home and outside only.

Dorothy Dix

I (a girl), think that a woman should certainly have as much to say about things outside of the home as the husband does and that the man should have the same rights inside the home. I think that it would be better for all concerned if they would co-operate 50-50 in everything. I feel that this can be done, the boy doesn't. He thinks that throughout married life this 50-50 co-operation could not be carried on. I think it could because permanency in marriage is most important.

What is your opinion?

H.W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The proof of the pudding is in chewing the string, and you have only to look about you to see that not only the happiest marriages, but the most prosperous ones are those in which the husband wife share equal responsibilty in their homes and work shoulder to shoulder. A marriage in which there is a divided authority in which the wife pulls one way and the husband pulls the opposite way is always a figure.

Co-operation Vital

But while the 50-50 plan of running a marriage is good in general, it should not be applied too literally, for the ideal basis for a marriage is co-operation. The wife does not always know what is best to do even in her province. Nor does the husband know what is best to do in his. They need each other's opinions and advice.

For instance, many letters come to this column from men who write that they are offered brilliant opportunities in business in a different part of the country, but tha heir wives refuse to go because they don't want to leave Mother and the girls and their bridge club.

Certainly a wife should not have the ultimate authority in that matter, nor should she in he rearing of her children, when her husband can see that she is spoiling them to death. Nor should a husband feel that he has a right to never make his wife a partner in his business and keep her in ignorance of what he is doing. Many wives have no idea of how much money their husbands make or what they can afford to spend, which accounts for a lot of extravagant women.

DEAR MISS DIX: Can a man have a friendship with a woman with whom he used to be in love? I was about to be married to a very lovely girl when she became ill and had to be hospitalized for years. After being faithful for three years I gave up hope and married another girl, who has made me a wonderful wife and with whom I have been very happy.

Now 20 years later I meet my old girl in another city who tells me that she still loves me. She come to my hotel at night and we spend hours together talking and she kisses me good-bye. When I returned home I told my wife everything and she said there was nothing wrong in what I had done, but doubted that we could keep the relationship on a friendly basis.

I want to be just to my wife, whom I have loved for 20 years and who has given me fine children and is a wonderful housekeeper and manager, but I am so sorry for this poor girl who is starved for affection and who has kept me as her ideal and whose eyes fill with tears when she says: "Just think, this other woman has the place I SHOULD have!" So if a letter from me every week would cheer her up, I can't see any harm in it. What do you think?

A HUSBAND IN DISTRESS.

ANSWER: One of the greatest things in all human nature is that so many men who have had brains enough to make successes of their careers act like idiots when it comes to dealing wth women. Almost any ittle nitwit of a woman who can turn on the tear ducts at will and who can sob out that pitiful story of how she l-o-v-e-s him and how lonely she is, can put a hoodoo on a man that will make him wreck his own life, break his wife's heart and shame his children.

That is what you are about to do, Mister. You are so flattered at thinking that this designing woman, who is about to break up your home and who tells you she has pined for you all of these years, though she married another man in the meantime, that you have taken leave of your senses. Wake up from your pipe dream. Don't be silly enough to fall for her racket, for you well know that the sort of a woman who comes to man's hotel room at night and kisses him and tells him how she wishes she were his wife, bodes him no good.

My earnest advice to you is to break away at once. And, above all, don't be inveigled into entering into a correspondence with the lady. She will write to you reproaching you for not writing to her, but don't answer her letters. If you do, you are lost.

FINE FAIRWAY FASHION—An active sports dress with a dressmaker air is a prize possession for the sportswoman who likes to look feminine even if she is a crackerjack golfer. Allowing for leeway on the fairway is a ribbed linen knitted band nicely inserted into a gray spun rayon frock made on princess lines. The dress has a sweater neckline and is particularly becoming to the woman of five feet five or less.

(You will see that I am not forgetting for even one line, that vegetables are scare and meat prices sky-high in Canada.)

For the wiener casserole split the wieners and use two cans vegetables to serve six people, under the wieners. The flavours blend and the dish merely needs heating through until the wieners are a light gold.

There are many versions of Peach Canape. Actually it is merely a slice of plain or sponge cake, covered with an inverted large peach half and masked with whipped cream and topped with a cherry.

For important occasions you may place a slice of ice cream over the cake and cover this with a large peach half or fresh frozen raspberries or strawberries and top with whipped cream. Very swish and easy. Of course, anybody knows canned crushed pineapple can be used too.

Diocesan Council Arranges Grade 8, 9 Essay Contest

The Peterborough Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League held its quarterly meeting Saturday afternoon at St. Mary's School. Mrs. G. Torpey presided over a good attendance of representatives from the subdivisions.

Correspondence read included a letter from the national president about work being done by some of the national committees and requesting as much assistance as possible to the Sisters of Service who are working with the Catholic Women's League in looking after young women immigrants to Canada.

The treasurer reported the Diocesan Scholarship Fund subscriptions have reached half the total amount and requested that subdivisions give this and other obligations their early attention.

Arrangements were made for the annual essay contest for pupils of Grades 8 and 9 throughout the diocese.

Mrs. J. Moher was appointed convener of Girl Guides.

During temporary absence of the publicity convener her work was assigned to Miss Agnes Grant.

It was decided to begin a scrapbook to contain interesting items about the CWL in Peterborough Diocese and subdivisions will be asked to send in such items to the publicity convener.

The president asked each subdivision to endeavor to increase membership.

After the business session a social hour was spent with Mrs. Torpey as hostess.

"Well, it's left off at last so good-bye, dear."

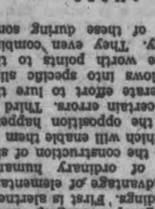
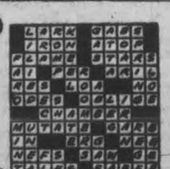
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

EXPERT players minimize a special set of weapons for use against less able performers, inelements which they would not employ at all against foemen worthy of their own steel. They may be grouped roughly under three headings. First is sleetness to take advantage of elementary mistakes of ordinary humans. Second is the construction of situations which will enable them to profit if the opposition happens to make certain errors. Third is the deliberate effort to lure the other fellows into specific slips which are worth points to the beneficiary. They even combine all three of these during some deals.



DEFENSIVE METHODS

Next came the spade 3-9-8-10 trick. Now, if East had his diamond 2, he would have been able to break up the squeeze which had been built. As it was he had to return a heart, his K to the A. The diamond A then squeezed him between the spade Q-J-4 and heart Q, dummy having the spade K-9-7 and South the spade A-6, heart J and diamond 7. Two more tricks, then went to work. He took East's Q on the diamond lead with his K, then led the club 10. The J covered and the K won. Now he was prepared for his first intake-tempting effort. He brought back the club 7, on which East parked a heart, and let the Q win it. A fine player in the West, having noted the first trick, would not have returned the diamond 3 as West did, giving the 10 a gift trick, error No. 1 by the defense. Then followed Mr. Goren's club A, 9 and 3, on which East put the heart 4, heart 9 and then his last diamond, the 2—mistake No. 2 by the defenders.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

West made the natural lead of the diamond 5, in preference to a club, since the higher club honors might become entries to bring in a set-up diamond, whereas if a club had been led the diamond I would have been virtually useless as a re-entry to cash an established diamond. Says US Runners Get Competition

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP).—Minnesota's Jim Kelly, who has spent some time looking over European track talent, brings word that everything won't be beer and skittles for United States runners in the Olympic games next summer—in fact they may not find a skittle anywhere . . . Without mentioning too many names, Jim points out that England and Holland have some good sprinters and hurdlers, Sweden plenty of good distance men — and from what he could see, they're by no means undernourished . . . In addtiion, Australia likely will check in with a good team and Jamaica with runners like Herb McKenley and Lloyd Labeach, may pick up a couple of victories . . . The U.S. will have to look to the relays and field events for most of its victories, says Kelly.

Davey Day, former top-flight lightweight who has been driving a hack in Chicago since he left the navy, wants to try a comeback . . . The New York Athletic Club has returned hockey to its program after a seven-year lapse but is playing strictly small-time position . . . Talking about a halfback he had failed to land for Boston U., Buff Donelli wisecracked: "I realize there are many pro players who get more than their coaches, but I didn't think the time had come when a college player is getting more than the coach's salary."

Skiing Is Ideal

COBOURG, Jan. 12.—(ENS).—Largest crowd this season patronized the Northumberland Forest Ski Club, Sunday. Recent snow and Saturday's cold spell which converted it into powdered granules, made the hill very fast. The sun shone brightly and the entire skiing area was a scene of sparkling beauty. The weather was crisp but not as cold as the day before, and everything blended perfectly into an ideal day for skiing. More than 600 skiers from Cobourg, Peterborough, Trenton, Toronto and other points spent the day on the ski hills and trails. A newly-ploughed highway provided easy access to the club.

Missing Victim

TORONTO, Jan. 12. (CP) — Firemen spent 1½ hours trying to locate Thomas Ironside, 61, in his smoke-filled home in suburban Scarborough as they fought a fire which started in the front porch. Finally they found him unconscious and severely burned behind a porch door which had been propped open to permit the firefighters to enter freely.

Ramblers Move Into 2nd Place

By The Canadian Press

New Haven Ramblers were the only American Hockey League team to make any headway over the week-end, moving into second place in the loop's eastern division by virtue of a win and a tie.

On Saturday, Ramblers and Springfield battled to a 2-2 stalemate while last night they turned back Pittsburgh Hornets 4-3. Hornets had won on Saturday against Philadelphia 4-2.

Buffalo, leaders in the western division, split, losing to St. Louis 4-3 and blanking Philadelphia 4-0. Providence, at the top in the east, also came up with a win and a loss, losing 6-1 to Hershey and disposing of Springfield 7-4.

Indianapolis dumped Flyers 10-5 and Cleveland whipped Washington Lions 9-2 to round out the week-end card.

Duncan Fisher starred for Ramblers in their win over the fighting Wasps, camming home three goals with Chick Webster accounting for the fourth. Bob Dawes, Jack Hamilton and Les Costello found the mark for Hornets.

Nick Micoski and Jean Paul Lamirande scored for Ramblers in their tie game with Indians. Eldy Kobussen accounted for both Springfield goals.

In Pittsburgh, Costello, Flem Mackell, Bill Benson and Peanuts O'Flaherty notched goals to give the Wasps a hard-earned win over Philadelphia. Veteran Johnny Mahaffy scored both Rocket tallies.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Buddy O'Connor retained his two-point edge at the top of the National Hockey League during the week-end when the slim Ranger centre and runner-up Syl Apps of Toronto each collected two points. Leafs' Max Bentley also kept pace with the leaders by garnering two points to boost his total to 32, two less than Apps and the same number as Jim McFadden of Detroit. Bud Poile of Chicago burst into the select circle for the first time this season by virtue of his one goal and three assists in Hawks' two week-end contests.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts
O'Connor, New York	15	21	36
Apps, Toronto	15	19	34
M. Bentley, Toronto	16	16	32

4 Rinks Win Place In Series

NIPAWIN, Sask., Jan. 12 (CP) —Four rinks of the 121 entered in the $23,000 Nipawin Bonspiel have assured themselves of places in the round-robin series leading to the 'spiel's major prize of four automobiles. Eight other rinks still have to qualify.

The four rinks making the grade Saturday night did so by virtue of victories in the No. 1 event. Howard Wood's Winnipeg foursome, which won the automobiles in last year's inaugural 'spiel, topped the list, others being rinks skipped by Crawford Hicks, also of Winnipeg; Dr. H. E. Keller of Carlyle, Sask., and Lawrence Borreson of Antler, Sask.

Semi-final matches in the No. 1 event are scheduled to get under way this afternoon, with the finalists tangling in the 9 p.m. draw.

Under bonspiel rules, the rinks entering the fours in the Nos. 1, 2 and 3 events qualify for the round-robin series, in which play will start later this week. Initial loss for a rink drops it from the first to the second event, with a loss in the latter relegating the foursome to the No. 3. Rinks losing in this event are still eligible for consolation prizes.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Professional boxing with two-minute rounds rather than the accepted three-minute stanzas was approved Saturday by the Michigan Boxing Commission.

The commission approved a petition of Promoter Harry Harris, who declared the shorter rounds promote constant action from bell to bell "with no stalling and no tiring."

He also said he could hire his fighters for less money and consequently could offer the shows at cheaper prices.

Mountainous George Magerkurth packed his blue suits and equipment in moth balls Saturday after 19 years of umpiring in the National League. Labelled as "Public Enemy No. 1" in Brooklyn, the six-foot, three-inch, 240-pound umpire resigned his post as arbiter Friday because "another season on my legs might have seriously crippled me for life."

The 59-year-old "Mage" probably thumbed "Lippy" Durocher, Brooklyn manager, out of more ball parks than any other umpire.

Delegates from 48 states, Puerto Rico, Canada, Mexico and South American countries are expected in Houston, Texas this week to attend the annual Amateur Softball Association's commissioners meeting.

The three-day session, starting Friday, will be devoted to discussion of new rules and the awarding of world and regional tournaments.

International badminton competition for the Sir George Thomas Cup —similar to Davis Cup play in tennis—will be inaugurated this year, with the finals to be held in March, 1949 in Britain. The championships will be held once every three years.

Betty Mitchell of Winnipeg won the senior women's crown of the Western open ice skating derby at Chicago Saturday by sweeping three races at 440 yards, 880 yards and three-quarters of a mile.

Dean Cromwell of Southern California was handed the job of coaching the United States track and field entrants for the 1948 games in London by the U.S. Olympic Track and Field committee.

Alcoholics Anonymous Win Hollywood Converts

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 (AP)—Gary Cooper denies he is an "unco-operative actor."

The lanky star made his comment on his selection as "the most unco-operative actor of 1947," as selected by the Hollywood Women's Press Club. His comment:

"It's amazing."

Coop, who is not noted for being a chatterbox, remarked freely on the women's choice.

"I don't think I am unco-operative," he said. "I think they're wrong. I've followed the same policy for 20 years now: If they have an idea for a story, I'll go through with it."

Gary claimed he turned down only a couple of interviews last year, "because the story ideas were silly."

Drink to Me Only.

Alcoholics Anonymous is thriving in Hollywood these days. The organization which provides spiritual and recreational substitutes for liquor has 17 groups meeting weekly in this area and membership includes many movie names. Size of the meeting ranges from a handful to 500.

A former leading man, who drank himself out of pictures and now is coming back in character roles, holds a meeting at his house each week to introduce film tipplers to AA. Local members include a well-known producer, a formerly successful director, and a number of character actors.

This information comes from a comedian who was once a prominent movie personality.

"I was an alcoholic for twenty years," he told me, "and many a time I woke up in (Sheriff) Biscailuz' bastille. I found myself locked out of the studios for four years because I was considered unreliable."

He is on the comeback trail now, and doing all right.

Hold That Tiger.

"Man-eaters of Kumaon" is the story of a hunt for a killer tiger and his mate, but seven tigers are being used in the filming. This is not a mere Hollywood extravagance. The fact is that one tiger doesn't have the dramatic versatility for a role. Tigers are specialists according to their temperaments.

Satan, an elderly cat with a benevolent disposition, has the most tricks. Another specializes in blood-curdling roars. A young one is good for leaps and chases and another can sniff a trail like a bloodhound. Too bad the system can't be used with human actors.

Leafs, Wings Tie For Lead Blake, Quilty Injured

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs couldn't break their deadlock for the National Hockey League's leadership last night and the two teams will remain tied, far ahead of the pack, until Wednesday night at least.

The Wings have the first opportunity to go ahead, meeting the Bruins at Boston Wednesday, while Leafs next go against Canadiens in Montreal Thursday night.

The crowded week-end schedule of six games saw Detroit beaten 4-1 by Boston Saturday, while Toronto gained the leadership tie by edging Chicago Black Hawks 6-4 at Toronto. The Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers split a 1-1 tie at Montreal.

On Sunday a record Detroit crowd of 15,139 saw the Leafs come from behind to gain a 2-1 tie. On their own ice the Rangers defeated Canadiens 3-1, while the tail-end Hawks battered Boston by a 4-1 count.

Standout feature of the week-end was easily the smart performances of the Hawks, revitalized since big Charlie Conacher of Toronto took over coaching duties at New Year's. If the Hawks' defence and goalkeeping had been a little stronger they would have beaten Leafs Saturday. As it was, they held the lead and it was Ted Kennedy's two third-period goals that gave Leafs the victory. Syl Apps, Sid Smith, Gus Mortson and Joe Klukay scored the others.

Gaye Stewart, former Leaf, scored two Chicago goals. Ernie Dickens and Doug Bentley got the other Hawk counters.

At Detroit the Boston Bruins were more like their old selves after a dismal exhibition tour in Ontario. Woody Dumart and Fernan Flaman in the first period, and rookie Clare Martin in the second gave Bruins a 3-0 lead before Gord Howe scored Detroit's only goal in the third. Then Pete Babando added another for Boston.

The third game Saturday, the 1-1 tie against Rangers at Montreal, brought a sad blow to the struggling Habitants. Veteran Hector (Toe) Blake suffered a double fracture of the right ankle when he went heavily into the boards after a check by defenceman Bill Juzda. Blake caught his skate as he went down.

Won't Quit Team

There were immediate rumors that the 35-year-old Montreal captain, who started with the old Maroons 14 seasons back, would call it quits. But Canadiens' officials said that the team is sure to make the play-offs and the Blake will be in there to help his mates.

One interruption followed another as the league-leaders battled at Detroit Sunday. Don Morrison scored in the first period and Syd Abel in the second. Bill Ezinicki got one back for Toronto early in the third, and then big Harry Watson scored the tying goal, a goal which brought loud cries of anguish from Detroit's goalie Harry Lumley.

Lumley claimed Watson had charged him and was in the net when the light flashed but Referee George Gravel ruled it was a legal goal.

Three times previously the game had been stopped while threatening free-for-alls were snuffed out. Then late in the third period Referee Gravel was hit by a flying stick and needed seven minutes for repairs.

Still Stymied

The Rangers showed they still have the Indian sign on Canadiens, who have beaten Rangers only once in eight starts. Playing without Blake, Canadiens drew first blood when Jacques Locas scored from a goal-mouth scramble, but Edgar Laprade got that one back on a long pass from silver-thatched Neil Colville before the first frame ended.

Big Phil Watson got New York's other goals in the second period as goalie Bill Durnan was the target of repeated two and three-man Ranger attacks.

At Chicago the fourth-place Bruins, already short, lost Johnny Quilty within seconds of the opening bell. The Boston centre took the face-off and was checked by Bob Goldham, falling to the ice and being removed with a compound fracture of the leg.

Gaye Stewart, Roy Conacher, George Gee and Bud Poile scored for the Hawks while Don Gallinger's goal on a pass from Ken Smith spoiled a shut-out for Emile Francis.

New Hespeler Arena Will Open In Week

PRESTON, Jan. 12 — Unless there are last-minute delays, Hespeler's Memorial Arena, erected as a memorial to the 450 men and women who served in the Second Great War, will open some time next week, Mayor Allan Wilford reported.

"All Hespeler citizens will be proud of their new arena. It will indeed be an asset to the community, the value of which cannot be measured in dollars and cents," he stated.

The arena was built during the past year under most trying conditions, with Hespelerites answering the call in large numbers when appealed to by officials to help with the acual work and construction of the building. It is located on a lot donated by Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Ltd., at the westerly entrance to the town.

Fort Worth Breaks Jinx, Edges Oilers

By The Associated Press

Fort Worth broke a jinx and added to a victory string in posting two week-end victories to pull even with Houston in first place of the United States Hockey League's southern division.

After losing six straight games to Tulsa, Fort Worth finally Knocked off the Oilers, 5-4, in an overtime battle Saturday, with Otto Schmidt hitting the winning goal.

Then last night the Rangers took Houston 7-3, for their seventh victory, plus a tie, in 10 games with the Huskies.

Minneapolis and St. Paul scrapped to a 4-4 tie Saturday, their second, and continued on the comeback road with a 4-2 decision over Kansas City Saturday, and Kansas City recouped last night with a 5-4 triumph over St. Paul.

Chatham Rink Takes Trophy

DETROIT, Jan. 12 —(CP)— A Chatham curling club quartet, skipped by Pete Gilbert, yesterday captured top honors in the 62nd annal International Bonspiel here by defeating Ken Miles' Toronto High Park rink 14-3 in the G. and W. trophy final.

The Chatham rink was the only unbeaten quartet in the bonspiel.

Dr. J. C. Malcolmson's Toronto rink won in the Nate Cornwall Trophy event scoring a 15-9 win over B. C. Phippen of Sarnia in an extra end match. Justice Dan P. J. Kelly's rink also of Toronto won the Irving Palmer Memorial Trophy with a 10-1 win over the St. Paul, Minn., rink of J. J. Ahern.

Sam Henry's Detroit Curling Club rink, which won the secondary Detroit Trophy by defeating Sam Rothchild's Sudbury rink 11-7, was the only United States victor.

The Sudbury rink gained the final of this event by scoring a 9-8 win over the C. L. Hequembourg's Schenectady, N.Y., quartet in a quarter final match by winning 15-10 over Dr. T. C. Davies Detroit rink in their semi-final match.

In the Irving Palmer event Roy Chisholm's Sault Ste. Marie rink was eliminated in the semi-final round, losing to a St. Paul quartet skipper by J. J. Ahern 11-9.

Sport Snapshots

By ALAN RANDAL

MONTREAL, aJn. 12 — (CP). —Here, where from the top of Mount Royal you can see the far ski peaks of the Laurentians, the first real snowfalls of winter have come, bringing joy and a share of broken bones to skiers.

At the same time the new snow-inspired interest in skiing leads Dink (Monreal Gazette) Carroll to reclassify skiers, and he does it thus:

1—The gentle slope or knoll sliders.

2—The daring young men and women on the flying skis who inevitably crack up.

3—The tow-sitters.

4—The experts.

Here's how Dink sees it:

"The knoll-sliders don't get in anyone's hair and neither do the daring young men. The latter damage themselves early and are out of commission for the rest of the season. The experts have the sources of information on ski conditions other than the papers and they are no nuisance. But the tow-sitters are deadly at all times.

"They don't believe in doing any more work than they have to and they are the pride and joy of the innkeepers. They get in the elecator and climb to the top of the hill and then slide down it, refresh themselves . . . and then ride up again. They repeat this performance until they are pleasantly exhausted and return to the inn where they can get down to the real business of refreshing themselves."

2 Canadian Indians Juggle Tea Cups With Hon. J. Thorn

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 — (CP). — Two full-blooded Canadian Indians juggled teacups and cookies last week with Hon. James Thorn, New Zealand's High Commissioner to Canada. The Commissioner, who likes to get down to shirt-sleeves and find out what makes things tick, got interested in the affairs of the Dominion's Indians. Immediately, he set out to find out more about them — at first hand.

In the capital were Leonard Staats, chief councillor of the Six Nations tribes from the Oshweken Reserve near Brantford, and William Powless, tribal secretary. At the Commissioner's invitation, they were guests at his home for an afternoon of social and informative pow-wow.

It wasn't all a one-way conversatio neither. For Mr. Thorn happens to be an expert on his own country's aborigines — the Maoris — and he swapped information on tribal history, customs and social advances under the white man.

In fact, it was Mr. Thorn's connection with the Maoris — he was a member of the New Zealand House of Representatives' Maori Affairs Committee — that led into contact with the Canadian Indians. Because of that background, he had dropped into the Exchequer Court to listen in on hearings in a Six Nations suit against the Dominion for $1,289,000.

Becomes Interested

There he met the Oshweken chief and secretary, found them "fine types" — as he said later — and decided to learn more of their tribal affairs.

If the Commissioner had gone looking for an Indian group with a rich history in war and peace, he could not have made a better choice. For the Six Nations—the ancient confederacy of the Iroquois tribes—once were among the new world's greatest warriors and held mastery over a vast area extending from Maine's Kennebec River to the Illinois River a half-continent away, and from the Ottawa Valley to the Tennessee River.

More recently, they have excelled in the pursuits of peace, and to-day the 5,000 residents of the Oshweken Reserve are generally recognized as one of the most advanced Indian groups in Canada.

While the Dominion's Indians still are treated as wards of the Crown—as infants — New Zealand's Maoris have the franchise, elect four members of their tribe to the House of Representatives, and have a minister in the Cabinet.

Roads To Cost Smith $25,000

Smith township council decided last week to spend $25,000 on roads this year. Of that amount $5,3000 is the final payment on the grader bought in 1947.

Wages of road workers were increased five cents an hour, and the road superintendent gets a boost of 10 cents.

Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyl was appointed Smith representative on the Peterborough and suburban planning board. All the members were present at this first meeting of the year. Reeve McIlmoyl welcomed Gordon Fitzgerald back into the municipal fold. Some years ago he went up to the deputy-reeveship and latterly has been road superintendent. Mr. McIlmoyl congratulated the members on the fact of their return by acclamation.

Appointment of assessor, building inspector and other officers was deferred unttil the next meeting.

Mr. A. E. Middleton, tax collector, reported $7,184.64 unpaid of the 1947 tax roll. Notice was received from the city of Peterborough to the effect that on account of previous promises in other parts of the city the laying of a sewer on Wolsley St. would have to wait its turn. Permission was granted the Utilities Commission to put in a main along Dumble Ave. and Bennett St. to Aylmer St.

Payment of the following accounts was ordered: road accounts, $870.75; relief, $82.15; Royal Bank, Lakefield, tax collections, $13.70; Municipal World, supplies, $18.11; Harold Archer, sheep killed by dogs; Salvation Army grant, $15; membership fee in Ontario Good Roads Association and Ontario Municipal Association, $15.

GOODWIN SANDS CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM—The treacherous Goodwin Sands off England have claimed another victim in the 2,327-ton Italian steamer "Silvia Onorato" shown held fast in its grip in this aerial view. The Walmer lifeboat is standing by. Risking their lives every minute, the Walmer lifeboat crew rescued the master, 28 men and two German stowaways from the steamer. They also saved the ship's pet, a seven-month-old Alsatian pup named Jack. The Walmer men had only 30 minutes in which to work, and most of the time they themselves had to cling on for their lives while rescuing the others. The vessel, grounded between two banks of sand, was making her way from Rijeka, the Jugoslav port on the Adriatic, to Rotterdam, carrying 2,933 tons of plumbago. For three days, the captain, Francesco Duocco had stayed aboard with his crew in an effort to refloat the vessel.

Have New Rules For Commissions

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 CP)—New regulations on requirements for commissioned rank in the Cadet Services of Canada were announced today by army headquarters.

The changes, governing promotion and retirement, follow the incorporation of the Cadet services as a part of the army and a new regulation under which officers of the Cadet services now hold Canadian army concessions.

Candidates for commissions in the Cadet services must be Canadian citizens or other British subjects between 18 and 50 years of age, recommanded by the officer commanding the command concerned. Unless otherwise qualified by previous commissioned service, a second lieutenant in the Cadet services must successfully complete the course for Cadet Instructor's Certificate Certificate (Grade A) within one year of the date of his appointment.

Regardless of rank, officers will be retired upon reaching 55 unless otherwise ordered, and an officer who has remained on the reserve list for three years will also be retired. Officers of the Canadian Army Reserve Force may also be detailed for duty with the Cadet services.

Boost Milk Says Mayor We Must Pay Anyway

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12—(CP)—Mayor George A. Wenige surprised 600 milk producers of London and district last night when he said: ". . . The price of milk? It doesn't matter how high or low it is, we've got to pay for it anyway. So bump it up!"

"If you charge more and we pay more, you'll have more money to spend in the city," he philosophized.

President J. A. Hughes, of the London and District Milk Producers Association, thanked the mayor for his go-ahead signal and said: "Apparently we have educated the city of London more than we thought, for now they appreciate the price of milk."

Mammoth Strike Seen In Spring

MONCTON, N.B., Jan. 12—(CP) —The "greatest railroad strike in the history of Canada probably will take place in the early spring," Elroy Robson of Ottawa, national vice-president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers last night told a meeting of the Brotherhood.

The union official said the railroads were not prepared to grant increases in rates of pay because "the railroads had not been granted increased freight and passenger rates since 1918."

He said the railways had justification behind their application to the Board of Transport commissioners for increased rates.

Guns Roar In Windsor; 3 Wounded

Man Shot In Back Possible Victim Of Gambling War

WINDSOR, Jan. 13 — (CP) — Three victims of police and underworld guns lay in Windsor hospital today—one in critical condition and possibly the first casualty of a local gambling war—and the other two under arrest on larceny charges.

Bruce B. Bratt, 22, became the third victim within 10 hours when he was wounded by Provincial Police Constable George Hannah in an Amherstburg dry-goods store shortly after 1 a.m. today.

Five hours before in the heart of Windsor's east end business section, Allen Stickley, 38-year-old employee of an alleged bookie establishment, was shot in the back by a gunman crouched in the rear seat of Stickley's car.

The fact that the establishment where Stickley was employed was raided by police yesterday afternoon led to a speculation that a "bookie war" might be in the making. Stickley's assailant escaped, leaving behind several thousand dollars which Stickley was reported carrying in a velvet bag. In hospital he was given a fighting chance to live.

Down With One Shot

Late yesterday afternoon Constable Charles Ostopovich brought down 30-year-old James Dorland with one shot. Dorland was allegedly fleeing from the constable who had arrested him in a downtown store on suspicion of shoplifting. The bullet struck Dorland in the hip. It was removed last night and he was reported progressing favorably.

In the Amhertsburg case, police said Bratt was found to have taken two pairs of socks and a small quantity of costume jewelry from the store before the approach of the constable caused him to flee. Under police guard in hospital here, Bratt's condition was described as not serious.

The bullet pierced the fleshy part of Bratt's thigh. As soon as he was hit, Bratt turned and limped toward the constable to surrender, then collapsed. He will be charged with breaking and entering, police said.

Given Transfusions

In another hospital, meanwhile, Stickley was being given transfusions to make up for excessive loss of blood from the bullet wound which ripped through his back and chest.

The possibility that the shooting was an attempted assassination in a war of bookmakers stood foremost today although the robbery motive was not discounted. It was also speculated that the gunman might have been a trigger-happy crank who had lost heavily in the alleged bookie establishment.

Brother's Story

Strickley's younger brother today related a story of the shooting as told to him by the victim from his hospital bed.

He expressed belief that someone was out to get Allen. "You make a lot of bad friends in this business of being a bookie," the brother said.

"We all know there has been a shakedown on the bookies the

53 Die In Riots

CAIRO, Jan. 13—(AP).—British Army headquarters announced today that 42 Italians and 11 Somalis were killed Sunday in rioting at Mogadiscio, in Italian Somaliland. The army said the rioting had broken out when bands of Somalis, sympathetic to Italian claims to continued rule over Somaliland, entered Mogadiscio armed with spears, clubs, bows and arrows in an effort to break up a procession of the Somali Youth League.

Postpone Singles For Women; Ice Very Poor

By JACK SULLIVAN

PRAGUE, Jan. 13.—(CP).— A two-inch film of water covering the ice at the winter stadium, scene of the European figure-skating championships, caused a postponement today in the first stages of the women's singles as the mercury stayed in the unseasonable 40's.

A crowd of about 200, including Barbara Ann Scott, of Ottawa, world's figure-skating champion, and her trainer, Sheldon Galbraith, were present earlier at the flag-bedecked stadium on an island in the Vlatava river to watch the men's singles, which were carried forward on schedule in the morning.

At the end of the four-hour session, Barbara Ann described the ice condition as "cruel."

The women's singles now are scheduled to open at 8 a.m. Wednesday and officials busily sought to re-arrange the program, due to end Thursday night.

Close Rivalry

The men's singles meanwhile appeared developing into a renewal of the close rivalry between Hans Gerschwiler of Switzerland and 18-year-old Richard Button of Englewood, N.J. Button with 749 points actually led Gerhchwiler, who had 747.8 points, but in the placing of the judges Gerchwiler was given a narrow edge.

Edi Radi of Austria was third with 735.7 points.

Barbara Ann planned a lazy day as a result of the interruption in her championship program.

The European meeting is scheduled to end tomorrow but officials are not sure that this can be accomplished in view of the postponement of the women's singles.

Plan Assault To Lift Arab Siege

May Use Dynamite To Open Way To 1,500 Trapped Jews

JERUSALEM, Jan. 13 — (CP). — Jewish demolition squads attacked Arab sniping posts on the outskirts of Jerusalem today and a Jewish spokesman hinted a dynamite assault may be stated in Jerusalem's old city to lift an Arab siege of 1,500 Jews.

The Jewish anti-sniper raid centred on the Shiekh Jarrah quarter, where Arab gunmen have choked off traffic between Jerusalem and Jewish institutions on Mount Scopus. The Jews, attacking with gasoline bombs and grenades, fired a three-storey house and damaged 16 others, after warning occupants to flee.

New violence erupted in the area of the port city of Haifa, where one Jew was killed when a large party of Arabs attacked Jewish laborers. Police engaged the attackers.

A Jewish agency spokesman said a "big bang would be the logical outcome" if Arabs persist in their siege of the 1,500 Jews in Jerusalem's old city. The Jews have been virtual prisoners since New Year's Day.

British lifeguards and Palestine police brought three Jewish Agency trucks under protective escort to Jerusalem after a Jewish colony convoy had been caught in an Arab ambush on the rocky-Jerusalem-Hebron road about six miles beyond Bethlehem.

Two Jews were seriously wounded and two missing after the clash in which Arabs burned two trucks.

The convoy, attempting to get supplies through to Jewish outposts isolated in southern Palestine, was attacked by Arab hillmen, hidden behind boulders in the rough terrain.

Arab sources claimed that an attack today by the Hagana Jewish defence army on Arab houses was "completely abortive."

Although Hagana laid down the most intense mortar barrage yet made in Arab-Jewish fighting in the Holy City only one Arab was slightly wounded, these sources said.

The sound of exploding mortar bombs and heavy machine-gun and rifle fire woke people all over the city.

The attack centred on the Sheikh Jarrah quarter, where Arab gunmen have throttled traffic between Jerusalem and Jewish institutions on Mount Scopus. Twenty-six explosions were heard in a three-hour period, with sporadic gunfire. Several fires were started, apparently by gasoline bombs.

Report Army Barge Sinking Off Alaska Aground With Unknown Number Aboard

SEATTLE, Jan. 13 (AP). — Coast guard headquarters announced today that a self-propelled army barge, with an unknown number aboard, was reported sinking near the Alaska peninsula.

The coast guard said the barge, the BSP1927, ran into trouble while en route to the aid of the Aleutian Mail, which ran aground yesterday morning on the southwest tip of Unimak Island.

The barge reported its position as about 40 miles southwest of Cold Bay, near the end of the Alaskan peninsula.

It was believed to have run aground because the distress call, as relayed to the district headquarters here from the coast guard of Ketchikan, mentioned being on Phin Point on Deer Island, a tiny one south of the peninsula.

Weather was reported good in the area.

The last report on the Aleutian Mail was that the 11 seamen aboard it were in "no immediate danger."

Say Mother Attacked; Called Son

Father Badly Hurt Not Expected To Live; Bullet Lodges In Chest

MARMORA, Jan. 13. (ENS)—Bernard Lloyd, 16, Marmora, is a prisoner in Marmora jail today, held by police in connection with the shooting of his father shortly before two o'clock this morning. The father, Frank Lloyd, 45, is in Belleville Hospital and not likely to recover.

Provincial Constable W. H. Gould and Chief Constable W. H. Lavender reached the Lloyd home at 2.15 after Chief Lavender had been called by Bernard Lloyd. They found the father lying on a chesterfield, covered with a blanket and in considerable pain. The mother was crying, and the boy pointed to a .22 repeating rifle which was out on the milk stand and said "Take that thing out of my sight, be careful it is loaded."

Cries For Help

As near as the police can piece the story together, the boy attended a hockey match at Madoc, returned home and went to bed. Some time later his parents came in. There appears to have been an argument, and the boy said he heard his mother say she couldn't stand being pounded, and then she shouted to the boy for help.

The shooting followed, with the father receiving a .22 rifle slug in the back. The bullet coursed upward, passing through the stomach, liver, and lung, and lodging near the breast bone a few inches from the heart.

The son raced to the home of Dr. W. J. Donevan, seeking aid for the wounded man, then telephoned from the doctor's home to Chief Constable Lavender.

Police arrested the youth and he will be taken to Belleville jail this afternoon.

Both father and son are employed at the Deloro Mining and Smelting Company, and the father is a veteran of World War 2. There is a younger son in the family also.

Urge Livestock Ceilings As Beef Likely To Jump

TORONTO, Jan. 13—(CP).—N. D. Roose, past president of the Toronto Retail Butchers' Association, said today "the majority of the 800 butchers in Greater Toronto" would favor reimposition of price controls if the Federal Government "would place ceilings on livestock as well as on meats."

"We butchers do not want the present situation any more than the consumers," he said in an interview. "The sooner it is cleared up the better. But if ceilings are put on meat prices and the prices of livestock are allowed to soar, we will only have a recurrence of the impossible 'black market' situation we had a short while ago."

Mr. Roose's statement came as buyers showed "resistance" to new high food prices. He said there is a "great dent in the regular butcher business," with cheaper meats selling readily and expensive steaks, chops and roasts being ignored.

Meanwhile, the Toronto Housewives' Consumer Association announced plans for a mass meeting next Monday at which resolutions will be presented calling for reimposition of price controls on basic commodities and for payment of subsidies on essential food.

Ask Controls

Toronto Labor Council (CCL) demanded last night that price controls and excess profits tax be re-established and that prices be rolled back to 1946 levels.

It was announced today that leaders of council-affiliated unions in the steel, rubber, textile, leather, fur, automobile and utility industries will meet 14 Toronto-district members of parliament to demand support of the Canadian Congress of Labor's program to combat inflation.

10-Cent Rise

An almost immediate increase of 10-to 15 per cent in the price of beef was predicted today by B. B. Warnica, vice-president of the Ontario Beef Producers Association.

"Weighty steers are selling today on the Toronto livestock market for $17.50 per hundredweight," he said, "but producers will have to hold out for at least $2 more if we are to stay in business."

Greeks Launch Big Offensive

ATHENS, Jan. 13.—(CP).— A Greek offensive was launched today against a force of 800 guerrillas on famed Mt. Parnassus, 75 miles northwest of Athens, with an amphibious operation from the Gulf of Corinth.

A military spokesman said the forces expected to annihilate the band. Commando units moved ashore near the Port of Iratini from destroyers, gunboats and coast guard vessels before dawn and occupied heights guarding passes used by the guerrillas. Troops, police and the air force began attacks farther inland.

Earlier police here announced that most of 200 political "suspects" arrested in an eastern suburb of Athens this morning were released after they had been questioned and their identity cards checked.

Alleged Communists were among those arrested.

Police also confirmed that Liberal Deputy Lucas Kutsopetaalos was captured by "bandits" during the week-end in a sudden raid on a village in what had been considered a safe area.

Say Aliens Paid $1,500 For Entry

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP).— Rabbi David Monson said today that six Europeans held here on charges of illegal entry paid $1,500 to a man who "arranged their papers and transportation by air to Toronto."

He said all but two were in a displaced persons camp in Germany when approached about going to Canada on fake passports and that "they paid dearly for ....."

The six, including one woman, were arrested last week in the foreign-populated "Ward" district in the heart of downtown Toronto. Rabbi Monson said they had been here about six weeks.

Five Dead, Four Hurt In Washington Crash

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) —An Eastern Airlines plane with nine persons aboard crashed on the outskirts of Washington during a rainstorm early today, killing five and injuring four.

The plane, en route from Houston, Tex., to Boston, plowed into a grove of trees on the Maryland side of the Potomac river a few miles from the national airport, shortly after reporting it was coming in for a landing.

The twin-engined D-3 was demolished, but there was no fire. Eastern Airlines said the cause had not been determined, adding that the pilot checked in by radio at 4:27 a.m. but failed to make contact with the airport control tower later as scheduled.

Republicans Want To Chop Five Billion From Budget

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — (AP).—Republicans set out today to chop some $5,000,000,000 out of President Truman's $39,669,000,000 budget for the year starting July 1.

The foreign aid program appeared likely to be the main target of the money-saving drive.

A $5,000,000,000 slash was the tentative goal set by Chairman John Taber (Rep.-N.Y.) pending a meeting of the Senate-House budget committee to go over details of the unprecedented peacetime spending estimate Truman sent to Congress yesterday.

While Taber declined to specify just what items most likely would be singled out for cuts, he noted that the President's estimate of actual foreign aid outlays during the year and his requests for funds to finance other projects not yet authorized by law run well over $5,000,000,000.

Taber pointed out that while the Marshall Plan for European recovery contemplates a $6,800,000,000 appropriation for the first 15 months, the budget says only $4,000,000 of that sum will be spent during the 12 months starting July 1. Taber termed even that "too much."

Although the new budget exceeds by nearly $2,000,000,000 the anticipated Government outlay for the current fiscal year, Truman told Congress it was tailored to "rigid standards of operating economy" and is necessary to cope with "the realities of our existing international and domestic requirements."

Heavy Rains Increase British Flood Threat

LONDON, Jan. 13—(Reuters). —Continuous heavy rain overnight in the Midlands, Yorkshire and Lancashire has increased the flood danger in many parts of Britain.

Riverside dwellers near the Severn are marooned and at Shrewsbury, though the level of the river had fallen six inches today, last night's warning to people in lower parts of the town to stand by for evacuation still stood.

At Worcester the Severn was 11 feet four inches above its normal level and was still rising. The race course is a huge lake and fields are flooded for miles around the city.

Parts of the village of Meifod Montgomeryshire, were reported to be under 3½ feet of water from the River Vyrnwy. Police said 500 villagers had been forced to live in their upstairs rooms.

No Representation

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP) — Premier Drew said today that his government has received no representation from any state governor nor any department of the United States Government protesting provincial restrictions on export of unprocessed pulpwood.

He was commneting on a Washington report quoting Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep.-Wisc.) as saying plans to cut down exports of Ontario pulpwood "would have very adverse effects" on the pulp and paper industry in the United States. Senator Wiley said he had written to Mr. Drew asking his comment.

Clear Trainmen In Howey Crash

STRAFFORDVILLE, Ont., Jan. 13—(CP). — Echoes of a tragedy that shocked Ontario were heard in the coroner's inquest which last night exonerated the crew of the railway train that smashed the motorcar in which James Hokey and his three sons died on Dec. 11.

The father and three boys were dead, and the only survivor, a seven-year-old daughter, was being removed to hospital when the wife and mother passed the scene in another car. A by-stander told her "the Howey family's been wiped out." Mrs. Howey died the next day of a broken heart.

The verdict was on the death of James Howey, finding that it resulted from brain injuries. The recommendation was that all railway crossings in Bayham township be equipped with safety devices.

Eleven witnesses were examined by Acting Crown Attorney Fred Barnim of Aylmer. N. O. Stillwell was foreman of the five-man jury. Coroner Dr. C. W. Sinclair of Aylmer presided.

Rescue 46 Crew Members After 11 Hours; Entire Transport Ablaze

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(AP).—All 46 survivors who abandoned the United States Army's flame-swept funeral transport Joseph V. Connolly were safe today aboard two other vessels after a dramatic rescue from life-boats in which they had tossed for 11 hours in raging North Atlantic seas. Rescue of the Connolly's 45 crew members and its lone passenger was completed last night after an all-day air and sea search for the survivors who abandoned their blazing ship in a gale some 900 miles east of New York.

The half-frozen men were picked up by the army transport Gen. R. E. Callan and the Black Diamond Line's Union Victory which sped to the scene after intercepting the Connolly's calls for help earlier in the day. Long-range United States Air Force planes from Kindley Field in Bermuda aided in the rescue.

The two ships reported all hands safely aboard with "minor burns and injuries among survivors."

Entire Ship Blazing

The Gen. Callan, still standing by the Connolly late last night, messaged that the vessel was ablaze "from stem to stern with constant eruptions from 40 to 50 feet."

Cause of the fire, which originated in the Connolly's engine room, had not been determined.

The New York port of embarkation said 27 of the men, including three injured, were taken aboard the Union Victory which was en route to Rotterdam when it answered the Connolly's SOS. The Union Victory was directed to proceed to Halifax, where the survivors were to be transferred to the transport Gen. Heintzelman, due Jan. 16.

The Callan will resume its voyage to Bremerhaven with the 19 men it picked up.

T. B. McQuesten Ex-Minister Dies In Hospital

HAMILTON, Jan. 13 (CP). — Thomas B. McQuesten, former Ontario Highways Minister, died in hospital to-day after several months' illness. Mr. McQuesten, who was 62, underwent an operation early last fall and re-entered hospital recently for further treatment.

Thomas Baker (Tim) McQuesten started his public career by entering Hamilton City Council in 1913.

Born at Hespeler on June 30, 1882, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Baldwin McQuesten, he early showed an inclination to legal studies and after a brilliant period at the University of Toronto he was graduated with the Bachelor of Arts degree.

After his graduation in Arts, he attended Osgoode Hall, Toronto, where he obtained his Bachelor of Law degree in 1907.

He was first elected to the Ontario legislature in the spectacular Mitchell Hepburn sweep of 1934. Never a "private" member, he was sworn in as highways minister immediately after the Liberal party returned to power.

Launched Works

As highways minister, he launched works which involved the spending of more than $200,000,000 and included such arteries as the Queen Elizaebth Way and the dual highway from Gananoque to Brockville.

Other notable work was his reconstruction of historic Fort Henry at Kingston and many Niagara frontier sites.

He was appointed to the Niagara Falls bridge commission at its inception in 1938 and remained a member until 1947 when he was dismissed with two other members by Premier Drew following a controversy over an inscription on the "Churchill" bell, largest of the 55-bell carillon installed at the Canadian entrance to the Rainbow bridge.

Search Five Hours For Two Convicts

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 13—(CP). — Acting on a tip that Mickey McDonald, Ulysse Lauzon and Nick Minille, long-term prisoners who escaped from the Kingston Penitentiary last August 18, had stopped at a service station, police combed the peninsula yesterday in a fruitless five-hour search.

Three men were questioned, but did not prove to be the wanted trio, object of a manhunt that covered two provinces last summer and caused authorities to offer $5,000 in rewards for their re-capture.

Deny Confidential Reports Speeded Defence Program

CANBERRA, Jan. 13.—(CP).—Federal ministers today denied rumors that confidential reports from the British Government had influenced their decision to step up Australia's defence program.

They claimed the international situation is such that Australia is forced to look to her defences in the interests of her own safety. There was no need for a scare, as the action being taken was merely in line with British and American plans now being prepared.

Australian defence chiefs have learned from both British and United States investigators that it will be necessary to disperse key industries and public utilities as protection against any possible atomic war.

The Government also has information that guided missiles are being developed so thoroughly that targets can be pinpointed half way around the world with them. With this in mind, the Government has decided to spend millions of dollars in the next few years on protective works.

A special committee has been formed to co-ordinate scientists and industrialists to advise on the necessity, or otherwise, of moving certain heavy industries far inland from the coastal areas and reshaping the industrial layouts of cities and major towns throughout the Commonwealth.

Defence authorities consider it might be necessary to disperse Government administrative buildings by at least 15 miles, which is regarded as the minimum safety margin for atomic bombing.

Cash rewards have been offered by the Government for discoveries of uranium in the Commonwealth, and development of a rocket range at Mt. Ebo, South Australia, is being pushed ahead. It is estimated that about $40,000,000 will be spent on the range which is in a prohibited area.

Britain Halts Loan Drawings

LONDON, Jan. 13—(Reuters). —Treasury returns issued today covering the period Jan. 1-10 showed the first effects of the recent Anglo-Canadian financial agreement.

Britain drew nothing from her Canadian loan during this period, in contrast to regular drawings of $10,000,000 a week up to the end of 1947. The returns showed external borrowing of $100,000,000, the amount already known to have been drawn from the United States loan early this month.

Of the original Canadian loan of $1,500,000,000 only $287,000,000 remained Jan. 1. Having regard to Canada's own acute dollar shortage, Britain agreed to draw only $45,000,000 during the first quarter of this year, as against $130,000,000 in the last quarter of 1947.

Charge Man Poisoned Mail Order Bride

CLINTON, Ark., Jan. 13—(AP). —Lonnie Robbins, farmer, charged with poisoning his 52-year-old "mail order" bride of less than a week, hid his dead wife's jewelry in a secret pocket in his underwear, police reported.

They said Mrs. Robbins' previously missing watch and ring were found in the secret pocket together with $500 when Robbins was searched yesterday after being brought to jail to await trial on a murder charge.

Robbins was married Christmas day to Mrs. Sadie Sue Dudley, a widow whom he said he met through a matrimonial bureau. The couple came to Robbins' farm New Year's Eve, and Mrs. Robbins died about four hours later. An autopsy showed a lethal amount of poison in her stomach.

Cabbage Supply Soon Done; New Price Rise

TORONTO, Jan. 13. (CP) — Dealers here said yesterday the supply of domestic cabbage is rapidly reaching depletion.

Retail stores last week asked $1 each for six-pound cabbages. The wholesale price "broke" yesterday, dropping from the $6 a crate of last week to $4 and $4.25, with poorer grades as low as $3 a crate.

"For many years supplies of domestic cabbage were usually wholly depleted or close to depletion by Jan. 10," said George Christensen, director of the retail Merchants Association of Canada.

"Today it appeared that this course was following its normal pattern, but this year the normal replacement of domestic cabbage by imported cabbage cannot be followed because of the embargo on vegetables."

Food dealers said there was a possibility depletion of cabbage supplies would result in immediate increase of pressure on other vegetables. They said that might tend to drive prices of the other vegetables upward.

Meat Sales Cut

The ancient economic law of supply and demand seemingly caught up with Canadian meat dealers yesterday and amid some predictions of increased prices, there were actual price drops in some lines along with increasing consumer resistance to higher meat prices.

This resistance, which N. Roose, president of the Toronto Retail Butchers' Association, said "cut general meat sales by at least 40 per cent and has cut sales of bacon by 75 per cent," caused the price of bacon and smoked meats to drop from one to four cents in Calgary.

Some meat dealers there predicted further price drops if buyer resistance continued. They said many families, like other families across Canada, had stopped buying bacon and more expensive cuts of pork altogether since prices advanced last week.

Secret Report On Japan New Evidence

TOKYO, Jan. 13 —(AP)—The prosecution today abandoned a part of its rebuttal evidence against former Premier Tojo and 24 other Japanese war leaders after the International War Crimes Court intimated the defence would be permitted to reopen its case should any new material be given.

Earlier, Associate Prosecutor Arthur Carr of Britain, introducing rebuttal testimony on the China conflict, had placed in evidence a "very secret" report found in the foreign office files. It stated that Emperor Hirohito in 1938 had evinced interest in Japanese preparations for war against Britain, Russia, and the United States.

The document was a report on a conference at the imperial general headquarters in the presence of Hirohito in mid-February, 1938. The army revealed its plans for advances into the heart of China and the navy representative was quoted as saying "The navy insists from a naval point of view on the necessity of expanding the naval power in preparing for war against Great Britain and America."

"Then the emperor asked the war minister," the document continued, "whether the army could, at one and the same time, carry out preparations against the Soviet, Great Britain, and America.

The war minister replied he would have the honor to answer after consulting other members of the cabinet on that point."

The answer, if ever, has not been found."

Wants Zionist Slogan To Be Defiance

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—(CP)—The slogan of Zionism should not be defence but defiance and world Jewry must not await attacks by those opposed to a Jewish national homeland in Palestine but anticipate the blow.

This was the blunt statement of Dr. Maurice L. Perlzweigh of Toronto, former member of the Jewish Agency Executive, in an address last night to a banquet of the Zionist Organization of Canada.

Mr. Perlzweigh said Jews in Canada were not forthright in emphasizing the need for a Jewish homeland in Palestine. They must, with world Jewry, force the world to focus its eyes on the Holy Land by reversing their stand—from defensive to offensive.

In an apparent reference to Arab forays into partitioned Palestine, Dr. Perlzweigh said Jews must forestall efforts to under mine the aims of Zionism by attacking its enemies.

Earlier, David Croll, Liberal Member of Parliament for Toronto Spadina, called for a unified publicity campaign on the part of Canadian Zionists to explain their stand.

He said some Jews had built ill will by expressing opinions foreign to those of Jews as a race and a nation. A campaign to alleviate these thoughts would do much to dispel this misconception.

Rabbi Isaac Frank of Detroit, executive secretary of the American Fund for Palestinian Institutions, said the fund was supporting financially a program of training young Jews in Palestine for service in Hagana, the Jewis' Agency army.

Five Alberta Mines Strike

CALGARY, Jan. 13—(CP). — Strike action has made idle five mines in the Crow's Nest Pass region of Alberta and walkouts in the Drumheller district of the province are "probable" following a breakdown in wage negotiations between mine operators and representatives of District 18 of the United Mine Workers' Union.

Between 1,600 and 1,800 miners are employed in the Alberta Crow's Nest workings while union membership at Drumheller is 2,000.

The strike action came early today, following by a few hours the breaking down of talks between operators and union. The walkout was described as "news to them" by union officials who said earlier strike action was not a possibility.

Mines affected are the International and McGillivray workings at Coleman, a West Canadian mine and the Mohawk-Hillcrest mine at Bellevue and another West Canadian holding at Blairmore.

Try To Show Driver Insane

CHATHAM, Jan. 13 — (CP).— Several witnesses were called by defence counsel James H. Clark today in an effort to show that Jams William St. Pierre, 34-year-old taxi driver, is mentally unfit to stand trial on a charge of murder.

The charge arose from the shotgun slaying of Pierre's father-in-law, Joseph McIlhargey, on the night of Oct. 1. Mr. Justice Jean Genest is hearing the supreme court case.

At the start of court the murder indictment was read to St. Pierre but he was not asked to plead. The defence lawyer promptly moved that the court direct a special issue.

Addressing the court, Mr. Clark said "I would like to say that I am unable to get any instructions from my client, and I think it should be first determined whether or not he is fit to stand trial."

Clarence P. Arnold, a Chatham lawyer who on different occasions had acted for St. Pierre testified he had been unable to get St. Pierre to talk about the slay-his bedroom about 2 a.m. when he heard an automobile drive up to the Lloyd house across the street. He heard loud voices but he did not hear a shot.

Soon after Mrs. Lloyd screamed, Bernard's eight-year-old brother, Roger, ran across the street and asked him for help, Cronkwright said.

'Both boys then left to get the doctor and I went to the Lloyd home. When I got there, Lloyd was lying on the Chesterfield and Mrs. Lloyd was sitting near him, holding his hand. I waited with them until the police and doctor arrived."

Want Newsmen Professionals

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP). —Spokesmen for American journalism schools asked the wage-hour administration to-day to classify all newspaper reporters in the United States as professional workers, which would make them ineligible for premium pay after 40 hours a week.

Dean Frank L. Mott of the University of Missouri Journalism School, said in a prepared brief that writing, editing, or management of a newspaper is a profession.

"Its title to that dignity rests on its services to government and society in general," he said, "on the preparation generally required for it, and on its codes of ethical principles."

Kenneth E. Olson of North-Western University, representing the American Schools of Journalism, opposed in another brief a proposal by the United Electrical Workers (CIO) to limit wage-hour exemptions for white collar workers to those making more than $500 a month.

"He was plenty mad too." It might have been him that did the shooting."

Describing the actual shooting, Stickley's brother said:

"They came out of the (blind) pig and got in the car. My brother was behind the wheel and one of his two companions got in beside him. As the other companion opened the door of the back seat there was a blast and my brother slumped over the wheel.

"The gunman got out the other side and disappeared. The two companions did not pay much attention to him because they were more concerned about my brother. They said he was blond

ing. The McCuaigs said they got only a fleeting glimpse of the assailant as he ran up an alley. They picked Stickley up from the pavement where he slumped after the shot was fired and took him to hospital. The slug went right through his body.

Mrs. Thomas was married to S. R. Thomas, a Cornishman, who has been at Geita 18 months as a surveyor. She was employed on office duties at the mine.

All Groups Posting Losses On Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—(CP). — Downward trends were established in slow trading on the stock exchange today wtih all groups posting majorities of losses over gains. Industrials traded widely in small lots except for Winnipeg Electric which featured the list on about 6,714 shares in the third hour. Golds were soft.

Volume for the first three hours was 479,000 shares, about 75,000 below yesterday's similar period.

Industrials generally moved fractionally downward although a few strong points scattered the list. Ahead were Argus, Atlas Steel, Brazilian, Canners, Great Lakes Paper, Labatt, Winnipeg Electric, Weston, Power Corp and Dominion Textiles.

Golds eased for Bidgood, Bralorne, Buffadison, Campbell, Chesterville, Dome, Hollinger, Kerr Addison, Kirkland Lake, La Luz, Macassa, Teck Hughes, Sylvanite, San Antonio and Powell. Base metals were mixed with gainers Smelters and Golden Manitou.

Councils Guests Of Rotary Club

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13 — (ENS).—The Campbellford and Seymour Councils were guests at a Rotary Club dinner held in the Parish Hall Monday. Dr. Owen Watson, president, called on the Mayor, Harvey Donald, and Reeve Melville Wight, to introduce their councils.

Two new members, Jack E. Trimble and E. J. "Ed" Johnston, are to be initiated at the next meeting, Monday, Jan. 19, when the Hon. William Goodfellow will be the guest speaker.

Rev. P. J. Lambert addressed the club on the misunderstanding among the people of different countries caused chiefly by the misrepresentation of facts concerning the nations. World brotherhood, he said, must be based on truth.

As an example of a country which has been grossly misrepresented, he chose Southern Ireland, his native land. He portrayed an attractive pastoral picture of the hills and glens and coasts and went on to tell something of the way of life as it is there.

"We are too hard-hearted and practical in our living," he said, "where as Ireland is full of folklore and song." However, he believes Canadians are making progress in that direction, aided by the cultures of many people which are being blended into one.

36 Seek Post Recreation Director

LINDSAY, Jan. 13.—(ENS).—The quarterly report of the Lindsay Recreation Committee, submitted at last night's meeting of council, showed that 2,500 children, 1,100 youths and 900 adults benefitted by the committee's program during the past four months.

Mr. L. Walker, chairman of the committee, said the committee were sponsoring 17 minor hockey teams with 250 players. Other activities included skating, figure skating classes, dancing classes, swimming, hobbycraft and various summer sports.

Receipts for the four months totalled $2,703.27 with disbursements at $2,508.16, leaving a bank balance of $195.16.

Col. R. I. Moore, a member of the Recreation committee, served notice they would be asking for a $3,000 grant this year. He mentioned the committee had received 36 applications for recreation director.

Mr. Moore asked for a committee from town council to work with the Recreation Centre in connection with the installation of artificial ice. Ald. G. K. Garbig was appointed as chairman of that committee and Reeve H. H. McFadden, Alds. C. E. Ferguson and L. Burrows, members.

The artificial ice plant will cost an additional $1,080, because of the recently imposed Federal tax on steel imported from the United States, Mr. Moore told council.

Reserve Judgment In Obstruction Case

Judgment was reserved today on a charge of obstructing traffic on the sidewalk, laid against William Winslow, 198 Barnardo St., who pleaded not guilty.

Evidence was given by Constables Claire McGillen and Allan Edmison. Constable Edmison testified that on the night of Jan. 5, the accused had refused to "move along" when instructed to do so. He had been standing in front of a hotel on Hunter St. The witness stated that he had asked accused to move four times and that Winslow had refused. He placed the man under arrest after the fourth request had been refused.

Defence counsel John Correlly questioned the charge that the accused had actually 'obstructed' the passage of anyone walking on the sidewalk.

Evidence for the defence was given by Henry Little, George Tindall and the accused.

According to defence version of the incident, accused had crossed the street from his place of business, almost opposite the hotel, to talk to Little and Tindall. He had not been in the hotel beverage room, it was stated.

Counsel Correlly argued that the accused had been assumed by the officer to be a member of the group leaving the beverage room —a group "which it is desirable to keep moving". As he had desired to conclude his conversation, he had moved to the outer edge of the sidewalk.

Fails In Defence Of His Own Case

William W. Cowling, 9 McLellan St., was fined $50 and costs of $2.50 or one month when he was found guilty on a charge of being intoxicated in public, despite his evidence that he had had only "a sip of a glass of beer" on the evening of December 22, when the charge was laid.

The accused also questioned the qualifications of the officer investigating—PC Dennis Traynor—to tell "the difference between a highly nervous man and one who was in a drunken condition."

Group Suggests City Forest, Playground

County And City Groups Asked To Co-operate In Project

That Peterborough should have an area set apart as a playground for both the city and adjacent to one or another of the many lakes [illegible] the decision [illegible] servation Association at a special meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce Monday night.

Discussions were long and varied as to whether Peterborough should select some part of the county suitable for a National Park, a Provincial Park or a playground, and that location to be within reasonable reach of the city and adjacent to one or another of the many lakes thus the community with the [illegible] him to see what projects the county might have in view. "In the county," said Warden Johnston, "we have a reforestation farm, and we have our conservation scheme, we have also arranged to beautify the highways.

"Kiwanians have approached me as to what best steps could be taken in the matter of conservation. I think that the city should have some land adjacent to plenty of water for a real playground for the city. "Land is being grabbed up and unless some of it was taken up soon for such a project it would be too late. There is plenty of good land to the north of the city, and I think that both the city and the county should pool their assets and work together in the matter of locating and purchasing such land for a playground," said the Warden.

Mr. Fred Marshall said most of the most suitable sites were privately owned and anyone having a picnic on such land was chased off. "I think," said Fred Marshall, "that the city of Peterborough should have no difficulty in securing 1,000 acres for a parkland. I think that if the Ontario Conservation and Forestry group could call a meeting with a good public speaker to address the people it would enthuse the community with the [illegible] city forest or a county forest were put to the people he was sure they would become enthusiastic. Legislation could be changed in order to have a city forest. "A city playground could be managed by ourselves," he said, "but in the case of a city forest outside help would be needed and in that case the department of Lands and Forests would have to be called upon. There are good places up north where nothing have been done, but there are no roads, and unfortunately are the only places available at the present."

Mr. Marshall asked if there was no reason why the Departmentt of Lands and Forests should not sell the assocation land for a city forest.

Suggests Jacks' Lake.

Mr. Lee Copp sugested that one beautiful spot was on Jack's Lake near Apsley. Mr. Marshall suggested then that the Department of Lands and Forests should be approached in the matter of selling no more land until the association had had the chance of locating a suitable spot for a playground.

Mr. Copp said that he liked the idea of both the city and the county and all interested in the scheme pooling their resources and buying an area outright for a playground.

Rotary Gives Aid To 17 Cripples In Six Months

Peterborough Rotary Club received reports from committees on work of the club, at their meeting held Monday afternoon.

The financial position until the end of 1947 showed total assets of the club to be $4,959.51. Of this amount, $1,000 has been set aside for boys' camp, about $1,800 for crippled children's work. There is $895 tied up in loans, leaving a free fund balance of $1,268.68.

Jack Stewart of the Y's men club gave the Rotarians a brief resume of the boys' summer camp at Clear Lake—Camp Kawartha —which is operated jointly by the two clubs. He said that a Master Plan of repair and extension work will be worked out for the club. The plan, to cover five years, will have as its object the perfecting and rounding out of details which have not, to date, been incorporated. It was also reported that a "full fleet" of war canoes and smaller canoes are now ready for this summer.

Eric James, a guest of the club, expressed appreciation for the recent donation to the city's Minor Hockey Association. Now operating Bantam, Juvenile and Midget clas steams, he said the association now included 350 boys active in hockey.

R. F. Downey reported on the Student Loan fund, under which four youth of the district are now furthering their education.

Harley Keefer reported on the possibilities of bowling parties within the club.

Dr. Richard A. Kelly, in presenting the report of the Crippled Children's Committee, pointed out that assistance given was more than financial aid. Seventeen cases were handled by the club in the first six months of this Rotary year, he said. Of these, nine required financial assistance to the total of $500. He mentioned that in some cases, the committee had met with apathy and unwillingness on the part of some parents.

Jack Gillespie, chairman of the Boys' Committee, expressed gratitude in the work of the Y's men club for the co-management of project at Clear Lake.

Most parents are heartily in accord with the project but several have instructed the teachers that their children get all the milk they needed at home.

At the Public School here there are 60 children in kindergarten and Grade 1, getting a half-pint of milk daily; 34 (up to nine years of age) at the Separate School, and 25 in Warkworth.

Obituaries

NORMAN F. COOMBE

The funeral took place at the week-end, in Cedar Edge, a few miles from Denver, Colorado, of Norman Frederick Coombe, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Coombe, of Millbrook. The family history goes back to pioneer days in the community, when Mr. Coombe's father carried on successfully with a tailoring business, and where the family of five sons and one daughter was born and brought up. His mother's maiden name was Elizabeth Matilda Olver, and her family also was among the early settlers of the village. Only one member of the Coombe family now survives, Walter H. Coombe, recently retired after fifty years in business at Millbrook.

In his early manhood Mr. Fred Coombe was a member of the teaching profession, the public school at Fairmount having been under his charge. For reasons of health, more than 35 years ago he removed to Denver to reside, and more recently his home was at Cedar Edge, where he carried on as a fruit farmer.

Some little time before removing to Colorado, the marriage of Frederick Coombe and Adelaide Martin, of Whitby, took place.

Surviving are his widow, a son and daughter, Norman and Grace, and four grandchildren.

Youths Guilty Cobourg Theft

COBOURG, Jan. 13—(ENS)— Dean McKenzie of Cobourg and Melvin George of Fenella pleaded guilty in police court on Monday to a charge of breaking, entering and theft at the Baltimore Hotel on Nov. 22. They were arrested last week and with their arrest police recovered a cash register. Contents, said to have been $125, were missing and the cash register was damaged. It was found buried in the snow back of Baltimora village.

The pair were remanded for sentence and the court was informed by defence counsel, T. F. Hall, KC, that restitution would be made.

Constable H. Pearse told of the arrest of the two men and his evidence was corroborated by Provincial Constable Don Nicol.

Chief W. J. Carey testified that the beverage room of the Baltimore Hotel was broken into on November 22, around 7:40 p.m. p.m. The tap room and beverage room had been closed at 6:30 that evening. Th etheives had removed the storm window and had broken the inside window to gain entrance and removed the 189-pound cash register. Contents were $125. The chief said that he had been informed it would cost $175 to repair the cash register which was valued at between $900 and $1,000. Estimated cost of repairing the window and premises was $50, the chief said.

"Complete restitution is available," Mr. Hall commented. Defence counsel declared that both men came from good families and that intoxication had apparently been at the root of their behavior on the occasion of their theft.

"If it had not been for astute work on behalf of the police the cash register would still be out in the field and might never have bene recovered as far as the accused were concerned. The least they could have done is to have seen that the cash register was returned to the owner," commented Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

Anti-Margarine Forces On The Run

The interests which oppose the manufacture and sale of margarine in Canada are becoming sensible of the precariousness of their position. Their brand of reasoning no longer imposes upon a majority of Canadians, and they are beginning to resort to absurdities and appeals to prejudice. The latest of their extravagances to come to our notice is the statement of Mr. William Newman of Lorneville that margarine in Canada would hold back bathrooms in rural homes, and discourage young people from staying on the farms. Such statements carry no conviction whatever. Canada is not the only dairying country in the world, but it is the only one in which margarine is banned; its chief rivals are Denmark and New Zealand, and in both these countries the farmers are in very good circumstances; whether they have bathrooms or not we cannot say, but they certainly have money, and they make a good deal of that money out of the margarine industry.

* * *

Margarine can be made in several different ways. One form of the product requires considerable quantities of milk for its manufacture; beef fat is also used in much margarine. A calm consideration of the matter suggests that the manufacture of margarine in Canada would give the farmer another market for some of his products. We are not impressed, either, by the cry that the margarine industry in Canada would be controlled from the U.S.A.; there is no reason why Canadians should not set up as margarine manufacturers if they want to do so.

* * *

The outcry against margarine has come, not from the farmers, but from the representatives of the dairy industry. It is interesting that one of the warmest supporters of the margarine cause in Parliament is Senator Hardy, who is very well known as a breeder of purebred Jersey cattle; he knows the dairy situation well, and he is confident that margarine would not hurt the farmer. We imagine that many thoughtful farmers agree with him.

* * *

The fuss about margarine is artificial. The dairy industry want to keep the ban on margarine, because it gives them a squeeze on the consumers which they are not anxious to lose. But we predict that the ban on margarine will be removed shortly—if not by this Parliament, by a succeeding one—for the absurdity of it has been amply demonstrated. The dairy lobby in Ottawa is losing its grip. We also predict that as soon as margarine becomes legal in Canada the big dairies will manufacture it, just as the meat-packers make both lard and shortening, and that they will make a lot of money out of it. We predict that the farmers will not feel any pinch as a result of the removal of the ban, and that some of them will do very good business with the margarine makers; who can say — a few of them may get their bathrooms the sooner because of margarine.

How Large A Profit Will The Market Provide?

Who is profiteering? Every man and his brother, we expect, who had marketable goods on hand a month ago and can sell now at inflated prices. Even the city of Toronto boasted that it had made (or saved) $300,000 by the timely sale of government bonds a few weeks ago.

There are two recent news items which may not inappropriately be mentioned in this connection. The Federal Minister of Agriculture stated recently that there were 50,000,000 pounds of butter in storage in Canada. It was not all stored last week; we might even dare to suggest that some of it was stored a couple of months ago when prices were low. Butter-sellers must think that butter is going to go higher.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has released figures on the storage of meat. As of December 1st there were 110,000,000 pounds of meat in storage in Canada. That meat was bought at prices considerably lower than the present ones. Would it be impertinent to suggest that some of the meat now reaching the market (bacon, for instance) was in storage last December 1st?

Income Tax Guide For Farmers

The Minister of National Revenue seems to be worrying about the farmers and the income tax, perhaps because so far only 27,411 have paid any tax for the year 1945-46. He seems to feel that a few more might pay if they really understood how to fill out the forms. His Department has issued a free booklet: Prairie Farmers' Income Tax Guide and Account Book.

Why should the benevolent Income Tax Branch hand out special advice to farmers? Does it think that farmers are more stupid than Canadians in other occupations? Does it think that farmers have very poor ideas about keeping accounts? We admit that the filling out of income tax forms is an annoyance to most of us — the new, simplified forms may lessen this vexation. We admit that there are pinheads in all occupations, and that few of us are arithmeticians who can compute percentages and deduct ½ of Item A (2) with ease.

What kind of thinking goes on in the heads of the farmers to whom this new booklet is addressed? One question in the booklets is: "If I disagree with the government policy, am I entitled to refuse to pay income tax?" The official answer is: "No". Another question is: "The income tax form looks pretty long to me. Why do I have to have six pages?" The official answer is: "It is not as bad as it looks....The form calls for no more than businessmen have been accustomed to provide". A good unofficial answer would be: "There are six pages, dear Western farmer, because the income tax experts are not ordinary people and they are not happy to think in simple terms. Anyway, dear western farmer, a man in a factory or office or shop has to wrestle with these forms, and it's time you stopped being careless about them and did some annoying figuring too".

The booklet is available without charge, and any farmer, eastern or western, can get a copy at the nearest Post Office.

Standards In Travel And Cheese

Standards seem constantly to be going up. A McLaughlin touring limousine of the 1914 type would be pretty third rate stuff now. Egg standards are changing. Two decades ago eggs were large or small, fresh or not so fresh. The best got the name Grade A. Now a Grade A egg is the kind you teach your grandmother to suck. The tops in eggs are Grade A 1 Large; next is Grade A 1 Medium. Grade A is fourth on the list. Obviously hens, considered as laying machines, are improving.

Trans-Atlantic travel standards are changing. Forty years ago one could travel steerage—in the odoriferous bowels of a ship. Before the last war the lowliest way to travel on most ships was Third Class. The more luxurious classes were Tourist and Cabin — the biggest ships had a First Class. Now all shipping companies are advertising three classes: First, Cabin and Tourist. What has become of the Third Class quarters? Apparently nobody wants to travel cheaply these days, so at least the labels have been changed.

On January 7th, R. K. Carnegie reported from Ottawa on the state of our cheese export trade with Britain (which may die out because we cannot supply the market). He used phrases like "famous Canadian cheese acclaimed in London for almost century", "bringing highest prices". That is nonsense. We used to export tons of the new, Van Gogh yellow, rubbery stuff, and Londoners bought it because it was cheap, not for its colour and texture. There is no better cheese than our best old nippy kind, but most of our cheese falls below that high standard. On the same day that R. K. Carnegie publicized his phrases the Director of Dairying for Ontario told cheese producers that their standards would have to be uniform and higher to compete with other cheese-producing countries. In cheese, there is still steerage class.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The tax collectors of Italy have gone on strike. If that had happened in Canada in days before tax was collected at source we might have cheered.

In Bari (Italy) soldiers staged a stay-in-bed strike as a protest against a new Italian decree extending their military service beyond the spring elections. Blanket-drill was always popular with Canadian soldiers but we must pay tribute to the Italians for discovering the most comfortable method of staging a strike. Picket lines presumably were formed in the mess kitchens.

The Examiner's London Letter

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

THERE were some long low whistles of amazement in London over the publication of the financial statement of the British Overseas Airways Corporation for their 1946-47 operations. One of three big state-owned airlines, BAOC is by far the largest. The other two, British European Airways and British South American Airways, handle respectively all the internal routes plus services to other parts of Europe and, as the name implies, the services to South America. All the rest of Britain's external civilian flying is handled by the BAOC. These airlines are organized as independent corporations, and are operated in a normal business manner, in spite of state ownership. While BSAA's statement is not yet out, the other two show a deficit of nearly $41 millions, with a whopping $32 millions of this loss due to BAOC,—five times the combined deficit of all the U.S. airlines.

THERE are many explanations forthcoming as to why there should be such a loss, but the fact remains that in 1945-46 a loss of only $2 millions was reported, and in 1944-45 actually a profit of $6 million. The BAOC claims that it is the old story of going broke from too much business, as they are losing about $240 per passenger carried. This they blame to the many types of uneconomic aircraft used, the poor facilities for operations in many parts of the world, and lack of early release of government priorities, to mention a few. Things not mentioned include the fact that prestige requires British airlines be maintained in many places where there is no real commercial demand for air service, or only as a convenience for government officials. In an editorial, the "Times" states frankly that such losses must be borne if Britain is to maintain her status as a leading commercial air power, although they go on to suggest that many economies could be effected by closer co-operation between the three existing corporations. This $240 per passenger will scarcely be neglected by the Opposition, as it furnished excellent political ammunition. Actually of course the taxpayer pays much more than this; not included in the statement, but out of public funds comes much of the operation expenses of airfields, mail contracts, and the transportation of government passengers, who pay the normal commercial rates to the airlines out of departmental expenses. The real cost per passenger could scarcely be less than $500.

TO the Canadian, one of the most interesting reactions is the suggestion that Canadian-built Canadair airliners be adopted for general use on the BOAC routes, as was mentioned on the BBC as a possibility. These are the "North Stars" as used by TCA on their trans-Atlantic service. None of the new British airliners will be ready for operations before 1950, whereas it is thought the Canadairs could be delivered this summer. The wheel will indeed have come completely around if the proposal is carried out. Who would have believed ten years ago that within a decade an important Canadian aircraft industry would not only be in existence, but would be exporting aircraft to Great Britain?

A SIGNIFICANT development of late is the declaration of war on the communists within the British Labour Party. Several weeks ago the Labour Party Secretary opened the attack with a circular urging that communists be removed from union office at the next election. On Saturday last the Prime Minister attacked Russia and her sympathizers in this country, and on Monday the Civil Service Union announced they would attempt to unseat their present executive on grounds of communism. This is not to infer that the communists represent an important section of the British Labour Party: they don't, any more than they represent an important section of Canadian Labour, but they do hold a number of executive offices in the various trades unions out of all proportion to their numbers. The all-important National Union of Mineworkers is led by Arthur Horner, a well-known member of the British Communist Party. Communist Party members also hold important positions in the electrical and engineering unions, and a multitude of lesser union offices everywhere. The most probable reason behind the drive is a clearing of the decks for future dealings with Russia; trying to rid organized labour of any disturbing factors that might embarrass the government at a critical moment.

The National Coal Board has announced tentatively that 199.7 million tons of coal were mined in the year, only 300,000 short of the goal. After the hard work of the last few weeks it was a bitter pill for the miners to swallow, although all sides have congratulated them on a very fine effort. Three months ago anything like this amount would have seemed outside the realms of possibility, but the spurt came very close to success. One of the London papers points out that it would only take another 4 hours' work to reach the goal. There is real enthusiasm amongst the miners, and on the last day of the year over 70 mines were manned by volunteers,—mines normally closed on that day. The goal for the coming year is 211 million tons, and if present production rates are maintained, it should be reached easily. While the public may frequently grumble about the coal miners, all thinking people realize it is a dirty, dangerous, and hard life, and should be paid for on that basis. In spite of many modern safety precautions, coal mining still has the highest accident rate of any important occupation.

THIS is a bewildering country in many ways. All Canadians have heard of the complex money system of pounds, shillings, and pence, with the multiplication in 4s, 12s, and 20s, with a non-existent 21 shilling value (guinea), but how many know that the only folding money in general circulation is the equivalent of $2 and $4 bills? The only notes that are usually accepted are the ten shilling and one pound denominations, although there are £5 and £10 notes in existence, presumably for circulation. I have heard rumours also of £50 and £100 notes, but cannot verify, having never seen the same. To feel like a criminal you need only try to pay a bill with a perfectly good £5 note. The shop-keeper stares suspiciously at the note, then at you, and mutters sorry but haven't you something smaller? If he can finally be persuaded to take the bill,—and often he cannot, he carefully writes your name and address on the back of it, which by the way is only printed on the one side, and could pass as any old letter, as it is strictly in black script on white paper business letter size. You slink away from the store feeling like a robber of widows and orphans. Remember, this is only the same thing as a $20 bill, and there are no inbetween sizes from the $4. To make the public attitude even more bewildering, cheques are accepted quite easily in many places under conditions unheard of in Canada. One of the largest department stores in London accepts unverified cheques up to $40 in payment for goods, which you are then free to carry away. An amazing country!

URGES IMMEDIATE BUILDING OF MEMORIAL RINK

Sir: I am writing this letter to commend Aldermen Dodds and Miller on the stand they are taking towards having the Memorial Centre built. I understand that there is a lot of red tape attached to the Memorial Centre funds, such as free exemption of income tax, but if the Memorial Centre Committee and our City Council wanted it to be built very badly they would soon find ways and means to overcome a lot of obstacles that they complain about. It is not right that our youth should have to play at Lakefield where there are no facilities available to give them needful attention if they are injured. The rink is not suitable for their parents to go to. I would just love to take some of those aldermen and their wives to see the conditions the boys and parents are having to put up with. Even the transportation and waiting for their turn to go on the ice is bad enough. Both Midgets and Juveniles were not home until 12:30 a.m. last Tuesday. That is not good for youngsters attending schools. It is also sad that a lot of our City Fathers were not gifted with sons or a boy who was hockey-conscious. One great help against juvenile delinquency is sport of any kind. Any boy who plays any kind of sport hasn't got the energy and time to put into getting into trouble. I have not gone into the financial aid that is lost every year by not having any gate receipts. Even our last high school gym display didn't give the physical director or the students a chance because of a lack of a larger Auditorium. There are so many good uses an Auditorium could be used for besides hockey. Please do not wait and have it so elaborate that the upkeep will be too high. Make a New Year's resolution in our City Council that the moneys that have been given for our Memorial Centre in Peterborough in memory of the boys who did a great job in the war front, whether it be from workers, industrialists, and any other interested people who were so glad to have something more substantial than a monument for a memory be built right away. These boys would gladly have a building which other boys could use for recreational cultural purposes. Let it not be a sore point in our city. Our memorial centre is needed now. We want a clean healthy building for our youths to invite their mothers to come and watch them play hockey or hear our Canadian talent, be it music or plays. The City Council are to be commended for having the open air rinks for our younger people. I thank you for this space in the paper.

Yours truly,
A MOTHER.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God....

By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter; choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season; esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasurers in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompense of the reward.

By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king: for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible. (Heb. 11: 5, 24-27.)

* * *

For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile: let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it. For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers. (I Pet. 3: 10-12.)

* * *

Let that therefore abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father. And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life. (I John 2: 24, 25.)

Oshawa Planning Project Urged By Conant

OSHAWA, Jan. 13 — Pointing to indications of industrial growth here, Hon. G. D. Conant, master of the Supreme Court of Ontario, today suggested to Rotarians that a metropolitan chamber of commerce be formed in the Oshawa-Whitby district and that large-scale planning be considered immediately.

"A very substantial" industrial development could be expected in the district, he said in his Civic Day address, and problems of education, transportation and town planning should be ironed out in advance. Railway services, the new dual highway, Highway No. 2, harbors at Oshawa and Whitby and promise of additional electric power from the new development on the Ottawa River all made the area suitable for expansion.

"Perhaps one of the most important problems, and one we can and should plan to meet right now, is the matter of large-scale town planning to cover the entire area," he said. "If we are to avoid the grief that has plagued so many other large industrial developments we must plan now for industrial sites, for residential areas, for merchandising districts, for transportation facilities and fo all the other necessary and natural requirements of such an area.

"The present Planning Act of Ontario may not be broad enough to embrace such an area and such a program. If it is not, I am confident that the government would favorably consider any reasonable legislation that may be necessary. It may be advisable to constitute a metropolitan planning commission."

The district east of Toronto had not developed as rapidly as that west of the city in the past, he said, but should do so in the future. Mr. Conant felt it was possible to make the Oshawa-Whitby area second to none in Canada within the next 10 years.

Charge Communism

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13.—(CP).—A charge that the British Columbia Housewive Consumers' League, now fighting a battle against high food costs, is a Communist organization was made here yesterday by Lt.-Col. C. C. I. Merritt, V.C., Progressive-Conservative Member of Parliament for Vancouver-Burrard. He and Mrs. Ethel Darvill, president of the B.C. Non-Pension Widows' Association, publicly disascoiated themselves from the league. Mrs. Mona Morgan, vice-president of the league, denied affiliation with any political party.

It's the New Way to Take VITAMINS

SCIENCE has established the fact that for better results vitamins work most effectively in combination with certain other food elements.

That's why so many mothers are giving their children Ovaltine. For Ovaltine contains — besides vitamins — nearly every food element needed for health, including those elements necessary for vitamin-effectiveness.

For example, Vitamins A and C need protein. Vitamin B, needs energy-food. Vitamin D requires Calcium and Phosphorus, and so on —and you get them all in each glass of Ovaltine made with milk!

So why not let your child enjoy delicious Ovaltine with meals and get the extra vitamins and minerals needed for robust health.

Life And Education Of A Prince....

By H.R.H. DUKE OF WINDSOR

"Bertie and I helped in the construction of a reservoir at Appleton. We were constant companions."

"Armed with wooden guns we would parade nearly every day with Cameron barking orders . . . and Forsyth playing marches on the pipes."

Synopsis of preceding instalment: The life of a Twentieth Century prince is continued today. In the first instalment, Edward, Duke of Windsor, wrote about his early childhood. He described his father, King George V, and explained how his early parental upbringing has influenced his life. He recalled his father's great love for Scotland and things Scottish, and described two Scottish veterans of the Boer War who were part of the Royal Household: Henry Forsyth, a former pipe major in the Scots Guards, and Findlay Cameron. Forsyth would awaken the Royal Family every morning with the skirl of the bagpipes. Cameron, ostensibly a footman, became a childhood companion of the Duke and Bertie (George VI). He thrilled the youngsters with tales of his exploits in the Boer War, and taking them atop the wall of Marlborough House to watch the changing of the Guard. The Duke continues his recollections of his childhood in the following instalment:

CHAPTER TWO

A desire on our part to emulate this stirring drill inspired Cameron to organize my sister, myself, and my next two brothers, Bertie and Harry, into a squad—a bit of make-believe which my father approved, thinking it would keep us from becoming round-shouldered.

Armed with wooden guns, we would parade nearly every day with Cameron barking orders from the drill book, and Forsyth playing marches on the pipes.

It was great fun, especially at Sandringham, for my grandfather, the King, would sometimes walk down from the Big House to inspect us.

With Mama life reverted to a less martial tempo. We treated her with devoted respect. Although she backed up my father in all matters of discipline, she never failed to take our side when in her judgment he was being harsh with us.

Her own family being in more modest circumstances than my father's, she had been brought up in a simple English way.

Outlook Mellowed

Long stays abroad on the Continent of Europe had mellowed her outlook and from study and observation she had acquired an amazing sense of the historical, and an almost professional knowledge of antique furniture and objects d'art. None of her relatives could match her precise and encyclopedic memory whether applied to the tangled genealogies of the ruling dynasties of Europe, or the heirlooms and souvenirs of the family.

With the birth of each new child, Mama started an album in which she painstakingly recorded each of the progressive stages of our childhood — the dates upon which "Baby cut his (or her) first tooth," or took "his (or her) first step," with a lock of hair inserted on the day of the first hair-cut.

The things that we children looked forward to most in the day was to gather around Mama in her room after our tea of muffins, jam, and milk, the last meal of the day. She would be in a negligee, resting on her sofa, and she would talk and read to us. Her soft voice, the cultivated mind, the cosy room overflowing with personal treasures, were all inseparable ingredients of the happiness associated with this last hour of a child's day.

But being also practical by nature, my mother taught us to employ this time making woollen comforters for one of her many charities. She showed us how to work these garments on round wooden rings, with brass pegs.

Worked With Wool

While she read, we busily wove wool around each peg, and at the completion of a circle, slipped the yarn over each to form a crochet stitch, and eventually a comforter five feet in length.

As a small boy I enjoyed making these things more than did my sisters or my brothers. Many years later, during an enforced period in bed while recovering from a riding accident, I became quite proficient with a crochet needle.

At the beginning of the last war, when attached to a British mission with the French Army, I was obliged to make long motor trips back and forth in the combat zones. I returned once again to my gentle diversion as a means of killing time. This was during the period of the so-called "phoney" war, and I was understandably discreet about my hobby at first. It would hardly have done for the story to get around that the Duke of Windsor, in the uniform of a major-general of the British Army, had been seen bowling along the roads behind the Maginot Line crocheting. Nevertheless, crocheting did for me what detective novels do for statesmen. It relaxed my mind and, incidentally provided a number of anonymous but not unworthy samples for a charity my wife organized for the French Army.

When I was nearly eight a new personality was injected into my life. Frederick Finch came from a line of family retainers in the service of the Duke of Wellington. His father had been body-servant to the old Iron Duke himself.

Beginning as my male "nanny," he shined my shoes, nursed me when I was sick, scrubbed my hands and face, and knelt with me when I said my prayers at night. As I grew older he became my valet—but a valet who played golf and shot and rode with me. Still later, he became my butler. Now retired, aged 77, he lives in a little cottage in Berkshire with, perhaps more than his share of memories.

Not long ago Finch told a friend of mine that as a boy I had been a handful — or, if I might use the word, a "stubborn" character. He went on to describe an occasion when he played the role of 'rod and pickle." Evidently, one afternoon, when my sister was supposed to be taking a nap, I had gone into the nursery and kicked up a fuss. My father was out shooting, and no one dared to disturb my mother. My sister's harassed nurse, Lala Bill, stormed into Finch's ro o m, crying, "That boy is impossible. If you don't give him a threshing, I will." Finch marched me off to the bedroom, laid me face down on the bed and, while I kicked and yelled, laid a large hand upon that part of the anatomy which nature has conveniently provided for the chastisement of small boys. I sobbed a long time, and swore to get even with Finch by threatening that my brother would tell my father what he had done. That night, at tea-time, my mother heard the whole story from Bertie and Mary, and I was sent back to Finch's room to apologize for having been such a nuisance. That, at any rate, is Finch's story; for myself, I can only say that I have absolutely no recollection of the incident, and may have rubbed from my memory a scene that I did not choose to remember. Finch is a man of probity; let his testimony stand.

Fisherman's Nets Give Clue In Plane Mystery

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13 — (CP). The mystery disappearance of the Trans-Canada Air Lines plane which vanished April 29 last year with 15 persons aboard may be solved with the report of a new clue brought here by Capt. James Salome, of the fishboat Wonder No. 1.

He reported a piece of plane wreckage, believed to be a wing, became entangled in his nets in Trincomali Channel, between Galiano and Saltspring Islands, about 30 miles southwest of here in Georgia Strait.

"It looked to me like a wing," he said. "It was pretty well chewed up, silver-colored, and at first looked like a plank. The piece I found was too big to get aboard. It was several feet long, about three feet wide, and a foot thick."

Capt. Salome said he marked the location of the wreckage. "I can take anybody back to within 100 feet of it."

Theatre Manager Becomes Member of 25-Year Club

Most people go to a show to relax and forget their business cares. But Art Cauley, Homewood Ave., finds his business worries most pressing when the lights flick off and the night's entertainment begins. Mr. Cauley, manager of the Capitol Theatre, who will be installed in the Famous Players' 25-Year Club meeting at a special dinner tonight in Toronto.

Born in Chicago in 1893 and educated there, he came to Cobourg where he obtained employment with one of the first motion picture theatres between Montreal and Toronto. At that time Toronto had only two movie houses.

It was before the days of deluxe theatres; seats were moveable chairs, and the silent films were accompanied by a piano. Most shows consisted of about three reels.

Road shows on the late Ambrose J. Small circuit were included; and Mr. Cauley did business with him for six years. Relations were never particularly cordial, he recalls. Once he waited all day to see the elusive Mr. Small and then did not get the interview. The well-known theatre man later became one of Toronto's most famous mystery men when he disappeared without any disclosed indication of motive or foul play.

While the road shows continued, Mr. Cauley recalls the presence of many eminent vaudeville artists and the successful bookings of such productions as "Ben Hur," "Barber of Seville," and "Chu Chin Chow." These were played in old Opera House in Cobourg.

He came to Peterborough in January, 1936, as manager of the Capitol Theatre.

Married to a Cobourg girl, he

is the father of six children: Elizabeth, Reg.N., on special duty in Peterborough; Mary, student at St. Peter's High School; Alan, radio announcer in Montreal; Stuart, third year architecture student at University of Toronto; Robert, advertising agency in Toronto; Owen, third year Arts student, St. Francis Xavier University, N.S.

Commenting on the management of a modern theatre, he said, "There's one thing about it; there are never two days alike in this business."

Mr. Cauley is past president of the Rotary Club, a member off Chamber of Commerce, Business Men's Association, and Sales and Ad Club. His present hobbies are golf and fishing.

Mr. Cauley believes movies run in cycles, "psychological," "escapist," "war themes," and "musicals." At the present time people were very receptive to musical films. And if they combined a 19th century or even last generation theme, it added extra zest to the musical.

O'Dwyer Fights St. Lawrence Seaway Project

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP).—Mayor William O'Dwyer yesterday described the proposed St. Lawrence seaway project as "federal boondoggling," and said construction of such a seaway opening the Great Lakes to ocean-going shipping would ruin the port of New York."

The mayor criticized the St. Lawrence river project. During a conference with members of the citizens' budget committee, who had called at city hall to present suggestions for municipal economies.

In asking the committee members to help him in a campaign to defeat the project, O'Dwyer said: "We plan to improve the (New York) waterfront at a cost of $250,000,000 and when we come to it, what do we find? Down in Washington they plan to build a seaway up at Niagara that will take a good portion of our commerce. Isn't that something?

Recent reports from Washington have indicated that the St. Lawrence project is scheduled for final consideration by the senate at an early date. O'Dwyer said senate approval of the project would make extremely difficult the sale of bonds to finance the improvement of New York harbor.

Lock Co. Loses To Neill's In Cage Fray

Neill's defeated Lock Co. 20-14 in a classy Girls' Basketball League fixture last evening in the YWCA. The winners had it all their own way in the first half to hold an 11-2 margin. But Lock Workers battled back strongly in the second stanza to outscore Neill's 12-9, but they couldn't overcome that first-half lead.

Jean Vass, Dot Callan and Marg Freeman stood out for Neill's with a good effort. Jean Johnson, Wilma Floyd and Betty McIlwaine went best for the other side. The game generally was fast and keen, with some close checking in spots and quite a few personal fouls called on each side. Most of the free tosses were clubbed by the opponents. The teams:

Lock Co.: J. Johnson (7), Y. Harvey, B. Cook, A. Firth 1, B. McIlwaine 2, J. Reynolds, J. McIntyre, G. Gynane, M. Knox, W. Floyd 4.

Neill's: E. McFadden 2, D. Callan 7, G. Davey 2, B. Jaquith, I. Crowder, D. Gilmour, B. Reid, J. Vass 3, F. Floyd 1, M. Freeman.

IT CAN BE DONE—Desire for competitive sport does not die easily. At a demonstration in a Cleveland auditorium recently, war amputies showed what could be done by those who have suffered loss of legs, arms, or even eyesight. Top, Gordon Taylor shows how he grips a bowling ball with his artificial hands. His score is better than average. Centre, the chest support of Joseph Moon allows him to cast, play his fish, even use a landing net, all with one hand. And Donald Kerr, lost his left leg above the knee in the war, roller skates expertly with Terry Theisen, Metropolitan skating champion. The veterans are examples of the work of "Horizon Unlimited" which encourages amputees to get into sport despite their handicap.

Norwood Victors Over Tweed 12-7

NORWOOD, Jan. 13—(ENS)—Norwood pulled out a 12-7 TVL win at home over Tweed in a clean, wide-open tussle before a good crowd. They had a 3-1 edge in the first frame on goals by Scott, Hamilton and Rogers, with assists going to Brown (2), Payne and Peterson. B. Gehan counted for Tweed. Norwood had a 4-1 margin in the middle heat on goals by Webb (2), Scott and Rogers, assists being earned by Webb and Puffer. Again it was B. Gehan who scored for Tweed.

There were 10 markers in a lively third heat, each counting five. Norwood goals went to Webb, Scott, Payne, Wight and Rogers, with assists to Payne (2) and Puffer. Tweed tallies were made by Meraw (2), Cotton, Rivers and Long, all solo efforts. Only three penalties of the game went to Payne, Hamilton and Meraw. Teams:

Norwood: Goal, Aldred; defence, Peterson, Hamilton; centre, Webb; wings, Puffer, Rogers; alternates, Brown, Scott, Payne, Wight, Fennell.

Referee, D. Lee; linesman, J. Hamblin.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Petes are playing tonight and that always means a raft of local fans will trek Omemee-ward. Yeah, they're having a "home" game at 8.30 against Belleville Vets, and any Belleville-Petes' tangle is worth seeing. Creighton crew will be out to knock off the Vets and get up again in a top tie with Legion, whilst the boys of Bella Villa are big, fast and with plenty of puck savvy. Some of Honey Tompkins' old sparring mates aboard, and maybe Walt Gerow will be back in their lineup, after an injury. He's plenty smooth on the wing. Yeah, it looks like a rip-snorting hockey game betwixt two classy clubs and ought to pack 'em in.

* * * * * *

Quinte columnist remarks: "From what we have seen and from reports of other games, the senior 'B' setup in this district this year is one of the best in the province. Kingston, Belleville and the two Peterborough teams appear to be more or less evenly matched and that's the way it should be. It is seldom one sees in any group of the calibre of this setup where all teams lose one and win one in their first two games. It augurs well for the district, the various box offices and for the fans. It appears that we are in for some heart-tickling hockey before playoff time arrives." You said it.

Give Refs A Chance

We hope that players and fans don't get too excited and go off half-cocked at OHA referees up this way. And we trust that the arbiters themselves clamp down early and hard at offending puckists. If they argue too hotly or start pushing you around, refs, give them a misconduct or match penalty and skate away from them. Noted Dick Ouimet wearing a shiner recently and someone said a TVL player conked him—though Dick doesn't look like a pushover to us. And there's been physical force used recently in several centres against referees.

* * * * * *

A Toronto Hockey League manager recently bopped a referee and ye ref—dissatisfied with a suspension handed the guy—has quit. He is Pearcey Allen. Another, Eddie Morris, who was injured by a player, will now handle only minor THL games and not the senior ones. The ref at Galt on Saturday was mobbed by St. Kitts' coach and players when a timer apparently beat them out of a goal. So it goes. And it's not good. Players are supposed to play hockey and managers are supposed to stay on the bench. And fans in their seats. It's too much like a southern mob scene when a gang goes after a lone Negro to string him up—that's what strikes us when a bunch tear after a referee. Remember it's a game and we're supposed to be sportsmen, eh?

Another Loop Going

Industrial Hockey League was organized last p.m. with 10 teams aboard, showing how local fellows want to play. They are: Nashua, Packers, Marines, Quakers, Ventilating Shades, Colts, Westclox, Automotives, De Laval and Millbrook. Officers are: President, Roy Feeley; vice-prexy, Ossie Clark; secretary, Mel Burgess; treasurer, Albert Watkins. Play starts Thursday at the Quaker rink with these games, starting at 6.30: Quakers vs. De Laval, Marines vs. Packers, and Colts vs. Ventilating. A few tilts will be staged in Millbrook, some at Sacred Heart rink and Thursday nights at Quaker rink. Refs (at $1.50 a game) are needed, and can contact the secretary at 493 George St. S. About three nights a week of play, schedule out soon, and playoffs lined up later.

Up to the north of us a district hockey league has been lined up to include Bancroft, Cee Hill, Maynooth and Apsley. And some fine rugged jousts are staged on open-air rinks. Apsley boys built their own cushion and clubhouse smack in the centre of the village and it is well lit up. Regardless of sub-zero weather, the husky hockeyists strut their stuff and before goodly gatherings of fans. Bancroft so far appears to have the strongest squad but the season is young yet. Apsley also has a junior team sponsored by the Legion branch there and coached by Dr. Fetterly. Hockey is played in all parts of the province as Canada's national winter game.

About Grant Henry

Grant Henry won the local badminton title so often and easily that he quit trying—to give someone else a chance—and now plays for the Strathgowan Club up Toronto way. Won the men's doubles, with partner, the other day and the Star said: "Henry, one performer who has won titles in the four consecutive years of the tournament's life, is one of the less inhibited badminton boys. He interjects explosive 'damns' with the occasional 'hell-p" when things go bad for his side. Most of the 500 spectators were either very much for him or very much against him." He and his Baltimore pal won 13-15, 18-15 and 15-10 against a chap from Woodstock and one from Kitchener.

Curling News

The first-day of the week-long men's open bonspiel went off in fine style. Maybe one or two of the visiting rinks were a little late owing to weather conditions, but nevertheless it did not interfere much with the schedule.

As is always the case in a big bonspiel there were some real close, hard-fought games and some one-sided.

The spectators in on No. 8 had a field day. They were in their glory, applauding here and finding fault there. It all added up to a great day.

The bonspiel is continuing today.

Those who will be back on Friday for the finals are:

Morrow Trophy—Dr. R. Clark's rink, Peterborough.

Canada Packer Trophy—Dr. C. Breselau's rink, Toronto Granite.

Winnipeg Canadiens Said Likely Champions

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13 (CP). — In Manitoba junior hockey circles today Winnipeg Canadiens are beginning to be talked about as the team most likely to annex the provincial crown.

But what will happen after that is not certain. Whichever team does win the Manitoba junior championship will have to tangle with Port Arthur Bruins in the first inter-provincial series leading down the Memorial Cup trail. And Bruins, despite two defeats in five games on their current western exhibition jaunt, are still considered the team to beat in the West.

Canadiens currently are topping the circuit by a solid five points.

Hockey Moguls Disappointed In Monied Men

By JOE MACSWEEN

HALIFAX, Jan. 13.—(CP). — Although hockey moguls of the Maritimes have corraled as precocious a collection of amateurs as their money could buy, there have been gamblings among some fans that the players are not all they should be.

Alex (Halifax Herald) Nickerson reflects this view, and he quotes no less a personage than Lester Patrick on the subject.

Said Alex: "Long ago—back in 1934—Lester Patrick of the New York Rangers told this operator that he could operate a good club in the International Hockey League (now the American League) for far less money than was being paid in the original Maritime Big Four."

"Patrick's statement," continued the Herald scribe, "would be true today."

"The so-called amateurs who are accepting a century note every Friday would be mighty lucky if they collected half that amount in professional hockey."

Fans who had the same opinion have begun to stay away from the games in droves and Alex Dourly predicts "unless there is a satisfying upswing in attendance in Big Four games, the banks will become the reluctant and somewhat bewildered owners of one, and possibly two, of the clubs in the Maritime Big Four Hockey League."

Nickerson also commented on the scenes of mayhem which have become ordinary and tolerated in hockey and which, if they took place on the street, would lawfully be termed assault and battery and the perpetrators ostracized by a horrified society.

After Halifax St. Mary's juniors had won an exhibition match against Ottawa St. Pat's that resembled a clash between a couple of pirate factions, Nick quotes an Ottawa paper as follows:

"What really rankles is that we were outfought. We are considered the roughest club in our circuit and any time we are down a couple of goals, all we have to do is start throwing our weight around. But that didn't work against St. Mary's. They were tougher than we were.

GOING GOOD—Randy Ellis of Lindsay, former Petes' player, is having a fine scoring season in the Scottish Hockey League. He and his brother Mac went overseas to play early in the fall.

Say Canadiens Lacking Steam

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP).—Anent the last N.H.L. game in New York between the Rangers and Montreal's Canadiens, Edger Laprade didn't play [illegible] he had one.... placed Hector (Toe) [illegible] had suffered a leg [illegible] night before in Montreal.

Two other Canadiens who had been sidelined, Maurice Richard and Murphy Chamberlain, were in action....Canadiens had no steam at all....President Clarence Campbell attended the game ....Laprade's goal was the 100th for the Rangers....The crowd was a sell-out as usual.

End of the Line

Bill Sansing, U. of Texas tubthumper, reports that the only bad feature of the Sugar Bowl trip was a visit to the fair grounds before the game....One nag entered was "Texas Score" carrying orange and white (Texas color) silks....The crowd backed him down from 75-1 to 6-1...."Texas score turned out to be a refugee from Sunnyside Dairies," Bill says.

'She ran into the fence at the start of the home stretch (while running 14th in a field of 14) and came loping happily home three minutes later."

Alabama's Rea Schuessler topped that with the information that after the 1946 Rose Bowl game the 'Bama boys went to Santa Anita and put the wad on a horse named "Crimson Tide." It fell in the back stretch and had to be shot.

Tigers Sweep Marlboros 4-3

By The Canadian Press

Two champion Ontario hockey teams—one of them having a hard time this season—both showed flashes of the old fire in winning efforts last night.

The old Hamilton Tigers swept into a first-place tie with Toronto Marlboros in the OHA senior A circuit by defeating Marlies 4-3 at Toronto. The Tigers have won three out of five tilts against Joe Primeau's Dukes.

The Memorial Cup champions, Toronto St. Michael's Majors took a surprise 2-1 decision over the fifth-place Stratford Kroelers in a junior fixture at Stratford. It was the fifth victory for the ninth place Collegians in 21 starts.

Officers include: President, Roy Feeley; vice-president, Ossie Clark; secretary, Mel Burgess (493 George St. S.); treasurer, Al Watkins.

They open at the Quaker rink on Thursday with these games, commencing at 6.30: Quakers vs. De Laval, Marines vs. Packers, and Colts vs. Ventilating. About three nights a week will be used for play, a few times in Millbrook, more at Sacred Heart rink, and on Thursday nights at Quaker rink. Referees are wanted at $1.50 a game, and should apply at once to the secretary. The playoffs will be arranged shortly and the schedule published.

Hastings Defeat Lakefield Legion, 8-5

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 13.—(ENS).—Lakefield Legion took their first beating of the season last night at the hands of the Hastings intermediates to the tune of 8-5 on home ice.

Pettigrew and the Herrington brothers paced the way for the invading victors, with the win being Hastings' third against two losses. The Legion have now two wins, three losses and a tie.

Chappell was Legion ace scorer with two goals, with Royden Wasson doing an excellent job in goal with his team mates having an off-night.

First period saw Fawcett tally for the Legion with an assist from Hopkins. The Herrington brothers evened it a minute later. Pettigrew soloed four minutes later, only to have Chappell even it one minute later with an assist from Birch. Montgomery scored one at the 10-minute mark and Pettigrew evened it again one minute later on nice combination from Cauey and West. Hetherington brothers put Hastings up again only to have Chittick even it at 4-4 on an assist from Jewell. L. Pettigrew broke the tie at three minutes in the second on a lone rush from the defence, and the game see-sawed for 16 minutes until Chappell scored, only to have Hastings' centre, Pettigrew, put his squad up 6 to 5 a few seconds before the gong went.

Herrington opened the third session on a lucky shot that glanced into the net off Stewart, and 15 minutes later Pettigrew sewed the game up with a solo, making it 8 to 5. Line-up:

Lakefield— Goal, R. Wasson; defence, C. Birch, K. Montgomery; centre, R. Chittick; r. wing, G. Chappell; l. wing, A. Stewart; alternates, G. Henry, G. Hopkins, K. Fawsett, Campbell, W. Morin.

Hastings—Goal, McKenty; defence, J. Mouncey, L. Pettigrew; centre, P. Pettigrew; r. wing, J. Crowley; l. wing, R. West; alternates, J. Herrington, V. Phillips, V. Herrington, F. Crate, C. Rodford, R. Scriver, E. Brooks.

Referee — Scriver; linesman, Tom Junkin.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Just eight years ago tonight New York Rangers defeated Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-1, and set a league record of 19 consecutive games without a loss. Their mark surpassed Canadiens' streak of 18 set in 1927-28. However, Boston Bruins, in 1940-41 established a record of 23 games without a loss, a string which still stands.

LEADS SCORING RACE

Carl Liscombe, veteran, left-winger of Providence Reds, tops the American Hockey League's individual scoring parade today with 64 points, four more than his linemate, Harry Fraser. Teammate Ray Laplante and Indianapolis' Cliff Simpson are tied for third place with 55 points.

Barbara Ann Scott Heads To European Championship

By JACK SULLIVAN

PRAGUE, Jan. 13.—(CP).—Today is the big day for Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott.

The 19-year-old Canadian, world and European figure skating champion, heads into the European championships today with the promise that "I will do my best."

Prague sports writers, who have been watching the various entries go through their paces, think her best will be good enough to enable her to retain the title.

The men's singles events start off proceedings and then the women take the ice with Barbara Ann drawn in 12th place in the field of 20 in the two-day event. Free skating winds up the meet Thursday when results will be made known.

At the draw last night, Barbara Ann was the centre of attraction as she was called to pick numbers from a hat for the men's singles. The drawings revealed the absence of any Belgians in the tourney, including the 1947 championship team of Lannoy-Baugniet.

According to the schedule, Edi Radi of Austria will be the first man on the ice. He is regarded as a dangerous contender for the title.

England's Beryl Bellas drew No. 1 among the 20 competitors in the women's skating beginning at 8 a.m. EST. Nine men from six countries, 20 women from six countries and 12 pairs from five countries were drawn in the tournament.

Before the war the Austrians and Hungarians were frequent champions and with the Germans they almost monopolized the pairs titles and runners-up.

Mary Pickford Seeks Funds To Aid Children

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 — (CP). — Mary Pickford, sweetheart of the silent screen, left for Montreal today to continue her call for funds for the Canadian Appeal For Children, a country-wide drive to help rehabilitate the waifs of Europe and Asia.

The campaign, opening Feb. 9, is expected to have an objective between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Miss Pickford gave the appeal a preliminary start last night when she told a theatre audience that these children are "the future" and warned that "if they are not saved, our world is lost."

She spoke before a capacity audience which also attended the world premiere of her first motion picture production, "Sleep, My Love," shown before Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General, Viscountess Alexander and Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Urging Canadians to help feed the "hungry minds and bodies" of the children overseas, Miss Pickford said Canada was known throughout the world "as a country with a heart."

The showing of her first film as a producer capped a day in which Miss Pickford, who will visit her native Toronto, attended a civic luncheon, held a press conference and was the guest of honor at dinner at Government House.

QUICK REFRESHER

It takes about 15 minutes after drinking a cup of tea for the caffeine to take effect.

Marmora Gets Win Over Campbellford

MARMORA, Jan. 13.—(ENS).—Marmora retained its leadership of the TVL by defeating Campbellford at Madoc on Monday by 10-2. The game was watched by a large crowd.

K. Trumble on Cousins' assist, netted the first goal early and E. Trumble, receiving from Loveless, scored Marmora's second goal. K. Trumble got in one of his characteristic runs about half way in the period to outwit Donald with a neat goal. With a minute to go in this period Loveless registered on McInroy's assist. Loveless added to the score shortly afterwards on an assist from McInroy.

Marmora scored again towards the close of the period, McInroy netting on E. Trumble's assist. Play was at a fast pace when the third period opened. In practically a minute and a half through K. Trumble (1) and Cousins (2) Marmora raised the score to 9-0. Campbellford played gallantly in spite of their ill fortune and cheers went up from their supporters as Robinson placed the puck past Keeton on Blake's assist. Cousins indulged in a solo rush to add Marmora's final goal. Eventually Hay scored for Campbellford on Free's assist. Teams:

Campbellford — Goal, Donald; defence, Hendy, Tanner; centre, Robinson; wings, Blake, Peloquin; alternates, Bristow, J. Smith, Hay, Free, Peake.

Marmora — Goal, Koski; defence, G. Leonard, E. Leonard; centre, Cousins; wings, K. Trumble, Goodchild; alternates, Loveless, E. Trumble, McInroy, Forestell, R. Smith.

Referee — Dick Ouimet; linesman, T. Cousins.

TAKES BLAKE'S PLACE

Penalty Rate Jumps In NHL

By DON HUNT.

MONTREAL,, Jan. 13 (CP).—Who said hockey isn't getting rougher each season?

To date in the National Hockey League, no less than five players have suffered broken legs or ankles this season. This list includes two members of the Montreal Canadiens and one each of Detroit Red Wings, Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks.

So it shouldn't come as a surprise to anyone that the penalty rate this season is the highest ever. In fact, more minutes were spent in the cooler in the first half of the current season than in the whole of the 1945-1946 season.

The NHL record office reports that Toronto Maple Leafs are at the top of the penalty list— 77 minutes ahead of their closest rival.

Bashing Bill Barilko is the chief offender, having contributed 107 minutes to the Leaf total of 402—an even 50 more than last year.

The rejuvenated Black Hawks, however, have displayed the greatest upsurge in the number of penalties, being sentenced to a team total of 325 minutes at the half-way mark— an increase of 137 minutes.

Detroit is tied with Chicago for second-place honors (?) while the other teams follow in this order: Montreal 322, New York 283, and Boston 245.

Group play-downs in the tankard and district cup competitions of the Ontario Curling Association are under way in various Ontario centres, and winners will enter the finals at Toronto Jan. 30.

The ladies' tankard is set for Sarnia starting Jan. 26 while Dominion curling championship divisional play-downs are scheduled for Feb. 2 with winner playing off at Hamilton Feb. 12. Winner of this event will represent Ontario in the Dominion play-downs at Calgary in March.

Coach Vic Obeck of McGill University's football team said in Montreal yesterday he has entered his Redmen on the "open date bureau" list in the United States and hopes to try out his squad against American college competition net fall.

The eexcutive of the Ottawa Rough Riders today are scouting about and inviting bids for a coach for the'r Interprovincial Rugby Football Union team. Manager James McCaffrey yesterday said that Sammy Fox, the talkative American who had the team in and out of hot water last season, won't be back.

Movie magnate Louis B. Mayer, disposing of another chunk of his racing empire, sold 39 two-year-olds for a total of $1,033,250 at an auction in California last night.

Leading scorers in the United States Hockey League still have George Agar of Houston Huskies setting the pace for them today. Agar has 61 points and is followed—as usual—by teammate Paul Mundrick who has 54.

The 1948 Canadian travelling ski school has opened at Huntsville's Limberlost Lodge and 55 aspiring ski instructors are taking part in the week-long course under the sponsorship of the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity.

Bobby Porter has announced his resignation as coach of Toronto Balmy Beach of the Ontario Rugby Football Union. Porter last season coached the Beachers into the semi-finals where they were knocked out by Ottawa Trojans. Porter said last night that if the club wished him to remain as a player he would be willing to do so.

Jake Lamotta, New York middleweight boxer, refused to sign a waiver of immunity yesterday when summoned to testify before the February grand jury, which has been investigating boxing for almost a year. He was the third figure to refuse to sign a waiver in the inquiry into the circumstances surrounding Lamotta's technical knockout, Nov. 14, by Billy Fox at Madison Square Garden.

LOUIS SIGNS FOR JUNE FIGHT — Sporting his new moustache, "Brown Bomber" Joe Louis, centre, is pictured as he signed a contract in New York to defend his title against Jersey Joe Walcott or "any other contender" designated by the 20th Century Sporting club and approved by Louis. The bout will be held "sometime between June 18 and 23 at one of New York's ball parks." The document stipulates that Joe will receive 40 per cent of everything, gate, radio, television, movies and any other sources of revenue. Sol Strauss, left, acting promoter for 20th Century, shows Joe where to sign, and looking on, at the right, is Marshall Miles, Joe's manager.

O'Connor Holds 2-Point Scoring Edge

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—(CP).—The top scorers in the National Hockey League breezed along at the same rate of point-production during the last week, each collecting two points to leave the positions unchanged.

Official statistics released today show Buddy O'Connor, New York Rangers' smooth-working playmaker still atop the heap with 36 points, enough for a two-point edge over Syl Apps of Toronto Maple Leafs in the second slot.

Toronto's Max Bentley and rookie Jim McFadden of Detroit, tied last week with 30 points, added two more apiece to remain within striking distance.

Bud Poile of Chicago made the biggest gain of all by racking up four points in Hawks' two games to vault past Elmer Lach of Montreal and Grant Warwick of the Rangers. Poile now has 29 points, one less than Detroit's Ted Lindsay and Doug Bentley of Chicago who are tied for fifth place.

Warwick earned one goal during the week to boost his total to 17 markers and moved into a tie with Lindsay for leadership in that department. O'Connor heads the assist column with 21.

Harry Lumley, playing his best hockey in three years with Detroit, moved to the front of the netminders' race. He has allowed 80 goals in 34 games for a goals-against average of 2.35.

Find Mukden Well Defended But Depressing

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Jan. 13 (AP).—This chief city of Manchuria is better defended today than at any time since the Japanese surrender, and is probably the dullest and most depressing place in all of Nationalist China.

Barring circumstances beyond present reckoning, it seems secure for many months, at least, from Communist conquest.

It is protected in depth by powerful fortification manned by the Chinese Government's best troops. Within the ring are at least two major airfields. (Overland communication with China proper is cut off by Communist destruction of the railway.)

Within the defences, the inhabitants lead disheartened lives, filled with unhappy recollections of the past, worries over the present and uncertainties over the future.

The Communists who have penetrated the National defences have been small bands who hit and run at night. Their thrusts have been more psychological and economic than military.

Higher Prices

By blockading food imports, they have driven Mukden's prices higher than any city south of the Great Wall, to the distress of the populace. Coal prices in this winter climate are prohibitive.

There is a strict curfew from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m., and martial law operates around the clock. It gets dark about 5 p.m., these days, and electric lights are scare and dim. Kerosene lamps and candles are expensive luxuries.

There is a complete absence of gaiety. Restaurants, movies and other places of amusement close well before curfew time. To visit friends means to go out in dark, sinister streets where sentries shout challenges every few yards and shoot before the count of ten.

As a result, most people stay at home after dark, jumping nervously at the sound of gunfire and conversing bitterly on their favorite topic — high prices.

Once Mukden was an important industrial centre, but the Russians stripped about two-thirds of its factories after the Japanese surrender, and the Communist blockade has idled the others.

130 MP's To Raise Subject Of Betting

LONDON, Jan. 13 — (Reuters) — A group of about 130 members of parliament may raise the whole subject of betting in Britain when parliament reassembles Jan. 20.

They want a "common-sense approach" to gambling, on which Britons spend as much yearly as the country received from the United States loan.

The members of parliament, led by Labor member William Nally, first want an investigation into football pools "because they are the nearest form of gambling to the public as a whole."

About 8,000,000 people try their luck at football pools each week.

Hardware Store Burned

Medical Missionary Dr. Pearl Chute Dies

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — Medical missionary in India for 25 years, Dr. Pearl Smith Chute, widow of Rev. Jesse Chute, died yesterday at her home 544 Christie St.

Dr. Chute first went to India in 1895 and founded the mission hospital, Star of Hope, at Akidu, under the auspices of the Canadian Baptist Mission Board. Funds for the establishment of this hospital were provided by the Harris family, connected with the Massey-Harris Co. Ltd. Dr. Chute was in charge of the Star of Hope Hospital until her retirement in 1920. She was awarded the Kaisar-i-Hind Medal for distinguished medical service in India.

Born in St. Catharines, Dr. Chute was a sister of the late Dr. E. G. Smith, who was the founder of Canadian Baptist medical work in India. She was a graduate of the old Trinity Medical College, Toronto.

Shortly after reaching India she was married to Rev. Jesse Chute, missionary in charge of the Canadian Baptist Mission at Akidu. Since retiring she has lived in Toronto and was a member of Wychwood Baptist church.

Place Of Churches In Britain Rouses Lively Controversy

BY MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There's no indication that more Britons are going to church than before the war religion, with emphasis on the roles played by organized churches, is perhaps a livelier topic than it has been for many years.

Frequently, religious controversies hit haedlines and it's not difficult to start a heated argument by taking one side or the other of the debate.

Recent months have seen the archbishop of Canterbury and York attack the published views of the Bishop of Birmingham and a spirited defence put forward by latter. The archbishop of Canterbury has censured the pro-Russian attitude of his Dean. The bishop of London stired up a storm by suggesting that the church of England institute a rule similar to that of Roman Catholics whereby Sunday church attendance would be compulsory.

Not only clerice have been speaking up. More than 25 per cent of the British people, according to a survey last October by the National weekly news review, are on record as saying "churches are doing their job badly."

Only 20.9 per cent thought the job was done "well," although the largest group, 50.4 per cent, replied "fairly well." Two per cent declined opinion.

Need Revival

Among those who were of the opinion that the church is slipping and needs bolstering is Rt. Rev. Maurice Harland, Anglican Bishop of Lincoln. He says that the church has for "too long relied on the conventional respectability of church-going left over from the Victorian age and on the financial legacies of our ancestors—today the stuffing has gone out of both of these cushions."

To revive interest in church-going, Bishop Harland will not hesitate to use movies, open air meetings and other paraphernalia of "hot gospellers." In a recent newspaper interview he said such terms would be employed as a part of his long-term campaign "to win the people back to church."

Many old school clergymen dislike such methods. To any objections they may raise, Bishop Harland retorts, "Many clergy have lost heart through years of preaching to congregations of three old ladies and a dog."

Gananoque Appeal Over Child Allowed

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP).— Ontario Court of Appeal yesterday allowed the appeal of the town of Gananoque against a judgment which ordered the town to pay for the maintenance of a 10-year-old child.

Judge J. L. Lloyd had ruled the child was neglected under the Children's Protection Act, reversing a court finding in a similar trial held two years previously between the town and the Children's Aid Society of Toronto.

W. M. Nickle, appearing for the town, said that evidence showed the mother of the child is receiving nearly $160 a month "and I submit that she is quite able to pay."

Reformatory Guards Made Police Officers

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—Guards in all Ontario reformatories are being sworn in as police officers, Reform Institutes Minister George Dunbar said today.

Believed the outcome of last October's riots at Burwash Reformatory near Sudbury when guards were powerless to make arrests while prisoners roamed about the grounds, special 15-day courses in police duty are being given guards. Their authority will only extend to prison grounds.

Newsmen Have Chance At Scholarship

TORONTO, Jan. 13— (CP). — Applications for the second Kemsley Scholarship awarded in Canada were invited from Canadian newspaper men in a circular distributed last night by W. A. Craick, honorary secretary of Canadian Section, Empire Press Union.

The scholarship gives the selected newspaper man a year's training and experience at offices of Kemsley newspapers in several United Kingdom cities. The first scholarship— in 1947— was won by Ray Gardner of the Vancouver Sun.

The object of the annual award —also given in Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa—is to encourage an exchange of ideas and experience between British and Dominion journalists and to strengthen the ties among members of the Comomnwealth

The successful candidate will be selected by a committee under the chairmanship of Senator W. Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard and the chairman of the Canadian Section, Empire Press Union. Applications will be received until February 7, 1948, and the successful candidate will go to Britain in mid-April.

Candidates must be on the permanent staff of a Canadian newspaper, be under 30 years of age, have five years' experience (a lesser period will be considered for war veterans), and must undertake to return to their newspaper following their year in Britain.

Name Edward Griffin Farm Superintendent

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP).— Hon. George H. Dunbar, Minister of Reform Institutions, announced yesterday the appointment of Edward Griffin as Superintendent of the Industrial Farm to be built at Burit's Rapids in Eastern Ontario. Mr. Griffin has been a member of the staff at Guelph Reformatory for 17 years, and served in the First and Second World Wars.

Gordon B. Silcock, assistant sergeant at Guelph, will go to Burit's Rapids as sergeant and senior assistant to Superintendent Griffin.

Both men, along with Inspector T. Gourley, are now at Cornwall to supervise dismantling of the buildings at the former Army Officers' Training Camp. They have been bought from War Assets Corporation to provide temporary accommodation during the construction of permanent buildings at the proposed industrial farm.

Located on the Rideau River, the prison establishment will cover 500 acres, and is expected to house 30 prisoners.

500 Miners Stage New Strike In Britain

LLANHARAN, Wales, Jan 13— (AP). — Five hundred miners staged Britain's first serious strike of the New Year yesterday, closing the Powell Duffryn Colliery in a dispute over alleged "interference" by the colliery manager in pay scales and working conditions.

The mine produces 800 tons of coal daily.

Meanwhile, more than 1,000 hoisting engineers in the South Wales area agreed to postpone for two weeks a walkout that would have hampered production over a wide area. The walkout was scheduled to take place last night. It was postponed pending an examination by a government-appointed commission of the workers' claims for recognition of an independent union.

No Fruit Smuggling

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—(CP).— Superintendent C. W. Harbison of the RCMP, said yesterday he considered it unlikely smugglers were bringing fruits and vegetables into the province from the United States.

HOLDS ELECTRONIC SECRETS—New electronic secrets are expected to be unlocked by McGill University cyclotron which will produce energy at a maximum 100,000,000 proton volts. Margaret Martin sits on aluminum casing that conceals more than five miles of high conductivity aluminum extrusion.

Ottawa Permits Oak Importation

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP).— The Federal Government will allow importation of limited quantities of United States oak for hardwood flooring, to avert a threatened bottleneck in housing it was announced yesterday by Armand Dupuis of Montreal, Canadian Lumbermen's Association official.

Several Ontario flooring manufacturers had been threatened with partial shutdown by the previous import prohibition.

The ruling dated January 8, Mr. Dupuis said, would let flooring manufacturers import US oak to the extent of 45 per cent of the dollar value of their imports during the 12 months ended June 30, 1947.

"If this change had not been made," Mr. Dupuis said, "supplies of hardwood flooring for houses would have been reduced and some Toronto and Western Ontario manufacturers would have been obliged to cut down their operations."

Quebec flooring makers use maple or birch of which ample supplies are close at hand, he said. Ontario firms were a great distance from maple anl birch supplies and their custom was to import US oak.

Sees No Prejudice

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—(CP).— Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure yesterday disagreed in Court of Kings Bench that a French-speaknig jury would be more prejudiced than an English-speaking jury in a case dealing with a member of the Witnesses of Jehovah religious sect. His Lordship dismissed a motion for a mixed jury by counsel for Mrs. Rene Ouelette, a Witness charged with defamatory and seditious libel. After argument on the motion the case was adjourned to Feb. 2.

Sid Whatley Retires Jan. 31

After many years of service for the army and its sons in Peterborough, a figure long familiar about the Peterborough Armouries will be stepping down into retirement on January 31, in the person of Sidney Whatley, well-known chief caretaker of the Armoury.

Mr. Whatley, whose portly figure is well-known to hundreds in Peterborough, was formerly one of the leaders of the Canadian Legion in earlier days, being one of those directly instrumental in the construction of the present fine Legion building on Murray Street, and for the past seven years has been chief caretaker at the Armoury.

Always a favorite, Mr. Whatley's familiar face and hale and hearty manner will be missed about the Armouries. His successor, John J. Smith, assistant caretaker at present, has also been a valued employee and is receiving congratulations on his step-up to the chief's office.

Mr. Whatley is at present confined to his home suffering from a fractured shoulder, received some weeks ago.

To Offer Food Handlers New Course of Instruction

As part of a nation-wide drive to educate food handlers to more sanitary and healthy practices, the Health League's National Committee on Hygiene of Foodhandling through its Peterborough branch plans to start a course of instruction here in February. It will coincide with Health Week which will be observed beginning Feb. 2.

This was decided at a meeting of representatives from local hotels, restaurants and others retailing food to the public, at a dinner meeting sponsored by the Peterborough branch of Health League of Canada, held at the Kawartha Club Monday night.

While exact dates and extent of participation have not yet been finally decided on, it is expected that local food handling employees will take the course which is roughly divided into three separate one-and-a-half-hour sessions. First, certain aspects of bacteriology; second, food stage preparation and handling; and, third, personal hygiene and sanitation.

At Public Library

The course will take place in the Public Library and each person completing it will receive a small identification card showing that he has received instruction. The possible value of one of these cards in transferring to another job was mentioned.

Two guest speakers — Mrs. Gladys Dobson, sup. Hotel, Restaurant and Baking Trade School, Toronto, chairman Health League's National Committee on Hygiene of Food Handling, and Dr. G. A. Edge, Food Control Officer, Sanitary Engineering Division of the Ontario Dept. of Health — spoke on the Health Education plan, and Ontario Dept. of Health requirements regarding restaurants, respectively.

"Regulations govern the Sanitation of Restaurants in the Province of Ontario but Health Officers agree that regulations alone are not enough," said Mrs. Dobson. "The regulations must be supplemented by education of all those who have a part in the storage, preparation, and serving of

Nashua Chiefs Visit City To See New Plant

A group of business men from Nashua, New Hampshire, are coming up to Peterborough Wednesday, and will stay in the city until Friday noon.

They are directors of Nashua Paper Company and other members of that company with various interests in the new manufacturing plant on Braidwood Avenue of Canadian Nashua Paper Co. The purpose of their visit is to see the buildings and industrial layout, and also to look in on Canadian Sealright Co., remaining in the Aylmer St. building. A feature of their stay will be an employees' dinner at Club Aragon Thursday.

Peterborough is fairly familiar territory to quite a number of the Nashua party. It includes: Mr. V. E. Nunez, president of Nashua Paper Co., and directors: E. A. Carter, H. L. Carter, Robert A. Brown, W. E. Evans, Donald Ramsay, O. L. Tacy, and A. C. Smith.

Peterborough remembers Mr. Brown particularly, as the first general manager of Canadian Nashua.

Others with the directors are J. R. Carter and W. L. Carter, grandsons of the founder of the company; and men who have been with the Canadian company at one time or other: P. F. Travers, first superintendent; A. T. Stevens, first manager of sales; B. Y. Brewster, first gumming salesman; G. A. Richmond, for 17 years superintendent of production in Peterborough; R. H. Harding, first plant manager.

There are also several visitors who have had some active connection with the new construction in Peterborough: R. W. Polley, C. W. Holt, E. A. Durivage, H. D. Stillman.

This is one of the largest industrial parties ever to visit Peterborough. They are coming by private Pullman car which they engaged for the trip and will use it during their stay.

Mr. E. G. R. Clarke, local general manager, said Nashua affair is entirely for the directors and employees, and not the first one.

"We want to have open house for the citizens of Peterborough, but there is no use inviting them in until we have everything ready," Mr. Clarke said. "The office is not quite finished, and most of the furnishing is not here. However, that should be some time next month, and we would like to have the people generally come down and see us. But, for the present occasion, it is just a Canadian Nashua gathering."

Druggist Retires At Age Of 86 Years

At the advanced age of 86, Mr. Wm. Rutherford, born in Peterborough and long-time resident here, has decided to retire to Kootenay, British Columbia. For 69 of those years he has been a druggist, and only gave up his store in New Denver, B.C., at the beginning of the year.

Brother of Mrs. B. Shortly and Mrs. B. R. Sprowls, 546 Aylmer St., Mr. Rutherford graduated as a druggist in 1893, and spent six years in business in Peterborough working with J. D. Tully Drugs. He also worked for a period at the local post office; and later resumed his druggist's career in Norwood where he stayed for 12 years.

Since then he has made his home in British Columbia. In 1939 he "retired" leaving his nephew in charge of the store they had run jointly for 11 years. But in 1940 he once more entered business by running the C. F. Nelson Drug Store in New Denver where he spent seven busy years.

IN HOSPITAL —, Robert Malby, 10, 303 Rubidge Street, was struck by a car and thrown to the road last night. This is the second time in two years that the boy has suffered injuries by contact with a car. He is now out of danger, it is reported this morning.

Fractured Skull Suffered By Small Boy

In St. Joseph's Hospital today, suffering from a fractured skull is Robert Malby, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Malby, 303 Rubidge street.

The youngster was returning about seven o'clock last night from a skating party which was part of a program of entertainment for young friends of John Young, 305 Stewart street.

The party, on their way to the Young home for refreshments, had just stepped from a bus at the corner of Charlotte and Stewart streets.

The police report that a car, driven by Arthur R. Peeling, 628 Gilmour street, proceeding east on Charlotte, reached the corner just as the boys started to cross the street. Mr. Peeling swung his car to the left to avoid the collision but the boy struck the fender of the car and was thrown to the pavement. On arrival of Police Constable J. Morrow, he was taken to the office of Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick. The doctor had him taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where X-ray revealed the skull fracture.

Reports today indicate that the injured lad is out of danger and resting comfortably. Mrs. Malby told the Examiner that last night, in good spirits, he had asked for something to play with, and to be moved to a room where there were other boys.

The roads at the time of the accident were icy, with a light rain falling. There was no fault attached to the driver, police stated and it is not likely that any charges will be laid.

Stewart Foster Deputy-Chief In Fire Department; 6 Promotions Are Approved

Appointment of Stewart Foster as Deputy Chief of the Fire Department, recommended by Acting Chief George Smith, was approved by the finance committee of the council Monday night after hearing a deputation from the Canadian Legion "supporting the application of Captain Albert Mason" for the position of second in command.

The members of the deputation were F. P. Burke, A. Melville Morrow and Wilburt T. Regan. In a friendly appproach to the council Mr. Burke said that Legion sentiment was asking the question why Captain Mason, who saw three years' service in the First World War, did not get the appointment.

The committee left the answer to Acting Chief Smith, who said: "I have lived with the men and worked with them, and I have more confidence in Foster."

As a particular explanation and reason Chief Smith said: "I have more confidence in Foster's ability to lead men than in Mason's."

The committee simply declined to interfere in Chief Smith's course of appointments in virtual reorganization of the department.

Ald. Max Swanston presided with all the members present. He read a letter from the Canadian Legion supporting the application of Captain Albert Mason for the position of Deputy Chief.

Mr. Burke, president, said its members were interested in all ex-service men, whether they were enrolled in the Legion or not. "There have been criticisms around the Legion about the recommendation of Mr. Foster for the position, and to get to the bottom of the matter we thought the best way was to come to the council. We felt that Capt. Mason rated consideration for the job, but I cannot say personally that he has the necessary qualification. I don't know that. But, we figured that he was qualified, for one reason because he was chosen to take the course at Queen's University last year. If he didn't rate for Assistant Chief, then it seemed that some other member of the department would have been sent. It was also said that he had seniority in the department, but I learned that was not so. If it's possible, we'd like to know why he didn't get it."

Mr. Morrow mentioned other criticisms which had been heard. The information was that Foster had quit the department on two occasions, but Mason had stuck with it all the way through. In that case it wasn't right that Foster should be brought back and put in the Deputy position. Mr. Regan said he supported the statements of his two associates.

Refers to Former Chief

Ald. Swanston said that Mr. Mason did take the course at Queen's last year. The opportunity was available for two men of the department. "Mayor Ovens and I spoke to Chief Gimblett about it, and he appointed his son and Mason."

As to Foster's quitting the department, Ald. Swanston said that Foster was acting lieutenant three or four years ago. "Certain things took place, but I'd rather they came from your past president (Chief Gimblett). He could tell you what happened."

Ald. Swanston said that Foster went back to the ranks. "Recently we heard he was going to get out of the department. Mayor Ovens and I called him in. We told him that as far as we were concerned he was getting six week's leave of absence. From what we had heard about him, we felt Foster was too valuable a man to be lost to the department. We have lost good men in that and other departments. Foster had been in the fire department 18 years. His intention was that he was going to quit, until we talked to him."

STEWART FOSTER

Ald. Swanston said that Capt. Virgil Carr had longer service than Capt. Mason, and he was also an ex-service man.

The chairman replied to Mr. Morrows reference to the policy that preference should lean to ex-service men "all other things being equal", by referring to a list of the names of the men of the fire department and citing 24 of them who were ex-service men from Acting Chief Smith down. He also read the names of 14 other recent civic appointees all of whom were from the services in the war.

Ald. Doug Miller: "Have you anyone to be Deputy Chief if Foster was not there?"

Ald. Swanston: "I can't answer that. I'm not sure."

Ald. D. Miller: "One thing I would like to clear up. Was it right for Foster to accept a gift from the men of the Department when he knew he was on leave of absence?"

Ald. Swanston: "I'm not prepared to answer that."

Ald. D. Miller: "Or was it that he did not think he should divulge the position he was in as being on leave of absence?"

Mayor Ovens said he was at a loss to understand why Virgil Carr and George Gimblett Jr. and several others were not brought into the picture.

Ald. Grant Miller: "In this case the responsibility is with the Acting Chief, and his recommend-

Mayor Maintains City Trust Duplication of Service

City Solicitor Instructed To Advertise Private Bill Proposing Elimination Of City Trust

Whether to dissolve the City Trust Commission or only to shear it of its custody of municipal property was an alternative the City Council did not immediately determine Monday night.

City Solicitor Huycke was instructed to proceed with the statutory advertising of the private bill to the Legislature leaving both barrels loaded. At the last minute only one of them might be let go—the section proposing that city property be returned to the control of the council.

Some members of the committee were inclined to let the Commission run its course which automatically termintes, it was said, about 1951 or 1952, when the bulk of the sinking fund debentures mature. Others, including Mayor Ovens, declared that the Trust was no longer useful to the city, and that most of the actual details of the handling of debentures and funds was done by members of the staff of the Bank of Montreal. That was how simple the work had become. Mayor Ovens said, and at some $4,000 a year the expense of the Commission was entirely unnecessary.

One of the clauses in the bill shows that at Dec. 31 last the gross debenture debt of the city was $3,027,122. Of that sum $1,435,270 was secured by debentures issued under the sinking fund plan and administered by the City Trust Commission, and the sum of $1,591,852 is secured by serial instalment debentures.

Sinking fund reserve at the end of 1947 was $1,065,250, and the sinking fund surplus was $461,312. After December 31, 1951, the debenture debt handled by the Trust will be approximately $150,000. Ald. Swanston, chairman, briefly explained to the new members how the City Trust had accumulated the surplus which from time to time was partly disbursed for the benefit of the municipality.

"I think if we ask only for control of the city properties we have a 90 per cent chance to get the bill through the Legislature," the chairman remarked. He said the Commission had only three or four years to go, that public opinion appreciated the service the Commission had rendered to the city from the time of the original passing of the private bill in 1861, and that public sentiment would probably be largely on the side of the Commission.

"I'd see it through," said Mayor Ovens. "I don't know of anything that was so widely acclaimed as when the council made up its mind last year to ask for the dissolution of the City Trust."

His Worship said the City Trust made a demand on the council every year for the money it would need in regard to debenture liabilities. The city treasurer issued a cheque on the bank which had charge of the funds, and any girl of the staff could do the stamping of payments.

"The City Trust Commission is now only a duplication of service," Mayor Ovens said. The bank had its bond advisory members, and all the service the city required was available from that source.

Ald. Swanston said that the sinking fund surplus did not belong wholly to the council. A contribution of $250,000 was to be drawn from it for the Civic Hospital, but the Board of Education and the Utilities Commission would exert definite claims that they were entitled to part of the surplus because the Commission had handled their debentures in addition to those of the council.

"It would be unfortunate if we went to the Legislature for the whole thing and didn't get even the property," said Ald. Armstrong. "A lot of people admire the City Trust, even if many of them haven't a clear idea of what the Trust does. If we ask the Legislature that the city property be returned to the council I think we have a better chance. The sale of the market square is one of the matters that is coming up. I think it is vital that the property be controlled by the council and not by the City Trust."

Ald. Dodds bluntly said he wasn't attracted to the idea of the alternative.

Ald. Waddell said there would be a lot of opposition around the city if the City Trust was disbanded now. "In three years three-quarters of the present debenture debt will be paid off, and the surplus could then be audited and apportioned.

Mayor Ovens: "Seasoned members of the Legislature will ask us why we didn't do this ten years ago."

Ald. Waddell: "How much better off will we be if we let the Trust go on to the end of its work and then mutually agree to terminate?"

One of Mayor Ovens' comments was: "After what they did last year (on the leases of George St. stores, north of Charlotte St.) I wouldn't trust them until I heard the last of the private bill passed."

Ald. Doug Miller suggested that if the council expected opposition from the Board of Education and the Utilities Commission why should they not be interviewed now "and see if we can get together."

Mayor Ovens: "I think that is a reasonable proposal. If you wish I'll call a meeting and we can invite the two bodies. I think it is a splendid idea."

A public meeting will be held on Thursday, January 15, at 7.30 p.m. in the City Council Chamber for the purpose of hearing Miss Nesta Hinton of the Nutritional Division and Homemaker Service of the, Red Cross Society and to consider the advisability of establishing a Visiting Homemaker Service in Peterborough. Davies Concert Well Received At Mark Street

A large audience greeted the Davies concert of song on their appearance at Mark St. United Church Monday evening, sponsored by the CGIT group of thtat church.

The program was outstanding in variety, comprising opera, folksong, Negro spirituals and ballads of ancient and modern writers. Mrs. Vera Henderson Davies accompanied the singers and announced the numbers in a most capable and pleasing manner. Noble Davies, baritone, revealed the wide range of his voice in various numbers, sister Frances Davies, mezzo soprano, captivated the audience, and Nelles Davies, basso, excelled in his dialect songs.

Group numbers were splendid in harmony, and the "Lord's Prayer" as a closing number by the trio gave the impression it was a privilege to hear such a talented group.

Don Landry Songs Highlight of 20 Plus Program

A gay group of Peterborough's youth, the 20 Plus Club, gathered for the weekly social evening Saturday in the halls of the YWCA. From 8.30 until the witching hour, dancing, singing and general merriment were in order as about 70 guests enjoyed themselves under capable guidance of Dave Graham, master of ceremonies.

A light lunch was served by Misses Betty Houlihan, Betty Piercy, Kay Cameron and Kay Griffiths.

Highlighting the evening's entertainment, Don Landry, sang a few songs, accompanied on the piano by Dave Graham. He first amused the audience with his animated and hilarious version of "Civilization." Then he sang the tuneful and moving epic, "Serenade of the Bells." His third number may have been an attempt to explain his batchelorhood, judging from the gusto and action he gave to "Too Fat Polka."

President, Douglas Landry gave details of a sleigh-ride scheduled for the coming week. Entertainment will be under Miss Doreen Groombridge, who asks all to be at the Y at eight o'clock sharp, warmly dressed. Refreshments and a "sock dance" will follow, at the Y. An executive meeting for Wednesday evening at 7.30 was announced.

Decisions and arrangements concerning a proposed trip to the "Ice Follies" in Toronto, during February, were discussed by Mr. Ed. Stevenson. Further announcements will be made as definite accommodation is secured.

Lucky winners of the spot dance prizes were Miss Pearl Foster and Mr. Bill Piercy who received theatre tickets.

Four guests from Toronto were present Saturday evening. The 20 Plus Club extends a sincere invitation to all who wish to enjoy a few carefree hours on Saturday evening and are interested in meeting new friends. Meetings open at 8.30 in the YWCA each week.

Alley-Blakely

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 13.—(ENS).—A quiet wedding of local interest was solemnized recently in St. James United church parsonage, Peterborough, by Rev. F. H. Craik, when Shirley June, youngest daughter of Mrs. Olive G. Blakely of Havelock and the late Norman Blakely, became the bride of Ralph Donald Alley, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Alley of Trent River.

The groom is a veteran of World War 2 and spent four and one-half years a prisoner at Hong Kong.

Mrs. George McNish, Toronto, was her sister's bridesmaid and Clarence Alley, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

Following a reception at the home of the bride to the immediate families, the young couple left on a short honeymoon. They will live in Havelock.

Poems, Writings of Hospitals Read at 'Capping' Ceremony Illustrate Transitions Made

"Nurses are the right arm of the medical profession" said Dr. G. S. Cameron Monday evening as he congratulated 31 student nurses of Civic Hospital on receiving their caps at a ceremony held in the YWCA. "It may have taken us a while to realize what those associated with us are doing for us," he continued, "but the civilized world would not be what it is today without the loyalty of the nursing profession."

To these girls who are having their first experiences in hospital life, and will spend three years away from their homes as a part of this life, Dr. Cameron gave a brief glimpse of hospitals as they were a century ago. "During the past 100 years some very remarkable figures have made a profound impression upon the course of medical science" he said. "It has been a transitional period in which we have the nursing auxiliary, established in Great Britain at the end of the Crimean War by Florence Nightingale; Antiseptic surgery developed at Edinburgh University and first practised by Sir Joseph Fister about 1875; and ether, used as an inhalant anaesthetic, discovered in Boston, U.S.A.

Descriptions of staff nurses, as they appeared to patients, when probationers ranged in age from 33 to 37, and of the gaunt brown walls of the hospitals which had nothing of home about them were read by Dr. Cameron from the verses of the famous poet, Henley, who was confined to an Edinburgh infirmary during 1874-76. He wrote of every phase of hospital life with such detail one could easily picture the scenes, but they are scarcely comparable with our present-day institutions. From a book by Dr. John Brown, eminent Edinburgh physician of that time, the speaker read the gripping experience of a woman who submitted to a cancer operation, under his hand, without benefit of anaesthetic, attended closely by her husband and her dog.

Miss A. L. Thompson, principal of the school of nursing, and director of the nursing staff at Civic Hospital, presented caps to each of the students. Adding congratulations to each, Miss Thomson said she was proud of the keen interest they have shown in their work.

Assisting in the ceremony were Mrs. H. Bousfield, Miss Mary Pickens and Miss Ethel Fenwick. Names were called by the chairman, Mr. John Hornal, superintendent of Civic Hospital, who extended heartiest congratulations to the girls.

Students who were "capped" are:

Misses Elen Isobel Abernethy, Shirley June Agner, Elinor Louise Bird, Agnes Dorothy Bowler, Mildred Mary Elsie Bulmer, Merle Alice Dauncey, Joan Whitehouse Deyell, Marion Elsie Parks, Christina Murrel Wight, Gloria Phyllis Wiechorek, all of Peterborough; Annie Marilyn Hutchinson, Jean Isabelle MacAlpine, Meryle Maudie McMullen all of Havelock; Dorothy Jane Lowes, Vivian Irene Rowan, of Cavan; Mary Seney and Doreen Seney, of Ida; Shirley Jane Fueming and Beverley Madeline Palmer, of Ivanhoe; Mary Beatrice Dawson, Millbrook; Shirley Marcia Flowers, Copper Cliff; Leata Maxine McNevan, Keene; Joan Margaret Plunkett, Trenton; Juanita Odne Potter, Swastika; Mary Ellen Alice Joyce Ray, Bridgenorth; Mary Elizabeth Rodger, Parry Sound; Shirley Noreen Sloan, Lakefield; Nancy Hectoria Spring, Lakeview; Anne Allison Townsend, Young's Point; Joyce Evelyn Wheeler, Brighton.

To the class of 1950, Miss Ella Rosenburgh, president, extended best wishes and a welcome to the training school from the Students' Council. She said "This is one of the happiest nights in your training, when you receive the time-honored symbol of nurses. We hope you will love your work and benefit from your experiences."

For her original essay on the life of Florence Nightingale who she calls "Flo" in the opening paragraph, Miss Allison Townsend received a prize presented by Miss Thomson. Competition was indeed keen in this contest and the judges found 27 of 31 essays submitted were in A group.

The large crowd of relatives and friends who came to witness the ceremony were most pleasingly entertained by the students themselves. Miss Dorothy Lowes, soprano, sang beautifully, and was accompanied by Miss Alicia Langley, teacher. Miss Nancy Spring contributed a delightful violin solo, with piano accompaniment by Miss Vivian Rowen.

A rousing group of songs by the class included a round, "Welcome, Welcome," an excerpt from Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, "Climbing Over Rocky Mountain" and "Softly As In the Morning Sunrise," by Romberg, with solo parts taken by Misses Dorothy Lowes and Joan Plunkett. Then followed the class song, which is their own composition, and covers many incidents in the life of a "probie." Singing was directed by Miss Langley, and was extremely well received.

Rev. Charles G. Floyd opened proceedings of the evening with a prayer of dedication. Mr. Hornal, chairman, extended greetings to the guests in the absence of Mr. J. R. Marshall of the Board of Governors. He expressed particular pleasure at having representatives of the Sisters of St. Josph present.

Sorority Studies The Universe

Regular meeting of Ontario Alpha Theta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held Monday evening at the YWCA.

Miss Olive Morley took charge for the cultural program, introducing Miss Iris Whalon, who spoke on "The Modern Conception of Our Universe." She said the stars vary in color, and as one can only see one-half of the sky at one time and visualize about 3,500 stars, there are close to 1,000,000,000 stars. Their color depends on the distance from the sun, and a blue-white star is the brightest.

The second speaker was Mrs. John Vingoe, whose subject was "Forms of Literature." She described wtih illustrations the following: essay, novel, biography, poetry (three forms — lyric, epic and narrattice), drama and journalism. She recommended to all members the book entitled "Anna Karenina."

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, January 14

A SUDDEN turn of the wheel of fortune, quite unpredictable and unforeseen, may prove dramatic and of far-reaching consequence, not only on the business life but in relation to romance and adventure. Sudden decisions as to moves, journeys and the formation of new ties or affiliations, call for common sense as well as thrills. Personality and charm might enhance ingenuity and skill in putting over fresh ideas, but "look before you leap."

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a sudden and quite unpredictable opening, in which important change, journeys or ventures might involve the personal or romantic life as well as business associations. New ties seem to be born of exceptionally bright ideas or revolutionary propositions, of far-reaching significance. But practical and sensible developments should amplify all plans for dramatic and romantic experience. Calmly consider before drastic moves or hazards.

A child born on this day should have a fine creative or scientific urge for the unusual and should enjoy an adventurous and romantic career.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

"If we are interested enough to find spare time, we can find it," said Mr. A. Hill, speaking Monday evening at the January meeting of Central Home and School Association. "Spare time should be used profitably and preferably for recreation," he said. "Peterborough now has a recreation director and programs are provided to embrace all ages."

Worthwhile hobbies and recreations include organized sports, handicrafts, reading, photography, dramatics, gardening, painting, collecting and embroidering. "In choosing a hobby," said Mr. Hill, "pick one which is opposite to the occupation to which you are accustomed, and you will find it entertaining and educational. You will enjoy better physical and mental health if you are actively interested in some hobby or sport. A spirit of fellowship and cooperation will develop through working and playing with others."

"Never drive a child," cautioned Mr. Hill. "Try to interest him in some hobby and urge him on with friendly leadership."

Mr. R. Krant showed two films from the Peterborough Film Council. A trio, Carol Fawsett, Carol Garside and Barbara Mann, delighted with two piano selections.

A rummage sale will be held Friday afternoon, February 6, in the store at corner of Brock and George Sts.

food. To use a slogan instituted by the Health League of Canada: 'Regulations plus Education equals Sanitation'."

Mrs. Dobson said that it is the responsibility of the operator to see that conditions in his establishment are such that the work of food preparation, food storage, food service, and dishwashing can be carried on in a way that will protect the health of the customer. She claimed that the purchase of good equipment does not completely solve the problem; even more important was the training of the staff in hygienic work practices.

"It is important that all members of the staff be trained in sanitary practices," she said. "From the store room man who receives the food, the workers who prepare it, to the waitress who serves it, and the dishwasher responsible for the cleanliness of the dishes—all require health instruction."

She urged those present to look on the subject from the standpoint of business, pointing out that extra care and health-guarding measures result in satisfied customers who return and thus increase revenue.

Top Tourist Centre

Referring to the tourist trade from the United States attracted to this district, she said: "No district in Ontario has more to offer than you have right here. It would be unfortunate for it to be deprived of this industry because of poor food served under unsanitary conditions. I believe that proper selection of personnel together with good training is the answer to our problem."

Dr. G. A. Edge expressed the willingness of the provincial Dept. of Health to co-operate on such plans as that now being advanced. He told guests that the Public Health Act of Ontario was amended last year so that more authority could be given to regulate the various food handling bodies in the province.

Restaurant managers, hotel managers, and health officers pooled their ideas to make up the new regulations which became effective Jan. 1, he said.

He described the three classifications of eating-places: first, restaurants, seating more than 15 people and solely for food dispensing; second, lunch counters, may be associated with other enterprise, and may have seating capacity of less than 15; refreshment stands, not engaged in cooking food but distributing that already cooked.

Seated at the head table were: Mr. Ronald MacPherson, Sanitary Inspector; Dr. H. Worton, Assoc. Sanitary Inspector; Dr. G. A. Edge, I. C. Food Control, Ontario Dept. of Health; Mrs. G. Dobson, chairman Health League's National committee on Hygiene of Food Handling; Mr. J. E. Girven, president Peterborough branch, Health League of Canada; Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterorough MOH; Mr. H. C. Rhodes, Director of Community Health Service Division, Health League; Mr. James Dutton junior, chairman Nutrition committee; Mr. James Dutton senior, Board of Health.

Two films were shown illustrating the topic of sanitary measures and efficiency in food handling. They were "Hashslinger To Foodhandler." and "A Dishwasher Named Red."

Members of the Nutrition committee directly responsible for this educational project include: Mr. John Hoover, Mr. Ron MacPherson, Mr. Henry Rennie, Mr. J. E. Girven, Mr. Jas. Dutton junior, Mr. Norm Bowler. It is expected that this committee will be enlarged before February.

MARITAL NEGLIGENCE

Men Make Errors of Omission But Wives' Are Errors of Commission

After sitting for many years at the Listening Post and giving ear to the wails of the unhappily married, I am convinced that the sins that men commit against the holy estate are sins of omission, while the sins that women commit against it are sins of commission.

Undoubtedly most men and women marry because they are in love with each other, or think that they are, and with the intention of making each other happy, but only too often their fine plans get side-tracked and they find themselves joining the procession to the divorce courts, or else engaged in never-ending domestic strife.

Dorothy Dix

And the poor, disappointed, unhappy husbands and wives don't know how it happened that their marriages have gone blooey. They are honorable and upright people who have tried to do their duty. The husband has been a good provider. The wife a good cook. Neither one has been a philanderer. Yet there it is—their home a place of torment, their marriage degenerated into being nothing but an endurance test.

And neither one of them even suspects that the reason their marriage has gone on the rocks is because of the things the husband didn't do, and because of the things that the wife did do. Each had a different conception of what marriage meant and a different plan for playing the game, and they lost out because that wasn't at all what the other party wanted.

The man's ideal of being a good husband was for him to settle down after he was married and rest his feet. To think that his Maria hung the moon, but never to mention her athletic feat. To feed her on filet mignon, and never row over bills, and to give her a check on her birthday, if his secretary reminded him of it, and tell her to buy herself something nice because he didn't know what she wanted.

These duties done, his soul rested in peace, and it positively never occurred to him that he was wrecking his marriage by committing the sin of omission, which is the hardest one for any woman to forgive, for it strips all the glamor of being a Lady Love from her and turns her into just a household convenience. There are thousands of women who have charge accounts at the best stores and whose husbands never give them a kiss that isn't an insult it is so flabby, or take them stepping of an evening, or do anything to make life interesting and entertaining to them.

But if men turn many a marriage that should have been a great success into a ghastly failure by their neglect, women do their share of sabotaging the holy estate by electing themselves supreme rules of their homes and they-who-must-be-obeyed. Many a man, who thought he was espousing a soft, gentle angel-child who would eat out of his hands, finds that he has married a grinding tyrant who has crushed every joy of life out of him.

Never again will he be allowed to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, or eat the kind of food he likes, or buy his own neck ties. Friend Wife will take charge of him as if he were an imbecile little boy.

And his wife will never understand why their marriage is such a dismal failure and her husband always looks so glum and depressed.

Winning Battle Of 'New Look'

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(AP).—The battle for the "New Look" appeared won today, as New York designers opened a week of spring previews for the benefit of visiting editors.

In the first showings, by designers Eta and Tina Leser, visiting editors noted that skirts are approximately two inches longer than those of the fall showings, but still not dragging the ground; that waistlines, nipped into the last notch, are the focal point of the new mode; and that designers have smoothed out the early exaggerations of the post-war silhouette to produce wearable, flattering clothes.

Eta, known for conservative and beautiful clothes for mature women, showed a group of lady-like clothes planned to fit the lives of busy women.

It is in her evening clothes that Eta goes dramatic, showing elaborate hand-embroidery organza and lace gowns with yards and yards of fabric in their flowing skirts, held out by rustling taffeta petticoats. A highlight is a dinner formal in pale beige organza appliqued and embroidered in matching linen.

Havana Trade Conference No Nearer a Solution

By M. M. KREEGER

HAVANA, Jan. 13—(AP).—Seven weeks of debate have brought no sign of solution for any of the major differences existing at the 58-country Havana trade conference. The same basic variations in viewpoint have continued and appear in nearly all discussions, whatever the specific subjects. In general some countries favor a strong international trade organization with considerable regulatory power over world commerce. These countries include the United States, Canada and other Commonwealth countries, and most of Western Europe. China and India are usually on this side.

The majority of Latin American and Middle Eastern States are holding out for the rights of individual countries to regulate their own foreign trade as they see fit, and to protect developing industries and national welfare.

All six main committees of the conference, called by the United Nations to work out the international trade organization charter, have passed the stage of "first reading" on all amendments submitted for the proposed draft of the charter. That is, every section of the charter has been debated, together with suggested changes.

Amendments are mostly in the hands of sub-committees or working parties named to iron out specific points. A few have passed this stage and are ready for final action by the general conference.

However, the latest weekly official progress report by the U.N. Public Information Department, says:

"While the conference is progressing — and progressing as rapidly as it can — . . . there is no major sign of any cracks in impasses which continue to block the solution of fundamental policy issues."

Interest is centred now on reports due from committee chairmen Thursday, summarizing the status of their work and what yet remains to be done.

Thursday was the original target for a conclusion date for the conference, but this has long since bee nabandoned. Most delegates expect the meeting will last well into February at least.

Gandhi Begins New Fast In Peace Effort

NEW DELHI, Jan. 13.—(AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi, a frail little man of 78, embarked upon a new fast today in a bid to bring peace to divided, sectarian India.

He said it will end when and if I am satisfied that there is a re-union of the hearts of all communities brought about without any outside pressure, but from an awakened sense of duty."

The Hindu spiritual leader, in his public announcement, spoke of the possibility of death. Some disciples said they feared that if he should die, India's non-Moslems would blame the Moslems and avenge him with terrible slaughter.

"Death for me would be a glorious deliverance, rather than that I should be a helpless witness of the destruction of India, Hinduism, Sikhism and Islam," declared Gandhi, whose followers number many thousands.

Must Have Equality

"That destruction is certain if Pakistan ensures no equality of the status and security of life and property for all professing the various faith of the world, and if India copies her."

Pakistan, mostly Moslem in population, and India, mostly Hindu, were created British dominions in a partition of the subcontinent last Aug. 15.

They now are at odds over warfare waged by Moslem tribesmen upon the northern State of Kashmir, which has joined India. India has accused Pakistan before the United Nations of supporting the tribesmen. The case comes up before the Security Council Thursday.

Gandhi undertook his fast amid the luxurious surroundings of a millionaire's house, the home of his industrialist friend, G. D. Birla of Delhi.

Guard Grows Weary Won't WaitForClaxton

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 — (CP). — Brooke Claxton, Canadian Defense Minister, arrived 40 minutes late from New York Monday night after his plane had bucked 70-miles-an-hour headwinds along the way, at times reducing the ground speed of the plane to 30 miles an hour.

Officials of the United States Government and armed forces had been waiting in a steady rainfall for nearly an hour when the Canadian minister arrived at 5:40 p.m. Hume Wrong, Canadian Ambassador to the United States, was among the welcoming group.

A United States Army guard of honor which had been standing in the rain for more than an hour was sent home just before the plane arrived.

"It's a good idea," said the Canadian minister when told the honor guard had given up. The minister is here on his first visit since taking over the Defense portfolio. He is accompanied by Mrs. Claxton.

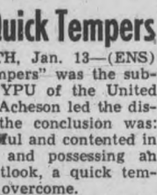
ROSENEATH, Jan. 13—(ENS)—"Quick Tempers" was the subject by the YPU of the United Church. W. Acheson led the discussion and the conclusion was: by being helpful and contented in daily living, and possessing an optimistic outlook, a quick temper could be overcome.

Rev. R. C. White conducted the study on "The Persecution of the Church." Howard Lemon presided; Miss Mary Maunder read the Scripture; Miss Aureen Brown was pianist.



The next meeting will be a social meeting and crokinole party at Archie Blodgett's.

Find Foreign Legionnaires Don't Want Eastern Fighting

SINGAPORE, Jan. 13—(AP).—French campaigns to quash the insurgent Viet Nam republic in Indo-China have served to introduce the French Foreign Legion to southeast Asia—and to provoke a suspicion that not all Legionnaires are the romantic soldiers of fortune depicted in "beau geste." In fact, some Legionnaires give evidence of being not so much dashing as unwilling. They have taken to jumping off troopships bound for Saigon and fleeing to the interior of Malaya, thereby presenting Malayan authorities with a knotty problem: whether to return these reluctant warriors to their Legion units, or deport them to the countries of their origin.

Eleven fugitives from the Legion troopship Marechal Joffre now are held in Malaya. They jumped overboard in the Straits of Malacca. An undetermined number of others also vaulted into the sea, but never reached Malayan beaches. They may have reached the shore of Sumatra on the other side of the straits.

Those held in Malaya include seven Italians, two Swiss, a German and a Dutchman. The original charge against them, illegal entry into the country, has been withdrawn and they now are held simply on a warrant by immigration officials. Demands that they be turned over to French officers of the Legion so far have been rejected.

Death Preferable

The fugitive Legionnaires say death would be preferable to being returned to the Legion. They claim they would be flogged and then shot. Life in the Legion, they told Malayan officials and newspapermen, is a "veritable hell."

They said their pay was about $1.50 a month and that the slightest infringement of regulations brought floggings and headshavings. The prospect of campaigning in Indo-China's jungles under these circumstances was not inviting, they said.

Killed Child For Screaming

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13 — (AP). — A slender filling station attendant told police last night he killed eight-year-old Shiela Ann Tuley with a kitchen knife in Cleveland New Year's Day when she resisted his advances.

"She began to scream and I lost my head," Harold Beach, jr., 23, recounted in a police headquarters room filled with detectives and newspaper men.

The little girl's body, was found on a neighbor's porch less than a block from her house.

She had disappeared earlier in the day while on her way to a drugstore to get cigarets for her father, Edward J. Tuley.

Detectives said Beach, a bespectacled 140-pounder was arrested yesterday at a filling station where he had worked since coming to Baltimore Saturday.

He went over his story with police officials and reporters last night. He smiled a great deal and once or twice laughed out loud at questions put to him.

Asked if he understood what he had done, Beach shrugged his shoulders, grinned wryly and replied:

"The most I can get is death—so what?"

Thorium, Uranium Discovered In Burma

RANGOON, Jan. 13. —(Reuters).—Thorium and uranium have been found in Central and Eastern Burma, it was officially announced today.

Dr. Oo Hla, secretary of the government-sponsored Council of Burma industries, said these radioactive minerals exist in large quantities in the Yingyan district adjacent to the Burma Oil Company's oil fields in Central Burma and also near the Burma-Siam frontier.

Dr. Oo Hla has just returned here after conducting a geological survey to discover Burma's mineral wealth. He said Burma's frontier regions abounded in a variety of rare metals, such as platinum.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 13 — (AP). — The "Leper Gang," southeast Asia's most desperate pirate band, has been wiped out in a 24-hour battle with 1,000 police and civilian volunteers in the Sumatran fishing port of Bagan Siapiapi, eyewitnesses said upon arrival here today.

Priest Dies

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP). — Rev. Charles C. Cantillon, 90, a Roman Catholic priest for the last 55 years, died yesterday after a lengthy illness. Father Cantillon celebrated mass every day from Dec. 5, 1939 until the surrender of Japan for an Allied victory in the Second World War and a just peace.

Ten tables were played and prize winners were: ladies' first, Mrs. Bert Lochhead; gentleman's first, Mr. Arthur Andrews; lady's low score, Mrs. Sid Buck; gentleman's, Mrs. Percy Kept; lucky door prize was won by Mr. Percy Kempt. Mrs. Golden Andrews very kindly consented to act as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Jap Evacuees Contented In New Homes

By ROBERT CLARKE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—(CP).—Spread through five provinces by a war-dictated evacuation after being concentrated almost entirely in British Columbia, Canada's 22,000 Japanese are content in their new homes with only a smattering desirous of returning to the coastal area, a Japanese in close touch with the situation said today.

Kasey Oyama, editor of the weekly New Canadian, said in an interview that evacuated Japanese had found more freedom and less discrimination in new areas. From his travels through sections where Japanese now are located, as well as from surveys by correspondents of the paper, he considered about 80 per cent of the evacuees want to remain where they are. About five per cent would move back while the remainder had no preference.

Oyama, whose newspaper has a circulation of slightly more than 3,000 and which is the only one in Canada directed to Japanese, said discrimination still existed in British Columbia interior towns where approximately 6,800 Japanese are living. Almost an equal number now reside in Ontario compared to a handful there when the government evacuation order was put into effect in 1942.

The slight, bespectacled editor said Japanese in British Columbia were kept by law from working underground in the mines or from engaging in logging operations on Crown lands. Some towns kept Japanese from living within the town limits or from establishing new stores. These "obstacles" had made it "difficult" for the Japanese.

Badly Beaten Invalid In 'Fair' Condition

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 13 — (CP). — Hospital attendants described today as "fair" the condition of Mrs. Catherine Timmons, 80, seriously beaten early last Sunday in her home.

Her daughter, Helen, 42, was fatally injured and the husband and father, Frank Timmons, 72, has been charged with murder. He was remanded yesterday without plea to Jan. 19.

Miss Timmons' funeral will be held tomorrow.

Has Birthday Party

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 13 (ENS) —About 64 neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Ella Hay on Thursday to honor Mrs. Alta Stewart on her birthday.

Nine tables of progressive euchre were played with prizes being awarded to Mrs. W. G. McLaughlin, R. W. Umphrey and Don Carnrite.

Mrs. Stewart received a number of lovely gifts, and expressed her appreciation. Following the games, square dancing was enjoyed.

Quash Conviction

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—(CP). — A wounding conviction of Angela M. Anderson, who said she borrowed a rifle to shoot kittens, was quashed by Ontario Court of Appeal yesterday. She had been sentenced to six months in reformatory by Magistrate F. Watt at Guelph on a charge of wounding Ormond Bunnell.

Plan Further Probe In Woman's Death

ST. AUSTELL, Cornwall, England, Jan. 13 — CP) — Further investigation will be held into the death of Mrs. Myrtle Curtis, 42, of Timmins, whose body was found in a flooded clay pit yesterday at nearby Rock Hill.

Police said an inquest, for which a date has not been set, would likely be adjourned after formal evidence is taken—a move usually taken in Britain when additional investigation is deemed advisable.

Police said Mrs. Curtis left her brother's farm at dusk Dec. 18 and had not been seen alive again. Her husband, learning that she was missing, flew from Canada to join the search.

If Meat Prices Worry You—Buy Own Hog Peterborough Farmer Advises Consumers

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP). — Novel suggestion for the consumer battling high meat prices was advanced last night by C. N. Downer, hog raiser of the Peterborough district: buy your own hog.

Downer said: "The people of Toronto own the local abbattoir and they have every right to go there and buy their meat. They could buy a pig there for about $42 or 28½ cents a pound, yet they pay an average of 66 cents a pound for pork products."

Mr. Downer further asserted that in a survey of Toronto butcher shops today he estimated that "the pig we as producers are paid around $40 for could not be put together—or re-assembled and bought in a butcher shop—for less than $100."

He declared most hog producers were in a critical situation because of high feed prices

Mainly Jews Smuggled Into Canada

By JOHN LEBLANC.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 — (CP). — Aliens smuggled into Canada in a trans-Atlantic plot now under investigation are mainly Jews of various European nationalities, a higher police official said yesterday.

As the RCMP pressed a secret inquiry into the large-scale dodging of immigration restrictions, few other details leaked out concerning the apparent plot to shortcut aliens from European displaced persons camps to Canada with the use of doctored British passports.

RCMP authorities disclosed the force's special branch is working closely with Britain's famed Scotland Yard in the investigation.

At present six aliens are in custody—all arrested in Toronto's "Ward" district, but they were believed to be only a small fraction of those involved in the smuggling scheme.

Hundreds Involved.

Police here did not deny a report from London that "several hundred" aliens were tied up in the plot. These were alleged to have been mostly from Germany and to have paid a London gang to get them into the Dominion with faked British documents.

Passports used were believed to have been from large numbers of those that fell into German and other foreign hands during the Second World War.

Big Roundup.

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP).— With six aliens already held here on charges of illegal entry, the RCMP last night was said ready to undertake the most extensive roundup of aliens in Canada's peacetime history.

While Ottawa Headquarters of the RCMP said further information was awaited from Scotland Yard on an international smuggling ring which used fake British passports to get European Jews into Canada, local officers said "it has been established there is a ring making a fortune selling false British passports to displaced persons who otherwise would be unable to qualify for a new start in life here."

The RCMP official said: "The people in the ring were clever in choosing British passports as the holder does not have to register with the police here. We scrapped identity cards a year ago and all rationing ended two months ago, so there is no means of checking these 'Britons' addresses.

Won't Make Sunday Delivery Illegal

KITCHENER, Jan. 13 (CP). — Acting on the advice of the city solicitor, Kitchener city council last night unanimously rejected a request presented by seven city dairies for a municipal bylaw making delivery of milk illegal on Sunday from Oct 1 to May 1.

The motion for rejection was presented by the legislation committee headed by Alderman Donald Weber, who reported it was the solicitor's opinion "we have no authority to enact such a bylaw."

Following a strong plea presented by Dr. J. A. Spellman, president of the Kitchener Skating Club, council made a token grant of $250 towards the expenses of Wallace Distelmeyer, of Toronto, former Kitchener boy who is a member of the Canadian figure skating team at the Olympic games.

The grant it is hoped will be the start of a general public subscription in aid of the skater who is participating in both the singles and pairs competition.

Austerity Paying

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP). — Britain's 1947 austerity program now is paying off "handsomely," Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada, yesterday told a conference of Canadian retailers sponsored by the Canadian Retail Federation.

To Receive Donations

MARMORA, Jan. 13 (ENS)—At St. Paul's Church on Sunday, the rector read the circular letter sent to parishes in the diocese by the bishop with regard to the restoration of Canterbury. The Church of England in Canada is hoping to send $100,000 towards the restoration of this historic old cathedral. W. J. Cottrell has been appointed to receive subscriptions for this object from the parishioners of Marmora.

Buying "Revolution"

TORONTO, Jan. 13— (CP). — Retailers were told yesterday by Professor W. A. Thompson of the University of Western Ontario that increases in the price of food are disturbing customers in their buying habits to the point of revolution in their normal purchasing. Professor Thompson was one of three speakers leading a panel discussion of various retail trade problems at the opening session of a three-day meeting of the Canadian Retail Federation.

CALLED TO MOSCOW — Capitals of Europe are buzzing with speculation as to the identity of the very important person to treat whom Professor Elis Berven, above, Sweden's foremost cancer specialist, has been called to Moscow. Some guess the identity of the mysterious patient as Premier Stalin. Coincidentally with Prof. Berven's hurried trip to Moscow, a Swiss newspaper published a story under the headline, "Is Stalin Dead?"

Expect Prices Be Higher Yet

By The Canadian Press

Leaders of industry and government, so far as can be gathered from their statements, see no indications yet that prices will ease or even stabilize at current levels. They see even higher levels with sharply increased exports under the European recovery program and the new generally anticipated "third round" of wage demands from labor.

In Canada as in the United States the prices battle lines seem to be drawn about the problem of controls. Industry, although showing no signs of retreat from steadily increasing production, is keeping an eye on the outcome of the decision on controls.

Pointing to the price rise potentialities in a sharp jump in exports is the report from a survey in the United States which reveals that 90 per cent of total production in 1947 went to domestic consumers, four per cent to national defense and only six per cent was exported.

Industry's barometer—the stock exchanges—fluctuated mildly the first few days of 1948 and did not mirror the strength of commodity markets, rising prices and expanded production. Trading was sluggish as investors held back for clearer horizons.

Ontario Election Unlikely During 1948

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP).— A by-election will be held on February 16 in Huron Electoral District to fill the seat in the Ontario Legislature left vacant by the death of Dr. R. Hobbs Taylor, Progressive Conservative, and some sources have regarded it as an indication there will be no general election in the province this year.

At the same time it will afford the first opportunity for any group of electors to indicate their attitude toward policies of Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative administration, especially those relating to liquor, since the Drew Government was returned in 1945.

Huron, in Western Ontario, north-west of Perth County, is one of the few areas in the province where the Canada Temperance Act still is in effect. While the sale of liquor is not permitted in the riding, it is expected the liquor question will be interjected into the campaign, particularly if prohibition forces enter a candidate.

Thomas Pryde of Exeter, unsuccessful Progressive Conservative candidate in the last Federal election, has been mentioned as a strong bidder for nomination when the Huron Progressive Conservative Association meets next Wednesday at Hensall to pick a candidate. Agriculture Minister Kennedy is scheduled to address the meeting.

Both the Liberals and the CCF will have candidates in the by-election. Farquhar Oliver, the recently-elected Liberal Leader, is expected to take an active part in the campaign. Nomination Day will be February 9.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

HIT THEIR BLIND SPOT

IF YOU FEEL that your opponents of the moment are likely to be creatures of habit, and especially if they are not too familiar with a certain kind of defense against a particular plan of play, it sometimes pays to aim at their blind spot. In some situations this can cost you the risk of a trick or two, but in others the attempt can be made without hazarding a single solitary thing. If the latter applies, it would be simply silly, or lazy, or criminally negligent perhaps, not to make the effort.

North's first response there—our good old partner, Ralph Gresham, treasurer of the American Contract Bridge League—was truly expert, since he had three spades and a singleton, enough for a second-round preference if need be or a 2-Diamond rebid if our second bid was 1-No Trump.

When West led the club 4, we reckoned that most declarers in this event during the national championships in Atlantic City would be set a trick. Two would be lost in diamonds and, when hearts were led, the defenders would surely return a trump to limit ruffing. So only two hearts could be ruffed, hence two lost.

Now for the alternative adopted. If diamond leads were followed by defensive trump returns because of the heart singleton, the diamonds could be established and run. So after winning the club K with the A on the first trick, we led the diamond 9. The K won and the spade 6 was returned to the A. Then the diamond 5 was given to the ♠. If West now returned hearts and the dummy had to ruff once, our plan would be frustrated. But West sent back the spade 9, which the K won. The spade 4 to the 10 then cleared trumps and the four established diamonds furnished discards for all four hearts. Thus not only the contract, but an extra trick too, came home to Papa for a very fortunate top score. Of course a top-rank player in the West would have switched to hearts after the second diamond lead, despite possession of the K, and so would have set the contract. But it figured to be set anyway, so nothing was risked by this try.

Sues Quaker Oats For $16,000 Loss

QUEBEC, Jan. 13 (CP)—Hearing was started yesterday in Superior Court of a suit for $16,000 brought against the Quaker Oats Company of Peterborough by Victor J. Cote of Quebec, former company agent in the Montreal-Quebec area.

Cote, who was the only witness heard yesterday, claimed the company employed him on a commission basis from 1918 to 1944 when he was dismissed after refusing the company's suggestion that it take over the organization of its sales and employ him at a fixed salary.

Plaintiff claimed that he had set up his own offices and built up sales which in good years brought commission earnings of $4,000 compared with earnings of $12 during his first month on the job in 1918.

In his action, Cote seeks to recover losses in his earnings, amounting to $16,000 since his dismissal in 1944.

Name Committee For Playground

"The main idea of this meeting", said Fred Marshall at the Chamber of Commerce last night is to create enthusiasm amongst both individuals the city council, the Chamber of Commerce, the service clubs and every spirited organization, and get co-ordination on the matter of locating an area either for a city forest or a playground.

It was the opinion of Mr. Milton Clysdale that an area should be located large enough to permit of part of it remaining in its primitive state and part of it to be cleaned up as a suitable playground. The feeling of the meeting was that surely there could be found 1,000 or 2,000 acres through the 106,000 acres of the Kawarthas suitable for a national park without interfering with private property. Ontario was unfortunately lacking in a national park, though there were not many areas left suitable for a national park or a provincial park that would not have some private property on it.

Mr. Harold Rehill said that he thought that any area that would have sufficed the needs of a suitable playground with a good lake front had already been picked out.

The meeting then decided to appoint a committee that would take steps to find out if an area suitable for a public playground might be found within the county. The committee appointed were Warden M. Johnston, K.C. Burkin, William Anderson, F. Marshall and Norman Wilson, reeve of Burleigh and Anstruther.

Other members of the association present at the meeting were Milton Clysdale, Leo Copp, Harold Rehill, John McKone, Arthye Parker and Peter Mather.

Toronto Hospital To Increase Rates

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP) — S. W. Martin, secretary-treasurer of the Toronto Hospital Council, said today that increases in hospital rates, to meet rising operational costs, are "inevitable."

"Just how soon rates will have to be increased, it is hard to say," he added. The last general boost in Toronto took effect last fall, when individual hospitals jumped rates for private bed accommodation $1 and other types from 50c to 75 cents a day.

Present rates are: private, $9-$12 a day; semi-private, $6.50-$7.50; public, $4.50.

Auto Industry Stands First In Ontario

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP) — Planning Minister Dana Porter yesterday told the Toronto Automobile Trade Association the automobile industry represented 12½ per cent of the total manufacturing output of the province—about three times the volume of any other industry in Ontario. The industry, which ranks among the first five in Canada, stands first in the province in gross value of production and is an essential key to prosperity.

Quit Wheat Market After Truman Rebuke

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—(AP) Brig.-Gen. Wallace Graham testified today that he got out of the wheat market—except for one small trade—after President Truman criticized commodities speculators last October. But he said he continued to deal in cotton until Dec. 18.

Under oath before the Senate appropriations committee, the President's personal physician said, too, that he assumed personal responsibility for the trades. Previously, he said publicly in a statement that his broker made commodity purchases for him without his knowledge.

Graham, who previously said he had "lost his socks" in exchange trading, presented a statement showing that he had made a profit of $6,165.25 in commodities. But he said he lost $11,012.86 in stock trading and so had a net loss of $4,847.61.

Mayor Ovens: "Similar appointments were made recently by the Police Commission. Two senior officers of that department retired, and the Commission accepted the recommendations of Chief Thompson."

At that stage the deputation retired. Mr. Burke thanked the council for the opportunity of coming.

Explained Various Moves

Particularly for the benefit of the new members of the council, Ald. Swanston explained that a change occurred in the head of the Fire Department, and something had to be done in a hurry. Deputy Chief George Smith was appointed Acting Chief. "He made certain recommendations to Mayor Ovens and me. We were appointed as a special committee to act in the matter. We were appointed by the committee of the whole council. We had called in Smith, and asked him if he would take charge. There would probably have to be certain appointments in the new set-up and we asked him for recommendations. He asked us for a day or two to think things over. The first thing he told us was that he would like to have Foster back in the Department as Deputy Chief. We told him Foster had been given leave of absence. It transpired that Foster was not reported to the Union by Chief Gimblett as being off the Department. You have a copy of Chief Smith's recommendations. We have not had a meeting since he submitted them, but they are actually in effect at the present time. At our meeting in December the council made Smith Acting Chief. I might say that as long as I have been in the council we have never had any recommendations as to who the officers of the Department should be."

Ald. Doug Miller: "Is there any personal animosity toward Mason?"

Ald. Swanston: "Not that I know of."

Ald. Adam Sands briefly moved the acceptance of Acting Chief Smith's recommendations. His motion was seconded by Mayor Ovens, and carried.

Chief Smith's recommendations of officer appointments were:—

Assistant Chief—Stewart Foster: joined the Dept. June 1, 1929; his ability as a fire fighter is without question; he is well liked by all the members of the Department, and was previously Acting Lieutenant eight years without pay.

Captain— Virgil Carr; joined the Dept. Mar. 1, 1920; at present employed as Master Mechanic of the Department.

Captain—Albetr Mason, joined the Dept. Aug. 1, 1922, is at present Acting Captain.

Captain—George Gimblett, Jr., joined the Dept. April 1, 1928; at present is Acting Captain.

Captain—Albert Mason, joined the Dept. April 8, 1928.

Master Mechanic — Budd M. Cruikshank; joined Dept. Mar. 19, 1938.

Chief Smith added the notation: "I am sure these men will carry out their duties as officers of the Department successfully." His letter was dated Dec. 20 last.

Another recommendation from Chief Smith at the same time was: "I would recommend that Francis Shearer be appointed relieving Captain with pay. He joined the Department Mar. 19, 1934; enlisted in the RCAF, fire fighter division at the start of hostilities and served until the end of the war. He is energetic and knows his work."

Seaway Foes Launch New Campaign

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Seaway today launched an early Foes of the proposed St. Lawrence campaign to get the New York State legislature on record against the joint Canada-United States project on which United States Senate action is pending.

Opposition to the project, which also calls for a huge electric power development, also came from other quarters.

In New York city, Mayor William O'Dwyer said construction of such a seaway opening the Great Lakes to ocean-going shipping would "ruin the port of New York."

In Boston, Senator Leverett Saltonstall (Rep.-Mass.) told representatives of New England industry and labor he was opposed to the project because he did not believe it would provide improvement to navigational arteries to equal the cost.

Ghost Factories

Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, said Senator George Aiken (Rep.-Vt.) planned to "develop the St. Lawrence Valley industrially by settling several million English citizens on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence" to "make ghost factories of our high-grade American enterprises."

Frank S. Columbus, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said in Boston that the Seaway would bring about "the lifetime layoff of 20,000 railroad workers."

Assemblyman Gerald F. Sullivan, Buffalo Republican, introduced a resolution in the New York State Assembly last night to send to Congress against approval of the long-advocated project.

Meanwhile, another Republican, Assemblyman Allan P. Sill of Massena, N.Y., submitted a resolution urging Congress to authorize the seaway and power project "with all convenient speed." Republican Assemblyman Wilson C. Van Duzer, a seaway foe, called in a resolution for a legislative investigation of what he called "lobbying" by the state power authority for the project.

Governor Thomas Dewey favors both the seaway and the hydro-electric power project, which was not mentioned in Sullivan's resolution. Most seaway foes do not oppose the power project, but United States army engineers have termed both phases as practically inseparable.

Sullivan contended the seaway would have a "destructive effect" on the flow of traffic through "the cities and ports of this state" and would be used principally by "ships of foreign registry."

Supporters of the project claim it will provide needed hydro-electric power and open the Great Lakes area directly to sea-borne commerce.

Millbrook Has Week Of Prayer

MILLBROOK, Jan. 13 (ENS)—"Prayer" was the general theme for the Week of Prayer services, locally, Rev. Walter Patterson speaking "The Necessity of Prayer" at the opening gathering on Tuesday evening, in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, with the rector, Rev. C. M. MacLean, in charge. Mr. Patterson brought out clearly that we pray because we believe in the revelation of God through His Word; because we are absolutely dependent upon God and have many invitations in the Bible to engage in prayer; because of our need of Christ as Saviour; because a prayerless Christian is not a Christian at all. Prayer, it was pointed out, should be sincere; for others; lacking in selfishness; in accordance with God's will; and in faith that He hears us and keeps His promises.

The theme for Wednesday evening was "Hindrance to Prayer", and was taken by Rev. C. M. MacLean, the meeting being in St. Andrew's United Church, with the pastor, Rev. G. C. R. McQuade, conducting the service.

He said, in effect, that prayer does not do anything to God, but simply clears channels so that God may give us that which His love and grace would desire. Lack of faith is a hindrance in praying. So also is considering our work as secular, and our worship as something different again; praying without due preparation, and without complete concentration on Him to whom we offer our petitions; a lack of perseverance; too much of the selfish element in our prayers; lack of reverence, and of a sense of a personal God who is vitally interested in our personal need.

On the concluding night, Thursday, the meeting was in Grace Presbyterian church, with Rev. Walter Patterson in charge, and Rev. Mr. McQuade as speaker on the theme: "The Model Prayer". The text was the Saviour's words in giving to His disciples the Lord's Prayer: "After this manner pray ye" (Matt. 6:9). The prayer, it was explained, is not for the few, but the masses; for the learned and the unlearned; it is simple, clear and beautiful; anyone can understand its petitions. The prayer was taken up clause by clause, the speaker pointing out that linked with each petition is the fact that there is something we have to do about it ourselves. The daily bread includes food for the soul, as well as for the body, and we come to an abundant and unfailing source.

The offering taken each night will go to the Canadian Council of Churches for its work across Canada, and providing accompaniment for the hymns at each service were Mrs. C. M. MacLean, Miss E. L. Hetherington and Mrs. W. Patterson.

Mrs. Fred Gardner was in charge of the program. Ms. R. H. Gardner sang very sweetly "My Task," without accompaniment.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13—(CP)—An "Arctic bonus" soon will be fattening the pay envelopes of servicemen stationed in the Canadian northland. GLAMOR DEB NO. 1—The most publicized debutante since Brenda Frazier has emerged in the person of British-born Virginia Leigh, New York's Number One glamor girl of the season. Blond, blue-eyed Miss Leigh, who will be 18 years old on January 15, made her debut at a candle-lit supper dance for 500 held in her family's 18-room apartment on Fifth avenue. Virginia, who has little time for hobbies, is on twelve charity committees and has two telephones in her room to deal with her business matters. She wants to be a politician later and seems to think the road thereto lies through journalism. At present she writes a society column under her own name for a New York paper.

Noranda Passenger Train Plows Into Rear Of Second; Both Running Off Schedule

Uninjured Crawl Over Smashed Coaches To Bring Aid To Other Victims In Bitter 35 Degrees Below Zero Weather

PARENT, Que., Jan. 14—(CP).—Five persons were killed, three seriously injured and 40 reported slightly hurt today when passenger train No. 21 plowed into the rear end of train No. 11 on the Transcontinental line of the Canadian National Railways. All those killed, including a baggageman named Vaillancourt, were on No. 11, the train into which the Quebec-Noranda train crashed.

The accident occurred at Wykes, a small northwestern Quebec station a few miles east of here. Special trains with doctors and nurses were sent from Parent and Fitzpatrick, another divisional point.

Another special was sent to carry the injured to La Tuque, nearest hospital point.

The three seriously hurt were also on No. 11, bound for Cochrane. Ten were reported slightly injured on the same train and 30 also slightly hurt on No. 21, which was made up of 10 coaches. No. 11 carried 11 coaches.

35 Below Zero

The crash occurred in 35 below zero weather, and uninjured passengers clambered over smashed coaches and debris in the bitter cold to aid the others.

The accident occurred at 8.05 a.m. Neither train was running on schedule. No. 21 was due at Parent at 7.55 a.m. and No. 11 at 6.20 a.m.

The Lyttle Wykes station is in the western section of Laviolette county, near the Abitibi district.

Barbara Ann Well In Lead For World Title

PRAGUE, Jan. 14 — (CP). — World champion Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa to-day led a field of 20 competitors from six countries at the end of the difficult compulsory figures in the European women's figure skating championships.

Defending the European crown she won at Davos Platz, Switzerland, last February 1, the 19-year-old Canadian girl led the field at the end of four events which count for about 60 per cent of the final scoring.

An unofficial compilation showed she had collected six firsts in the first four compulsory figures and one ninth place rating—given her by a British judge, Maj. K. S. Beaumont.

Beaumont gave first-place ranking to Jeannette Aldwegg, the British champion, although she appeared to be running fourth in the over-all judging.

Unofficial point scores given out at the half-way mark, showed Miss Scott with a 9.5-point lead. The world champion who will compete in the winter Olympics at St. Moritz, Switzerland, later this month, had 328.5 points to 316 for Miss Altwegg. Jirina Nekolova, Czechoslovakian skater, was third with 312 points.

Barbara Ann skimmed over the outdoor ice that was bumpy with the temperature around 20 degrees.

Shooting Shocks Community

By NICK NICKELS

This is a reconstruction of the story of the shooting of Frank Lloyd, 45, in the living-room of his Marmora home early Tuesday morning as related by the Marmora village and Provincial Police authorities. Little Roger Lloyd, 8, of Marmora, hoped for a pleasant "at home" on Monday but when he got there after school, no one appeared, neither his foster parents nor 16-year-old Barnard. It got dark and the little fellow hung around the bright lights of the village street, waiting and snivelling a little.

At last he located Bernard after a hockey match and the two boys went back to the little three-room house beside the limestone quarry on the west bank of the Crowe River. The boys ate and went to bed, and because their foster parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd had still not arrived, caused little concern for it was pay day and the boys expected the Lloyds would be out celebrating somewhere. They fell asleep.

About 2 a.m. there was a commotion in the small living-room that got louder. The boys were awake, of course. They heard their mother scream for help.

Jumping out of bed, Bernard grabbed his .22 repeater rifle that was stacked in the corner, wheeled out into the living-room and is alleged to have fired a shot into the back of Frank Lloyd, who was weaving in front of the oil heater. Without a backward glance, he pulled on some clothes, walked out into the cold night and cached the rifle in the snow bank beside the discarded family Christmas tree and raced over the bridge to Dr. W. J. Donevan's residence to get him out of bed.

Dr. Donevan immediately phoned Chief Constable W. B. Lavender and Provincial Constable W. H. Gould, who called for the doctor and Bernard within a few minutes and sped over to the cottage at the Quarry. F. R. Wells, owner of the local ambulance, was also alerted on the way over, and the ruckus had already aroused neighbor Jack Cronkwright.

HALIFAX, Jan. 14—(CP).—Twenty-seven crew members, three of them injured, who tried to reboard their flaming United States transport Joseph V. Connolly after abandoning her minutes before lifeboats would have ignited, disembarked here today from the freighter Union Victory. Capt. Ben A. Bostelman of Brooklyn, NY, said he had given orders to leave the ship early Monday after the 46-man crew had fought the blaze two hours because he feared lifeboats would burn and make wholesale death a certainty.

An explosion in the hold, reported to the captain by several of the crew, shook the vessel about an hour after abandoning ship. The captain said an oil tank had probably gone up.

Eight hours after they had tossed about in four small craft on a heavy swell, smoke from the Connolly had died down and they rowed back to reboard her.

"Just as we drew near, the fire started afresh and after that she really burned," Capt. Bostelman told reporters. They were rescued after 12 hours in the storm-tossed boats.

There were no deaths and the most serious injury was a fractured hip suffered by Seaman Boleslaw Gorski of Philadelphia, who fell 30 feet into a small boat he had left as he climbed to the Union Victory.

With their only possessions — the clothes they had on — the rescued men from the Connolly lined the deck of the little Union Victory as she berthed.

The men told reporters some of their experiences in a ship-shore interview.

Hour To Leave

They said the fire broke out early Monday in the engine room and spread rapidly through the ship. They fought the blaze for a long time and when it was decided

Say February 15 Set Arab D-Day

DAMASCUS, Syria, Jan. 14 — (AP).— Defence Minister Ahmed Sharabati said a trained Arab "People's Army" will launch a direct frontal attack next month to sweep Zionism from Palestine. Some Arab sources here believe February 15 may be D-Day.

Sharabati said in an interview that the attack will be made "with men and arms in an honorable war to preserve the rights of our Arab brothers." Full-scale training and arming were in progress, and there would be "no bombing in the dark."

Military observers denied a "People's Army" already is in the Palestine fight, and said the recent invasion of Palestine from Syria was a Fadl tribal sortie led by Prince Faur Faur. There are an estimated 8,000 Fadl tribesmen living along the Syrian-Palestine border.

Informed Arab sources expressed the opinion that political and military leaders were trying to co-ordinate activities for a February 15 D-Day, but conceded that was only a "tentative" date.

Britons Believe Cripps Likely Attlee Successor

LONDON, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Appointment to the double portfolio as Chancellor of the Exchequer and Minister of Economic Affairs has given Sir Stafford Cripps a standout position as the likely successor to Prime Minister Attlee.

There is no suggestion that Attlee will step down in the near future. But since autumn there has been a growing public belief that when he does retire Sir Stafford will be the logical man to take over. It's the result of a number of circumstances.

Almost since the 1945 general election, it has been accepted that Attlee's successor will be chosen from his "Big Four" colleagues—Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, the former Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hugh Dalton, and Sir Stafford Cripps. Now in the public mind, Sir Stafford has moved into the lead.

Day after day Sir Stafford takes the headlines in the United Kingdom press and London's top-flight political cartoonists now make him the centre of their drawings more often than any other Cabinet member.

It's a build-up which is bound to carry weight when Attlee's successor must be chosen. Increasingly, he is becoming Government spokesman when important domestic news is given out.

Long ago, he was nicknamed "Austerity Cripps" because of his outspokenness on the difficulties the country faced. Now that the public is really beginning to understand Britain's desperate circumstances, it has become instead almost a compliment.

Mobilize 6,000 Men For Defence Corps

ATHENS, Jan. 14—(Reuters).—The Greek government will call up immediately 6,000 men to serve in the National Defence Corps (Militia) under an agreement reached today between the United States aid mission to Greece and the government.

The call-up will increase the strength of the National Defence Corps to 54 battalions totalling 27,000 men.

A further 23,000 men will be called up between now and the spring as equipment and rations become available from the United States.

Alexander Plans To Pay Brazil State Visit

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Viscount Alexander will pay a state visit to Brazil next June during a trip that will mark the first visit of a Canadian governor-general in office to a South American country.

Acceptance of a Brazilian government invitation to make the visit was announced last night by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who said that the Governor-General will be accompanied by Viscountess Alexander.

Mr. King said acceptance of the invitation was conveyed to the Brazilian Ambassador here after approval had been received from the King, represented in Canada by the Governor-General.

Commanded Force

Viscount Alexander is no stranger to South America. He had the Brazilian Expeditionary Force under his command during the war years when, as field marshal, he served as supreme commander of allied forces in the Mediterranean theatre.

The announcement did not indicate how long the vice-regal couple will be absent from Ottawa.

During their absence, it is expected Rt. Hon. Thibaudeau Rinfret, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, will act as governor-general.

Say Girl Alive When Found

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 14.—(CP).—Jean Badgley, 25-year-old private secretary who on Nov. 30 was found shot at her parents' home at Frankford, was still alive when found, a coroner's jury was told here today.

Testifying at the adjourned inquest looking into the death of the dead girl, Harold Hagerman, 30, of Stirling, stated when he called at the home he found the girl in the summer kitchen with a rifle by her side. She was still breathing and moaning, he said.

"I called at the side door and rapped several times but received no answer," stated Mr. Hagerman.

"I went in the house and found the door leading to the winter kitchen ajar. Opening it I saw Jean lying on the floor with the rifle by her side."

The witness stated he placed his hand on her shoulder and called her name several times. When he received no answer he went for the police and a doctor.

Dr. D. McMullen, Frankford physician, bore out Hagerman's statement of the girl still being alive. He said that when he and Hagerman arrived back at the home he heard what he considered was the girl's last breathing as he stood outside the kitchen door.

Wounded Man Asks Charge Against Son Withdrawn

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 14—(CP).—Sixteen-year-old Bernard Lloyd of Marmora will appear in magistrate's court in Marmora next Monday on a charge of wounding with intent but the victim of the shooting, the boy's father, said from a hospital bed that he would exert every effort to have the charge withdrawn. He was remanded yesterday.

The wounded man, 44-year-old Frank Lloyd, was said in hospital here to have a good chance for recovery after an emergency operation removed the rifle bullet fired by the boy during a family argument.

The shooting occurred in the Lloyd home at Marmora, 28 miles north of here, early yesterday. The father said the incident arose from a misunderstanding.

Nothing Serious

He and his wife had been quarrelling "but it was nothing serious," said the injured man. "The boy evidently heard us and came downstairs to take sides with his mother. I had a few drinks. He joined in the argument himself for a few minutes and the next thing I knew he shot me with my rifle."

The boy acted purely on impulse when he thought his mother was in danger, said the father.

The bullet nicked Lloyd's right lung and passed through the liver. While the operation was being performed on him, the son was lodged in Hastings county jail.

Police said the boy ran barefoot through the snow to the home of Dr. C. Donovan, who called police.

Expect Legislature To Open February 18

TORONTO, Jan. 14.—(CP). — Queen's Park sources were quoted last night as saying the Ontario Legislature's new session would open either Feb. 18 or Feb. 19 but in any event the Legislature would not meet before the provincial by-election called for Huron riding Feb. 16.

By opening Feb. 18 or 19 the Legislature would have five full weeks before Good Friday which is believed sufficient time to deal with all legislation. An amendment passed last year removed the necessity of members sitting for 30 days before being eligible for the full sessional indemnity of $2,000. The indemnity now is paid on an annual basis.

Business Block Burns

GRENVILLE, Que., Jan. 14 — (CP). — A business block containing four apartments, a public auditorium and two restaurants was razed in an early morning fire here yesterday. The flames, leaping hundreds of feet in the air, threatened for a time this town of 1,000 population directly across the Ottawa River from Hawkesbury. Damage was estimated at $25,000. Firemen from Hawkesbury and Lachute Mills, Que., assisted the local voluntary fire department. There were no injuries.

Scores Homeless In Flood Areas

LONDON, Jan. 14—(Reuters)—Scores of persons were homeless and hundreds marooned in upstairs rooms today in Britain's flood zones after overnight rain had swollen rivers.

In the flooded areas, where roads are awash and impassable, isolating villages, and thousands of acres of farmland are under water with cattle stranded on "islands" in the fields, boats are being used to deliver milk and food to families imprisoned in top-floor rooms.

More than a dozen rivers have burst their banks and others are threatening homes and property in an area stretching from southwest England to Yorkshire 250 miles to the northeast.

The Severn, largest of England's rivers after the Thames, rose two inches an hour during the night, and heights up to 18 feet above normal summer level were reported from various places.

Hundreds of business people were travelling into the Shrewsbury county town of Shropshire, on the Severn, in 24 large punts forming a ferry service, or by trestle "catwalks" erected at the sides of flooded roads.

In some areas last night amphibious jeeps were used to rescue villagers.

2 Bandits Grab $2,700 Payroll

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Two bandits, one armed and the other masked, today escaped with an employee payroll of $2,700 from Brown's Bread plant in west-central Toronto. A stolen automobile used in the escape was found abandoned by police shortly after the holdup.

Three employees were in the plant office when the bandits walked in, one guarding the door while the other pointed his gun at the cashier and said: "Hand it over or we'll give it to you."

The money was in envelopes in a tin box and would have been received today by the plant employees. One of the employees rushed from the plant as the bandits' vehicle raced away and obtained the licence number.

NEW DELHI, Jan. 14 (CP). — Unconfirmed reports from Bannu, 100 miles southwest of Peshawar, said today that 1,300 people from Bannu were killed, 700 wounded and 400 missing in communal fighting Sunday.

Zionists Want To Join Army

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—(CP). — Many Canadians were eager to serve in an international force to keep peace in Palestine and the Federal government should permit them to volunteer for such service, the Zionist organization of Canada said in a resolution yesterday.

At final sessions of the Z.O.C. national convention, 600 members approved resolutions asking that the Canadian government condemn the actions of Arab States who were undermining international authority." The Arab nations "openly admit their aim to obstruct the implementation of the U.N. (partition) decision."

The organization charged Britain was sending arms to the Arab States of Egypt, Iraq and Transjordan whose activities were hitting at the base of world peace.

The Z.O.C. demanded that Britain cease arming the Arabs and commit no acts which may "prejudice the United Nations' decision."

Truman Warns Congress US Prosperity Faces Slump

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP). —President Truman declared today that American prosperity is riding a "wave of inflation" toward the peril of a "serious" business slump.

Linking his second annual economic report to a renewed plea for legislative power to cope with soaring prices, the chief executive told the Republican-controlled Congress:

"The American people are keenly aware that inflation is the dominant problem in our affairs."

Truman used urgent words in demanding once again the full 10-point anti-inflation plan which the Republican-dominated Congress refused him during November's special session. He asserted that stand-by price, wage and rationing authority are "needed, needed badly, and needed promptly."

In addition to congressional action, the President called upon business to cut prices wherever possible, "foregoing a quick and dangerous excess profit in favor of long-run stability."

He urged labor to be "moderate" in its third round wage demands.

He insisted that the $7,500,000,000 treasury surplus now in sight for next June 30 must be used to lower the national debt, not cut tax rates as the Republicans are determined to do. He repeated his proposal for a $40-a-person "cost-of-living income tax cut to be made up by higher taxes on corporations.

The economic report asked a three-per-cent gain in production.

Ottawa Considering Ceiling On Butter

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 — (CP). — The Government has under consideration the re-imposition of a price ceiling on butter in the face of a price and consumption rise since the ceiling was lifted last June, but Finance Minister Abbott said last night after a meeting of the Cabinet that he had no statement to make on implementation of such action.

He was commenting on a Montreal dispatch which quoted the Montreal Gazette as saying it had been learned reliably that an announcement "may be made within 24 hours" on re-imposition of the ceiling.

Fears Canada Without Hogs In Six Months

Feed Cost Too High For Producers C. N. Downer Says

"In six months there will be no hogs in the Dominion of Canada unless there is some favorable change for the producer in the next three or four weeks," said Mr. C. N. Downer of Auburn in relating to the Examiner Tuesday his bitter experience of the last six months.

"The farmer simply cannot breed sows at the present price of food, and that means they cannot stay in the business in the present condition of costs. On Sept. 1 last I had 27 brood sows, some bred and others nursing. Today I have five, and in three weeks I'll not have them if there is not some alteration for the better. As a producer I hate to say it, but I have killed 162 pigs at birth from the majority of those sows, and I sent the sows to the packers at a loss.

Among those 27 was my champion Yorkshire sow that stood second in an all-Ontario test during 1946-47. She was the second highest scoring sow in the province. Her placing was announced last June, and the Examiner probably remembers that I went to Toronto for the field day at the plant of Canada Packers. It was on that occasion I received the award. I may say that the scoring was carried out under the Department of Agriculture."

Mr. Downer has specialized in raising Yorkshire hogs, did his best to improve their quality and was deservedly proud of the distinction he won last summer as a breeder. After all that enterprise and effort, and at a time when the world is hungry and Britain increased its contract price for bacon, Mr. Downer has had to admit the destruction of 162 pigs at birth.

Going In Hole

"I have been going in the hole fast, and there are lots of others in the same boat. I know a man who raises 400 pigs. He had an "ad" in the Examiner the other day trying to sell 100 of them at 125 pounds. He is forced to unload."

Mr. Downer makes one phase of exception in his plight. There is the odd farmer, he says, who has some feed on hand, and may try to struggle along. But, for the producer who has to buy feed, the situation is desperate.

"Since last summer we farmers have lost more for feed than the finished hog can bring in. It is true that an increase of 7 cents a pound was announced some weeks ago in the British contract bacon price, but we get only half that increase. The packers have not worked at a loss at any time We farmers have lost $20 to $22 a pig since September 1. That statement is based on production costs at the Guelph and Ottawa Experimental Stations.

Pays for Bones.

The cost of barley to-day, is $68 a ton. The finished pig brings in around $42 at the packing plant. Go to the stores and it costs you $99. I'll say this, the consumer pays more for bones than we get for the finished pig.

I went to Toronto on Monday trying to fight the battle of the farmers and the public. I interviewed Hon. T. L. Kennedy, the Minister of Agriculture. I was in the Department of Agriculture, and in the office of Mayor Robert Saunders of Toronto. I also called at the three daily newspaper offices in regard to the prices of pork and beef. We got up a little delegation and obtained the consumer prices at retail stores. So I am not guessing in any of the figures I quote."

Mr. Downer said he had the idea that some assistance might be obtained for the producer if consumers could be induced to buy whole pigs. The cost would be $28.50, and the cost of killing at the civic abattoir was 65 cents, a total of $29.30.

"I was trying to arrange with the Department whereby any person could buy livestock on the Toronto market and have it slaughtered for his own use. I quote the price at $29.50, but the buyer would have to pay three dollars which the government allows the producer for Grade A carcasses. For that reason it would be better in that case if the government bonus was discontinued. It seems better if the breeder was not looking for a handout."

Forced to Sacrifice

Mr. Downer said he had refused as high as $150 for some of the 27 sows he had. He considered them worth more than that as high quality breeding stock. On the other hand he was forced to sacrifice sows on the market at $45 to $55 each. They weighed up to 600 pounds. "I had four pigs in one load that weighed 2,400 odd pounds and they brought me something more than $220."

"You know that spare ribs are selling at 39 cents a pound in Peterborough. Yet the farmer is supposed to get 28½ cents a pound for the whole animal with loin chops and all included."

One definite result from his Toronto trip, Mr. Downer said, was a meeting of breeders that is being arranged for next Tuesday in Toronto. Some improvement will have to be provided for the producer if he is going to survive in the business, he added, and it would have to be soon for most of them.

Two Toronto Men Arrested On Holdup Suspicion As Net Set For Convicts

TORONTO, Jan. 14—(CP). — Caught in a police dragnet that was spread in hopes of recapturing Donald (Mickey) McDonald and Ulysse Lauzon, two Toronto men were to appear in court today on charges of attempted robbery. The attempted robbery of a grocery store at Thornton, 45 miles north of Toronto, late yesterday spurred reports that McDonald and Lauzon were in the vicinity. The two bandits escaped from Kingston Penitentiary last Aug. 18 with Nick Minille, another long-termer.

After the North Yonge Street highway between Toronto and Thornton became crowded with police cruisers, the two suspects were arrested at a service station just north of here. They were James Martin and Edward Williams, both 25 years old, both of Toronto. They were returned to the Barrie district for questioning before the charge was laid.

William Fry, owner of the Thornton grocery, said that a man had entered his store and loitered for some time. When the proprietor heard a click that "sounded like the safe door," which stood open, he and a neighboring merchant gave chase to the fleeing suspect. He escaped in a car driven by an accomplice.

By then Fry had enlisted the help of McGladery, a neighboring merchant, and in the latter's car gave chase down the highway toward Cookstown. The two, however, gave up the chase two miles down the road when it was seen the bandit car had too far a head start.

"We came back and called the police," said Fry. "Then I began to think about the money, and lucky to say, found the fellow had dropped it into a half-empty box a few feet from the safe."

Produces Gun

On the way in through the summer kitchen door, Bernard showed the constables where he had parked the gun. They found a spent shell and another live bullet and took possession of it.

According to police it was a touching scene, though maudlin, that greeted the party. Mrs. Edith Lloyd had managed to get her husband onto a chesterfield and was bathing his face with wet clothes and amid tears and terms of endearment, assured him that "Bernard did not mean it." The injured man tossed and raved that he had gone through two wars unscathed only to be shot in the back by his own boys. He was not rational, of course. After an examination by the doctor, he ordered Lloyd to hospital at once. Mr. Wells was standing by with his ambulance and Frank Lloyd was transferred to the vehicle and accompanied by his wife, was driven to the Belleville General Hospital.

The constables closed the house and took the boys with them. Roger to his grandmother's in Blairton and Bernard to the Town Hall lockup. At 9:30 Tuesday morning Bernard was removed to the Belleville county jail and booked on a charge of wounding.

Citizens Shaken

The citizens of the quiet little village were shaken by the incident. That Bernard had done such a thing was a bit of a shock. He was a quiet manly fellow and his character was without blemish. He had attended the local High School until three months ago when he gained employment where his foster-father worked, the Deloro Refining and Smelting Co.

Chief Constable Lavender says he was not listed on the village's blotter of "bad boys" and Mr. F. R. Wells, who does a lot of youth movement work, vouches for his character both in sports' activities and doings at the United Church Sunday School. It was further pointed out that both Lloyd and Bernard had been noticed in several of the local stores before Christmas bent on buying presents for "Mother and Roger". There appeared to be a great camaraderie between them. Lloyd was the only father that Bernard knew; he was adopted from the Children's Aid Society in Belleville at the age of three months and little Roger came from the same institution when only three weeks old.

Mrs. Edith Lloyd was expected back from Belleville Tuesday evening. Her husband underwent an operation earlier in the day performed by Dr. G. S. Cronk of the General Hospital. The doctor removed the .22 slug that had entered Lloyd's back and barely missed the base of the right lung and lodged in the flesh between the upper right rib section. His condition is reported as satisfactory today, and he has vowed to help in every way to have the wounding charge withdrawn.

Small Fishing Vessels Save More Than Score On Army Barge, Ship Aground Off Alaska

SEATTLE, Jan. 14.—(AP).—Two more mid-winter rescues from small Alaska vessels wrecked out to the "westward," in waters west of Kodiak Island and along the Alaska peninsula, have saved more than a score of passenger and crew members.

The 15 passengers and crew of the Aleutian Mail, all suffering from exhaustion and exposure, were taken off the beach and the grounded vessel by a boat and salvage crew late yesterday, the United States coast guard cutter Cedar radioed.

The Aleutian Mail had grounded near Arch Point, on Unimak Island, early yesterday, and the self-propelled United States army barge BSP 1927, turning to go to its aid, also grounded and nearly met disaster. Floating free, the barge's crew of approximately nine radioed the craft would stay afloat only an hour longer.

However, fishing vessels rescued those aboard.

Turiff Widower Perishes In Farm Fire

BANCROFT, Jan. 14 — (ENS). — An aged widower Robert Anderson, 63, Turiff, who lived alone in a remote section of North Hastings county, was burned to death this morning in his two-storey frame home, 11 miles south-east of here.

First to report the fire, which levelled the house, were two children of Ed McLean, a neighbour, who discovered the ruins on their way to the Turiff school this morning. They ran the mile back to their home to notify their father.

Mr. McLean telephone Mr. Anderson's son, Lloyd at Bancroft and notified authorities. Provincial constables S. W. Palmateer and D. Ketcheson, with Coroner O. W. Anderson went to the scene.

At first, hope was held that Anderson had spent the night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Russell Turiff, who lives three miles from the house. Preliminary search, however, indicates that the body is somewhere in the ashes of his home.

Another son, Roy, lives in Belleville.

Driver Jumps Train Hits Truck

Joseph Crowley, 646 Donegal St., missed possible death or serious injury by seconds about noon today when he leaped from his truck which was struck by a train immediately after.

The accident occurred at the crossing on Edinburgh St. at the foot of the steep incline there. According to report of PC Andre Dalton, Crowley began to apply the brakes when more than 50 feet from the train. Icy conditions of the road made the truck continue to skid towards the train. Unable to stop, Crowley jumped from the cab only a few yards from the tracks.

The impact spun the truck around and badly smashed the front fender, guards, lights and motor.

There is poor visibility at the crossing because of blocking houses and there is no wig-wag signal.

Police Race Stork To Lindsay Home

LINDSAY, Jan. 14 (ENS). — Policemen often have some odd assignments and one given Constable T. H. Bolderstone at 2:20 this morning is no exception.

Mrs. Nelson Gilroy was resting at her Melbourne Street home, awaiting a "blessed event," and when the time came for her to go to hospital, no taxis could be located. Mrs. Gilroy's mother immediately telephoned the Police Station to see if the man on duty could be of any help.

Constable T. H. Bolderstone called and picked up a nurse, Mrs. J. Hall, and rushed her to 82 Melbourne Street West, just in time to deliver a 7½-pound baby girl. Mother and daughter (Doris Pearl) are doing fine.

Western Oils Advance Despite Dull Market

TORONTO, Jan. 14.— (CP).— Western oils traded against a generally downward trend as good advances for key issues in the list featured a dull market on the Toronto stock exchange today. Industrials were easier on a majority of fractional losses over gains and mining issues were listless. Imperial Oil continued to dominate the industrial board but hovered about yesterday's closing price.

The exchange's noon index showed industrials down .57 at 170.24, golds .37 at 101.34, base metals .27 at 29.93, western oils up .36 at 36.09. Volume for the first three hours were 417,000 shares, about 62,000 less than yesterday's similar period.

Fractional losses spotted the industrials with only a few gains showing.

Better golds in a dull list were Campbell, Hosco, Sylvanite, while losses ranged from fractions to about 10 cents. Base metals posted gains for Smelters ½ at 89½, International Uranium, Labrador, and losses for Quemont, Sherritt, Waite Amulet, Osisko, MacDonald.

Rule Child Legitimate

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 — (AP) — A New York State Supreme Court justice ruled yesterday that a child sired by artificial insemination is legitimate and that the husband of the mother has the rights of a parent. The decision was made in the case of Mrs. Julie Strand, 31, who had asked the court to deny her estranged husband the right to visit her four-year-old daughter, Antoinette, who she said was conceived by artificial insemination.

Boy 5 Injured Struck By Car

Frightened by a team of horses, five-year-old Garry Mahood, 322 Water street, broke from his mother's hand at the corner of Aylmer and Simoe street at 1.30 Wednesday afternoon and ran in front of the car of Everett Sullivan, 266 Euclid avenue. He was struck and thrown to the pavement. Injuries, which were not serious, consisted of minor head cuts and shock.

The driver told PC C. J. McGillen that he had applied his brakes but the short distance from the child when he ran in front of the car made it impossible to stop on the slippery road.

The boy was treated at the office of Dr. C. F. Cahill.

Wouldn't Move Along Pays Fine Of $7.50

William Winslow, 198 Bernardo street, was found guilty on the evidence on a charge of obstructing traffic by standing on the sidewalk outside a Hunter street hotel. The sentence of $7.50 and costs of $2.50 or seven days was given in court this morning by Mtgistrate W. R. Philp, KC, who heard evidence yesterday.

In passing sentence, His Worship stated that it had been admitted by accused that he had refused to "move along" when so ordered by the police constable on the beat.

Communist Move Jeopardizes French Assembly

PARIS, Jan. 14. —(AP).—The whole law-making power of the National Assembly — scene of shouts, songs and fist fights in a stormy session re-organizing meeting—was endangered today by a Communist boycott of Assembly offices.

The Assembly, more powerful of France's two legislative houses, convenes again today in an effort to settle a dispute between Communists and their foes over division of these offices.

The dispute, in yesterday's re-organization session, centered around the Assembly's firse vice-presidency. The first vice-president would become Assembly president in event of incapacity of President Edouard Herriot, Radical Socialist. Herriot, re-elected yesterday, is 76 and ailing.

In caucus, parliamentary leaders of non-Communist parties agreed to give the first vice-presidency to Socialist Max Lejeune and to demote Communist Leader Jacques Duclos, last year's first vice-president, to third vice-president. Duclos, walking out, said that if he could not have the higher post, his party would take no Assembly offices.

Parliamentarians said they doubted if the Assembly would have the right to function in event the Communists stuck by this refusal. The constitution says parties must hold Assembly posts in proportion to their strength.

In the Assembly, hot debate followed the caucus. Communist Marcel Cachin, 78, temporary presiding officer by reason of being the oldest deputy, broke this off by adjourning the session suddenly. Deputies began fighting in the aisles.

PILOT ARRESTED FOR FLYING WHILE DRUNK — Kenneth C. Thomas, the flying truck driver, sits in his jail cell at Waukegan, Ill., rubs a couple of bumps on his head and wonders where he can get $500 bail. Thomas was arrested charged with flying while drunk. During an hour of bedlam Saturday night, Thomas, carrying Herschel Short, 50, as a passenger, hedge-hopped his small plane across town and farmland, leaving terror in his wake. The plane sheared off a tree top and crashed through the roof of a house with the passengers being precipitated into a bedroom, practically unhurt.

992,800 Vets Discharged By January 1

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Canada enters the third calendar year of peace with almost 1,000,000 of her fighting men of the Second World War discharged and many thousands of them established as home-owners, business men, students and workers, or undergoing cauality rehabilitation.

Treasury assistance on a wide scale to discharged members of the services is detailed in a report on Department of Veterans' Affairs activities made public today by the department.

The report shows that at Sept. 30, there had been 992,800 discharges, of which 14,403 came in 1947.

Of this number, 167,767 had benefitted through out-of-work allowances. At last report, only about 1,800 still were drawing this allowance.

A total of 92,438 persons had obtained vocational training allowances.

Veterans qualifying for university training allowances had reached an aggregate of 57,602 between March, 1943, and the end of last October. For the academic year 1947-48, veterans enrolled in universities numbered 32,300.

Results of the last academic year showed that 77 per cent of the veterans passed their grades unconditionally, while another 10 per cent passed conditionally. Failures amounted to 13 per cent.

Up to the end of October, there were 1,085,000 applications for re-establishment credits granted, totalling $169,000,000. This figure included 769,000 purchases of furniture or home equipment; 56,000 purchases of homes and 6,230 purchasese of businesses.

These children are typical of many in the Konitsa region, where savage fighting between General Markos' Guerrillas and government troops has been going on for weeks. The children are orphans and were found wandering in the zone of operations.

Recover Bonds From Three Men

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 14.—A series of raids by police here Tuesday resulted in arrests of James Acrerra, 22; James Kennedy, 19, both of Belleville, and one other man, and recovery of Dominion of Canada bonds valued at several hundred dollars, about $1,000 worth of garage equipment, radios and other merchandise and quantities of stolen clothing.

Acerra and Kennedy were picked up by Inspector Claire Hayes and Det.-Sgt. D. Ellis, who found them carrying interest coupons from Dominion of Canada bonds. A search of Acrerra's home turned up clothing taken from stores and a cleaning establishment, as well as bonds taken from Belleville homes.

Later police under Inspector Hayes and Provincial Police Insp. W. A. Page found auto accessories, tools, radios and other articles taken from Vivians garage at Shannonville in an east side house. The trio was charged with shop-breaking, house-breaking and receiving stolen goods.

Oshawa Labor Council Has Woman President

OSHAWA, Jan. 14.—Trades and Labor Council members here Tuesday night endorsed a resolution calling on the federal government to hold a by-election in Ontario riding "to provide residents of the area with parliamentary representation." A similar resolution was passed recently by Local 1817, UAW.

The Council elected Mrs. Mable Mayne of Oshawa, president, at Tuesday night's meeting. Mrs. Mayne, who defeated William Rutherford by a narrow margin, is believed to be the only woman president of a Trades and Labor Council in Canada. She is a former Canadian director of women's auxiliaries. James Cullen was elected vice-president, and M. J. Fenwick secretary-treasurer.

Magistrate Uses Correspondence From 1878 To Prove His Point

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Jan. 14. — (CP).— Armed with a stack of correspondence dating back to 1878, P. F. W. Brewster, retired magistrate, last night told the background of a writ issued in his name in Halifax yesterday attempting to compel Acadia University at Wolfville, N.S., to honor a free tuition certificate issued 70 years ago.

Behind it all was a donation of £100 made to the university—then named Acadia College — in 1833 by Mr. Brewster's maternal grandfather, Isaac Turner, and upon which the college issued in 1878 a perpetual certificate of free tuition to the heirs of the donor, Isaac Turner.

Silver-haired Mr. Brewster said he had "very reluctantly" taken the legal action after negotiations over validity of the certificate since 1936 had failed to gain satisfaction.

Under the certificate, the writ claimed, Mr. Turner's heirs are entitled to the "exclusive right to claim forever the free tuition ....aid for damages for the refusal of the defendant corporation to supply free tuition to scholars appointed by the plaintiff as legal owner of the said certificate."

He said correspondence with the university had been carried on since 1936 when he last sent a student under the scholarship. "The scholarship was not honored,' he said, "but they prevailed upon the student to remain and he was not charged."

Bethany W.I. Knits 30 Prs. Socks

BETHANY, Jan. 14 (ENS). — Bethany Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Clara Armstrong and Miss Emma Reynolds on Tuesday, January 6. The president, Miss Hannah Staples, conducted the opening exercises. Five dollars was voted to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. Mrs. R. W. Price reported 30 pair of girls' knitted socks, 13 scarves, and 4 pairs of rompers sent to the Red Cross headquarters last month. A bulletin was read from the Women's Consumeds Association, and it was decided that the Institute pay one membership fee to this organization. The treasurer was instructed to open a bank account of $1 in the name of Mary Rose Galt, infant daughter of Rev. T. and Mrs. Galt. This is the custom of the Bethany WI for all members' new babies.

Mrs. Leslie Challice gave a concise and interesting report of her attendance as delegate to the Women's Institute convention in Toronto last November, which owing to bereavement in the family, she had not been able to present earlier. The motto for the New Year is "We cherish the Past and face the Future." Members were urged to serve on the school boards and to give more thought to child training, which begins in the home.

Mrs. Ross Carr, convener of Historical Research, gave items of interest concerning the Presbyterian Church in Bethany, built in 1872, and closed in 1925, later being remodelled into the present home of Miss Hannah Staples; also reading a letter received from W. J. Bryans, of Havelock, who, although 88 years of age, is still interested in his boyhood home of Bethany, telling many items of interest about earlier days in the community.

The hostess served lunch, assisted by Mrs. William Phillips, Mrs. H. H. Ryley, and Mrs. Taylor.

Dissolving The City Trust

The City Council has not yet decided whether it will ask the Ontario Legislature to give it custody of the property which is now controlled by the City Trust Commission, or whether it will ask that the Commission be dissolved, as well. In the normal course of events, the Commission will complete its work and wind up its affairs in 1951 or 1952, and several of the members of the Council think that it should be allowed to continue until that time: others, of whom the Mayor is one, are anxious to bustle the Commission into oblivion at once.

* * *

The Examiner is in favour of the former, and gentler, course. The City Trust Commission was founded in 1861 at a time when Peterborough was in very low water. The Trust, by careful re-financing and good management, avoided municipal bankruptcy and in the course of time built up the city's fiscal position until now Peterborough's credit is excellent, and our city bonds as good as any in Canada. Peterborough owes a debt to the Trust, and many Peterborough citizens are keenly aware of the fact.

* * *

We are not forgetting that the Chairman of the Trust went directly contrary to the wishes of the Council in his action respecting the leasing of properties on the market block last summer, nor do we excuse his action. Everyone will remember also that the Council tried to oust the Chairman of the Trust on that occasion and found that it lacked the power to do so. Some councillors, we feel, are still smarting from that humiliation. We think that they would be ill-advised, however, to forget the long and honourable history of the Trust in their anxiety to take revenge upon one man, for if they have to quash the whole Trust in order to dislodge Mr. Eastwood they will have gained a hollow victory. The Trust was once deeply solicitous for the city; it will do the city no harm to respect the Trust, and to let it die a natural death.

Zionists And Arabs

The Jewish army (The Hagana) and the Palestinian guerilla forces of the Arabs are in conflict, are recruiting, and are competing in the world's markets for arms and ammunition. The American Jewish agency has been attempting to export from the United States explosives it secured from the War Assets Administration. Iraq and Iran requested arms from Norwegian firms, but the Norwegian government has put a ban on the export of arms to Arabic countries, including Palestine.

Their careful policy of non-intervention is different from Canada's. We are supplying large quantities of arms to the Chinese government of Chiang Kai-shek, a fact which was not generally known until a few weeks ago. Are Canadian munitions going to Palestine and Syria?

Violence will increase in the Middle East, especially after the British surrender their mandate over Palestine, which may be as early as May 15th. The U.N. Commission charged with executing the partition has no troops at its disposal. Jewry would have it depend on Zionist forces for the maintenance of order. If it does, Arab revolts of other decades will be dwarfed by a 1948 outbreak of passion and violence.

Arabs and Jews are not the only ancient peoples who are warring. There is in China a disastrous civil war of portentous magnitude. Perhaps there are so many Chinamen that it doesn't matter much to us. Perhaps Chinese culture is insignificant and not worth preserving. Last week several hundred Jews and Arabs were killed and wounded in raids and clashes and the world was shocked. Last week 11,000 Chinese people were killed or wounded in their civil war and the event passed almost unnoticed by Canadians.

Industrial Production And Wages In Peterborough

A Federal report on manufacturing industries of Ontario for the year 1945 has lately been released. Of particular interest are the statistics for Peterborough in relation to the figures for other cities.

According to the gross value of manufactured products, Peterborough is eleventh in Ontario, or if Toronto is considered as "Greater Toronto"—which Torontonians like—it is ninth on the list. Here are the first thirteen:

Toronto	$961,736,716
Hamilton	351,676,308
Windsor	280,743,622
Port Colborne	103,794,157
Kitchener	97,598,675
Leaside	89,888,595
St. Thomas	88,985,552
London	82,455,267
Oshawa	80,262,272
New Toronto	79,982,588
Peterborough	67,960,755
Welland	64,345,427
St. Catharines	61,830,037

The total wages paid in the various cities vary in accordance with the value of the products and the type of manufacture; for instance St. Catharines, with much light industry, had more wage-earners and paid out more in wages than Peterborough, which produced more goods (according to value). St. Catharines had, in 1945, 5,636 male employees and 2,081 female employees. They earned $12,836,283. Peterborough had 5,118 males and 1,871 females employed, earning a total of $10,979,465. Kingston, with industrial production valued at $34,209,137, had 3,823 male employees and only 875 female employees. These figures are for wage-earners only; salaried employees are listed separately on the report.

We have computed the average wage in several cities comparable in size to Peterborough:

St. Catharines	$1,663
Kingston	1,639
Peterborough	1,570
Brantford	1,537
Cornwall	1,413
Kitchener	1,391

The average wage paid in Toronto factories in 1945 was $1,478. One-third of the employees were women; in Peterborough the proportion of women was slightly smaller. It may be a surprise to Peterborough workers to know that even from the point of view of wages, manufacturing employees were better off in Peterborough than in Toronto.

The average wage rate in Peterborough is now higher than in 1945. One can only guess how much higher. In Peterborough's largest industry the minimum wage paid to men (after three months' service) for a 45-hour week is $1,918.80. For boys and women the minimum is $1,661.40. As shown above, the average wage in Peterborough factories in 1945 was $1,570. The cost-of-living index has risen since 1945 by 25 points, an increase of 21 per cent. That increase is undoubtedly higher than the percentage increase in wages, but wages are spent on more than basic living requirements (on the cost of which the index is based), and the most recent jumps in the index are exceedingly abnormal. The cost of amusements, travel, insurance and liquor, for instance, have not risen correspondingly during the last two years.

De Gaulle And The Unions

General Charles de Gaulle was to disband the French trade unions and to substitute for them an association of labour and management "incorporated into the state". This adds to the feeling which we have had for some time that De Gaulle wants an authoritarian government of a type not easily distinguishable from the authoritarian governments of Spain and Portugal. His political pose has always been that of a "strong man", and sometimes it is hard to distinguish these strong men from tyrants. At least they have this in common with tyrants: they object to organizations which may wield any considerable measure of political power.

It is curious how little some people appear to learn from history. General de Gaulle has had greater opportunities than most people to see what happens to a people when it exalts the state above everything else, and when it asks people to surrender hard-won liberties for the good of the state. Surely he knows that when management and the unions both surrender their rights to the state they put themselves at the disposal of the politicians — the most capricious and merciless of masters. Labour loses its rights and management loses its control and its profits.

Unions are sometimes nuisances, and the small number of unreasonable unions reflect discredit on the whole union movement. Nevertheless, unions first came into being to curb the rapacity and tyranny of employers; the working men of France will be fools indeed if they surrender what they have won to the state, which can be the hardest and most rapacious of employers.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

Four Companions For The Pocket

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

LET me write today about four volumes in the Viking Portable Library (Macmillan) which have been staring reproachfully at me from my review shelf for two or three months. They should have been dealt with long ago, no doubt, but I refuse to notice these excellent volumes briefly at the end of a review which is already too full. I like to read the Portables, and I like to write about them; they are, as a usual thing, excellent selections, well printed and presented in a compact and pleasing form. Occasionally the editors of single volumes write wrong-headed or fulsome prefaces, but it is an easy matter to skip a preface if it becomes tiresome. But as a general rule I like to read the prefaces of the Portables, and I suggest that my readers consider what is said in the preface before plunging into the book.

THE first of the four Portables which I have at hand is "Johnson & Boswell". It is a good thing to have this famous pair in a single small book, for there are surprising numbers of people who think that Johnson would now be unknown if Boswell had not made him the subject of the most famous of all biographies. This is a foolish judgement. It is true that much of Johnson's genius was squandered in talk, but it is not correct to think that talk is unimportant, and writing superior to it. Good talk is as fleeting and as miraculous in its immediate effect as good food, or good wine; but as good food and wine sustain and (in an important sense) make good men, so also good talk leaves its deposit on the mind of the hearer, and nourishes and fortifies his intellect. But in this book we have enough of Johnson's writing to make it clear to the average reader what it was that made the Doctor great in his own time and important in ours. He himself wrote excellent Lives, and his short lives of Savage and Pope are here, as well as some of his prefaces, notes, letters and poems. Of Boswell the book contains generous gobbets from the Life of Johnson, the Journal of A Tour To The Hebrides and Boswell's dialogue with Rousseau. The latter inclusion is a happy one, for it gives us a peep at Boswell as he was when he was apart from his hero and master. This is one of the best and most companionable of the Portables.

NEXT to hand comes a volume of Conrad, an author who is somewhat neglected at present, though there are signs that he may shortly become the subject of a literary fad. "The Nigger of the Narcissus" and "Typhoon" are given at full length, and also "Youth", "Heart of Darkness" and "The Secret Sharer"; as well there are some short stories and some selections from Conrad's letters. A great deal—perhaps too much—has been said about Conrad as a literary artist; his struggles with the English language (he was a Pole by birth) his pangs of composition and his misery when his work was not appreciated have all been stressed because people like to read such things about authors, and tend to despise a man who writes easily. But I think that this emphasis on Conrad's personal and artistic struggles have harmed his reputation as a masterly teller of tales, and I would recommend to readers of this Portable that they read Mr. Zabel's introduction only after they have read what Conrad has to say for himself.

TWO books of Russian writing have been added to the Portable list. The first is a volume of Chekhov, who is chiefly known on our side of the world as the author of some plays which people who have not seen or read them believe to be morbid. In point of fact, Chekhov was a happy genius, and much of his finest work—including his plays—is cast in a vein of comedy. It is not obvious comedy, but there are few scenes in drama which combine humour and pathos so startlingly as that in which Uncle Vanya shoots at the man who has ruined his life — and misses him. Chekhov's work is full of wonderful comic figures; approach it without believing the nonsense that he is "morbid" and they will enchant you. For some curious reason we insist in the Western world that Dickens is jolly and healthy, and that the great Russian novelists are morbid and unwholesome; how long will it be before we see the nasty, brooding unwholesomeness which lies in so much of Dickens, and the humour which Dostoievsky and Chekhov have to offer us?

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Russian Reader gives us a chance to taste something of the flavour of the Russian mind. Its 650 pages are, as it were, hors d'oeuvres for the Russian feast. It is a pity, perhaps, that some of the translations in this book (done by the Editor, Bernard Guerney) read so lumpily. Mr. Guerney has aimed at an Elizabethan gusto, and has produced, here and there, what the Elizabethans would have called "crudities of the stomach". But he succeeds, nevertheless, in giving a sense of the zest of Russian speech to his prose, and for that we are thankful.

Little Theatres In Scotland

Scotland has produced many famous actors and actresses, and judging by the number of entries for the annual festival of the Scottish Drama Association, the Scots are tremendously interested in the theatre, even in the small and remote communities.

The population of Scotland is much less than half that of Canada, yet the number of teams entered for the festival is 408; an astounding number when one considers that many thousands of square miles are nothing but forests and deer-hunting grounds. Most remarkable of all is the fact that the island of Arran, which has a population of less than 4,000, has 20 entries. Pro rata, a city the size of St. Thomas would have about 90 teams in the Dominion drama festival. There are also 178 from the sparsely-populated area from Argyllshire down the coast to Galloway.

The finalists will compete in Glasgow. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

WHY NOT USE THE BIG STICK?

Making The Press More Effective

(By G. V. FERGUSON IN THE MONTREAL STAR)

MASS communications is the unwieldly term invented to cover all the big media —press, radio and film—which bring news, information and opinion to modern peoples. These peoples are unlike the peoples of yesterday and the day before. They are not simple, uneducated, illiterate folk living on farms and needing to know little about the policies and customs and ambitions of the other peoples in the world. There are now many more of them than there used to be, they have many more technical skills and their livelihoods all depend, in greater or less degree, upon the co-operation of their neighbours.

There is no isolation any more either between peoples or inside separate states; and the need of detailed, accurate information has become not a convenience or a luxury but a necessity. The social consciousness we hear of so much has sprung up because it had to, and it has taken to examining in detail the way in which the media of mass communication fulfil their tasks in modern society. The study is an interesting one, not least because press, radio and film were not brought consciously into the world to fulfil any definite, precise social objective. They were utilized, from the beginning, to serve other ends, the most important of which was to make a living for those who owned them.

This remains true on this continent to this day, though in other lands their importance has been seized upon by governments which have taken control of them in the belief that their public tasks will be carried out better if press, radio and film alike do the bidding of those in political power. This is denied by western democracies who historically believe that government is best carried on when the media of mass comunication are maintained in private hands, thus creating—so the theory of our freedom runs—a counterpoise to political power, an instrument which provides for free discussion and controversy.

IT would hardly be reasonable to suppose that organs of opinion thus organized, and dependent for continued existence on whatever profit they can make, would concern themselves unduly with social consciousness and social objectives. The wonder is they are concerned with such things to the very great extent they are. In any event they have been brought under a degree of public and private examination never before exercised in our kind of society. One form this has taken has been the studies made by the University of Chicago Commission on the Freedom of the Press. These having been completed, a series of books embodying the Commission's findings is being published. The last, the most ambitious and the most useful is that entitled Government and Mass Communications, by Prof. Zechariah Chafee Jr. of Harvard, in two volumes.

This distinguished scholar has spent most of his life studying the problem of freedom in a democracy, and his latest book is a sweeping and discursive examination of the relations of government to press, radio and film, the restrictions imposed, the limits with which freedom operates, and the positive steps which governments can, or are likely to make, to help or to hinder the flow of information between the citizens of a democracy and between state and state. It is basically an American study, and the United States constitution provides legally formalized guarantees of freedom lacking, for instance, in our own. But the breadth of approach is such that no thinking person in Canada, above all no person engaged in the work of press, radio or film, can ignore it. The work of the American courts is examined in such detail but with a background of social explanation that there is hardly a page of the two volumes that does not apply to our own situation.

THERE is a deal of breast-beating here and elsewhere about this aspect of the problem of freedom. There are those who believe that the advent of any element of control, from whatever source, will poison the well of truth and the life-spring of liberty. Mr. Chafee's friendly analysis of existing facts will give these poor comfort. The state has always imposed restrictions upon what is loosely called the freedom of the press. The law of libel and the postage rates are examples. Today, if it becomes manifest that the press—again a term including a radio and films as well as press—is not fulfilling completely its obligations to the society of the 20th century, then it becomes the obligation of the state, or of the directors of the media of mass communication, to make them do better. If the latter do not do so, the former most certainly will. Mr. Chafee's view is that it is desirable from every point of view the directors should effect the reforms. A reviewer may be permitted to add that, if they do not, somebody else most assuredly will whether it is fully desirable or not, for this is the history of the modern state.

The press as we know it, is not perfect. Every proprietor and every craftsman knows it. What they know, and what the layman does not fully understand, is the difficulty of making it better. But there is an obligation inside the craft, the profession, the trade, call it what you will, to keep these clearly defined ideals of community service foremost in mind, and to do quickly everything practical to correct whatever abuses and defects exist in the ultimate product.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the third day there was a marriage in Cana of Galilee; and the mother of Jesus was there: and both Jesus was called, and his disciples, to the marriage. And when they wanted wine, the mother of Jesus saith unto him, They have no wine.

Jesus saith unto her, Woman, what have I to do with thee? mine hour is not yet come. His mother saith unto the servants, Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it. And there were set there six waterpots of stone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, containing two or three firkins apiece.

Jesus saith unto them, Fill the waterpots with water. And they filled them up to the brim. And he saith unto them, Draw out now, and bear unto the governor of the feast. And they bare it.

When the ruler of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, and knew not whence it was: (but the servants which drew the water knew;) the governor of the feast called the bridegroom, and saith unto him, Every man at the beginning doth set forth good wine; and when men have well drunk, then that which is worse: but thou has kept the good wine until now. (John 2: 1-10.)

◇ ◇ ◇

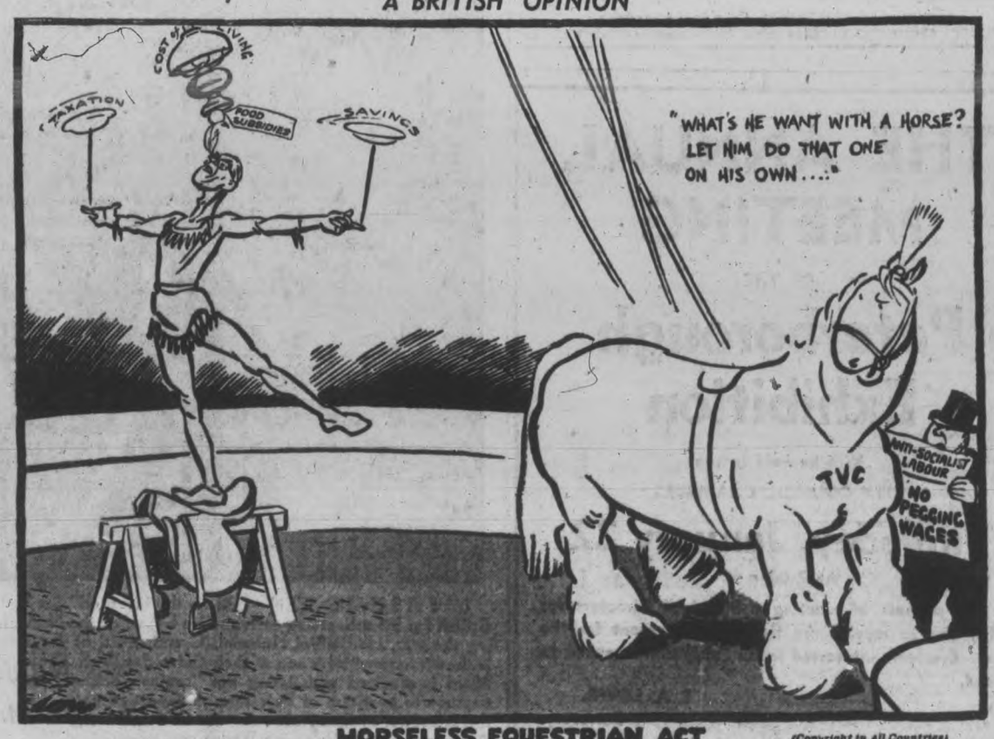
The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot....

Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore. (Ps. 16: 5, 11.)

Letter To The Editor

THE GOOD FORTUNE OF PENSIONERS

Sir: I am an old man now. I would just like to say that that letter about pensions pretty near hit the nail on the head.



A pension of 1,200 dollars per year would place the recipient in the position of a landlord receiving $25.00 per month from four pieces of rented property.

But, the receiver of said pension has it over a landlord like a tent. No taxes to pay, no insurance, and no worries or expense for upkeep and repair.

I know it is a lot more than I am getting after 60 years of hard work. Truly,

OLD TIMER.

Life And Education Of A Prince....

By H.R.H. DUKE OF WINDSOR

"Most of my boyhood was spent at York Cottage near Sandringham."

Synopsis of preceding instalments: The Duke of Windsor continues his reminiscences of his youth in the following article. In the preceding instalments, he described his father and mother and his associations with them during early childhood. He also introduced three childhood companions who were employed in the Royal Household. Two were Scottish veterans of the Boer War, Henry Forsyth and Findlay Cameron. The other was Frederick Finch, who served the young Duke as a male "nanny," then valet, and finally as butler.

"I crammed night and day for my naval exams in our schoolroom at York Cottage. The seriousness with which I regarded it may be judged by the exclamation marks."

CHAPTER THREE

In 1901 my father returned from an eight-month tour of the British Empire. Coming upon us afresh, after that long absence, he was appalled to discover how little Bertie and I knew. I was then seven and a half — an age which customarily finds the sons of upper-class English families deposited in a fashionable preparatory school, to be ruled by the classics and the master's rod. By tradition, however, the education of British Princes had remained the province of the private tutor; and my father's immediate response to the nursery crisis was to import without delay a tutor of impeccable connections.

Thus, one day, there appeared in our midst a very tall, gaunt, solemn gentleman, Henry Peter Hansell. A graduate of Magdalen College, Oxford, Hansell was a typical English schoolmaster of a period which remanded of its fashionable pedagogues not only a broad command of the classics and Protestant doctrine, but proficiency in several forms of athletics as well.

He had played football at Oxford, was a six-handicap golfer, and a crack rifle shot. He thus combined a mild and graceful scholarship with a muscular Christianity, accented by tweeds and an ever-present pipe. Needles to say, he was a bachelor.

Save for the sporadic interventions of my parents, these two men, Hansell and Finch, brought me and my three brothers up, until one by one we went off to school. They made a good team, and of the two, I sometimes think that the servant had a stronger influence, possessing a livelier comprehension of a small boy's secret interests and of his inhibitions as well as his ambitions.

Royal School Room.

There was a "schoolroom" in each of the four houses we occupied at different seasons of the year. At York Cottage it was a small room on the second floor overlooking the pond; at Marlborough House, a larger one on the first floor facing the backs of the tall buildings that form the courtyard.

Mary had her own governess, Mademoiselle Jose Dussaw, and, except when Hansell was on holiday and we joined her class, she did her lessons alone. Mary loved her governess, who was a great favorite with my parents. To us boys, however, "Mademoiselle" was a pain in the neck, a tattle-tale who spoiled Mary and kept us in a constant state of apprehension lest she gave us away to our parents.

Punctually at nine o'clock, Bertie and I would be at our desks and Hansell would enter the schoolroom with a schoolmaster's formality. A stranger observing his detached and impersonal air would scarcely have suspected that he had just finished having breakfast with us. We would study for two hours, then be let out for half an hour of play, with another hour of work before lunch. As a rule Hansell would lunch with us, as would Mary and her "Mademoiselle." On prescribed days only French would be spoken at meals. This was tough on Bertie and me, since Mary, speaking the language all day with her French governess, was far more practised in it than we.

The afternoons were taken up with outdoor games, an hour or two of further study, and of course, tea.

Saturday was our free day. Sunday morning always meant church, and we never missed that.

That was the daily round of my childhood. In London, Hansell would vary the schedule with excursions to churches, historical buildings, museums, or galleries in order to give us a sense of the people and times which were the subjects of our lessons.

It gradually dawned upon us that Hansell had a secret passion. I would not call him a pious man, yet he loved churches, not so much as a worshipper, but rather as a connoisseur of religious structures. He loved to wander around a church contemplating the architectural details and savoring the tranquility. But far from being alone in this unique speciality, he was, we found, a member of a kind of club of cathedral lovers.

Rather Morbid Holiday

We children considered this a strange and morbid hobby; yet we were obliged to participate in it, since Hansell whenever he took us on a day's outing, would sooner or later head with a collector's zeal for some church he was anxious to examine. Many an hour that we would have preferred to spend in the warm sunshine was given to wandering around in Hansell's wake in the cold, dank, eerie atmosphere of vast naves and cave-like crypts.

Because mathematics was not Hansell's forte, and since it was also a subject to which I proved allergic, both he and I presently came under my father's censure. Thinking that Hansell's approach was too theoretical, my father tried to fire our interest with practical problems of his own devising, such as striking the average weight of his "kill" during the deer-stalking season.

Made impatient by our inability to cope even with these problems, he engaged a special tutor to teach us nothing but mathematics.

Mr. David, a Welshman with knock knees and a taste for Craven A tobacco, struggled with us in arithmetic, algebra, and trigonometry, during his holidays from Tonbridge School. His gallant efforts were not entirely unrewarded. At Frogmore the formidable Canon Dalton of St. George's Chapel, who had been my father's tutor in the Navy, would stride down the hill to lecture us on the Scriptures in a voice that boomed like Big Ben.

Kingdon's Late Goal For Petes Give Them 5-4 Nod Over Vets

Bun Kingdon's goal with less than three minutes to go in the game gave the Petes a 5-4 nod over Belleville Vets in their OHA senior "B" fixture at Omemee last night before a fair-sized crowd. It kept intact their "home" victory streak which started over a year ago, but it was a close squeak. Play was real fast, quite clean and on a pretty even terms throughout, with neither side showing any edge for more than a few minutes at a time. The visitors had tough luck late in the first frame when Goalie Herb Hayes suffered a bad cut on the cheek and a broken nose when hit by a backhander puck off Joe Blewett's stick. The remaining 1.20 minutes was tacked onto the second period and Defenceman Murphy then donned the pads, playing a fine game in goal—as had Hayes—the rest of the route.

WENT BEST—Les Burton went best on defence for the Petes last night as they just eked out a 5-4 decision over Belleville Vets in a nifty OHA senior "B" number in Omemee.

Led Attack

The Kingdon-Tompkins-Mortimer line led the attack for the Petes, scoring four of their five counters. Kingdon was in on three, with Tompkins and Fred Mortimer in on a brace apiece. Les Burton stood out on the home defence, and Goalie Ray Harding kicked out a flock in the hot scramble. Leo Goyer was in on all four Quinte counters, with Williams figuring in on three, and Vern Goyer and Day two apiece. The Vets all looked good, showing plenty of foot, fight and checking, while the Petes didn't play their best hockey all the way.

It opened fast and the pace was maintained throughout the initial inning with each side in turn making the goalie hop. Fred Mortimer and Leo Goyer were both thefted and Belleville claimed one but it went in through a hole in the net. Day and Parsons in turn threatened and then Leo Goyer rapped one home with a backhander in close from Day and Williams, after Harding stopped one drive. Kingdon and Tompkins almost tallied and then the period was cut off when Hayes was injured trying to stop Blewett's hot shot.

Got Another

It was hot and even for a space in the second until the Vets raced in to make it 2-0 when Williams bulleted one home, aided by L. Goyer and Day in close. The Petes fought back hard and Jack Mortimer notched their first one from Horton with a fine bit of work at close range. Parsons was gated for slashing but got back in time to see Kingdon tie it up from F. Mortimer at point-blank range. Tompkins put them ahead when he deflected Burton's blast, after a passout from Kingdon, into the hemp. Stewart went away for tripping but no damage was done in his absence.

Tompkins tallied early in the third in close, aided by Jopling and F. Parsons. He got another but it was offside. Williams was robbed as play swept up and down fast with smart hockey seen. Stewart was chased for boarding but returned and the Vets roared in to count two in short order. Vern Goyer backhanded home Leo Goyer's pass from five feet out and then Leo Goyer dented the twine on Harding's doorstep after short passes from Williams and Vern Goyer. Jerry Creighton came close as the Petes poured back and both sides kept the pace up. Less than three minutes remained when Kingdon took Freddy Mortimer's forward pass inside defence and picked a corner with the winning marker. The Vets fought back but time ran out on them.

The teams:

Belleville—Goal Hayes; defence, Murphy and Williamson; centre, L. Goyer; wings, Williams and Day; alternates, Stewart, York, V. Goyer, MacDonald, Barrett, Wardaugh and Semark.

Petes—Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling and R. Creighton; centre, Garvey; wings, J. Creighton and Blewett; alternates, Kingdon, Tompkins, F. Mortimer, J. Mortimer, F. Parsons, Horton and Burton.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Lacrossers aren't waiting for the grass to grow but are re-organizing for a big 1948 season. Full list of officers has now been named thusly: President, Doug Miller; vice-president, Bob Pierson; secretary, Mick Magee; treasurer, Lew Horning; committee, Ken Kingston, Harry Yudin, Harry Tudhope, Vert Reynolds, Walt Murphy and Lou Vitarelli. Coach again is Red Creighton with Clyde Cameron named manager. Two players' representatives are Lou Vitarelli and Mick Magee. The Peterborough Lacrosse Club will be run by these officials and not by the players, though two sit on the executive. A new dressing room, new screen, clock, scoreboard and other improvements will be made to Miller Bowl in the spring.

Looking ahead to their game, the gutted-stick guys have hefty plans for promoting minor lacrosse here this coming summer. Ken Kingston is chairman and Walt Murphy and Vert Reynolds members of a club committee to set up the minor organization of 12 teams, four each in bantam, midget and juvenile competition with an OLA affiliation for the winners. The minor setup will be really emphasized with a bingo next month to start 'em off financially and a percentage of all senior "B" games set aside to keep them operating properly. They'll have their own executive working in conjunction with the Petes' club. Sounds okay to us, and more on 'em again.

Those Men Of Muscle

And the Peterborough weight-lighters have formed a club at the YMCA for 1948. Joe McGuire is president, Ab Blondin vice-prexy and Harry Botnick secretary-treasurer. An extensive program for weight-lifting and body building is planned shortly, including contests with silver cups awarded those making most progress. Training schedule will be drawn up before the next meeting, and those interested can get in touch with the above-mentioned huskies, or Stan McBride, Al Clark and others who like this healthful form of recreation. The body beautiful for men.

Vern Dawson yesterday sent us from Vancouver a sports page from the Vancouver Sun. Among puck pictures on it were two of Percy Nicholls who had just arrived to play for the Canucks there. He sat in a crowd of 5,500 and saw Canucks beat Tacoma 8-5. An item under one of Percy's pictures said: "Peterborough husky Percy Nicholls is one of three newcomers who will be playing hockey for Canucks by next Tuesday. Percy is a defenceman, 190 pounds of him, with plenty of experience. He arrived in town yesterday but was too travel weary to play last night. Nicholls played for Peterborough in an OHA senior loop last year." Well, no, Percy was with Lindsay in our group last year and with the local Legionnaires to start this season.

* * * * * *

Rather Tight Fit, Eh?

That undefeated at "home" record of the Petes in Omemee—started last season at the beginning—still stands, but the Vets of Bella Villa made it too close for comfort last e'en ere they took the short side of a 5-4 count. A swell OHA senior "B" scrap with the well-matched squads dishing up smart, fast and clean hockey throughout. Lot of nice plays built up and a lot of 'em ruined by better checking or nifty net-minding. All of which kept a fair-sized crowd happy. It was colder than a well-digger's feet out there and there was plenty of stamping around, but the game was well worth witnessing.

* * * * * *

Tough luck on the Vets' goalie getting his nose broken stopping a hot hunk of rubber. He was going good, too, though Defenceman Murphy, who replaced him, turned in a whale of an effort and didn't fan on one. Bun Kingdon, Honey Tompkins and Freddy Mortimer led the Petes' attack—coralling four of their five goals — and Les Burton was the best defenceman out there. Others showed their stuff in spots but the team has clicked better. The Goyer brothers and Day and Williams shone for the husky and speedy Vets who looked plenty potent last gloaming and may yet be the team to beat in this good grouping. 'Twas a tidy tilt but, golly, it was cold. Haven't felt so chilled since the missus said: "You get a night a week off, or else—!"

Some Changes Made

Revised schedule for the PMHA bantam section is in tonight. They were forced to change it again as a double schedule wouldn't permit the winning team to be ready in time for OMHA playdowns. A lot of grief is being run into all over town with these minor circuits owing to lack of ice for so many squads — and that will continue, of course, until there is a covered rink in town. And the Thursday tilts are as scheduled: Kinsmen Juves vs. Lakefield, and Rotarians vs. Northenders. Two frays listed for Friday in these sections, also.

* * * * * *

DESE, DEM AND DOSE: No girls' cage contest tonight but Port Hope men play Marines' "B" team a Lakeshore Loop fixture at 8.30 in the "Y" this e'en . . . Big three-card pro mat bout at the Brock tonight, headlined by the Mask and Claybourne . . . "World Sports", an English publication, has Barbara Ann Scott's picture on the cover this month . . . Ted Reeve has been named coach of Beaches in the senior ORFU . . . Dr. C. McKee's rink lost 15-12 to Mount Forest yesterday in a Midland 'spiel . . . Towne Togs rolled a nifty high of 3427 in the Girls' Bowling League . . . Sunderland Memorial Centre was officially opened last evening . . . Morrow Club peewee puck info in tonight . . . Petes and Legion are now tied atop their OHA senior "B" grouping . . . Legionnaires push off tonight for Kingston and they go to Belleville Friday; Kingston plays the Petes in Omemee on Friday . . . Five TVL tussles again on Friday eve . . . And the blinds are drawn.

Morrow Club Tilts

Two good games were run off last night in the Morrow Park Club peewee section. Leafs beat Rangers 4-1 with Bolton scoring three goals and Bryan in on three. Crowe counted from Jones for Rangers, and Minicola shone in goal the two periods he played there for the losers. Canadiens and Wings tied 3-3 in a nice scrap with Goalies Livings and Douglas outstanding. Coit got all three for Wings with Blodget tallying two and aiding on another for the Canadiens.

Three practises are lined up for tonight, Rotary Midgets at seven, Marines Juveniles at eight, and the Bantams in a half-hour drill starting at nine. On Saturday at one p.m., Trojans play Morrow Park in a tadpole tilt at Confederation rink.

WINS TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT

Fitzie Pruden of St. Catharines, won a technical knockout victory over Glen Fassey of Buffalo in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Buffalo last night.

CANUCK SKIER BREAKS HIS LEG—Pierre Jalbert, 23, one of Canada's main hopes in Olympic skiing, broke his leg while practising for the downhill race. The accident happened in a deep, wide gully at St. Moritz, Switzerland. He was travelling too fast to ride down into it, too slow to jump over it. It is the first serious casualty the Canadian team suffered, although three other members are nursing lesser injuries. Jalbert is a pupil of Emile Allais, former world champion.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY IS TRIPLE THREAT — A brother and two sisters will give their all for La Belle France in the winter Olympic games at St. Moritz, Switzerland. They are Henri, Susanne and Georgette Thioliere, all members of the French Olympic ski team. Henri is the French ski jump champion. Georgette has won all competitive contests she entered from 1942 to 1947, including the Harriman cup slalom and combined events at Sun Valley, Idaho, last March. Susanne won the title in the same events at the international week races.

Round-Robin Approaches In Car 'Spiel

NIPAWIN, Sask., Jan. 14 (CP) —The 12 rinks to compete in the $23,000 Nipawin bonspiel's round-robin playoff for the major prize of four new automobiles had been determined and two groups winners declared before curlers took time out early to-day for a few hours' sleep.

Shortly after midnight Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg, 1947 Dominion champion, won the No. 2 group championship with a 7-6 decision over Rene Lavoy of Choiceland, Sask. Earlier in the 'spiel Howard Wood of Winnipeg —whose rink is the only undefeated foursome among 121 entries in the world's richest bonspiel—took the No. 1 event crown.

Grant Watson of Winnipeg entered the fours of the No. 3 event on the 11 p.m. draw to become the final rink to qualify for the round-robin competition. He won his quarter-final match 11-9 at the expense of O. Hanson of Rouleau, Sask.

The three other rinks in the fours of the No. 3 event are those of L. H. Campbell of Avonlea, W. Dunbar of Kinley, and Norman Taylor of Lang, all Saskatchewan foursomes.

These four, together with Wood, Welsh, and Crawford Hicks of Winnipeg; Lavoy; Lawrence Borreson of Antler, Sask., Dr. H. E. McKeller of Carlyle, Bill Rose of Sedgewick, Alta., and Bert Robertson of Edmonton start play to-day in the automobile series.

Surprise of the 11 p.m. draw in the consolation event last night was the defeat of Leo Johnson of Winnipeg, former Dominion curling champion, who lost to Art Johnsson of Love, Sask., 10-8.

Requires 16 Stitches To Close Face Cut

NORWOOD, Jan. 14.—(ENS).—Harold Stinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Simpson, was cut on the face with a puck on the rebound, Monday noon, during Norwood high school's hockey practice. He was taken to the home of Dr. A. R. Atkinson. Sixteen stitches were required to close the wound. Harold played for Norwood in their game with Havelock Tuesday night in Norwood arena.

CURLING NEWS

By HERB MARTIN

The second day of the men's big bonspiel has come and gone and taking it by and large we believe that the curling is improving as the bonspiel progresses. That game in the afternoon between E. Hand of Fenelon Falls and R. Hawkins, High Park, Toronto, was a dandy. Mr. Hand played nothing but draw shots and they paid off in big dividends. Another Fenelon Falls rink skipped by Jim Curtis came through with a nice win over B. Dench by scoring a big 5 on the 9th end

And strange as it may seem the two Fenelon Falls rinks came together in the primary final with the Hand rink coming through by the same "draw" route.

In the consolation event, M. Hart of Oshawa, defeated Bill Fotts of Cobourg.

The play continues today with a new group of curlers.

Those who will come back on Friday for the finals are:

Primary event—E. Hand, Fenelon Falls.

Consolation event — M. Hart, Oshawa.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Commissioner K. M. Landis eight years ago today declared five major leaguers and 88 minor baseball players free agents as a result of investigations of the farm operations of Detroit Tigers of the American League. Detroit lost an estimated $500,000 in player material by this decision.

Things Looking Up

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP).—Good news for the harassed American, alarmed by the soaring price of bread, meat and beer, comes from the 34th national boat show at Grand Central Palace. Now he can buy a brand new 42-foot three-cabin cruiser for only $15,985. Last year it cost $17,850.

Dutchmen Whip Patricias In 9-2 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

The self-supporting Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen moved into a fourth-place tie with Tommy Burlington's Owen Sound Mercurys by walloping the sixth-place Hamilton Patricias 9-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A tilt at Waterloo last night.

In the Junior loop Stafford Smythe's sixth-place Toronto Marlboros protected their last play-off position and dimmed the hopes of Bill Sherry's Guelph Biltmores when they defeated the eighth-place Guelph squad 6-4 at Galt.

A six-goal splurge in second period gave Dutchmen all the margin they needed after they hung up a 1-0 lead in a dull first frame. They added two more in the final session when the Pats broke through for their two tallies at Waterloo. It was the Dutchmen's 13th win in 25 tries.

Sparky Weiler led the Dutchmen with three goals while remaining counters went to Johnny Blute, Bobby Dixon, Ray Bauer, Holly Hollinger, Dutch Hiller, and Art Hurst. Hamilton marksmen were playing coach Doug Runions and Nick Phillips.

Serious Threat.

At Galt, the Biltmores with four victories in their last six starts were serious threats to the Marlboros' hold on the final play-off spot—before the game. It was Toronto's ninth win in 20 tries.

Marlboros led 3-1 in the first frame, Guelph outscored the Dukes three to one to tie the tilt at the end of the second, but were unable to rally in the final stanza.

Jimmy Pernfuss and Frank Kent with two goals each led Toronto. Howie Lee and Hugh Bolton tallied other Marly counters. Guelph goal-getters were Tatter McClellan, Gordie Miller, Ron Plumb and Yacker Flynn.

Bobcaygeon Juves Beat Omemee 11-3

OMEMEE, Jan. 14— (ENS). — On the Omemee Arena Monday night Omemee Juveniles took a walloping from their heavier opponents, Bobcaygeon, 11-3. In spite of the score and the intensity of the play around the Omemee net, Don Osborne put up a tenacious fight, stopping a lot of rubber. Orland Crawford slipped in two goals into the Bobcaygeon net and his kid brother one.

The star player of the evening was Bobcaygeon's right wing R. Phillips, who bagged six goals.

The line-up:

Bobcaygeon — Goal, R. Poole; defence, J. Westlake, D. Parker; centre, B. Phillips; wings, R. Phillips and J. Nicholls; alternates, G. Downey, R. Kennedy, D. Kimble, J. Fawcett, B. Adams, M. Hamilton.

Omemee— Goal, Don Osborne; defence, G. Brown, P. Brown; centre, D. Fox; wings, D. Crawford, O. Crawford; alternates, B. Evans, J. McQuade, R. Smith, J Brown, J. Maunder.

Referee—Red Wakelin.

Ezinicki All Set For Stitch Insurance

TORONTO, Jan. 14.—(CP).—Bill Ezinicki, robust young right winger of the Toronto Maple Leafs, figures to show a profit on the "stitch" insurance.

Wild Bill, like many other National Hockey League players, paid about $100 for a policy which guarantees $5 for every stitch taken to close an injury received in hockey games. Yesterday William was nicked under the eye, got it stitched and chortled:

"That's No. 19 already this season. Only two more and I show a profit. Wow! It's just like double indemnity."

Wings Battle For NHL Lead In Clash With Boston

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings will be battling for undisputed possession of first place in the National Hockey League when they tackle the Bruins at Boston tonight. The Toronto Maple Leafs, tied with Detroit for first place, don't get another chance until Thursday night.

Tonight's other game has the revitalized Chicago Black Mawks at New York Rangers, and the third-place Rangers confront a cellar-dwelling team hungry for points.

Should the Wings win tonight, the Maple Leafs will try to keep in step with a victory over Montreal Canadiens at Montreal Thursday.

Boston and Montreal are in the saddest plight of any of the N.H.L. teams as they square away for the stretch drive to the play-offs. Against Detroit tonight the Bruins will be minus centre-forward Johnny Quilty, who suffered a compound leg fracture Sunday when Bruins lost 4-1 at Chicago.

The Canadiens, awaiting the Thursday clash against Toronto, will be without their famous punch line of Toe Blake, Elmer Lach, Maurice Richard. That high-scoring and ever-dangerous line was disrupted when veteran Toe Blake suffered a smashed ankle Saturday night in the 1-1 tie with Rangers at Montreal.

Still Confident.

Habitant hockey officials are still confident that the 35-year-old Blake will be back in action and that Canadiens will make the play-offs.

But only four of the six teams get into the Stanley Cup play-off grind and naturally two teams are going to be left out. Big Charlie Conacher, who has done a marvellous job with the Hawks since he replaced Johnny Gottselig at New Year's, won't concede that the Hawks are one of the non-contenders. On last week-end's performances he might be right.

Which leaves it strictly up to Canadiens. At present ther are two points behind the fourth-place Bruins, and nine points ahead of Chicago. Canadiens have got to get ahead of Boston or New York if they are to make the playoffs.

Wasps Triumph In Third Period

By The Canadian Press

Pittsburgh Hornets today are back in a first-place tie with Buffalo Bisons for the leadership of the American Hockey League's western circuit but it took a third period to turn the trick.

Last night in Washington, Lions led 2-0 going into the final stanza only to have the Wasps come roaring back with a three-goal splurge good for 3-2 triumph.

Pete Langelle, Fleming Mackell and Les Costello were the Hornet goal-getters with Costello's effort breaking the tie. Don Slater and Frank Porteus had given Washington a 2-0 lead.

In the only other A.H.L. fixture last night, the cellar-dwelling St. Louis Flyers came to life and tripped New Haven Ramblers 7-4. Flyers were never in trouble in winning their 15th game of the year.

Horse Attends Dinner But Doesn't Like 400

URBANA, O., Jan. 14 — (AP) —April Star, the horse who came to a Chamber of Commerce dinner, said "neigh" last night and dined just one floor lower than the 400 persons who came to do him honor.

The seven-year-old gelding, top money-winning pacer of the country in 1947, declined to climb the stairs leading to the second floor dining room of the Eagles Lodge, despite urging.

But the Star didn't dine alone. Perched in sleepy contentment at his special manger were his constant companions, a male pheasant-bantam and his wife, a full-blooded bantam.

April Star gobbled and snuffed his way through a three-course dinner of alfalfa, oats and carrots, while upstairs the other guests were masticating steak and trimmings.

SCHMELING SIGNS TO FIGHT

Former world's heavyweight champion Max Schmeling said in Hamburg last night he had signed to fight Walter Neusel "within the next five weeks" as a preliminary to a challenge for the German boxing crown.

Urge Retailers Act Cautiously

By The Canadian Press

World demand for western hemisphere production, at prices often far higher than domestic consumers are prepared to pay, will continue at high levels until the backlog of want disappears. This is the concensus of widely accepted sources which add that the controls and restrictions would be more than temporary palliatives and would not solve the basic problems.

The sources urge greater and more efficient production, restraint and discrimination.

There are few attempts to predict the time when supply and demand are better balanced, but keynoting recent sessions of business organizations is the word "caution." Latest of the cautionary notes came from the annual conference in Toronto of the Canadian Retail Federation. Retailers were urged to keep careful watch for danger signals in a possible downward curve of the price line.

W. J. Ridout of New York, executive of the Edison Electric Institute, told the conference of the Canadian Electrical Association that only through productive efficiency can prosperous agriculture be maintained. He urged increased efficiency to offset lower prices.

Fired From UAW Joins New Union

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 14 (CP). —Fred Joyce, fired from his post as international representative of the United Auto Workers (CIO) by order of Walter P. Reuther, international president, is expected to be named within the next few days international representative for another CIO union, the United Gas Coke and Chemical Workers, it was learned yesterday.

The chemical workers intend to launch a drive for more members in Canada, union sources report.

Chief strength of the union in this area now lies within the "chemical valley" of the Sarnia area. The largest plant organized is the Crown-operated Polymer Corporation.

Mrs. MacDonald, wife of the Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, reached New York by steamship and proceeded to Ottawa. While in the Capital she is staying at her home in Rockcliffe. Dies At Clinic

ROCHESTER, Minn., Jan. 14 — (AP). — Mr. Justice William G. Ross, 59, of the Saskatchewan Court of King's Bench, died in the Mayo Clinic yesterday of cancer.

Windsor Attack Said Robbery

WINDSOR, Jan. 14—(AP)—As police and relatives offered different reasons for the attack, Allen Stickley, 38, lay in hospital here today, his condition described as "fair" after being shot through the back Monday night.

City police maintained robbery was the motive. A brother disagreed. He said Stickley was a target for a member of the gambling world out to "get" him.

Alleged bankroll men at one of Windsor's largest gambling dens, Stickley was shot as he got into his car after visiting a "blind pig" with three friends. The gunman was said to be crouching in the rear seat, waiting. He fired a bullet that went into Stickley's back and came out near his throat, narrowly missing the heart.

Police have discounted the contention of Stickley's brother that a Detroit detective might have been the gunman.

Raps "New Look"

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP). — The "new look" in women's clothing criticized last night by Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of evangelism and social service of the United Church of Canada, as he told a church meeting that controls, needed in winning the war, "are essentials also for winning the peace."

Illegitimate Children Should Be Told Status

EDMONTON, Jan. 14 (CP). — Illegitimate children kept by their mothers should be told of their status as soon as they can understand, Dr. Charlotte Whitton, social welfare expert, said yesterday.

Testifying before the Royal Commission appointed by the Alberta government to investigate the provincial welfare set-up, Dr. Whitton said wisdom and understanding dictate that such children should so learn their status to prevent a sudden unkind revelation.

Dr. Whitton conducted a survey on Alberta child welfare for the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, the subsequent report being partially responsible for the commission investigation.

Good case workers also advise couples to tell adopted children of their status, she said, but no pressure is brought on parents to do so.

Housewives Use Buyer Resistance As Weapon Against High Prices

By The Canadian Press

Canadian housewives are continuing to use buyer resistance as a weapon against high meat prices but it has been predicted that beef prices may be the next to rise. In Toronto, N. D. Roose, past president of the Toronto Retail Butchers' Association, estimated that a spontaneous buyers' strike had reduced meat sales as much as 40 per cent.—although some other butchers said the effect had been less severe. All butchers reported sales down, especially in such lines as bacon.

Housewives in Sherbrooke, Que., balking at high pork prices, have reduced pork purchases by about 50 per cent. this week. So far, there has been no reduction in prices there.

Vice-President B. B. Warnica of the Ontario Beef Producers' Association predicted "an almost immediate increase of 10 to 15 per cent. in the price of beef." He said producers would need at least $2 more than the $17.50 a hundredweight paid this week for weighty steers on the Toronto livestock market.

War veterans attending university in Toronto sent Veterans Minister Mackenzie a brief which protested against high prices generally. The Ottawa Board of Control, scheduled to discuss housing with Reconstruction Minister Howe next Monday, decided it also would urge government action too reduce living costs.

Milk Increase

Milk is going up one cent a quart in Quebec province. The Montreal retail price will jump to 17½ cents a quart from 16½. District milk producers at St. Catharines said they were negotiating for an increase to 18 cents a quart from 17½.

High fruit and vegetable prices plagued many sections and in St. Catharines M. M. Robinson, secretary of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, said the blame lay with wholesalers who preferred to import United States produce rather than deal with domestic growers. When restrictions were placed on U.S. imports, shortages arose.

Public Opinion, a tabloid issued monthly in Ottawa in the interests of the Progressive Conservative party, said editorially yesterday that the party did not favor reimposition of price controls as the way out of Canada's present high cost of living problem. It expressed belief higher production and subsidies on the necessities of life would bring down prices and reduce living costs.

Hearings Over In Year

LYTTON, B.C., Jan. 14 — (CP). — Hope that hearing of evidence before the Japanese Property Claims Commission will be completed by the end of June was voiced yesterday by Mr. Justice Henry I. Bird. Earlier, Mr. Justice Bird, the one-man commission hearing claims from Canada's Japanese that their property rights were violated during the Second World War, said the hearings may last three years.

Answering Your Questions ABOUT IMPORT CONTROL

MOST of the countries which are Canada's regular customers have not recovered sufficiently from the war to pay, in the normal way, for all the goods they need, despite extensive help from this and other countries. Nor are they able to send us enough of their goods to balance accounts—or to pay us in the kind of money which we, in Canada, can use to buy goods in other countries.

At the same time, Canada has been buying more goods than ever before from the United States and other countries demanding U.S. dollars. This is because these goods were not obtainable elsewhere and because of demand pent-up during the war.

Buying from the United States or U.S. dollar areas must, therefore, be temporarily reduced until our trading again becomes normal.

To meet this emergency, purchase of goods and services or expenditures for travel, which must be paid for with U.S. dollars, are now subject to control.

IF YOU ARE AN IMPORTER OF CONSUMER GOODS and wish to find out what goods are (1) prohibited, (2) subject to quota, or (3) unaffected by controls, see or write your nearest Collector of Customs and Excise.

IF YOU WISH TO IMPORT GOODS SUBJECT TO QUOTA and wish to establish your quota authorization to import, or need special information, consult your nearest Collector of Customs and Excise. Quota application forms (E.C. 1) and instructions for completing them, are available at all Customs Offices. These applications must be filed with the Collector of Customs and Excise.

IF YOU WISH INFORMATION ON THE AMOUNT OF YOUR QUOTA. After your application has been filed with your Collector of Customs and Excise, all correspondence about the establishment of quotas or cases of exceptional hardship through import prohibitions should be directed to Emergency Import Control Division, Department of Finance, 490 Sussex Street, Ottawa. Quotas are issued on a quarterly basis and any unused portion may be carried over into the following quarter.

IF YOU ARE AN IMPORTER OF PRODUCTION PARTS, STRUCTURAL STEEL, stone, machinery or other capital goods or automobiles, and wish to know the import restrictions in these classifications, write or see Emergency Import Control Division (Capital Goods), Department of Reconstruction and Supply, 385 Wellington Street, Ottawa.

IF YOU INTEND TO TRAVEL OUTSIDE CANADA and wish to know about foreign exchange available for this purpose, consult any bank or the Foreign Exchange Control Board at Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Windsor, Vancouver. If you wish information about personal purchases of goods made during travel outside Canada, consult the nearest Collector of Customs and Excise before departure.

IF YOU ARE A MANUFACTURER, WHOLESALER OR RETAILER and wish information about excise taxes, or about the list of goods to which they apply, consult the nearest Collector of Customs and Excise.

IF YOU NEED OTHER SOURCES OF IMPORTS consult the Foreign Trade Service, Department of Trade and Commerce (Import Division), Ottawa, regarding your supply problems arising from import quota restrictions. Through the Trade Commissioner Service, the Import Division is endeavouring to arrange increased supplies from the United Kingdom and other "non-scheduled" countries.

IF YOU ARE A HOUSEWIFE and wish information on available alternate foods which have comparable nutritional values to those now prohibited or subject to quota, informational material which has been prepared by the Nutrition Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare may be secured from your Provincial Health Department or local health unit.

The administration of these emergency import controls is the responsibility of various departments of the Government. The above information is given to aid Canadian citizens in complying with the new import control regulations with a minimum of inconvenience in their business and personal affairs.

Baffling Crimes Puzzle Canada's Police In 1947

By E. M. CHANTLER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Brutal death did a danse macabre throughout Canada in 1947, snatching upwards of 100 lives in the grisliest crime year in the memory of law officers. The grotesque figure showed no partiality to sex or age, and its graph showed slayings that were callous, many premeditated and some the result of depravity, a Canadian Press survey reveals.

This is last year's murder record, province by province:

Ontario leads the list with 43 slayings, including late December's quadruple murder near Elmira in which the shot-gun killer committed suicide after shooting four members of a drinking party.

Four men are awaiting death by hanging in the slaying of Joseph Grant, Toronto prospector, and his assistant, Marcel Duchesneau; Robert Todd, Wavell, Ont., pensioner; Betty Playford, Owen Sound, and the double murder of Mrs. M. Rupert and her infant son, Lee, near Sault Ste. Marie.

Fourteen murder charges were laid in British Columbia. Of these three drew convictions; three were dismissed; three await trial, and five persons were convicted of manslaughter. In addition, there were two slayings in which no arrests have been made.

Two B.C. persons were sentenced to death; one executed; on appeal pending. In addition, 45 charges of manslaughter, mostly arising from traffic deaths, were heard. Of these, two persons drew convictions, 23 were dismissed, seven committed to trial and 11 were convicted of reckless driving.

Alberta police reported few serious crimes. Seven charges of murder were laid but no death sentences were given. Sentences ran from 12 months to six years and several persons were found not guilty.

Saskatchwan Record

Both the RCMP and the attorney-general's department reported a general drop in Saskatchewan's crime record. Violent crimes totalled 347 in 1947 compared to 576 in 1946. Four murders were entered on police blotters.

Murder and other killings from which criminal charges arose in Manitoba numbered 12. Five murder charges resulted in one acquittal, one reduced to manslaughter, two awaiting trial and one unsolved. Two death sentences for murders committed in 1946 were passed.

Montreal's homicide squad investigated 13 murders and made arrests in 11. They also arrested Fred Bussey, convicted sex-slayer of Betty Playford at Owen Sound, Ont.

Types of killings were: two fatal abortions; seven love murders—including three stranglings—one robbery; one the result of an argument. Two have not been classified and one remains unsolved.

Other arrests made by the Montreal squad during 1947 resulted in the following charges: Abortions, one; manslaughter, five; attempted murder, four; grievous assault, 16; rape, nine; hit-and-run and dangerous driving, eight.

In ancient Quebec City, there was little major crime. No murders were recorded and two or three attempted murder charges resulting from fatal brawls were reduced. Earlier in the year, Lorenzo Langelier, 26, was scheduled to be hanged for the 1946 slaying of Joseph Thibodeau, but his sentence was communted to life imprisonment.

Two New Brunswick murder trials ended in manslaughter convictions with sentences of four and eight years. Most sensational crime of 1947 was an attempted burglary of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Hampton last November RCMP officers trapped three Montreal men in the building and shot one. Willie Shernuck, in the thigh when he tried to escape. Cash and securities amounting to $50,000 had been rifled from safety deposit boxes.

Murder and Suicide

One murder and a suicide occurred in Nova Scotia and several manslaughter charges were laid. At Deep Brook, army sergeant Charles MacDougall killed Nurse Margaret Sherman with a revolver then fatally shot himself. British seaman John Butterworth Henderson was acquitted of manslaughter in the death of Clifford English, 61, found bound and gagged in his Pictou home. Later evidence showed English had suffered a heart seizure. Adelard Lorette was given 10 years for manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Rita Punch in a Halifax rooming house.

Of Ontario's 43 murders, a dozen remained unsolved and seven occurred in Toronto.

Two cases are in the doubtful status. Christine Kettlewell, bride of a few weeks was found dead on the banks of the Severn River, a few feet away from her honeymoon cottage. How and by what means she met her death still puzzle police. A coroner's jury left the verdict open.

The second doubtful case is that of Marion Jean Badgley, pretty blonde secretary, whose body was found at her Frankford, Ont., home. She had been shot and a discharged rifle lay near her. An inquest was opened and adjourned pending further investigation.

Other Ontario sensaitonal murders still without solution are:

George Vigus, factory foreman, and Iris Scott, honey-blonde secretary, whose bodies were found crammed into the luggage compartment of a car in a secluded section of Toronto's west-end High Park.

Velair Vandebilt, Toronto nurse, strangled to death near Cochrane.

Vicious Crime

The most vicious murder in Toronto was the sex-slaying of tiny Arlene Anderson, a baby victim, who body was found in a field a few blocks from her home. Police say she was lured away, raped and stranged with her own "snuggies." Dozens of suspects and known sex degenerates were questioned but no arrests were made.

Police still seek the killers of Ralph Margeson, taxi driver, shot to death and thrown into a ditch in Etobicoke Township, west of Toronto.

The death of Angelo Fonti, Toronto dish washer and one-time petty bootlegger, whose body was found stuffed in a suburban culvert also remains unsolved. The restaurant where he worked had been robbed of $3,000 a week or so before Fonti's death, and police are inclined to link the crimes.

No clue leading to an arrest in the slaying of Melvin Sherk in his Cayuga, Ont., farmhouse, has been uncovered. It was known that Sherk was robbed of a large sum of money.

Six other Ontario slayings were solved by persons listed as murderers committing suicide.

Other unsolved murders include those of Albert Richer, Geraldton, Ont., taxi driver; Sydney Hall, bank guard at Alisa Craig, and John Blue, killed in front of a mid-town Toronto rooming house.

The year's largest robberies took place at Toronto and Winnipeg.

The largest sum stolen was from two Toronto banks — more than $500,000, representing combined loot taken by thieves who smashed dozens of safety deposit boxes.

Major Robberies

Winnipeg experienced the largest robbery in its history when bonds, jewelry and a large sum of cash valued at more than $150,000 were taken from a north-end bank's safety deposit vault. Four arrests have been made.

Looting of the vault followed two other major robberies: The daylight hold-up of J. M. Kingston, Winnipeg hotel proprietor, while he was leaving a downtown bank with $30,000, and the robbery of a west-central bank by two masked men who fled with about $7,000.

Windsor, Ont., blamed Ulysse Lauzon Mickey McDonald and Nicholas Minille, who escaped from Kingston Penitentiary, for a $40,000 bank robbery—largest in years. The three convicts are still being sought.

Vancouver's most violent shooting affair took the lives of two policemen and caused the wounding of a third in a battle with three gunmen. One gunman was killed, one wounded and the third captured after a melee that followed an alleged attempt to rob a bank.

The murderer of Sydney S. Petrie, bank manager of suburban Kitsilano, in a hold-up attempt has not been captured. Sought in connection with the crime is Walter Pavlukoff, for whom an intensive man-hunt was staged throughout the southern section of British Columbia.

Saskatchewan's spectacular crime of the year was the ax-slaying of Mrs. Mary McLaughlin at Radville, 70 miles south of Regina. Her husband, John McLaughlin, 64, was later found not guilty of murder by reason of insanity.

Decline Reported

Both Ottawa and Hull, Que., police reported a drop in major crimes. Ottawa had three manslaughter cases, no murders, no executions, no death sentences and only one large theft—a forgery. Hull had one manslaughter case arising from a traffic fatality and one bank robbery in which $3,000 was taken by three armed bandits who were subsequently captured and committed for trial. The case still pending.

Perhaps the stiffest term for armed hold-up in Ontario's history was given Glen Davis, 38, sentenced to life imprisonment as "a potential murderer" by a Windsor magistrate. Davis was cornered in a store he had robbed of $87 and chose to shoot his way out. He was shot in the arm. He pleaded guilty.

Quebec City had a rare bank robbery in the closing months of the year and one man (Raymond Seguin of Verdun, Que.), was arrested on the spot and later sentenced to 15 years.

In the immediate area of Quebec City, RCMP squads seized some 600,000 United States cigarets smuggled across the border. For possession of 34,000 of them, one man received a three-year term.

FLEEING ROBBER DROPS LOOT—Helen Fry, daughter of general storekeeper William Fry at Thornton, between Barrie and Cookstown on Highway 27, examines safe which was robbed of money bag containing over $100 yesterday afternoon. Robber when surprised by Fry dropped bag in carton. Charged with attempted robbery, James Martin and Edward Williams are seen coming out door of North Toronto police station after their capture by North York police.

Boys Find $20 Gold Coins Buried On Lot Near School

MONTEREY, Cal., Jan. 14 — (CP). — Monterey's gold "strike" continued to flourish today.

About $6,000 in 50-year-old $20 gold pieces so far have been taken from an excavation.

One youngster today found $740 worth.

Some coins have been found individually. Others were packed in glass jars and tin cans in a lot being excavated for an addition to a school. The property originally was owned by Will Martin, wealthy pioneer, who died in 1913. The $20 gold pieces date back to the 1880's.

Strong-arm operators have appeared on the scene.

Last night Bill Thraster, 13, and Raymond Ellis, 14, found a few $20 coins. A man who said he was a detective demanded the money, and the youngsters gave the coins to him. Later they found a fruit jar full of gold pieces. Fearful that some one would take the coins from them, they hid the jar in a sewer. When they went for it later it was gone. They think the "detective" saw them hide it.

As excavation work was resumed today, 12-year-old Mike Maiz.. na saw the top of a can showing through the soil. When he started to dig, a dozen other "prospectors" jumped him.

Nick Marazzo, operator of a bulldozer on the project, ran his machine over the spot, turned off his motor and called police. They cleared the area.

Marazzo backed the bulldozer away.

Mike dug for the can and recovered 37 of the $20 gold pieces.

He gave two each to five construction workers who had helped him protect his "strike" from interlopers.

Mike went home under a police escort.

Your Baby and You

by Ruth Parsons

By the time your baby is four months old, a play pen is practically a "must" piece of equipment. So if you can't afford to buy one, get hubby to build one—preferably one with a raised floor that keeps baby above floor drafts indoors and cold ground outdoors. A play pen will look after baby for hours at a time while you do your work . . . and it will also enable baby to develop his muscles as he likes and in his own good time. Before putting baby and his toys in the play pen, place a thick pad on the floor, and over it a rubber sheet and then an ordinary sheet. Don't encourage him to do exercises. It's best to let him handle the sitting up and pulling up business in his own way.

◇ ◇ ◇

At about the time your baby is ready for a play pen, he's probably also ready for solid foods. Here, you'll find the 22 varieties of Heinz Baby Foods are a real Mother's Aid Society in themselves. Carefully selected from the choicest, foods . . . cooked to retain minerals and vitamins in high degree . . . and strained to a smooth, even texture . . . Heinz Baby Foods are easy to swallow, easy to digest. And when your doctor suggests coarser-textured food for baby, the 12 varieties of Heinz Junior Foods are available to assure continued wholesome nourishment and tempting flavour for baby's menu.

Adult Education In Handcraft Starting Soon

Four centers, in different sections of the city, equipped to permit adult education training in pottery, leathercraft and metalcraft, will be set up by the Peterborough Recreation Commission about the first of next month. The Commission approved last night a report handed down by Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, chairman of the Handcraft Committee.

The report, containing estimates of the cost of each course, also stated that a weaving center, where the students who had been taking the teachers' training course might practice, would also be established as soon as equipment was available.

Nominal fees of $3 for each 12 week course will be charged.

The pottery course, to be held at the Central School, will cost $393 to establish the center. It will cost $54 per unit of 12 pupils in addition, for material and instructor expenses.

Cost of installation of the leathercraft instruction centers, which will be set up in Dixon House and in South End, will be $75 for each center. Cost of the first 12-pupil unit at Dixon House for the 12-week course will be $99, with an additional $24 for each additional 12 pupils. In South End the initial unit will cost $129, and $54 for each additional.

Estimated installation cost of the equipment for the metalcraft course, to be located at the Normal School, is $197. Operating expenses will be $54 per unit of 12 pupils.

The weaving center, which may be set up later, has been tentatively planned for location in the basement of the Public Library.

The three courses will start on February 2, and run until April 24.

Ski Training Starts Saturday

Beginning this Saturday, children of the public and separate grade schools of the city will have an opportunity to learn skiing under instructors of the Peterborough Ski Club at a cost of 50 cents for the full six weeks course.

Arrangements were approved for the plan at the meeting of the Peterborough Recreation Commission last night. Instruction is being provided by the Ski Club at no charge. The Commission will undertake the financial obligation of transportation and tows for about 200 children, if necessary, at an estimated cost of $400.

The course will get under way this Saturday and will be held for the six weeks from 9.15 to 11.30 in the mornings. There will be one instructor for every ten children, it was reported.

The classes will be divided into four main age groups Primary, under nine years; Tadpole under 11; Peewee under 13; and Bantam under 15. Arrangements for competitions and prizes will be made by the club.

Jack Dane, Recreation Director, stated that the cost of transportation and tow rental will be approximately forty cents per child per week.

113 Pigeons Perch Along Main Street Folk Dream Of Pigeon Pie, As Bacon Soars

On Simcoe Street Tuesday at noon there were two dense crowds. One was a queue of people huddled together against the cold while waiting for buses. Above them nearer Water Street was the second and more numerous group, likewise bunched together against the cold, though trying to get as much sunshine as possible. Pigeons — 113 of them, at a rough count — congregated on the top ledge of the building which houses Elim Tabernacle. They looked excellently plump.

A wag in the queue began to hum this:

Sing a song of bacon prices,
High! High! High!
O for 113 pigeons
Baked in a pie.

When such a pie is opened
You'll taste a lovely thing—
113 tender squabs
Fit for a king!

Our reporter shouted "encore," but the bus came along too soon. The 113 pigeons remained unscathed on their perch.

Hugh Stewart's 6-year-old To Compete In California

Hugh Stewart's six-year-old gelding, "Stewart Direct," is on the way to California to be pointed for the $50,000 Golden West free-for-all pace stake at Delmar in May. "He's travelling in an express car that has been fitted up with a padded stall," Mr. Stewart told the Examiner today. "The train left Toronto at 8 a.m. Tuesday, got into Chicago at 6.10 p.m. and was heading west not long after that. I'm turning him over to Clint Hodgins at Delmar to train and race him there, and especially to get him ready for the Golden West stake. The entry fee is $1,500.

"Hodgins is a young fellow of 32 who was rated the sixth best driver on the continent last year. He was the eighth highest money winner. With one horse he won over $37,000 in 1947, and in two seasons with that same horse his winnings went over $50,000. Hodgins is a Lucan, Ont., boy. I had known about him, and got in touch with him through Dave Pinkney of the Queen's Hotel, Stratford. Hodgins drove Pinkney's horses in the States, but none of them are going to the coast.

"From what I heard in Toronto I believe that 'Stewart Direct' is the only Standard Bred horse ever shipped from Canada to California by himself. Hodgins is taking the horses of the Avalon Club of Lafayette, Ind., to California, and will move north with him when the races there are over, and then come back east. 'Stewart Direct' will be placed in his stable, and will be campaigned this year extensively in the States. That is the general arrangement I have made with Hodgins so far."

Mr. Stewart said the Golden West stake was at one mile and a half. "Men that know my horse have told me they expect a mark of two minutes for the mile this season. He's a big strong horse, and one driver said he was never looking for the end of a mile. I'm inclined to think he has a chance at Delmar, but he'll certainly be in tough company. In his 19 starts last year he won 15, and that was against all comers where he was entered in New York State, at Hamburg and Batavia.

"In one week of night cards at Hamburg he raced Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, rested Thursday, started again Friday, Saturday and Monday, and won all his six races. I don't think there are many horses in harness more consistent than that performance."

"Stewart Direct" has a mark of 2.08. "He was in a daytime race at Batavia Fair, won the mile in 2.08, and they tacked that mark on him."

This Peterborough horse of Hilltop Farm is by Prince Direct and Barbara Bars by Grattan Bars. He was bred at Calgary, and Mr. Stewart has acquired his sire Prince Direct.

"Prince Direct" is a full cousin of Billy Direct, world champion pacer at 1.55 for the mile about four years ago.

The sire of Prince Direct was Merry Direct (imported from the USA) by Walter Direct, a son of Napoleon Direct, who also sired Billy Direct.

On the maternal side, through the dam Barbara Bars, daughter of Grattan Bars, Stewart Direct also inherits racing distinction from Grattan Bars, one time world champion, that was sent from Canada to the USA and in ten days won three $25,000 purses. He was owned by Fred Thrower of Strathroy, and was trained and raced by the famous Canadian linesman Vic Fleming. He had also driven Billy Direct in his mark of 1.55, and expressed the opinion that if Grattan Bars had been left in his charge he would have lowered the 1.55 time, Mr. Stewart said.

"Frankly I don't know what Stewart Direct can do, or how good he is, but I think it is worth a chance sending him to Delmar," Mr. Stewart said. "I know his ancestry recommends him for high company, and he is a strong honest horse. I have a lot of confidence in Clint Hodgins, and we'll just have to wait and see how he does. I understand that Delmar track is financed by Warner Bros. of Hollywood."

Rentals Charge Is Laid Over

A charge under the rental regulations was adjourned until Jan. 21 this morning to enable the accused, Steven Bencze, 617 Rubidge street, to retain a counsel or otherwise prepare his case.

It appeared that the accused had a poor working knowledge of English. His replies to routine questions of plea and preparation for trial were in the form of some statement about "I signed six papers for the lady."

Magistrate Philp and prosecutor W. F. Huycke, KC, took their turn in attempting to discover the intentions of the accused. After a bout of loud talking (Bencze is somewhat deaf too), Mr. Huycke suggested that he select some of the lawyers present in the courtroom. The magistrate questioned the regularity of such a step, but agreed to the extent of adjourning for one week to enable something to be done on behalf of the accused.

Bus Company To Seek Ten-Cent Fare

Peterborough Bus Company has taken an option on the new building of Edwards Motor Sales at the corner of Hunter St. and Driscoll Terrace, and are planning capital expenditure this year of between $150,000 and $180,000.

That information was part of the announcement by Mr. Frank Mitchell, president of the bus company, in conversation with Mayor Wm. Ovens and several members of the city council Tuesday. New construction will be undertaken at the company's King St. property, and five or six new buses will be added to the rolling stock.

Mr. Mitchell said that the new service line down Monaghan Rr. to Cameron St. was a definite improvement for this year, and other changes will include increased passenger accommodation at the rush hours, and revision of the Sunday schedule.

Mr. Mitchell said the company was not falling in line with transportation companies in various other cities by asking for increased fares. The charge of four tickets for 25 cents remains unchanged, but the company will ask the council for permission to raise the drop fare from the present eight cents to ten cents.

During the last four years the company has increased wages. Cost of parts and repairs has advanced from 33 1-3c to 50c, and generally maintenance and operation expense is substantially higher than it was six years ago, and even within a shorter time than that.

The Monaghan Road bus line is designed to serve the new development of the city south of Lansdowne St. and in both directions from Monaghan Road. Proposals of the company will be submitted to the council in a letter which it is expected will be received for the regular meeting next Monday night.

Delay Verdict In Parker Case

Judgment was reserved until tomorrow against Bruce Parker, 341 Reid street, charged with careless driving.

The charge was laid as the result of a collision on Reid street, in front of the accused's home, between Parker's truck and the car of Samuel McCall, 248 Charlotte street. In his evidence, McCall stated that about six o'clock on the night of Dec. 16 he had been proceeding down the incline of Reid street when Parker's truck, which had been stopped with the lights on, suddenly suddenly turned into the driveway. Unable to stop due to the short distance remaining, and the icy driving conditions, McCall's car crashed into the truck, causing damage to both vehicles.

Under questioning by defence counsel A. L. Elliott, KC, McCall admitted that he may have been driving too fast in view of road and visibility conditions. The witness said that Parker was "definitely intoxicated" at the time.

PC Douglas Farthing, who investigated, gave details of the circumstances. He said that the accused's breath smelled of liquor.

As a witness, the accused stated he had stopped on the street and signalled the turn before attempting to enter his driveway. He said the ice on the road made his wheels spin before the truck began to move. Joseph Robinson, a passenger in the Parker truck, confirmed the evidence of the accused. He said Parker was "sober."

Parker admitted he had "two beers" about three o'clock that afternoon.

ELECTED CHAIRMAN — W. B. Gordon was named head of the Peterborough Recreation Commission last night. He was commended for his work as secretary to the Commission last year.

W. B. Gordon Recreation Group Chairman

W. B. Gordon was elected chairman of the Peterborough Recreation Commission at the first meeting of the new year held last night.

Jack Dane, recreation director, expressed appreciation for the co-operation and backing his office had received from the commission during 1947.

Other members of the executive committee are: Vice-chairman, R. J. Bolton; secretary, Mrs. J. E. R. Munro; treasurer, Harold E. Wales.

Committees appointed were (with chairman named first):

Finance—Wales, Quirt McKinney, Dr. Herb Young.

Boys and Girls' Work — Mrs. Whalon, McKinney, Ouimet.

Arts and Crafts— Mrs. Munro, McKinney, Bolton.

Music — McKinney, Young, Murphy.

A committee to draft a constitution, to be presented to the commission for approval, was set up consisting of Messrs. Borland, Bolton and Mrs. Whalon.

The finance committee was authorized to strike estimates for the coming year and present them to the commission for approval before their submission to city council.

A request for a $125 grant from the Ornamental Swimming Club of the YWCA was referred to the Ladies' Sports committee.

A projected bowling league for the school children of the city was discussed. The plan was left for investigation by the Boys' and Girl' Work committee, to report.

Board of Education Seeks Additional $30,000 To Finish School Addition

Board of Education will require approximately $30,000 to complete the construction and the furnishing of the addition to Queen Mary School. "We have run into the same difficulty of rising costs that has been experienced throughout the country," Mr. G. W. Craw, chairman of the Board's building committee, informed the finance committee of the council. He was accompanied by Mr. K. S. Wightman, public school inspector, and Mr. J. H. Eastwood of the contracting firm of Eastwood Construction Co.

Actual expenditure will be about $21,000 in excess of the estimated cost, equipment will amount to $5,000 or $6,000, and there will be some extra architect's charge.

A motion by Mayor Ovens and Ald. Raine authorized preparation of a bylaw to provide up to $30,000 by debentures, but ultimate sale will amount only to the sum required by the Board when the job is finished.

Mr. Craw said the estimates had been submitted to the council, the Department of Education and the Municipal Board, showing the expected cost at $178,000. Subsequent to the letting of the contract, Mr. Eastwood said, brick tile, lumber and nails increased $3,000 above the estimate of those details; brick advanced from $39 to $45, lumber from $73 to $90. Subcontracts with unavoidable escalator clauses jumped $6,000 of which $2,000 was for structural steel. Wages of labor went up from 63c to 75c, carpenters 91c to $1.05. Mr. Eastwood said he could only make a guess that the increase on the contract would be in the neighborhood of $21,000.

Make New Desks.

Mr. Wightman said that pupils desks for the six rooms will be made "in our own maintenance shop." The usual cost of equipping a classroom was $800 to $1,200, "but by certain savings we are hoping to do them all, and the auditorium at between $5,000 and $6,000."

"We have a little margin on the contract price," Mr. Wightman stated, "but we will need about $5,000 for the furniture, and anyone who knows the facts will agree that is a very low cost."

"What about the addition to Confederation School?" Mayor Ovens enquired.

"From the way things are turning out we think the Board will be all right there," Mr. Craw said. "The cost to date has been a little below the contract estimate. The amount voted on was $110,000."

Mr. Craw raised the question of the $4,000 premium on the first issue of debentures. Ald. Swanston said that if debentures were sold above par the premium should be used to help pay off the first installment of debentures And the city would lose the 30 per cent grant payable by the Department on the item of $4,000.

The Board's contention was that the total premium from the sale of Board debentures should be a credit on the cost of the work, and would lower the suggested amount required from $30,000 to $26,000.

Ald. Gordon Armstrong said increase on institutional and commercial construction was 11 to 13 per cent in the last year. That was just about the increase experienced in the building cost at Queen Mary. "We can feel fortunate if that figure doesn't also apply to Confederation School."

The premium detail was not carried to an issue, and the committee said that it would arrange for the additional financing needed by the Board.

Import Axe Chops Many Pulp Magazines

Funny Books, Westerns Hardest Hit By Latest Government Edict

Local magazine agents that keep a store of reading material, running the gamut from the intellectual publication to funny books are carefully watching the effect of the recent ban on certain types of imported fiction magazines.

It cannot be described as moral-clean-up drive because the reason for the measure is part of that now-familiar refrain—how to conserve American dollars. Nevertheless the publications that are bearing the brunt of "austerity" are those in the fiction line carrying sensational tales of romance—often a thinly veiled term for sex innuendo—crime, fantastic comics, adventure and crime.

Generally speaking, "the pulps" have fallen to the import hatchet; and this includes Western stories as well. So-called true story or true confession magazines are cut off. Because they are not classed as fiction, however, movie reviews will still enter the country.

While no specific list of the excluded printed matter has been issued to Peterborough news agents, it is believed that "the better class" magazines will still be on the stands. News weeklies such as Time, Life, Newsweek, New Republic, Nation and similar type monthies, seem assured of continued entrance.

Cheaper reprint editions as in the Pocket or Bantam series which give a mixture of reading material—classics and murder mysteries side by side—are unaffected because they are classed as books.

Many parents, educationists and child psychologists have deplored the affect of the modern comic fare on impressionable youth. While the supply of much of this nightmarish material will be cut off at least temporarily, publishers in this line are not going to give up easily while the demand lasts. Already several of them are now printing their strips in Canada.

While most agents admit that it does somewhat adversely affect their business, there is surprising unanimity on the point that most of the excluded printed matter is "trash" and should be banned.

One said: "If they have to save American dollars they couldn't have chosen anything better to ban."

Reaction of the public was described by most dealers as apathetic. If they inquired for a particular publication and had it explained that it was no longer stocked because of the American dollar shortage, they shrugged their shoulders and bought something else to read—usually on a higher literary level.

In fact one man who sold practically every magazine on the market expressed the opinion that overall sales were not down at all. The would-be purchaser of a banned "pulp" would perhaps even buy a more expensive periodical.

There is no dearth of reading material on shelves today. A glance along the list of publications in a well-stocked shop would reveal few empty spaces indicating banned magazines.

Perhaps the psychologist will now get his chance to prove that Junior will be a better-behaved boy now that the comic-book exploits of Superman and Green Lantern can no longer be perused.

A public meeting will be held on Thursday, January 15, at 8.00 p.m. in the City Council Chamber for the purpose of hearing Miss Nesta Hinton of the Nutritional Division and Homemaker Service of the Red Cross Society and to consider the advisability of establishing a Visiting Homemaker Service in Peterborough. Servicemen Plan Broadcast From Two Poles

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Servicemen of two Dominions will broadcast messages to each other this month telling how it feels to be stationed in the vicinity of opposite poles.

The Royal Canadian Signals detachment at station CHAK, Aklavik, Yukon, will send a greeting to a Royal Australian naval expedition in the Antarctic, while the Australians will send a message telling Canadians how cold it is south of the Antarctic circle.

Both groups, working as they are in the extreme cold and trying conditions of polar regions, have much in common. One instance of this is the fact that the Australians are trying out clothing tested by the Canadian army in the Arctic last year.

Station CHAK is Canada's most northerly broadcast station and is operated by military personnel on the same voluntary service lines as the army's broadcasting station CFWH in Whitehorse, Yukon.

Although primarily for the entertainment of service personnel and government officials, regular listeners include the 1,800 native and white trappers in the area. Recorded and live programs and regular newscasts are featured along with personal messages, amateur shows, quizzes, church services and educational programs.

NEW BRITISH ENVOY IN PARIS — Replacing Alfred Duff Cooper as British ambassador to France, Sir Oliver Hardy is shown with Lady Hardy as they arrived at Gare du Nord, in Paris. Standing in the rear can be seen Major General Georges Vanier, Canadian ambassador to France who was among those present to greet the new British envoy.

Plans To Sell Food At Cost

BRAMPTON, Jan. 14 (CP). — David R. Graham, proprietor of a butcher shop and general store outside the western town limits, admits the idea is not original with him but he thinks there is considerable merit in selling meats and groceries at cost plus a fee for service.

He's going to try it anyhow starting next Monday morning.

Owner of the store for the past year, Mr. Graham will ask customers to buy "thrift" tickets at $1 a week. This will entitle them to buy any article in the store at cost price. Transient purchasers will pay the ordinary retail price.

Mr. Graham has it figured out that any family which uses more than $6 of groceries a week will save money by joining the co-operative scheme. "Above that figure they will be making a clear-cut saving on everything they buy," he said Tuesday. "And there are very few families today who don't spend more than $8 on food each week."

Conservative Hopes High Of Breaking Labor Success

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON, Jan. 14—(Reuters).—The Conservative Opposition has high hopes to ending the Labor Government's unbroken succession of by-election victories in Labor-held constituencies through two impending contests at Camlachie, a Glasgow borough, and the nearby Scottish town of Paisley.

Though in recent months the political outlook for the Government has improved, Labor is worried about these two seats, where unusual circumstances make defeat possible.

Camlachie was held by Campbell Stephen, last representative in parliament of the Independent Labor Party, the splinter group from which the main Labor Party originally sprang. Although shortly before his death Stephen applied for admission to the Labor Party, the constituency itself is traditionally a mixture of Conservative and Independent Labor.

Weakness of orthodox Labor's position is that six candidates seem likely to run — Conservative, Liberal, Labor, Independent Labor, Independent Socialist, and Scottish Nationalist.

An Independent Labor victory would not add to the anti-Socialist front in Parliament, but as Stephen intended to join the Labor Party an ILP victory would be technically a Government loss.

No Arrangement Yet

Labor and Independent Labor may still reach an arrangement by which one candidate stands down to avoid splitting the vote, but there is no sign of this so far.

Another conceivable result of the wholesale splitting of the vote is the return of the Conservative. His party has alternated with Independent Labor in the possession of the seat over a considerable period.

The Paisley position is less complicated, but just as threatening for the Government. The vacancy was caused by the succession of Labor member Oliver Baldwin to the earldom of his father, the late Earl Baldwin, former Conservative Prime Minister.

The constituency was for many years a Liberal stronghold held by former Prime Minister Herbert Asquith.

Doctors Watch Gandhi Closely

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 14.—(AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi entered the distressing phase today of his new fast for communal peace in India and Delhi.

Physicians watched his condition closely and did all they could to conserve the strength of the little Hindu patriot, who once more is placing his life in the balance for his people's welfare.

His friends decided yesterday when he started the fast that nothing would induce him to stop except the conviction that peace had been restored to this capital city and that the spirit of peace was fanning out into the rets of the country.

Promptly they set machinery moving to do this, fearful lest the weakened reserve of his vitality would fail under the fast before they could accomplish the task. Gandhi is 78.

Since 11 a.m. yesterday, when he sent away the remnants of a simple breakfast with the announcement, "it is time," Gandhi has taken only clear water sipped from a spoon in quantities regulated by his doctor.

Revise Divorce Code Solve Delinquency

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP) — Revision of the divorce code is one of the answers to Canada's juvenile delinquency, in the opinion of Dr. William J. Deadman, Hamilton pathologist.

"Adultery should be a punishable offence and co-respondents should be charged as accessories," he said in a "world neighborhood" series lecture last night.

A steady decline in church attendance, a high percentage of armed forces rejections and a large number of deserters from the services were other symptoms of increasing delinquency.

Send Coal To Japan

CALGARY, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Negotiations are under way to ship "substantial" amounts of Alberta bituminous and domestic coal to Japan, Trade Minister James A. MacKinnon said.

Send More Policemen To Doukhobor Centre

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14.—(CP). —Attorney General Gordon Wismer said 10 more police had been sent to the British Columbia interior, storm-centre of Doukhobor unrest, "for the protection of people and property."

He said he had been in conference earlier with Judge H. J. Sullivan, special commissioner appointed by the B. C. government, to investigate the Doukhobor problem.

Judge Sullivan recently terminated his investigations until action is taken "to clean up" incessant pillaging and burning in the Kootenay Valley.

Judge Sullivan has turned in a report, Mr. Wismer said, which "indicates a very serious situation particularly among the Sons of Freedom sect."

"It is obvious we have to take some firm action."

Two Miners Crushed By 25 Tons Of Rock

KIRKLAND LAKE, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Trapped in a 25-ton fall of rock, Harry R. Brady, 52, and Kenneth Gill, 38, were crushed to death yesterday in the Teck-Hughes gold mine. Brady was a native of western Canada who came here 10 years ago.

Mine officials said the men were doing re-timbering work on the 4,000-foot level when loose rock in an adjoining section was dislodged and crashed down on them.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 14—(ENS) —The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion elected the following officers:

Mrs. Earl Orr presided.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL—Rushed to Montreal recently for an emergency operation, one-week old Marilyn Proser of Louisburg, N.S., is shown on her arrival from Moncton. With her is Stewardess Marjorie Alderman and the baby's nurse Mrs. Paul Whelan of Moncton. The infant will undergo an operation for a spinal ailment.

Testify Murdered Man Drunk When Stabbed

GODERICH, Jan. 14 (CP). — Medical evidence at the trial yesterday of Frederick Littlechild on a charge of murdering Charles Bell last Sept. 15 was that Bell was intoxicated when fatally stabbed during a drinking party.

Crown Attorney D. E. Holmes told the jury the Crown would present evidence he said would show that Littlechild and his wife drank wine at Bell's house and then moved to the Littlechild home where Littlechild is alleged to have slashed Bell's chest with a pocketknife.

Verda Vincent of Toronto, provincial analyst, said tests of fluid taken from Bell's stomach contained enough alcohol to cause "definite intoxication."

The trial is continuing.

Agriculture Conference

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Possibilities for furture stabilization of agriculture in Canada will be one of the main subjects for discussion at the 12th annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture in Brockville, Jan. 26 to 30, officials said last night. Public sessions will be held Jan. 27 and 28 while the board of directors will meet in private Jan. 26, 29 and 30.

Country Women Find Diversion In Institutes

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — Countrywomen all over the world have something in common, a feeling of friendship for each other and similar interests, in the opinion of Amy Kane, representataive of the Women's Institute in New Zealand, who passed through Toronto yesterday during a tour of Canada.

"Women on the farm take a larger part in the farm life than women in the city do in its business life," she remarked. "They are wrapped up in the whole business of it, from milking the cows to caring for the poultry." She implied that where countrywomen share the problems of the farm with their husbands, city women certainly do not take a similar interest in their husbands' business.

Miss Kane, whose home is Wellington, New Zealand, feels that the Women's Institute there has such a strong grip because the country is predominantly engaged in dairy and sheep farming. Drama and singing groups are as popular as the home science and gardening courses.

Maori women also take an active interest in the institute, she said. Some of them belong to mixed groups and others to separate Maori groups, but at all times the natives and New Zealanders get along well together, and there is no color line, she said.

During her six-month visit to England, Miss Kane found Institute activities permeated the community, reaching even into the towns. "It is recognized as part of the community there, and accomplishes a great deal of public work," she said. "Furthermore, it is a great class mixer, as farming women and landed gentry all meet together in these groups."

She said the institutes gave new interests and stimuli to countrywomen who would otherwise have no organization or diversions.

Meeting yesterday with members of the Ontario Women's Institute, among them Miss Marjorie Lee, whose father was its founder at Stony Creek, 50 years ago, Miss Kane compared notes with them and came to the conclusion that the institutes in most countries went about things in the same way.

POR TEACHER.

KROONSTAD, South Africa — (CP). — The Volkskool here probably holds a South African record for pupil twins. When the school closed for the December holidays there were 14 pairs of twins at the school—eight pairs were girls, four were boys, and two were boys and girls.

FRIENDLY GULL—Seafarers often have wished that they could change places with the seagull as it glides high in the sky, but this centuries-old situation did a right-about-face on the first voyage of the Canadian weather ship, HMCS St. Stephen, when a storm-tossed gull sought shelter on board the vessel. Among the close friends the bird developed in the ship's company was the commanding officer, Lieut. E. M. Chadwick, RCN, on whose shoulder it rests.

NEW AND EXCITING — Typically Maurice Rensier is the black and white pepita woollen model at left, with brief jacket featuring skirt pockets cleverly done in men's pleats to give comfort of movement. At right, Pauline Triger does a cocktail dress in navy and scarlet silk chiffon. The navy skirt, over a navy taffeta petticoat, is girdled in high Empire effect with fine tucking and pearl buttons adding colorful accent to scarlet chiffon blouse.

Exceed Objective Take Challenge For New Year

Sixtieth year of WMS work in George St. United Church was successful as revealed in the many reports presented at their meeting Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors. The society had set an objective of 60 new members for 1947 and the report of 64 was very gratifying. The financial report showed $1,275 had been sent to the Presbyterial treasurer.

Mrs. R. Parnall, president, conducted the business session. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. Victor Boorman. Installation of the new executive was then conducted by Rev. Dr. J. Semple.

Dr. Semple addressed the meeting on the subject, "Fellowship and Service." He said "Great religions such as 'Confucianism' have left books to enable their followers to carry on. Jesus wrote no books and formulated no creed. There was only one creed in the first church—Jesus is Lord. Jesus framed no laws for he is too big for rules and regulations."

Answering the question, "How is He to be remembered?" Dr. Semple quoted from Mark: "He ordained 12 that they might be with him and that he might send them forth." He challenged every member of the WMS to go out and bring new members into the fellowship to serve Him."

OLD FOLKS' HIGH JINKS.

TROWBRIDGE, England (CP). —When Mrs. Ellen Burge, 84, was trapped upstairs by a fire, a neighbor, Walter Loxley, 77, helped her escape by sliding down the banisters.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

BOSSY MOTHERS

Widow 39, Complains Parent Still Tries to Rule Over Her.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a woman of 39 and have been a widow for four years. All my life my mother has dictated to me, except for the short time I was married, and the main reason I married was to get from under her thumb. She has always decided everything for me, including my religion and vocation.

I do not live with her, but I am under her constant authority. She demands to know where I go after working hours and for me to spend every evening with her before I go home for the night. Also, I am obliged to tell her of every single move I make, whom I see, what they said and what I said.

I am not dependent on my mother financially, nor she on me. My whole life is sacrificed to her but nothing I do ever pleases her. Can you tell me what to do?

A PERPLEXED WOMAN.

ANSWER: I do not see why a woman who is 39 years old and self-supporting should permit herself to be enslaved by any other person, no matter what the relationship. You must be a weak sister, or else you would not submit to it.

Tyrannical Complexion

It is a very common thing for mothers who have a tyrannical complex to take out their mania for bossing on their daughters. There is nobody else whom they can trample over and so they make doormats of Sally or Susan or Maria. If you will think over all the poor, weak, frustrated old maids you have eevr known, you will realize that practically every one of them was the victim of a mother who was a female Hitler.

From the time they were born until their mothers died they never had a breath of freedom. Mother dictated every act of their lives. She selected their friends, bought their clothes, picked out their boy friends, if any, opened their mail and read their letters before they did, and otherwise kept them reduced to the status of a moron.

It is, of course, right and proper that a daughter should be dutiful to her mother, but there are degrees in even domestic virtues. And when Mother's happiness consists in her riding roughshod over her daughters, it is time for the girls to stage a rebellion and demand a right to their own personal freedom. And take it.

In my opinion, any woman over 21 years of age who earns her own independent living is a pitiful weakling if she lets her mother boss her.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 17 years old and I have a 23-year-old sister who has been cruel to me ever since I can remember. She is now engaged to be married and seems very happy over it. Once I made a vow that I would hurt my sister like she has hurt me. I can do it by taking her Boy Friend away from her, I am sure that he would fall for me, as I have noticed how much he admires me.

Miss Dix, don't you think I would be justified in taking my revenge on my sister?

MISTREATED.

ANSWER: No. You would make the mistake of your life and one that you would bitterly regret if you paid your sister back in her own coin by treating her as badly as she treated you. Revenge is always a boomerang that flies back and annihilates the one who throws it.

From your letter I infer that your sister's cruel treatment of you has been inspired by jealousy. She is older, lacking in the beauty and attraction for men which you have, and she just can't take being passed over. She can't vent her anger and hurt pride on the men who neglect her so she empties the vials of her wrath on you, which is not fair nor right, but it is something that happens very often in life.

It will be easy enough for you to revenge yourself on your sister by breaking up her marriage, but making her unhappy would not make you happier. On the contrary, there would not be a minute in which your conscience would not reproach you and when you would not hate yourself for the scurvy trick you played upon her.

Don't forget that the one person you have to live with is yourself and you can't be happy unless you can look yourself in the face.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, January 15

AN adverse, disruptive and turbulent state of affairs is forecast from the ruling astral forces. Rash, agressive, over-strenuous and vindictive behavior could defeat and scatter all constructive plans and efforts, inciting to strife, unhappiness and vengeance. Physical injury, accidents, fire and fractures also come under this perverse impulse, besides loss of possessions and reputation. Sidestep all sorts of calamity.

Those whose birthday it is may not enjoy a harmonious or gratifying year, since an undercurrent of the disruptive, turbulent, reckless and hectic, are bound to culminate in loss of possessions, endeavors, plans and peace of mind. As well, accident, falls, fires and other unfortunate visitations might undermine all constructive efforts. Maintain calm, reason and control under all excitement.

If It Is Your Birthday

A child born on this day may have a turbulent, aggressive and wayward tendency, and should be given early training and discipline.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

MANY a slam contract, either small or grand, depends upon a factor entirely beyond the control of the declarer. One of the most obvious of such elements is the convention in use by the defenders for directing an opening lead. One pair may consider the double of a slam as a command to lead the side suit that had been bid by the player who eventually becomes the dummy. Another pair may not act likewise, or may not even double the contract at all. Such a single difference may decide the entire issue.

Shining lights of national championship play vied on this deal in the big event at Atlantic City. Through operation of elements virtually out of their own ken, Dr. Louis Mark, of Columbus, Ohio, vice-president of the American Contract Bridge League, scored over the great Oswald Jacoby of the Four Aces a very satisfactory result. But then he has seen Jacoby the Only do likewise on plenty of occasions.

Dr. Mark was North at Table 1, using the standard 1-over-1 bidding method. The key bid in his own sequence was that 4-Clubs cue-bid on the second round, the purpose being to steer the opening lead into any of the other three suits from defenders who might now feel sure he was blank in clubs. His redouble of the 6-Hearts was based on his own confidence that a club lead would be prevented if he made a show of thus not fearing it, coupled with his expectation of a spade lead in view of the double. And of course he was right, as he got a spade lead in view of the double.

Mr. Jacoby's opening was the Four Aces' artificial 2-Clubs to show a hand of game strength. All the other bids by his pair were the natural consequence of that excepting his own psychic 3-Clubs to discourage a lead of that suit. But, unfortunately for him and his partner, West laid down the club A at the outset and thus beat the grand slam.

1947 Fire Loss In Lakefield Listed At $6,349

Lakefield's fire loss last year was estimated at $6,349 in Chief Allan Clark's annual report to the town council Monday night. The department responded to 30 alarms of which 19 were by telephone.

One of his observations was: "The council has spent considerable money on fire protection, and both them and the fire department have been the objects of criticism from some of the ratepayers—of that we are not concerned—but we are concerned with the safety of Lakefield from fire. The only possible way of supplying such protection is to have the proper equipment available to face any emergency.

It is true we do have some fires and lose a few buildings, but so far we have never had a conflagration, such as many municipalities have suffered; and it is to prevent just such event that this department feels justified in asking the authorities to provide them with modern equipment. The safety of the village is entrusted to the fire department, and under the supervision of the council they are conscientiously endeavoring to perform that duty.

As our equipment is in good shape, I am not asking for any additions at this time. Our hose supply which needs yearly additions will suffice for the present. I would, however, again remind the council that water supply in some parts of the village is scarce. This matter has been discussed yearly by the writer."

Lakefield council bought a new pumper from the Canadian Fire Engine Co. of Woodstock. It was delivered in November, and is now in use. No. 2 pumper is being overhauled and is expected back in service at the end of this month.

"The fire hall doors will not permit the parking of the new machine in the hall. Until alterations can be made it is parked in a heated garage in the village. On April 1, No. 2 pumper became disabled while operating at a fire. We had to call in assistance from Peterborough, and lease a pumper and driver from their department for a short period while No. 2 was being repaired. During the year I have conducted many fire prevention inspections in public buildings, factories, business and residential premises, while the council also contracted fire protection agreements with some of the outlying properties and areas. Mutual aid with Peterborough has been in operation. The city responded to an alarm here in April, and in July this department answered an alarm for the Whitaker fire in Peterborough. We sent a pumper and crew."

"At the council's instructions I attended the convention of the Dominion Fire Chiefs Association in London, Ont. I was re-elected secretary-treasurer of that association.

"In addition to the purchase of the new pumper and the renovation of pumper No. 2, the council purchased 200 feet of 2½ inch hose; 200 feet of 1½ inch hose, 2 water pumps (hand), 6 helmets and several other pieces of small equipment.

"When the revamping of the department is completed an inspection will be conducted by the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association to demonstrate the quality and efficiency of the fire protection services of the village with a view of getting better insurance rating for the village.

"In addition to inspections and patrols have conducted regular fire drills and instructions at the schools and given prevention addresses to different societies in the village."

Car Ransacked At Norwood Farm

NORWOOD, Jan. 14 (ENS) — A car belonging to Carmen Kingsley was broken into Monday night, the thieves broke the lock in their attempt to get into the car, then had to break a window to open the door. They emptied the full tank of gas, took battery and cable, seven clip-on chains and one tire. Mr. Kingsley had left the car in the lane, leading to his home, so that it would be more convenient to start for Norwood Tuesday morning. This was the first time Mr. Kingsley had left his car near the road, and will probably be the last time, they live four miles north west of Norwood on the eighth line of Dummer.

Convict Youth 18 On Theft Count

One youth is awaiting sentence and another on a not guilty plea has yet to face trial on charges of breaking and entering and theft.

Clark Purdy, 18, of Toronto, pleaded guilty to the charges and was remanded for sentence until Friday. Evidence was given by Acting Detective William Clarke and Constable Reginald McMillan. The break-in, through the front window, was made at the home of Howard L. Shimer, 575 Waterford St. Police stated the accused had ramsacked the refrigerator and stolen about $10 worth of food. A second charge against Purdy, one of vagrancy, was dismissed when no evidence was offered by the Crown.

John Chester James, charged with the same breaking, entering and theft, pleaded not guilty. He was remanded for trial to Jan. 21.

Union Re-elects Beggs President

Mr. John Beggs has been elected to a fourth term as president of Local 293 of the United Packing Workers of America, the union of employees of Quaker Oats Co.

The other officers are: vice-president, Gerald Anderson; financial secretary, Watson Butcher; treasurer, Cecil Watson; recording secretary, Wm. Beggs; trustees, Gordon Pearson and Fred Flaherty.

In his report of the annual meeting Mr. Beggs said the relations between management and employees of Quaker Oats in 1947 had been very agreeable, and it was wished that conditions throughout the plant would always be as satisfactory as they had been last year. An increase in wage rates was obtained, 15 cents an hour for men and 18 cents for women; and the factory is working on a 44-hour week. Due to shortage of coarse grain there had been some lags in volume of working during the last three or four weeks, but that was recognized as a condition which could not be improved by management.

Appointment of a delegate to the Ontario Federation of Labor convention is on the slate for the meeting Thursday night.

New City Plan Abandoned As Expenses Cut

LONDON, Jan. 14 —(Reuters) —The prospects of a "New Britain" of garden cities and new towns to replace overcrowded industrial and mining areas has receded into the future as a result of the government's decision last month to cut capital expenditure.

Britain's Labor Party, which swept into office in the 1945 general elections on a promise of "jobs and houses," may find that the housing, which it had been hoped would be largely completed by 1950, will still dominate the next electoral contest.

When the war ended, hundreds of thousands of people were living in makeshift accommodation after being bombed out during the war and some 4,000,000 young men and women were streaming back from the forces.

Hampered from the start by shortages, achievements so far have fallen far short of their needs.

Prefabricated Homes.

The Wartime Coalition Government had planned to provide "temporary" prefabricated houses which could be massed-produced and erected quickly.

"Prefab settlements" have sprung up throughout the land, on the outskirts of towns and on bombed cities.

They have been denounced as "glorified garages," "shoe boxes" and "pocket palaces," but most occupants are satisfied with them because they have modern equipment such as running hot water for baths and basins, refrigerators and built-in furniture. The rent is comparitively low at between $2 and $4 a week.

Official figures show that by last September — a little over two years after the end of the war — 460,000 new homes were provided. The target for 1947 was to complete 240,000 permanent and 60,000 prefabricated homes.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Jersey Joe Walcott, who almost dethroned heavyweight champion Joe Louis Dec. 5, staged the outstanding comeback of 1947 in the opinion of the sports editors participating in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

The 33-year-old "Pappy Guy" from Camden, N.H., four times retired from the ring, earned the comeback crown by twice dumping Louis on the seat of his pants during their close 15-round scrap. The veteran of some 130 fights since 1931 now is in line for a slice of a probable $2,000,000 gate in June although he fought six rounds for $100 as recently as 1945.

Four unbeaten Ontario rinks today battled it out in the semi-finals of the championship Imperial Oil Trophy in the second day of the Midland Curling Club's three-day bonspiel. Final game in the contest is scheduled for today. The four rinks are from Midland, Thornhill, Barrie and Mount Forest.

Jack West, who coached Winnipeg Blue Bombers to the Canadian football final last year, said yesterday that he had talked with officials of Ottawa Rough Riders, who are in the market for a new coach, but added that he had made no bid for a job with the eastern club.

Babe Ruth, the former home run king, is "doing nicely" at the New York Medical Centre where he is undergoing a physical check, his wife said yesterday. The Babe, who will be 53 Feb. 7, underwent a serious neck operation last winter.

Can't Decide How To Vote On Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP) —Senator Irving Ives (Rep. NY) said yesterday he is having "difficulty" deciding how to vote on legislation authorizing the controversial St. Lawrence seaway project.

The measure, providing for imposition of tolls to make the huge international project self-liquidating, is expected to be voted upon by the Senate next week.

Ives, an opponent of the seaway to this point, told a reporter that his "every spare moment" is being spent on studying the entire St. Lawrence question.

"Right now," he said, "I am unable to decide one way or the other."

He freely admitted that the proposal contains beneficial features, but, at the same time, said he was concerned about "possible disadvantages" to New York State.

His "greatest concern," he said, is the possible damage that might result to the port cities of New York, Albany and Buffalo through diversion of shipping.

Ives also said he is not "completely satisfied" about the power aspects of the proposal, whether New York will benefit as much as some seaway proponents claim.

Bulgarian Premier Warns Opponents

SOFIA, Jan. 14—(AP)—Nine deputies of the Socialist opposition announced today the would refuse to approve the Bulgarian government's budget as it stands, and promptly received a warning from Communist Premier Georgi Dimitrov to remember the fate of Nikola Petgov.

(Petkov, Agrarian party opposition leader, was hanged last September on charges of conspiring against the government.)

The nine Socialists issued a written statement attacking the budget as "insincere and unreal." Immediately afterward, Dimitrov declared to them:

"From this rostrum, as you remember, I warned your allies of Nikola Petkov's group tens of times. They did not listen; did not pay attention to all the warnings. They broke their heads, and their leader is under the ground.

"You, yourself, think over avoiding the fate of your own allies, foreign agents and Bulgaria's enemies . . ."

50 Deputies Leave Assembly

PARIS, Jan. 14—(Reuters)—Fifty Right-wing deputies walked out of the French Assembly in protest today when Marcel Cachin, first Communist ever to sit in the Senate, made a fighting speech in support of his party instead of the customary non-controversial address in opening the session.

Communists stood and applauded the 86-year-old Senator but shouts of indignation came from the Centre and Right-wingers.

He reproached the government of Premier Schuman with "not following the example of Britain by resuming trade relations with the Soviet Union."

A demand by Cachin that the fighting in Indo-China should end was greeted with a shout from Oliver de Sesmaisons, Right-wing deputy: "You say that, Mr. Cachin, to a father who lost his son 10 days ago in Indo-China."

It was at this point that the Right-wing deputies walked out.

Beer Serving Getting Too Professional

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Jan. 14 (CP) — Londoners are wondering if the day will come when their beer will be served, not by a wise-cracking blonde with a cockney accent, but by a sedate young woman in gown and mortar board with a framed diploma hanging over her head.

Some have mixed feelings about it . . .

Barmen and barmaids, with potmen, cellarmen and potential landloards, have joined the modern trend towards professionalism to the extent that 120 of them now are attending a 12 weeks' staff training course at the Licensed Trades' Technical Institute on Charing Cross Road.

They learn all about the origins of the British "pub" and its place in the community . . . about brewing materials, malt grinding, mashing, sparging, boiling, "fridging" . . . treatment of beer in cellars, fermentation, racking, fining, priming and filtering . . . how beer gets into bottles, cooperage, temperatures, ventilation, beating and cooling.

Lots of Classes

Then there are classes around a model beer counter where students are acquainted with different types of beer, wine and spirit measures; types of glasses, calculating charges, giving change, keeping records, changing ston salesmanship, deportment to customers . . . cleaning up.

The instructors — experienced brewmen — have that expansive look common to those intimately associated with beer. The male students, mostly young, are fresh and alert; the women trim and sprightly as becomes the ace barladies of tomorrow.

One of the instructors—mellow and smiling with a specimen glass of "well-drawn" ale beside him—explains how beer is kept in first-class condition. It takes a lot of knowledge, he says, to draw a "clear, sparkling pint."

Commented a typical pub customer: "There too much of this professionalism nowadays . . . They'll knock all the color out of pub-keeping if they aren't careful."

Donate $12 To Fund

Armitage and Mrs. Tinney. It was decided to send a donation of $12 to the "Help the Children" Fund, Toronto. During the winter months a series of 'pot luck' dinners are to be held intervals as a means of adding to the W.A. funds. The next one will be held at Mrs. W. E. Newell's home.

Killed Man For $28 Hang French Bushman

HAILEYBURY, Jan. 14.—(CP). —John Gagne, French-Canadian bushman, was hanged shortly after midnight for the murder of 68-year-old Robert Todd, a crime that the Crown said was prompted by robbery of the aged Todd's $28 pension cheque.

William C. Inch, Gagne's lawyer, said that the prisoner was in good spirits during the afternoon although he had given up hope for a last minute reprieve.

He was convicted at Cochrane in the case which became known as the "dog-chain murder" because Todd's body was found in his isolated cabin with a dog-chain bound around him and a towel knotted tightly about the neck.

Steel Workers Want More Pay

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP). — Canadian steelworkers may ask for a higher wage than the $45 weekly minimum for a 40-hour week already announced as their objective, national headquarters of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) said here yesterday. The rapidly rising cost-of-living index was given as the reason.

Negotiations for a new wage contract will open next week between the union and the big three of the Canadian steel industry—the Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton; the Algoma Steel Corporation, Sault Ste. Marie, and the Dominion Steel and Coal Company, Sydney, N.S.

Barbara Ann Retains Point Lead

Find Slight Error In Star's Total, But Still Ahead

By JACK SULLIVAN

PRAGUE, Jan. 15. —(CP). — Canada's Barbara Ann Scott, world, European and North American women's figure skating champion, still held today the lead in defence of her European title although an official recheck of the judges' scoring reduced the Ottawa girl's point total for compulsory figures by 2/10ths of a point.

After Miss Scott skated her way to victory in the compulsory figures yesterday her point total was announced last night at 106.7. Today it was changed to 106.5. The difference was not anything to worry the defending champion but straightened out a mathematical problem that had stumped experts for hours.

After detailed back-checking of the points awarded Miss Scott for each of the six school figures by each of the seven judges, the officials admitted to the Canadian Press that their result as first given out to the news agencies and newspapers was a mathematical error.

Very Complicated.

The scoring is so complicated that a recheck involved a minute study of more than 600 figures spread over 14 columns.

As a result the 19-year-old Canadian star goes into the free skating to-night—final half of the European title competition — with an edge of 10 placements and 3.8 points over Czechoslovakia Jrina Nekolova.

A recheck of the scoring was initiated by the Canadian Press when a discrepancy was found. Miss Scott's total points—total of scores awarded her by each of the seven judges for each of the six figures skated—came to 745. On the basis of the judges' figures under the scoring system this should be reduced to an average by dividing by seven—the number of judges—or 106.5.

But the official announcement, which was not accompanied by a detailed breakdown of the scoring by each judge, was 106.7 points. To-day's recheck showed this to be erroneous.

RCAF Flyers In Bus Crash

LONDON, Jan. 15. — (CP). — Members of the RCAF Flyers, Canadian representatives in the 1948 winter Olympic hockey tournament, escaped serious injury today when they were involved in a traffic collision shortly after leaving Southampton dock where they had disembarked from the liner Queen Elizabeth.

A bus carrying 21 members of the Olympic party was struck in the rear by a Southampton street car, and flying glass from shattered windows endangered the players. But beyond superficial scratches there were no injuries.

Wally Halder of Toronto, one of the two civilian members of the team, was seated nearest to the point of impact and had his hat knocked off by the broken glass.

Disband Penny Bank After 40 Years' Work

WINDSOR, Jan. 15 — (CP).— After 40 years, the penny bank system in Ontario public schools will be disbanded, the Windsor Board of Education was told last night.

J. F. Twigg, who attended a directors' conference of the penny bank in Toronto, said it was decided to apply for an Act of Parliament for dissolution of the bank.

Shortage of help was given as the principle reason for disbanding the program.

Reporting on the financial conditions of the penny bank, Mr. Twigg said there are 65,000 active and 13,000 dormant accounts with total deposits of $162,466. Interest accrued on these deposits amounts to $9,500.

War 'Any Day' Unless UN Takes Action

By R. J. ANDERSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Jan. 15. (CP)—Full-scale war with Pakistan may break out "any day" unless the United Nations takes action to halt the current fighting in Kashmir, India told the Security Council today.

Declaring that the situation in the mountainous northern India state, control of which is sought by both Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan, is growing "graver every day," Gopalaswami Ayyangar, Indian minister without portfolio, said "there is at this very moment a small war going on in Kashmir." He added:

"It is of the highest importance that action for the stoppage of fighting . . . should be taken with specific expedition, not only for saving life, property and honor, but also for the purpose of avoiding the risk of a war between India and Pakistan which the compelling necessities of military action might any day precipitate and make inevitable."

Pakistan Denial

India haled Pakistan before the Security Council with charges that her sister dominion was threatening international peace by aiding mountain tribesmen who invaded Kashmir last fall. Pakistan, which has sent foreign minister Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan to plead her case, is ready to deny the allegations and in turn to seek to broaden the discussions to cover all differences between the two new dominions, scenes of communal rioting in recent months which has cost the lives of thousands of Hindus and Moslems.

Addressing the second 1948 meeting of the council, of which Canada became a member Jan. 1, Ayyangar asked the 11-member

Jury Decides Shooting Of Frankford Girl Suicide

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 15—(CP).—Although police said they had found no suicide motive, a coroner's jury last night decided that Marion Jean Badgley, 25-year-old blonde secretary, took her own life with a shotgun in her parents' home at Frankford, Nov. 30. When the girl's body was found her father, Hugh Badgley, contended it could not have been suicide and suggested the girl had been attacked by someone while she was alone in the house. Her parents were at church that night.

Inspector W. J. Franks of the Ontario Provincial Police testified yesterday that he was forced to the conclusion the girl took her own life, but was unable to ascribe any reason for it. Earlier the investigators had discarded any murder theory.

Inspector Franks said it was highly improbable that the girl had been attacked. There was no evidence of a struggle and at the same time there was no possibility of an accidental shooting, he said.

Still Alive

A friend of the girl, Harold Hagerman, 30, said that when he entered the home on the night of Nov. 30 he found the girl badly wounded but still alive. She was sprawled on the floor, moaning with pain.

Asked directly by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan if he had anything to do with the shooting, Hagerman replied: "No, I did not."

Gordon Elder of Foxboro testified he had known Jean well and had kept company with her until 1946 when they had broken off. He said he had received a letter from her, asking him to see her about some matter — he did not know what—and on the Tuesday before her death he had taken her for a drive.

Elder said: "She seemed in good spirits and was not depressed."

Charges Legion Makes Mistake

KITCHENER, Jan. 15 — (CP). — C. N. Weber, owner of the home where 24 Estonians will find housing when they arrive later this week, today challenged the statement of President John Becker of the Kitchener-Waterloo Legion branch that the dwelling had been vacant six months. The Legion head said yesterday a protest was being made to Ottawa in view of the great need of veterans for housing.

Mr. Weber stated today the Legion was apparently misinformed, as "the house did not become vacant until December." He said negotiations for its use for the displaced persons were also started in December.

"Furthermore, part of the house, which is a duplex, has for some time been occupied by a veteran and his family and will continue to be thus occupied."

Legion officials have no intention of dropping the matter concerning the housing of 24 Estonians in Kitchener, President John Becker of the K. W. branch, Canadian Legion said today.

"We have not as yet received a reply to our formal protest submitted to Ottawa yesterday," the president said. "This afternoon we have arranged a meeting with Louis Briethaupt, M.P. for Waterloo North and we will consider a program of action.

Suggest Arab Armies Police All Palestine

CAIRO, Jan. 15 — (AP). — Assad Dagher, chief of the press section of the Arab League, told a press conference today the league has recommended that Arab states occupy all Palestine with regular armies when British troops leave.

Britain has said she will terminate her mandate in Palestine May 15 and that the deadline for evacuation of her troops is Aug. 1.

Asked whether the plan to occupy all of Palestine with regular Arab armies represented the decision of each individual Arab country or the recommendation of the Arab League, Assad said:

"The Arab League recommends and each state is not forced to take the recommendation."

Only 750 Survive Indian Train Ambush

NEW DELHI, Jan. 15 —(AP)— Pathan tribesmen ambushed a train carrying 2,400 non-Moslem refugees in the West Punjab area of Pakistan yesterday and there are only 750 known survivors, the Indian Government announced last night.

Communists Out To Smash Marshall Plan This Winter

BERLIN, Jan. 15—(AP)—Details of a cominform, plan, identified as "Protocol M," drawn up in the form of a military operational order and designed to smash the Marshall plan, appeared today in the French-licensed newspaper Der Kurier.

The Kurier dispatch, from Portmund in the British zone, said the plan, brought to light in Western Germany, would be co-ordinated by the Cominform — the Communist "information agency" set up by Communist leaders in nine countries in Poland last fall—and supported fully by the Soviet Union.

The plan had described the winter as decisive for the working classes of the world and had said all the weapons of the proletariat must be used in the movement, with an aim to cripple the economy of Western Germany, even though Germans suffer in the process.

The plan, as quoted in Der Kurier, declared that the immediate goal was "the breaking of the monopoly-capitalistic attacks and the so-called Marshall plan."

The German Communist party would hold a "key position" under the plan and would be expected to throw its resources "where they can be of the greatest possible assistance."

The German Communist party is not a member of the Cominform, which has its headquarters in Belgrade.

Under the plan, Communists were to win support of the German trade union, particularly the Transport and Metal Workers.

The plan was quoted as saying that the two most vital rail lines in Germany are the Bremen-Duesseldorf and the Hamburg-Bielefeld lines, over which move most of the supplies for the British and American occupation armies and much of the food imports for the Germans.

Use Transport Planes To Speed Exodus, Before 'Red' Advance

CHENGCHOW, China, Jan. 15. —(AP).— Transport planes sped the evacuation of missionaries from this Communist-menaced centre today but civil war fighting hid the fate of an unknown number of Americans and others who had sought safety in Laohokow to the southwest.

Four have been killed in recent days—three of them slain by armed Chinese who shouted "Americans must die!" The fourth was fatally injured by a grenade explosion in Communist-Government fighting.

As missionaries and other foreigners gathered at the busy Chengchow airport, one American said the spread of civil warfare and of anti-foreign sentiment had convinced him it was "time for us all to get out of China again." (There are more than 500 in danger spots, mission leaders said.)

(There are also reports—unconfirmed—that one of five American marines missing in a Communist sector of North China was killed in a clash with the Reds. The five disappeared on a Christmas Day hunting trip.)

Nine Canadians

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—(CP).— Nine Canadian missionaries of the Church of England have been evacuated from areas of civil war fighting in China and now are in Shanghai, it was learned today.

They are Archdeacon G. A. Andrew, Mae Coates and Rev. W. H. Simpson and Mrs. Simpson, all of Toronto; Rev. G. C. C. Scovil and Mrs. Scovil, Winona; Constance Williston, Quebec; Frances Howard, Guelph, and Greta Clark, Omemee.

Explosion Rips Ship Tied Up At Dock

HOBOKEN, N.J., Jan. 15.—(AP).—A ship tied up at the Todd shipyards was shaken today by an explosion that ripped a 40 to 50 foot hole amidships, police said.

Fire Chief George Bonin said first reports were that Tank No. 8 blew up the ship. Eight companies were sent to the scene.

There were no immediate reports of any casualties.

Begin Hunger Strike

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 15. — (Reuters)—More than 24,000 steel and chemical workers in the Ruhr town of Oberhausen began a 12-hour hunger strike this morning as trade counsel representatives of the town and others nearby debated measures against their "starvation rations." All workers in the industrial town of Bochum with the exception of the miners stopped work for two hours this morning in protest against the food situation.

FLEES COMMUNISTS—Miss Greta Clark, Omemee, missionary in China, has been evacuated by special plane with other missionaries, before the Communist advance, and is now in Shanghai.

B-r-r-r It's Cold Peterborough 20 Below Zero

The weatherman's forecast during Monday's sleet storm that temperatures would drop away down throughout the Peterborough district, was certainly correct. A storm centered in southwestern Manitoba is working swiftly toward southern Michigan and will drive light snow flurries before it that will reach the southwestern Ontario section. This still leave this portion of the province in the winter's lowest cold grip, in fact the city's low of minus 20 last night, puts it in the same boat as notoriously frigid spots such as Yellowknife, Prince Albert, Winnipeg and Muskoka, according to official temperature readings.

The lowest recording in Canada, which normally should have been the good old standby, White River, was Hearst. It was minus 50 up there. The district chart this morning looks something like this, the first column mean low and the second shows 9 a.m. readings:

Havelock	—7	—4
Millbrook	—12	—10
Omemee	—18	—0
Marmora	—20	—14
Peterborough	—20	—15
Apsley	—25	—22
Bancroft	—27	—25

There was a great flurry during the night at garages as citizens who had left their cars outside all winter, strove to find a warm corner in some heated place. Storage was filled to capacity and those who were not fortunate enough to get in, were being towed around town in an effort to get started.

Cobourg district had the lowest temperature of the winter last night. At Roseneath the mercury went to 18 below, Harwood registered 14 below and Cobourg went

Report Jewish Plane Fires On RAF Plane South Of Jerusalem Area

Use British Planes, Tanks And Artillery To Halt Bloody Battle Between Strong Arab And Jewish Forces

JERUSALEM, Jan. 15—(AP).—A plane which British military officials said they believed was Jewish-piloted fired on an RAF reconnaissance craft today over Kfar Etzion in the mountain area south of Jerusalem, where Jews and Arabs had been locked in a bloody 24-hour battle. British planes, along with tanks and artillery, had been moved into the area to halt the fighting, in which 50 persons were reported to have been slain. The battle had raged in the vicinity of Hebron where Arabs estimated to number 400 surrounded four Jewish settlements. A Jewish agency spokesman said the "fighting stopped when the military moved in." The British army, confirming this, reported the area quiet.

The army said tanks and self-propelled guns had arrived to patrol the section. RAF Spitfires made dummy runs over the hills at daybreak but withdrew after an hour.

The Jewish spokesman said 100 Arabs and two Jews were slain and a half dozen Jews wounded. But police estimated casualties at about 50, and the consensus of Jewish, Arab and police sources was that 20 Arabs and 30 Jews had died.

The attackers were believed to be "recruits' from Syria and Iraq. Jewish sources said most of the attackers wore uniforms and steel helmets. Damascus dispatches said hundreds of Arabs have been slipping across the unguarded border of Palestine to join in the fight against partition and the Jews.

The unofficial tally of violent deaths in the Holy Land now stands at 784 since the United Nations Assembly voted for partition Nov. 29.

Haifa sources said Jewish snipers blazed away at Arab traffic in that northern port most of this morning, killing four and wounding four in recurrent attacks.

Police said the settlement of Neve Eilan in the Judean Hills between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv was attacked by a large party of Arabs today and one Jew was killed and three wounded.

Plane Lands Safely With Engine Ablaze

MIAMI, Jan. 15 — (AP). — A four-engined cargo plane en route from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Jacksonville, Fla., landed at Nassau, Bahamas, early today after reporting a fire in its No. 1 engine, the United States coast guard reported.

The plane, owned by the Willis Air Service and carrying freight, landed at Oakes Field, Nassau. Only the pilot and co-pilot were aboard.

9 Dead, 55 Hurt In Quebec Railway Wreck

PARENT, Que., Jan. 15 (CP)— As railway workers cleared away the last of the wreckage, and traffice began to move again on the Canadian National Railways line here, the death toll in yesterday's train crash was placed definitely at nine today.

Fifty-five were injured.

"Eight of the dead were passengers, one was an employee," said a Canadian National Railways spokesman who made an official check on the crash of train No. 21 into frost-stalled train No. 11 in 35-below zero weather about 8 a.m. yesterday.

The tentative list of dead, all from Quebec Province, as announced by C.N.R. officials:

Robert Lafleur Burns, 19, and Gerard Lafleur Burns, 22, both of Vaudreuil village, Alfonse Guertin, 19, Roger Guertin, 21, Noel Valois, 19, Germain Valois, 25, all of Ile Dupas

Roger Hebert, 23, St. Samuel, Georges Barbeau, Montreal, and J. A. Vaillancourt, Quebec City, baggageman on one of the trains.

"The line now is cleared of wreckage and traffic is moving again," said the C.N.R. spokesman.

Report Unfounded

He stressed that only nine bodies had been found and that earlier reports that the dead might number as many as 20 were unfounded.

Of the injured three were seriously hurt and they were flown to Quebec City for hospital treat-

Hearst Reports 50 Below Zero

TORONTO, Jan. 15. (CP) — "Continuing cold weather" was the forecast today for Ontario, where a cold snap starting Wednesday dropped temperatures as low as 50 below at Hearst. Other northern Ontario communities shared the brunt of the frigid wave, with minimums of 30 below at Kirkland Lake and 22 below at Sault Ste. Marie yesterday.

The mercury dipped during the night to 20 below at Peterborough; 25 below at Apsley, 35 miles northeast of Peterborough, and 27 below at Bancroft.

In southern Ontario there was an official low of four above zero for Toronto, but outlying sections marked several degrees below zero.

Road conditions generally were good.

Smuts Still Heads South African Cabinet

Struck By Car Woman Dies

MILLBROOK, Jan. 15 (ENS)—Seriously injured in a motor accident when returning from attending St. Andrew's United Church on Christmas Sunday evening, December 21, the death of Mrs. Walter W. Gillott took place at the Civic Hospital, Tuesday, where she had been a patient since the accident occurred. She was in her 84th year.

Born and brought up at Rochester, N.Y., a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Eames, Mrs. Gillott's home during practically all of her married life was at Millbrook, where her attractive personality, and the well-known hospitality of their home, won for her and her husband a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Gillott, whose family connections went back to pioneer days in the village, predeceased his wife by 40 years. His marriage to Lillian Ames took place over 60 years ago, and it is 43 years since they left Millbrook, residing for a short time at Toronto.

Following her husband's death, Mrs. Gillott lived for several years at St. Cloud, Florida, coming north again a little over two years ago to take care of a sister, Mrs. Cora Stillman, who was ill at her home in Rochester, N.Y. Last October Mrs. Gillott came to Millbrook to spend the winter, recuperating after her long nursing period, and from the early part of December was with Mrs. Harry Seaton, who was with her when the motor accident occurred, and whose injuries, though severe, were not as serious as those suffered by Mrs. Gillott.

She is survived by one son, Wilford Gillott, of Windsor, one granddaughter, Margaret, and three great grandchildren, who live at London, Ont.; also by two sisters, Mrs. Stillman and Mrs. Bert Payne (Harriet), both of Rochester.

The funeral will take place from the McIntosh Funeral Home, Oshawa, in which city Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Gillott lived for several years, today, at 2.30 p.m., with Rev. Walter Patterson, of Grace Presbyterian church, Millbrook, conducting the service.

The body will remain in the vault at Oshawa until spring when burial will be beside her husband in Gardiner's cemetery, Millbrook.

Nine Deaths

ment. Others were given treatment on the scene and then continued their journey aboard special trains which went to the scene of the wreck.

It was announced that an inquest will be held at La Tuque at 2 p.m. next Monday.

One of those who last night expressed fear the death toll would be greater than the officially-confirmed nine was Dr. L. G. Bolduc of Senneterre, Que.

The collision occurred at 8.05 a.m. yesterday at Wykes, 175 miles east of Val d'Or, on the CNR's Transcontinental line. The only means of communications is the railway and its private telephone system.

Witnesses said that the weather was overcast when the CNR's crack express ploughed into the rear of a local, stalled on a curve. A steel sleeper on the rear of the stalled train was sent hurtling into the next car ahead.

All the dead were apparently passengers of that coach, said to have been partially made of wood. The local—No. 11—had 11 cars in its makeup, while the express—No. 21—had 10.

No. 11 bound for Cochrane, was already an hour and a half late when it pulled to a stop on the curve near Wykes while the express train was running only 10 minutes behind schedule.

Apparently the local train had developed locomotive trouble because of the extremely low temperature—35 below zero. Signalman Marcel Paulin went back to place a warning torpedo on the track ahead of the curve.

Before he could do so, the express came roaring down the transcontinental line and crashed into the stalled train. A steel sleeper on the rear end was sent hurtling into the next car ahead, the part-wood coach.

The coach was shattered and passengers in other cars of the two trains were thrown from their berths and seats.

Passengers and crews alike, stumbled from the cars in confusion and many, cut and bleeding, struggled to the smash coach.

The electricity went out while heat and water conduits broke under the impact.

Had To Use Torches

Mrs. John Cleary of Noranda who suffered a twisted neck and back said that "We sat in the cars for about two hours without any heat or water. It was so cold that people hesitated to get out. In the other cars water was running ankle deep."

The part wood coach was such a wreck that it took hours before rescue workers could make their way through with acetylene torches. All the dead were taken from that car.

Bodies of the victims were brought out one at a time and Dr. Bolduc, one of the first doctors on the scene said that he had counted 12 when he arrived home last night and that some of the debris had not been searched. He said the toll would probably rise to 18 or 20 after the wreckage had been cleared.

26 People Live In Dirty Rooms

WINDSOR, Jan. 15—(CP)—The 84-year-old pensioner whose illness came to light with investigation of living conditions in a cockroach-infested cellar died in hospital today.

The pensioner, who police said occupied one of the 13 cots around a ramshackle furnace in a house at 378 Windsor Ave. in sight of Windsor's city hall, had been ill for some time.

Officials said a further inspection of the congested house today showed that squalid living conditions have gone unremedied despite an order by board of health and city inspection officials.

All told there were reported to be 26 persons living in the house's 10 rooms, in some cases three persons occupying one bed. The owner of the buliding lives elsewhere.

A report to city council said upstairs conditions were such that a 19-year-old youth was forced to occupy the same bed as his grandmother. In another room a 21-year-old son slept in the same bed as his parents.

A further report on conditions was to be made to Windsor city council today by Constable W. P. Wigle who investigated. There was no indication any action might be taken.

Hospital Costs Up To Province

TORONTO, Jan. 15 (CP)—The Ontario Municipal Association said today in a brief presented to the Ontario cabinet that hospital costs are not a proper municipal responsibility and should be fully the responsibility of the provincial government.

The brief, containing 34 submissions, includes references to municipal elections, social services, highways and assessment.

One recommendation is that the provincial and Dominion governments assume full financial and administrative responsibility for public welfare and similar services.

Many of the representations affect Northern Ontario municipalities. The association asks immediate improvement of highways in that section of the province, supply of fuel to mothers' allowance recipients in Northern Ontario from Oct. 1 to May 31 and consideration of the financial problem of mining municipalities which supply services to the mines' employees but receive no tax revenue from the mines.

Another recommendation is that the government work out a uniform pension plan for all municipal employees "for use in those municipalities which desire to provide for pensioning their employees."

Two Are Killed In Train Crash

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 15. —(AP).—At least two persons were killed and an unidenttified number of passe gers and crew members were injured when two Rock Island trains, one a passenger and the other a freight, collided near the western limits of Little Rock early today.

A Rock Island spokesman said the passenger engineer, W. L. Martin, North Little Rock, was scalded to death. The other fatality was an unidentified woman, who was in a passenger coach which was separated from the locomotive only by a baggage car.

The passenger train was the westbound Memphis-Californian, en route from Memphis to Amarillo, Tex. The freight was eastbound from Oklahoma city to Memphis.

The trains met on a sharp curve at the foot of a long grade. A baggage coach, one car back from the passenger engine, was shoved back into a chair car where most severe passenger casualties were suffered.

The two all-steel cars telescoped and it was necessary to use saws to extricate the injured.

D. McQuarrie Named Board Chairman

LINDSAY, Jan. 15 —(ENS) — D. McQuarrie was re-elected chairman of the Lindsay Board of Education at its organization meeting last night. This starts his second year in that capacity. Members of the board are the same as last year. On accepting the chairmanship Mr. McQuarrie said paramount among the problems was the proposed high school area. An issue which would no doubt be decided in June. With its enlargements to the present collegiate or a new collergiate would be decided upon.

He also asked members to consider extensions to the public schools in Lindsay. "We may need to purchase land for another school in the south ward," he declared, "as the western section of the south ward is growing rapidly. Nearly 100 new homes have been erected in that area within the past year." Continuing Mr. McQuarrie said there may be a large development in Lindsay next spring with increased population growth and increased school populations. Mr. R. G. Lamb declined to accept the vice-chairmanship for another year. "I have been on the board 27 years and vice-chairman for two years. I would like my name to be withdrawn from nomination for the position to let the normal procedure prevail next year. Let this years vice-chairman become chairman next year," he declared. Under normal procedure, as outlined by Mr. Lamb, Mr. Lamb would have been chairman last year. Mr. J. Forman was appointed vice-chairman.

The committees of the board were appointed as follows: management, J. Forman, chairman; W. P. Peel, R. W. Groves, Judge J. McGibbon, Dr. R. M. Parker and T. J. Power.

Curriculum— Mrs. C. M. Laidley, chairman; R. W. Groves, Dr. R. M. Parker, R. J. Vickery, H. Wood, Judge McGibbon. Finance — R. J. Vickery, chairman; R. W. Groves, R. G. Lamb, T. J. Power, H. Wood. Grounds— R. G. Lamb, chairman; Mrs. Laidley, Judge McGibbon and D. McQuarrie.

A. Blewett was re-appointed school attendance officer and J. E. Anderson the board's representative on the Library Board.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Cub Leaders meeting proposed for this week did not take place because your Commissioner for Cubbing slipped a cog, but yor can be prepared for some action early in February. During the first week of February it is being planned to hold the following meetings of which you will all be notified when definite arrangements are made.

Feb. 2—Patrol Leaders Meeting.

Feb. 3—Cub Leaders Meeting.

Feb. 4—Scout Leaders Meeting.

Feb. 5—Meeting for Group Committeemen.

Feb. 6—General get-together with demonstrations.

The time and places of the above meetings will be talked over at a meeting of the Local Commissioner's staff, Art Jack, the Field Commissioner and invited members on Monday next.

The executive sure went through a pile of work on Monday of this week. They are out to give every support to events that will be for the betterment of Scouting in general. The Week of Scout events was endorsed to the full.

Camporee.—This event will be held again for the third year in succession with the same group in charge. A meeting is being held this week to draw up tentative programs. It is expected that the event will take place from Saturday, May 22, to Monday, May 24, with invitations to every unit from Kingston to Oshawa.

Cyclorama. — Our old friend Peter Dominik was again appointed chairman for this afair. We are sorry to think we let it slip by last year. Before Pete left the building he drew up a committee and made plans for the first meeting.

Headquarters.—The committee in charge of this end of our program will be very busy in the next two months looking for a new spot, as we understand that we are getting out of the present location, the building having been sold over our beans.

Recreation Committee. — A request was received by Jack Dane in charge of the local recreation affairs of the city for use of our headquarters for Leatherwork classes. This request was granted.

Badge Committee.—A meeting of this committee is being held on Wednesday of this week to clear up one or two items and it is almost certain that definite data will be in the hands of every officer within the next two weeks as to what action they must take in the passing of badges. It was also stated that the YMCA have granted the local association the use of the pool and gym for Scout purposes at certain hours during the first Monday evening of each month. These details will also be sent to those concerned.

Scout Band. — There is every possibility that a Scout Band will be in the process of formation this Spring. The association is assisting with the matter of instruments.

Scout Week. — We understand that St. Andrew's Group is extending an invitation to all groups in the city to attend a Scout and Guide service at that church on the evening of Sunday, February 22.

News and Reports.

Another appeal to leaders regarding reports. We would like to get news from you every week and in that news the names of boys who step forward by passing tests and are invested into the movement.

We do not like to read "several boys passed tests" and then find no names mentioned. Also, we know that many of the groups are active but get no reports at all.

Why not advertise Scouting this way. Interest your boys' parents by letting them see that something is being done in the pack or troop to which they belong.

Registration. — We are really sorry to report that Murray St. Group is the only group in the city which has not sent in the registration requirements. Outside of that, every other unit with the exception of one troop has paid regisration fees to the full. What about it, Murray Street. Let us make it good in the next column.

Cub Meeting. — Sacred Heart Pack, Jan. 8.—New chums were given instructions by Baghera. Akela took the newly invested cubs in the study of the Union Jack. Baloo took a review of knots with the other cubs.

Sixer patches were distributed to all new boys with uniforms and to the boys in the newly-formed "Brown Six." Sixer stripes were given to Freddie Hamblin and Terry O'Keefe.

Monday, Jan. 5—8th Peterborough Troop met in St. Andrew's Sunday School. Promotions — Doug. Fanning promoted to troop leader; Bill Frisken was promoted to patrol leader, and Bob Hutchinson was appointed second. Fireman badge was presented to J. Frisken and B. Frisken, and the latter was given his stalker badge and Bushman's Throng." Foxes won the patrol competition and the patrol shield.

At St. James'

Your reporter dropped in to see the boys in action in both the Pack and Troop last week, finding about 12 Cubs present. Had a little chat with them on the Cub Howl and its meaning. Then invested young Ed Martin into the world wide brotherhood of Scouts as a tenderpad.

The Scouts were few in number and boxing was the bill of fare for the evening with a good instructor.

St. Paul's Pack

It was with regret so many were absent from reported sickness and we wish them all a speedy recovery to good health. The games were many and various mixed with instruction on Tenderpad and First Star tests. Akela gave a talk on the use of the Cub Handbook, care of uniform and equipment, many of the boys receiving copies of the book for helping them along the trail.

Trinity Wolf Cub Pack

Twenty-two Cubs were present. After inspection by Baloo, Akela led the pack in a game of floorball. Instruction was given by Baloo, Babheera and Raksha, while Mr. Spearin of the Group Committee was on hand to give an ytests that were to be passed. The Brown Six won the point competition for December, making them the best Six in the pack.

Recent tests which have been passed are:—

Time—Frank Jobbitt, Lyle Coveney and Bruce Hill.

Union Jack.—Bruce Hill, Dick Horton, Peter Chown.

Sommersault — Peter Chown and Peter Ashby.

Ball Throwing—Bruce Hill and Gary Hancock.

Knots—Jack Freeman.

Compass—Jim Elliot.

Shoe Shine—Jim Elliot.

Savings Bank—Teddy Spearin, Allan Miles and Jim Fraser.

Folding Clothes—Allan Miles.

Jack Freeman has received his first star and now having one eye open is trying hard to open the second.

COBOURG, Jan. 15 —(ENS)— Judge M. A. Miller was formally introduced to the Northumberland and Bar Association at a dinner meeting held here in the Baltimore Hotel, by J. C. M. German, who was succeeded as counties judge by Judge Miller. In reply, the new judge said that the Cobourg appointment was the best one in Ontario in his opinion, as he found the town very much to his liking. A report on the meeting of District 6 in Oshawa, was given by Neil Fraser of Oshawa, who also spoke on the coming annual meeting of the Federation of Law Associations. J. C. M. German was appointed a delegate to attend this meeting. A resolution was passed that recommendations be brought in with the view of improvement in the registry offices. A paper on improvement in practice and substantive law was given by H. R. S. Ryan of Port Hope.

Judge McGibbon Fails To Upset Board Motion

LINDSAY, Jan. 15 (ENS). — The statement that members of the Lindsay board of education do not take their problems too seriously was reiterated last night by County Judge J. C. McGibbon, county representative to the board. "There is nothing to withdraw," was his answer at the organization meeting of the Board when Dr. R. M. Parker asked if His Honour was serious in his remarks.

Dr. Parker declared the occasion had received wide publicity in the press and had discredited the board in the eyes of the public. He asserted the matter of the cumulative sick leave plan for teachers and other employees of the board had not been railroaded through, but had been passed in accordance with parliamentary procedure. "If a decision were held up because of the absence of one member this could be used as a filibuster weapon," he pointed out.

The judge said he was very ill the night of the November meeting and had made his wishes known to the board. He emphatically stated the matter of the sick leave plan had been railroaded through. The vote on the plan carried by a slim 5-4 margin.

A notice of motion having been given at the December meeting Judge McGibbon moved that the motion adopting the cumulative sick leave plan be rescinded. He was of the opinion Lindsay teachers were being well treated at the present. Mr. J. Forman seconded his motion which was lost on a 2-7 vote. Two members who had previously voted against the proposal considered it had been disposed of in November and should not have been reintroduced.

Shows Deficit

Secretary J. R. Wilford advised the year 1947 had ended with an $1,840 deficit in the high school account and a small deficit in the public school account. The former realized at end of the year because the grant had been overestimated by $3,150. "I believe there may be a favorable revision of the grant," he added. The public school deficit came about because of the unprecedented cost of supplies.

A resolution was passed authorizing the filling out of the required forms for entering high school area with the southern part of Victoria county. Chairman D. McQuarrie suggested the teaching manual training for boys in the higher classes of the Central public school. The matter was left in the hands of Principal W. S. W. Battersby.

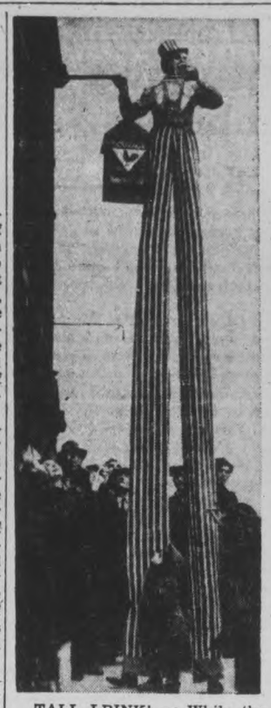
Cobourg Considers Pheasant Program

COBOURG, Jan. 15 (ENS). — The Northumberland Fish and Game Association will hold its January meeting on Friday evening of this week. There will be no speaker but the program will include a number of films.

Considerable interest centres on the question of developing a good pheasant population in the county. Bill Edwards has been very successful raising pheasants on Nicholson Island near Wellington and his experiences will be a guide to others interested in pheasant raising.

Revolver Club Holds First Shoot

COBOURG, Jan. 15 — (ENS)— The revolver club section of the Northumberland Fish and Game Association held its first shoot of the year last night with a good attendance. The revolver club members held a bee last week and put in a new backstop back of the target area, made of heavy boards with sand fill. It is about nine feet high and 15 feet wide and will catch stray shots of beginners. It was also serve for offhand shooting by the rifle club as hitherto all the shooting has been from the prone position against a very narrow backstop.



Highways Plugged

REGINA, Jan. 15.—(CP). — A 40-mile-an-hour wind howled across Southern Saskatchewan last night following a day-long snowfall, plugging freshly-ploughed highways and throttling road traffic. But service out of Regina was cancelled as poor visibility conditions and heavy drifts made roads impassable.

Health Unit Reports 17 Cases Mumps

COBOURG, Jan. 15 (ENS). — Thirty-two cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending January 10, by headquarters of Northumberland and Durham Counties Health unit. Of these, eight cases of chickenpox are under treatment —three each in Millbrook and Clarke Township and one each in Brighton village and Cartwright Township.

Seventeen cases of mumps were reported—ten in Cobourg, one in Darlington Township, four in Port Hope and two in Bowmanville. Whooping cough totalled three, all in Darlington Township.

2 Children Grab Gun From Dad After Slaying

CHATHAM, Jan. 15—(CP)— James William St. Pierre, 34-year-old cab driver charged with the murder of his father-in-law, Joseph McIlhargy, yesterday heard his wife and three children testify about the shooting that caused the aged man's death, and prepared to enter court again today and listen to witnesses called for the defence.

While the jury was excused, St. Pierre himself testified briefly, saying he did not remember being questioned by police officers after the Oct. 1 killing but admitting the signature on a statement was "quite like mine."

The statement was admitted in evidence after argument between Crown Attorney A. Douglas Bell KC, and Defence Counsel James H. Clark, KC, of Windsor. It said St. Pierre did not feel well on the afternoon of Oct. 1 and did not go to work. The statement said St. Pierre had called for his wife at the laundry and took her home in a taxi. He did not remember events after that.

Settling another dispute between counsel, Mr. Justice Jean Genest declined to admit in evidence photographs of the slain man on the floor of his home.

St. Pierre heard his wife, Mary, his son Roland (Buddy) 13, and two daughters, Barbara Jean, 15, and Shirley Anne, 11, testify for the prosecution.

Grabs Gun

Buddy told the court he and his sisters had been in the kitchen with their mother while their grandfather was shaving in the bathroom. He said his mother had responded to a knock on the door and returned, saying, "It's your dad and he has a gun."

As the grandfather came out of the bathroom, a shot was fired and he slumped to the floor.

The 13-year-old boy told how he grabbed the gun and hit his father over the head with it as the father tried to choke the mother. "Then after that he lay down on the day bed in the parlor and cried."

Barbara Jean told the court that she had jumped on her father's back to help Buddy wrest the gun from him. After McIlhargy was shot, her father told her mother: "That bullet was meant for you, Mary," the girl testified.

Our Reply To "The Temperance Advocate"

We have received a copy of The Temperance Advocate for December, and with it a letter from its publisher drawing our attention to an article on the third page headed "A Patriotic Appeal"; in this article the names are printed, in bold black type, of eighteen Ontario publications which print advertising paid for by brewers and distillers, and The Advocate urges them to do so no longer. The name of The Examiner is on the list.

* * *

In its patriotic appeal The Advocate makes assertions which are foolish. It says, for instance, that "accepting liquor firm advertising revenue compromises editorial policy". This is nonsense. In addition to the eighteen Ontario publications listed by The Advocate we name the following, which have always carried liquor advertising: The London Times, the New York Times, the Manchester Guardian, the New York Herald-Tribune, the Yorkshire Post, the Birmingham Post, the Milwaukee Journal, the Edinburgh Scotsman — virtually every important paper published in English might be added. As for the Ontario list it includes Maclean's Magazine, Saturday Night, the Toronto Telegram and a number of smaller papers, of which this is one. Surely The Advocate does not think that the editorial policy of all the papers we have mentioned—or any one of them—is compromised by liquor advertising, or any other advertising? If it does so, it should change its name from Advocate to Fanatic.

* * *

The crux of the matter is this: The Advocate thinks that evil dwells in the bottle, and The Examiner thinks that evil dwells in the heart of man. Drink makes bad men worse; moderate men do not drink more than they can hold, and need have no fear of the bottle. We accept the advertising of liquor firms without a qualm, and if advertising of specific brands of liquor were permitted in Ontario we would publish it.

* * *

As matters stand, brewers and distillers have to publish advertisements about conservation, fire control, tourist trade, heroic deeds, and whatnot; this is called "goodwill advertising". We think that they should be allowed to advertise their wares, like other manufacturers. But Ontario hypocrisy is so powerful and ingrained that there is a law which forbids brewers and distillers to advertise the goods which are sold as a government monopoly and which provide the government with vast sums in revenue. Ontario is reputed to be one of the most hypocritical, narrow-minded, mealy-mouthed, self-deceiving, canting, snivelling and morally oblique localities on the face of the earth, and in its restriction on the advertising of liquor it bears out its reputation.

* * *

The Advocate asks if we will refrain from publishing liquor advertising. Our answer is No.

Taxation According To Value Of Work

The St. Thomas Times-Journal throws out an interesting suggestion for the revision of our Income Tax assessments, and it is this: that workers who are judged to be contributing to the national welfare should be given a lower rate than those whose work is thought to be of less importance. Specifically, our contemporary mentions scientists, doctors, nurses, policemen and firemen, and is especially solicitous for persons engaged in research work.

We do not think that such a scheme could ever be made workable or fair, for it would immediately plunge the Inland Revenue department into a welter of moral judgements from which it would never emerge with its sanity unimpaired. The present system of Income Tax has many faults, but it has one virtue—it does not attempt to make moral judgements or to say that one man is more worthy than another. The Times-Journal would probably not admit it, but many a nation owes a considerable measure of its greatness to disreputable poets and to merchant adventurers who are hardly distinguishable from brigands. Would any government give such people a preferred position in the tax scale? And yet they do as much and more to make a nation great as any number of dull, worthy research workers, many of whom are mediocre drudges, and nothing more.

To label one citizen as worthy, and another as less worthy is not the province of a government. Moral judgements belong to God, and to Him alone. The Income Tax officials are wise to keep their noses tightly pressed against their columns of figures.

Money Talks About U.N. And War

President Truman has presented to Congress the largest peacetime budget in the history of the United States. The total monies asked for are nearly forty billion dollars. The sum is fantastic and the figures when set down in ciphers are incredible. Canada's budget tabled last year was for two billion, one hundred million dollars. (Canada's first budget brought down 80 years ago [1868] was for 14½ million dollars.) The French budget recently announced called for 900 billion francs — seven billion dollars—which is a lot of money to exact from considerably fewer than forty million people already near destitution.

Where is the money going? The United States proposes spending more than a quarter of the budget on defence. So does France. Canada is spending 12 per cent. on defence.

The vast sums alloted for military preparedness are shocking. If money talks truthfully, the nations of the world have more faith in arms than in U.N. The United States is planning to spend nearly twice as much on defence as on international programs, including European Rehabilitation (E.R.P.). If Congress whittles the budget, it will be the Marshall Plan (E.R.P.) estimates that will be pared, not the defence estimates.

In comparison with France and the United States, Canada is optimistic. True, we are spending 240 million dollars on defence, but we have already spent (since the war) nearly two billion dollars on grants and credits to Britain and Europe. In American terms (on the basis of national income) that is 36 billion dollars. This year the U.S. is likely to provide five to six billion dollars for E.R.P. Perhaps it cannot afford much more, after providing eleven billion for defence. Do the Americans believe that they get what they pay for?

The Late T. B. McQuesten

In writing of the late T. B. McQuesten it is obligatory to make reference to the fine work which he did as Highways Minister in this province, and to the beautiful parks and gardens which he caused to be planted in his native Hamilton and also at Niagara Falls. But those who knew him will regret his death not as that of an able and imaginative public servant, but as a man of strong character, powerful convictions, tenacity and dogmatism.

Like many men of strong individuality Mr. McQuesten had two sharply differentiated sides to his nature. He had charm, humour, sensitivity to the feelings of others, and the flow of conversation which one expects of a man of education, wide interests and wide experience: he could also be crusty, rude, intolerant and thunderous in denunciation of those who disagreed with him. Most of those who knew him well knew both sides of his nature and liked him the better for that duality. He pursued certain political disagreements to great lengths, and the division which Premier Hepburn and some of his Ontario Liberal colleagues created between themselves and Mr. Mackenzie King was perhaps more real to Mr. McQuesten than to any other of the group; it could be argued that this vendetta warped his political career during the past ten years.

Mr. McQuesten had many enthusiasms, but possibly the greatest of them was his enthusiasm for preserving old buildings and monuments of the early history of Ontario. He was tireless in this cause, and was instrumental in saving many old houses, churches and other pioneer relics from destruction or tasteless remodelling. He was a remarkable man, an able administrator, an unflinchingly honest public servant, a great hater, a doughty fighter, and a kind and generous friend. Requiescat in pace.

Food was the great weapon of war, and now we read that it is the great weapon of peace. But if we were offered the choice of guns or butter we would have to eat guns, butter costing what it does.

Argentinian Ambitions

By RAY JOSEPHS

FROM the highest possible sources here in Buenos Aires I have been able to obtain the first clear-cut post-war summary of the foreign policy of Latin America's most controversial, powerful and vocal country—Argentina.

From Foreign Office authorities, diplomatic observers of many countries and others it has been possible to get top level explanations which have stripped away much of the double talk which has accompanied recent pronouncements of General Juan D. Peron and Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia.

◇ ◇ ◇

JUST what Argentina is after and the steps she plans to go about getting it, basically boils down to this:

1. Argentina is determined to use her meat, wheat, other food resources to establish her own complete economic independence and assure her place in the sun.

2. Now is the moment to make headway—and every step taken by the government must bear in mind that the needs of a hungry world represent Argentina's big chance.

3. Since the policy is based on getting as much for everything as possible, while outwardly stressing the desire to "work with other American republics and other peace loving countries" in her own "Marshall Plan," Argentina will remain out of all international groups and organizations except U.N., "particularly those which might lower her prices or cause her to submit to less favorable conditions."

4. Extend Argentina's influence, particularly in neighbouring Latin countries as part of what Peron calls his "Americanist policy." Trade treaties, loans, special agreements are one step. The second is making his Army Latin America's largest and most powerful, thus a force never to be overlooked even if it never actually plans any physical invasion.

5. Reverse the trend of being a debtor and become a creditor, using reserves piled up during the war and taking advantage of the fact that while other Latin nations with war's end found their products no longer in urgent demand, a hungry world has continued more desperate than ever for what Argentina has.

6. Push out the British hold and influence which until the war was the strongest foreign power in Argentina; take over the English railroads and utilities and get machinery and equipment in return for pampa beef and grain.

7. Keep a middle course between capitalistic and totalitarian extremism, whether of left or right. Thus maintain relations with both U.S. and Russia, though urged to break with Moscow by Brazil and Chile (both of whom have severed relations) and attacked by the USSR at Lake Success for sponsoring a proposal to drop the big five veto "on direct orders from Washington."

8. Also keep links with Franco Spain despite U.N. attacks to the contrary, insisting that Spain is not an aggressor, that bonds to the "mother country" come first and that U.N. has merely "recommended, not been mandatory on Spain."

9. Strengthen ties with the Vatican, particularly though stressing Argentina's desire to work with the Holy See for peace "to save civilization, achieving the moral and spiritual rehabilitation of Europe, facilitating the material and economic rebirth of all suffering nations."

10. Use the moment to bring "desirable immigration"—particularly Italian and Spanish.

ARGENTINA has given increasing evidence of following the basic policy of this 10-point program. Thus, for example, while participating in the current Havana Trade Conference, she has refrained from actual membership lest her ideas of bi-lateral, special deal barter trade agreements be ruled out in favour of multi-lateral free trading principles which the U.S. has been urging in the Cuban capital and previously in Geneva.

Moreover, though she now has a seat on the Security Council, Delegate Dr. Jose Arce has made it clear that Argentina "did not intend to budge" from her previous stand on Spain or almost anything else.

In any summary of Argentine foreign policy it is important to bear constantly in mind that though administered by Dr. Bramuglia who rates extremely high with foreign diplomats, the policy is actually that of Peron's economic czar Miguel Miranda who heads Argentina's Economic Council and in a certain measure reflects the viewpoint of many Argentines, whether pro or anti Peron.

◇ ◇ ◇

TO a large degree, the Argentine people are not against expansion as such; feel "it's only right their country should lead Latin America." The opposition comes mainly from the fact that opponents don't like the idea of Peron being the one to do it, and that a small handful of followers are thereby gaining so much personally.

Many Argentines of all political views feel the country's ambitions are justifiable, that there's nothing reprehensible about what they're doing. "We're simply following out a logical plan under the favourable post-war circumstances in which we have fortunately, found ourselves", they say.

To many, the idea of their having aggressive designs on their neighbours "is as ridiculous as any 'Norteamericano' believing the U.S. has aggressive designs in Mexico and Cuba." I can state from experience in both countries, however, that Mexicans and Cubans think Uncle Sam does have designs on them just as many Uruguayans and Chileans are fearful of Peron's eager eyeing.

DR. Bramuglia, who was Peron's first appointee to the Foreign Ministry, is regarded by the U.S. State Department as honest and sympathetic, a feeling which has caused him to be termed pro-Yankee by both the right wing nationalists and left wing communists.

A fairly successful labour lawyer, though not specially brilliant, he first came to Peron's attention as counsel for railroad unions, worked in the Secretariate of Labour and held several other posts below Cabinet level during the de facto military regime. Of medium height and build, with an angular face and a pleasant smile, he comes from a middle class family, once studied under Dr. Palacios, and even today is regarded by anti-Peronists as the most responsible and capable of Peron's collaborators. He's avoided personal publicity, and unlike many another cabinet official, has remained close to his own Foreign Office desk rather than reach into other fields.

NO TIME TO BE LOST

Sir: I enjoyed that cartoon by Low, showing the 'Big Four' foreign ministers at the conference table, with friend Molotov broadcasting his 'sports bulletin' over station 'USSR Home Service', and chortling exultantly: "The warmongers are now advancing up the field with their criminal plan of feeding Europe. Will these wreckers wilfully prevent total breakdown Must Germany be torn by Unity? etc."

It is to be deplored, not only that our wartime ally should have become so obstinately unco-operative but, also, that the epochal six months immediately ahead should have synchronised with a Presidental election in the 'Land of the Good Neighbour'? With millions of people continuously hungry—and at the present minute also cold — it is deeply discouraging to observe these opposing forces, when unfavorable weather has created a condition which calls for the united strength of the United Nations?

The present 'E.R.P.' situation reminds this reader of one of Churchill's clarion calls to action in the early years of the war, when Hitler's legions were riding rough-shod over France and Western Europe: "There is not a week, nor a day, nor an hour to be lost!"

I feel the same urgency at the present hour, in connection with the feeding of the starving populations of the war-torn countries. The vanished 'emergency war reserves of food' accept the utter dependence of the human family on the 1948 harvests — about which, only God knows, today? Weather permitting, I am sure that Canada's farmers will play their part in full measure. The core of it would be a 500-million-bushel wheat crop? It merits the nation's prayers!

NO SHACK

Sir: I beg the privilege of occupying a small space in your valuable paper to correct a statement made to the council of the village of Lakefield by Mr. G. A. Carey at their inaugural meeting a report of which appeared in your paper this last week.

My good neighbour appeared at said meeting and complained that I had bought a shack, dragged it down the road and placed it on my property.

Now, if I had committed this unpardonable offence; I ask is it any of his business? If I wished to purchase a building the nature of which he describes, and use it for a chicken house, garage, toolshed or any similar purpose, providing I am breaking no village by-laws, must I consult my neighbours or anyone in particular?

Had Mr. Carey asked me, I would gladly have furnished him and satisfied his curiosity by giving him any information he desired regarding my business, if he felt he was entitled to it, but as the picture shows now, I will only enlighten him, that I have never bought or purchased any cottage, cabin, shack, shed or any building in the village or any other place, nor have I dragged, moved, or caused one to be moved or dragged anywhere or any place in the village or out of the village, any building of any description.

Further, I will inform the council of any buildings on my property, and give them a true description of them; their purpose, whom they were put there by, and any information they require, and would suggest that if my neighbours or any one else would cultivate that virtue of minding their own business it will pay much larger dividends, and their true colour will not be revealed to the public.

Thanking you,

F. E. PEARSON.

INCENSED

Sir: In your issue of your paper dated Saturday, January 10, I notice a letter to editor entitled, "Council Too Free With Pensions." I may say the writer was entitled to his own personal opinion and as such he should assume the responsibility for such letter and sign his name in full if he is telling the truth or his information just hearsay. My reason, Mr. Editor, for writing this letter to you is that I have been personally blamed and accused of being the writer of the letter signed Quo Vadis. I would ask you Mr. Editor to let your readers know it was not (Bobbie) who wrote the letter. In conclusion I may say any one who writes a letter to the press and is afraid or ashamed to sign his proper name and address without using an alibi name is not telling the truth, he should go and see a donkey and have the donkey kick some brains into his head.

Yours sincerely,

ROBERT H. MUIR.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God.

When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. (Col. 3: 2-4.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.

If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit. (Gal. 5: 24, 25.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. (Gal. 6: 8.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands. (Ps. 138: 8.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Some busybody has told my wife that I took you to a dance the other night," said the manager to his secretary.

"Well, what about it?" asked the girl.

"That makes you my former secretary."

◇ ◇ ◇

The dramatic critic started to leave in the middle of the second act.

"Don't go now," said the manager. "I promise there's a terrific kick in the next act."

"Fine," was the retort: "give it to the author."

Commonwealth Countries Donate Gifts For Commons

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Jan. 15 — (CP). — A protective bronze rim on Canada's gift of a white oak table to the new House of Commons will recognize an undignified habit of British statesmen. A Whitehall politician feels he has achieved success when he takes his seat on a front bench alongside the Prime Minister or Opposition Leader. Like them he will lean far back, thump his feet on the table and relax.

In a long debate, Government and Opposition chiefs sit placidly inspecting each others' soles exposed on the table.

Generations of boots had scarred the old Commons table destroyed when German bombs demolished the Lower Chamber on May 10, 1941. The new table will be made in England from Canadian wood, the design being prepared to harmonize with other furnishings by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, chief architect.

The new building still is no more than a forest of red-painted metal frames within the venerable pile of stone known as the Palace of Westminster. But already Commonwealth countries have indicated what gifts they are prepared to make to the Commons from which they have taken their parliamentary customs.

Other Gifts

Speaker Douglas Clifton Brown said in a recent statement that in addition to the table from Canada, Australia would present the Speaker's chair in black bean wood; South Africa, chairs of stinkwood for the Clerk of the Committee of Ways and Means and two clerks of the House; New Zealand, two brassbound dispatch boxes, and Southern Rhodesia, two silvergilt inkstands for the table.

The various woods have been chosen to harmonize with the natural English oak to be used in internal fittings of the chamber. The design of previous furniture will be followed substantially.

Other Commonwealth countries have been invited to participate in the refurnishing scheme. One suggestion is that the top of a table in a new conference room for the Prime Minister might be inland with wood from these countries.

Says Buffalo Plants Close Without Seaway

BUFFALO, NY, Jan. 15 (AP). —A US Engineer Corps officer said yesterday that unless the proposed St. Lawrence seaway project is passed and completed, Buffalo's heavy industries will "die within the next 50 years."

Lt.-Col. Harland Woods, technical assistant to the US district engineer, told a Kiwanis Club meeting that the end of the ore supply in the Mesabi Range in the Minnesotas, principal supplier of Buffalo, already is in sight and that new supplies must be brought from overseas.

"Unless the seaway is opened to bring in foreign ore, Buffalo's industries will starve for supplies," he said.

No Trace Of Plane

VICTORIA, Jan. 15.—(CP). — Naval craft "swept" the bottom of Tricomali channel from dawn until nightfall yesterday, covering an area of two square miles without finding a trace of the Trans-Canada Airlines plane which disappeared last April 29 with 15 persons aboard. The new search was begun following a report from Captain James Salome, Vancouver fisherman, that last Monday he had brought to the surface in that vicinity what he believed to be a section of an aircraft wing.

The special food elements in Ovaltine are processed for easy digestion and cause no digestive unrest. In addition Ovaltine supplies significant amounts of Vitamins A, B_1, C, D, Riboflavin (B_2), Niacin also minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron, which help to replenish worn out muscles and body cells while you sleep.

lasked Marvel Gets Main Bout s Jack Clayborne Is Injured

The Masked Marvel remained undefeated here when he a technical fall—the deciding one—over Jack Clayborne the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena last night. The 'd kept down the crowd, but the fans saw three hot cards ved up. They weren't happy about the decision in the main and rode Referee Al Kor- n hard for letting the Mask away with rough stuff.

Clayborne was hurt in the fall and had to be helped airs afterward and get atten- his neck having a bad 'crink' t. He had previously yanked y a bit of foreign substance n the villainous Marvel and having the best of it. Then missed on a dropped kick to h his neck on the top rope go down. The Mask then nped repeatedly on the neck the referee slow about get- him away. The Mask finally ed him out of the ring, and referee awarded him the de- ng fall in 11 minutes as fans ed.

Earlier, Clay- e at 235 was faster and bet- all the way against his pow- l opponent—and Jack was ular and generally clean in mat tactics—but the Mask was ng and got away with too h. It was a lively bout. The ner remained in the ring dur- the intermission.

He tried to y it rough but Jack was too dy and aggressive to let him set, and the fans were highly ased with this round, as the ree took it easily. In be- en rounds, Katan challenged winner, especially the Mask.

tan Won

Rough and burly John Katan, ing 244, won the semi-final to crowd's disapproval on a refe- 's time-limit decision over Earl Cready, weighing 239. They were both big and strong, and even Earl was willing to rough it to offset unethical methods employed by the wily Katan. Earl plunged in always while John re- treated at times, though he did get some punishing holds—and got away with a lot of rough stuff—on McCready to get the arbiter's nod. Both cuffed aside Korman at times as he tried to wrench them free from bad holds and once Katan was hung up good in the rope. He even start- ed the scrap by jumping the bell.

Don McIntyre, at 226, got the referee's time-limit decision over Pat Flanagan, 220, in the prelim, It opened fast and both played it clean. They dished up a wide va- riety of holds with McIntyre look- ing a bit stronger. For quite a stretch Pat couldn't break an arm- lock as the referee had an easy time of it. They showed a flock of grips and some speedy stuff in spots to keep the fans keyed up. It got rougher, but not dirty, later and both were slow- ed up in an exchange of flying tackles, but they came back to battle it out in lively fashion right to the 30-minute time limit, with the decision going to McIn- tyre.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

It will be two Peterborough rinks who will return tomorrow morning to play in the finals of the week-long men's open bon- spiel.

In the main event G. Braund's rink came through after playing four hard games. In the consola- tion series Fred Stinson's rink will be back. His rink also had to work to gain the verdict.

The games played yesterday were on a par with the games of the previous days. It would hard- ly be fair to say one game was better played than any of the rest but there were two that did seem, at least to us, to stand out—the Dr. Laidley-A. Clark game, and the G. Braund-E. Brown one. These were dandies and it was only in the last end or two that the game was won. Probably the playing of the veteran E. Brown was the outstanding highlight of the day. He was terrific.

The games will continue on today from 9 a.m. with a different group of curlers taking the ice, and then tomorrow for the finals.

This piece of news came to us early this morning. We didn't see the game but we are told that the final Braund-Laidley game was a real treat to watch. It was a real high class exhibition and the spectators were not slow to recog- nize the boys ability. We're sorry we missed that game, but we will be here for the finals.

PCVS Cagers Get Wins Over Trinity

Yesterday afternoon three PCVS boys' basketball teams journeyed to Trinity College, Port Hope, to take on the home team seniors and juniors in exhibition games. In the first game the Junior "B" team at PCVS started the 1948 season auspiciously by de- feating the TCS junior 25-9. Then the Senior "A" and Junior "A" teams combined to form a strong twelve man team to play the TCS seniors. After a close first half the combines pulled away to an easy 39-21 win for PCVS.

The PCVS Junior "B's," com- posed largely of last year's Ban- tams, broke in front on baskets by Batchelor and Bailey and were never headed. TCS could score on a foul shot only, in the first half as Peterborough led 10-1. A com- bination of five field goals and five out of seven foul shots added another 15 points, as against four baskets for the home team in the second half to bring the score to 25-9.

Fairly Even

The first half of the senior game was pretty well even-Stephen as PCVS led 16-14, on baskets by McKee, Welsh, Griffin two, Thompson and Northcott, as against three hoops for Wismer, and one each for Rogers, Bascom, Sweeney and Gaunt.

The Petterborough team pulled away steadily in the second half as Griffin found the hoop three more times, McKee twice, and Connell, Welsh, Richardson, Thompson and Dinsdale once each. The TCS attack bogged down in this half. Rogers, Bas- com and Wismer with one each were the only TCS scorers from the floor.

On foul shots Richardson had two for two, Lee two for three, Thompson, Sergeant and North- cott one for one each. Gaunt scor- ed the only successful TCS foul shot; he also missed one. The teams:

PCVS Senior A, Junior A—Mc- Kee 6, Connell 2, Welsh 4, Rich- ardson 4, Lee 2, Griffin 10, Mor- rison, Grafstein, Thompson 5, Dinsdale 2, Sergeant 1, Northcott 3.

TCS—Rogers 4, Bascom 4, Ver- non, Wismer 8, Williams, Spencer, Sweeney 2, Watts, Gaunt 3, Snow- don, Amery.

Referees — Blow and Cotter, Port Hope.

Junior

PCVS "B"—Jopling 4, Evans, Grant 2, Batchelor 6, Coon, Stacey 3, Bailey 2, Hall 3, Ackford 3, Woodcock 2.

TCS — Rawlinson, Lawson, Greenwood 2, Cleland, Pirie 3, Baker, Wood, Croll, Hoffman 2, Bate 2, Digman.

Referee—Blow, Port Hope.

Warsaw Easy Victors

NORWOOD, Jan. 15.—(ENS).—Warsaw and Norwood had a hec- tic game in the arena Tuesday evening. In the first stanza the teams seemed pretty well match- ed, lots of close checking and neither team scoring until past the halfway mark, when George Payne tried a long shot and beat

In the second, Warsaw really went to town. Play was a little too rough, three of Norwood's good players being injured and unable to return to the ice for the rest of the game. Trevor Brown, a cut face, Allan Fairfield, head injury, and Jack Robson's ribs took a beating.

There was quite a tussle in this, but the referee did not hand out a penalty to either side. L. Lons- berry got three goals, with Joe Watts getting assists on all, and one for himself unassisted.

Paterson of Warsaw, started the scoring early in the third from a nice pass from I. Watts. The Lons- berry brothers got one each, E. Payne and I. Watts two. The game ended with two players in the penalty box. Line-up:

Norwood — Goal, Ralph Par- cels; defence, A. Fairfield, H. Rog- ers; centre, Don Bedore; wings, Jack Robson, Bob Edwards; alter- ntaes, Boyd Kelly, Lloyd Starke, Trevor Brown, Ken Cutherbert- son, Howard Scott, Tom Parker.

Warsaw—Goal, Patterson; de- fence, G. Payne, D. Sharpe; cen- tre, I. Watts; wings, Joe Watts, M. Paterson; alterntaes, L. Lons- berry, D. Evans, S. Lonsberry, E. Payne, Bill Judge.

Referee — Johnnie Hamblin; linesman, Frank Morton.

Blast Rockets 10-3

By The Canadian Press.

Cleveland Barons served notice to-day that although they are in fourth place in the American Hockey League's Western Divi- sion, they are by no means out of the running.

Barons last night in Cleveland tied the AHL record for total goals in three consecutive games by swamping Philadelphia Roc- kets 10-3. This gave them 31 goals for the three games, tying the mark set by Pitsburg Hornets in 1943. In the last three games, all at home, Barons walloped Hershey 12-1, Washington 9-2, and Rockets 10-3.

Centre Johnny Holoda was the big gun for Cleveland, rammed home four goals. Rookie Bob So- linger bagged three goals, while Bob Carse, George Allen and Ab Demarco each bulged the twine once. Phil Hergesheimer, Mike Narduzzi, and Johnny Mahaffy scored for Philadelphia.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Let's see what's on tap for local basketeers this week-end. To- morrow eve the girls go in the Y.W.C.A, Nurses vs. St. Paul's at eight, and Normals vs. Electrics at nine. With Nurses playing Kawarthas on Monday. PCVS junior "A" cagers trek to Cobourg on the mor- row. And the males strut their stuff in speedy style Saturday p.m. at the Collegiate—probably about eight bells—when Toronto West- end "Y" seniors tangle with Outboard Marines "A" squad. Likely a prelim previously. Marines "B" bunch have a Lakeshore League fixture that evening up Lindsay way. Results of last night's "B" battle should be in elsewhere this p.m.

* * * * * *

After witnessing several OHA senior "B" games this sea- son, we feel that a few improvements may yet be made in modern hockey rules. For one thing, why blow the whistle for offside when a guy is nearly out of the attacking zone and obviously out of any possible play as a teammate starts in over the blue line? A few referees and linesmen let it go when it's just a matter of a step, but most stick right to the offside rule. This rule should be changed, we feel, if the trend is to speed up the game—which it certainly is— and cut down on stoppages. Let the referee or linesman use his discretion and not halt play if the guy is nearly out and can't figure in the new attack. Make sure, of course, that he comes right out.

* * * * * *

What's One More Guy?

And another point. Why not permit OHA clubs to dress 14 play- ers, apart from the spare goalie? Thus you'd have three full forward lines, two complete defences and your goalie. As it now stands, with 13 players, a coach must either get by with just three defencemen or else break up his third forward line. The OHA should sharpen up there, allowing more chaps to play hockey, taking a bit of pressure off the coach and team, as well as speeding up play even more. Local officials should suggest these amendments to the OHA ere its next annual meeting.

* * * * * *

Kingston Saints play the Petes in Omemee tomorrow (Friday) night at 8.30, as Legion goes to Belleville. This will be the Saints' first appearance in Omemee this season and should draw a whopping crowd. The scrappy Kingston crew beat Red Creighton's crowd 4-1 in the Limestone City earlier this month, but scored three goals in the last seven minutes. The Petes are hitting into better condition each week—outlasting Belleville on Tuesday—and they'll be battling bitterly to keep intact their undefeated (in two seasons) record on Omemee ice. A streamlined and rugged encounter, no doubt, be- tween two topnotch teams, clubs which waste no love on each other.

* * * * * *

Legions Get Another

Those Legionnaires are out to remain atop the OHA senior "B" standing alone, and they took over the top rung again last p.m. in Kingston with a 6-1 victory in Kingston. Broke loose with a terrific drive in the second period to tal- ly all six markers and break up an otherwise ding-dong bat- tle on fast ice. Legions were sparked by Bob Greenlaw and Ace Nicholls, the former having two goals and an assist, while Ace clicked for two quickies. Joe Rochetta and Bill Crowley each counted once. Whole team showed up well as the Saints are always tough in their own backyard. How- ever, their defence slipped for a space in the second and the speedy visitors tore in fast to cash in on the lapse. Nice work.

Action galore again tomorrow evening in the rousing Trent Valley puck circuit. These games are billed: Stirling at Tweed, Frankford at Campbellford, Marmora at Warkworth, Norwood at Lakefield, and Madoc at Hastings. And the Monday night sheet is: Marmora at Stirling, Campbellford at Hastings, Norwood at Wark- worth, Frankford at Madoc, and Lakefield at Tweed. Some good hockey seen, we're told, in this loop, and the winner will go into OHA intermediate "B" playdowns, having a group bye.

Mask Mauls Clayborne

Not as big a crowd as usual last gloaming at the Brock mat bouts, but then 'twas colder than a game of hearts at a landlords' convention. The powerful Masked Marvel got an unpopular deci- sion in the main melee o'er Jack Clayborne, the latter having a de- cided pain in the neck at the finish of a rugged go. Previously he had looked better, especially on agility, but you can't write off 252 pounds of mean muscle on a trained grappler. The Mask — be he Longson or Mayor Saunders—is a powerful brute. Katan, as big and mean as the Mask, won the semi-final from Earl McCready, while Don McIntyre got the prelim nod over popular Pat Flanagan. The Brock, by the way, is much warmer now than at those old hockey games.

Jimmy Peters, Boston, whose goal and assist helped the Bruins hold the first place Detroit Red Wings to a 1-1 stalemate.

Jack Stewart, Detroit, who earned a goal and an assist against Boston.

Bill Gadsby, Chicago, who notched two assists as Hawks were defeated 4-2 by New York Rangers.

Don Raleigh and Cal Gardner, New York, who each scored a goal and an assist.

Marines Take Cage Tilt Over Hopers

Outboard Marines "B" cagers jerked out a 33-30 Lakeshore Bas- ketball League decision over Port Hope here last night. The visitors went to work early and had a 10-1 lead halfway through the first peri- od. Marines came back to whittle it down and the Hopers held a 15-12 margin at half time. The second stanza was a thriller with both teams using a driving game. Vic Griffin sparked the home at- tack and, with four minutes to go, Port Hope still held a 30-28 edge. But Marines had enough left to tie it and then win.

Reeves looked good for Port Hope, with the team weak on free tosses, missing 13 foul shots. Marines show- ed up well playing a driving game. Vic Griffin, Green and Seabrooke went good on the attack, while Han- bidge was effective on defence. It was good intermediate basketball throughout. The teams:

Port Hope: Berry 6, Cummings 6, Reaves 10, Brandwood 2, Fulford, Watson 4, Trenouth, Gillen 1, Hag- erman, Hodgson 1.

Marines: Seabrook 5, Correl, Smith 3, Hanbidge 3, Burrows, Routly 2, Griffin 11, Gardiner, Green 7, Butcher 2.

Referee, R. Dyer.

Scores Are Low In Lasses' Loop

Glengarrys' Bombers and Com- mandos swept the board in the YMCA Ladies' League last night, nad Y's Menettes also were re- turned winners, taking their points by default.

The scores in this loop have been consistently low for no ap- parent reason as most of the girls are better-than-average bowlers. Ethel Stanbury had the only score over 600 with a 664 count. Last week only two trundlers beat 600.

Janet Morrow had high single of 248.

High team score went to Glen- garry with 2627, and high single game to Y's Menettes with 937.

Legionnaires Defeat Saints By 6-1 In Senior 'B' Game

KINGSTON, Jan. 15—(CP) — Outclassing the Kingston Saints in practically every department, the Peterborough Legionnaires last night trounced the Limestone City team 6-1 before a small crowd in a regular OHA senior "B" game.

The Petes, paced by Bob Green- law-Crowley-Rochetta line which picked up six points, dominated the play during most of the fast, rug- ged contest. Play was fairly clean although Referee Speedy St. Louis handed out 12 penalties, one a mis- conduct to Aitken.

Oddly enough all the scoring came in the second period. Bob Green- law was outstanding for the Le- gionnaires with his sparkling all- round play, he picked up two goals and an assist. Ace Nicholls also scored two. Belwa scored the lone Kingston counter.

Close Checking

In the clean close-checking first period neither team was able to score although the Legionnaires do- minated the play. Udall was called upon to make several sparkling saves particularly in the latter part of the period. On one occasion Vita- relli broke away from his check midway through the period only to hit the post with his shot. Nicholls in the Peterborough cage found the going comparatively easy in the ini- tial stanza.

In the second period, after Belwa opened the scoring for the Saints, the Legionnaires came back with six consecutive counters. With the Kingston defence cracking open at the seams the Peterborough for- wards roamed at will in the Kings- ton zone.

Scored Six

Greenlaw fired the first two counters on nice shots then Ace Nicholls duplicated this feat, scor- ing twice within two and a half minutes. Other tallies were fired home by Rochetta and Crowley. Play roughed near the end and Cas- terton and Rochetta were wayed off after a high-sticking duel.

Neither team scored in the third period although the Legionnaires held the edge throughout. The Rochetta - Greenlaw - Crowley line played brilliantly again and missed several good scoring chances. In the final frame Jack Aitken of the Saints was handed a misconduct penalty when he argued too vigor- ously with the referee.

Wings Tie Bruins On Lucky Goal Rangers Overcome Chicago Lead

By The Canadian Press

The fourth-place Boston Bruins nearly beat Detroit Red Wings last night, and the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks started like whirlwinds before losing to New York Rangers, indicating the National Hockey League at last may actually be turning into a circuit with six contenders. As it turned out, a fluke goal gave Detroit a 3-3 tie with Boston, sending the Wings into the league lead by one point over the idle Toronto Maple Leafs. New York Rangers came within seven points of the Leafs by turning in a final score of 4-2 over the Hawks.

At Boston the Bruins were strengthened by return of centre Milt Schmidt, who had been out for 16 games with a knee injury, and defenceman Jack Crawford, who'd missed eight games with a similar mishap.

Rookie Jim McFadden opened the scoring for Detroit, but Woody Dumart evened it up and then Big Jack Stewart put Detroit in the lead, all before 10 minutes of the first period had gone. In the second period, little Ken Smith and Jimmy Peters both scored on Goalie Harry Lumley, putting Boston ahead 3-2.

Tying Goal.

The tying goal came in the last minute of the second period when Stewart passed out from behind the Bruins net. The puck hit Pete Babanda, Boston winger, on the thigh and Roy Conacher tipped it into the cage. The third was scoreless.

At New York, Gaye Stewart scored for Chicago in the last minute of the first period, on assists from Gadsby and Poile. Bill Mosienko made it 2-0 after six minutes of the second frame.

For Rangers Buddy O'Connor deflected a long shot by Frankie Eddolls into the Chicago cage and rookie Don Raleigh scored the tying goal a minute later. Then Cal Gardner scored what proved the winning goal. Tony Leswick got the fourth for Rangers in the third period.

Sunderland Opens New $18,000 Arena

SUNDERLAND, Jan. 15 — More than 1,800 spectators sat in on the official opening of Sunderland's new $18,000 arena last night as Whitby Intermediates defeated the local ORHA Intermediate squad, 8-5, in the inaugural tilt.

The game was a free-wheeling, actionful affair, with the visitors showing just a little too much speed for the Sunderlands. Samanski scored three goals for Whitby while Lou McTaggart, who played an outstanding game in the losing cause, also fired three for the locals. Sandy McPherson and Jack Anderson were the other Sunderland go-getters.

The arena, built under the sponsorship of Brock Branch 141 of the Canadian Legion, was officially opened by Col. G. A. (Tiger) Welsh, MPP. It was estimated that $7,000 towards erection of the building was raised by public subscription, $4,000 donated by the Legion, $5,000 by the township of Brock and $1,000, and site for the arena by Sunderland.

Canadiens Say Watson Deserved Cut

MONTREAL, Jan. 15 (CP) — Bespectacled Hal Laycoe, Montreal Canadiens defenceman and New York Rangers' fiery Phil Watson have not yet finished their noggin-rapping argument which resulted in Watson having two stitches taken in his scalp last Sunday.

Although the boys are separated by 400 miles—the distance between Montreal and New York—the argument continues with Watson throwing a cloud of dirt at mild-mannered Laycoe who came to Montreal at the start of the National Hockey League season in the much-discussed trade that saw Buddy O'Connor and Frankie Eddolls traded to New York by Canadiens.

Watson, who was traded to the Rangers in 1944 by Canadiens, charged that Laycoe was a "busher" in the dressing-room after the game on Sunday, and produced a creased scalp displaying two neat stitches to prove it.

Phil complained that for no apparent reason Laycoe took a swing at his head.

Canadiens, including the placid Mr. Laycoe, have a somewhat different version of the incident. They claim that at the end of the game, Laycoe checked Watson into the boards and then Phil lashed out with his stick, breaking it over Laycoe's back. The latter retaliated and caught the Ranger across the scalp with the blade of his stick.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The New York State inter-collegiate ski competition originally scheduled for this week-end at Snow Ridge, Turin, has been transferred to Canton, N.Y., and will be held Feb. 6-7 during the St. Lawrence University winter carnival.

The university reported yesterday that 14 men's and women's teams had been entered by Queen's University, Kingston, Cornell, Syracuse, and St. Lawrence Universities, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Hobart, Hamilton, Cortland teachers and Wells colleges. St. Lawrence is defending champion.

Speed skaters training at St. Moritz, Switzerland wonder if the rival Koreans have imported a "secret weapon" to arm their champion, Lee Nyo Chang, for his assault on the fifth winter Olympics, opening Jan. 30.

Since arriving nine days ago, the 27-year-old Lee has been shaving the ice with his long blades at a speed that amazes his competitors.

What is his secret? Perhaps it's his unorthodox training table "rub-down." Lee's coach limbers up the athlete's leg muscles by jumping on them with his bare feet.

New York Yankees yesterday signed an agreement with the Twentieth Century Sport Club and Madison Square Garden by which at least two fights will be held each year in a New York ball park, starting with Joe Louis' heavyweight title defence in June at Lankee Stadium.

The Pacific Coast Hockey League yesterday voted unanimously to give up its amateur status at the end of this season and become the professional Western Hockey League.

Sam Meredith's Barrie rink yesterday defeated Neis Findlay's Thornhill quartet 10-8 to win the championship Imperial Oil Trophy and top honors in the Midland Curling Club's 15th annual bonspiel.

The United States Senate heard a plea yesterday for financial support for the country's Olympic teams, but out of the Senators' own pockets, not the U.S. treasury. Senator Styles (Rep.-N.H.) Bridges told the Senators he has received word that the U.S. skating and skiing teams, now in Europe to participate in the winter Olympics, "are without the financial support which is necessary if they are to go through as America's representatives in the first post-war Olympic games."

Coach Sgt. Frank (Buck) Boucher said "We've a good club—despite what you may have heard—and we shall do all right."

Sqdn. Ldr. Sandy Watson, the team's manager, sprawling on a bunk in a stateroom, grinned broadly when he heard that London newspapers had nicknamed the team "Canada's mystery team."

"That's just fine; let's keep 'em guessing," he said. "We aren't just sure what we're up against either. Most of the other Olympic teams are dark horses just like us."

Ski Injuries Worry Officials

MONTREAL, Jan. 15 (CP). — The Canadian Olympic Ski Committee is "disturbed" over injuries to members of the Canadian team at present undergoing training at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Harry Pangman, chairman of the Canadian Olympic Ski Selection Committee, attributes the injuries suffered by several members of the team to treacherous ice conditions along many of the trails at St. Moritz.

Four members of the team have suffered injuries to date—injuries that may have telling effects in the big Olympic trials. Bill Irwin of Princeton, BC, has a concussion, Pierre Jalbert with a fractured leg will definitely be out of the running when the events get under way January 30, Lucien Laferte of Three Rivers is a doubtful starter, with his leg in a cast after a severe sprain, and Ottawa's Harvey Clifford is sidelined for the time being with a sprained ankle.

Pangman said that trails in the Alps were rougher and faster than those experienced by Canadian skiers at Valcartier, Que., during the team selection trials in December. But he discounted a suggestion that Canadians tired easily on three to four-minute Alpine runs because they were not used to them.

Combines Victors Over Madoc, 11-2

STIRLING, Jan. 15 — (ENS)— The Stirling-Bata Combines hammered out an 11-2 TVL victory over Madoc earlier in the week. They were too strong in all departments, and, after the first frame, scored almost at will, despite some good goaltending by Carswell. It was a clean contest on fast ice.

Reynolds scored from Nickle in the first, and Thompson got the other Madoc goal next heat. Stirling scored four in the second by B. Bastedo, D. Bastedo, Mason, and Pukaniks, with assists gy Schmidt, B. Bastedo and Desjardin. They ran in seven in the third, Mason and Desjardin having a brace each and Arn ong, D. Bastedo and Cooke one apiece. Assists went to D. Bastedo, Armstrong, Desjardin, and Cooke.

The teams:

Renar, ... son; alternates ... Coy, R. McCoy, Nickle, Smith, Lewis, and Kearns.

Stirling — Goal, Acquino; defence, Schmidt, Armstrong; centre, D. Bastedo; wings, Twigg, B. Bastedo; alternates, Desjardin, Cooke, Mason, Pukaniks.

Athlete Of Year

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 — (AP). — Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame's all-America quarterback, today was named male athlete-of-the-year for 1947 in the annual Associated Press year-end poll. The 22-year-old star, winner of the Heisman Memorial Trophy and named the standout player of the Jan. 1 east-west Shrine game at San Francisco, drew almost twice as many first place votes from United States sports editors as his nearest competitor.

Publicity Men Past Masters Of Zany Yarns

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15. (AP)— Tyrone Power hurt the feelings of a lion the other day, and pretty little Jean Peters showed up at her studio red-eyed and weary because her cow had the colic. And any reporter who failed to pass this word along to the public is a dog—to the press agents.

The postman groans and grows older under a load of flotsam and jetsam spewed forth daily by a battery of hopeful movie publicists.

Newspaper men are supposed to be endowed with a special olfactory sense enabling them to smell news. They can't support this claim physiologically, but they can develop through long practice, a sense of suspicion. While there is no precise formula for distinguishing between fact and fiction in every case, a good reporter checks and double-checks everything.

Because studios have a habit of regarding everything through a magnifying glass a sprained ankle is likely to become a fractured leg in the publicity man's handout. These exaggerations, together with what is known among publicists as the "dream-up" account for the fact that much of their product ends up in the newspaper man's wastebasket.

However, some of the items with which studios seek to interest the press are interesting as part of Hollywood's flimsy fabric. Here are a few, culled from a week's mail:

Dottie Lamour has cast off her sarong and adopted the "new look." She's cutting up her last two sarongs and making them into neckties for co-workers in a picture her studio hopes the newspapers will identify.

No Painting, Leon!

Leon Ames has been forbidden to continue painting his fence green until he finishes his movie-making with Rosalind Russell. He gets paint under his fingernails. The studio has estimated the cost of shooting time lost while the manicurist plies her trade, but the amount would only make you unhappy.

When Betty Grable was running around in her bare feet not long ago property man Fred Simpson had the utillating task of preceding her with a giant magnet attached to a broomstick. If Betty's dancing tootsies (worth $100,000 to Lloyd's of London the pikers) should pick up a stray pin she'd have to have anti-tetanus shots. Anti-tetanus shots would cause a loss in production time valued at practically any amount you, or Lloyd's of London can think of off hand.

One press agent is sure everybody will be glad to learn that Roland Winters' dachshund, after six veterinary treatments, has regained his hearing, lost during an airplane ride. And special effects men at one studio courted nervous breakdowns by trying to get X-ray photographs of the four stomachs of a camel. The rays penetrated only two stomachs. The studio sent out a rush call for a thinner camel—about as thin as the story.

Oh yes, the lions, Power and ... pet him.

We might as well clear up that case of cow colic too. Miss Peters had her 12-year-old Jersey, Lulu Belle, shipped all the way from Maine because Jean missed her pet. But the cuisine at the boarding ranch where Lulu Belle was put up didn't agree with her. Miss Peters sat up with her all night.

Tigers Gain Revenge, Swamp Mercurys

By The Canadian Press

Owen Sound Mercurys said the Tigers were their most serious threat—they were right.

In Hamilton last night, Hamilton Tigers moved into sole possession of first place—blanked the fourth-place Mercurys — and avenged last week's 4-0 defeat by Owen Sound with their 4-0 victory in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A fixture.

In the junior loop Galt Rockets had Oshawa Generals on the run for 60 minutes when a deflected shot from Dick Gamble—off a Galt skate—with less than a minute remaining in regular time gave the second-place Generals a 5-5 tie with the third-place Rockets, at Oshawa. The overtime tussle moved Oshawa within five points of the first-place Windsor Spitfires.

After their lengthy stay Toronto Marlboros were finally pushed off the top roost when they were humbled 7-3 by the third-place Stratford Indians at Stratford in last night's other senior tilt.

At Barrie the junior Flyers walloped the fifth-place Stratford Kroehlers 5-1 and moved into a third-place tie with Galt Rockets.

In a junior twin-bill at Toronto the league-leading Windsor Spitfires walloped the eighth-place Toronto St. Michael's Majors 5-2 and the seventh-place St. Catharines Teepees in their desperate bid for a play-off berth swamped Ed Widey's cellar-dwelling Toronto Young Rangers 7-1.

Ignore Injuries

Hamilton's Tigers although plagued with injuries stopped Owen Sound's five-game winning streak. Hamilton sent up only two forward lines to face Owen Sound's three — a situation reversed early in the season.

Tigers played the final period without rightwinger Johnny Connick who limped through two frames and then checked out with water on the knee.

Tommy Smelle led the Bengals with two goals while Carl Smelle and Bert Peer tallied one each.

The big feature of the game at Oshawa was the 12-man free-for-all in the second period. Galt coach Alfie Moore addressed a few uncomplimentary remarks to referee Frank Elliott. The official ordered Moore from the bench but before the gendarmerie were brought from the other side of the rink the teams staged a four-minute tussle that embraced everyone—on the ice. It took 40 minutes to play the second period. Four major penalties were handed out.

Oshawa marksmen were led by Gamble with two goals while Sullivan, Sandy Air and Joe Lafrance tallied one each. Harry Marchand led Galt scorers with two counters. Sam Mulholland, Lyle Gibson and Al Singleton sank the remaining Galt goals.

Lakefield Wins

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 15 (ENS) —With the temperature at 14 below, a good crowd saw the Lions juveniles defeat Omemee, for the second time in a row, by a 10-5 score here last night. It was so cold that when the ice was scraped between periods dense fog arose and one could hardly see across the ice.

The Lions were too individual the first period and were held to a 2-2 tie. But they had a 5-2 margin in the second, with Birch scoring one on a penalty shot to make it 7-4. The home team had a 3-1 edge in the third. Birch led Lions with four goals and two assists, Morrison counted twice, Knox had a goal and an assist, and Flavell, Calberry and Dracup each scored once, as Hockaday aided on one. O. Crawford shone for Omemee with three tallies and Fox had two. Teams:

Omemee—Goal, Osborne; defence, P. Calberry, Flavell; centre, Birch; wings, Knox, Dracup; alternates, Evans, Sabatino, Morrison, R. Calberry, Hockaday, Hunter.

Referee—R. Ouimet; linesman, T. Junkin.

Second Skier Hurt

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Jan. 15 — (AP). — United States ski team hopes in the forthcoming winter Olympics started January 30 dimmed to-day as a result of an accident to a second member of the American squad. Ralph Bietila, 23-year-old jumper from Ishpeming, Mich., broke his left wrist while making a practice leap. Art Devlin, 24-year-old rider from Lake Placid, NY, injured a knee earlier at Davos.

Dupe Glasgow People

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP).—The Daily Express said yesterday in a front-page news story that a man known as "George" who smuggled displaced persons from Germany to Canada, got passports by duping Glasgow citizens. The paper said that his plot was unravelled by special investigators who questioned the "dupes" after interviewing a man in jail.

All-Winnipeg Final Likely In Bonspiel

NIPAWIN, Sask., Jan. 15 (CP). — An all-Winnipeg final in the $23,000 Nipawin bonspiel today was a possibility after yesterday's triple triumphs by Jimmy Welsh and Grant Watson in their respective groups in the round-robin competition leading to the 'spiel's grand prize of four 1948 automobiles.

Another Winnipegger, however, defending champion Howard Wood, was not so fortunate, dropping two of his three games yesterday to practically eliminate himself from any chance of repeating his 1947 victory.

Life And Education Of A Prince....

By H.R.H. DUKE OF WINDSOR

Synopsis of preceding instalments —The Duke of Windsor continues the story of his life. In previous instalments he recalled his early childhood spent with his royal parents. He described members of the royal household who played a big part in his upbringing. Henry Forsyth, a former pipe major, and of the Old School, and Frederick Finch, who was nurse, valet and Findlay Cameron, both Scotsmen companion to the Duke. He wrote of his early education, and described his tutor, Henry Peter Hansell, and Canon Dalton, who had been his father's tutor in the Navy, and who taught the royal youngsters their scriptures every Sunday.

It is a fascinating commentary upon the flexibility of British society that this man who played so influential a part in moulding the character of a royal Prince should himself have produced under the shadows of Windsor Castle a son, Hugh Dalton, who was until recently the Chancellor of the Exchequer of a Socialist Government.

CHAPTER FOUR

And to teach me French, the diplomatic language of the time, my father had resort to another of his old Navy tutors, a gentleman with a bushy black beard, an enormous bald head, and the improbable name of M. Gabriel Hua.

Since he had achieved but indifferent success with my father, I was never able to understand why Hua was expected to succeed with me.

He was a friendly man, yet like all French professors he did not escape the fate of becoming at the hands of British schoolboys the butt of crude practical jokes.

One day, at lunch, when we were at Frogmore, M. Hua digressed from a long-winded exposition of the subtleties of the French indefinite article to praise the excellencies of French cuisine, dwelling with particular rapture on the succulence of frogs' legs. As we children had never eaten them, our immediate reaction was that Hua was making up a good story. But as he talked on, his earnestness impressed us, and it finally dawned on us that not only did this annoying man eat frogs' legs; he actually preferred them above other food.

I think it was Mary who first had the idea of exploiting Hua's eccentricity, but my mother was in on it too. Armed with a fine mesh net and a bucket, we sallied forth to the lake in search of frogs. But as it was the spawning season, we had to content ourselves with a catch of tadpoles. These we carried triumphantly to the kitchen, and instructed the chef to broil them and serve them on toast that evening as a special savoury dish for the French tutor.

Ignorant of the Plot

M. Hua was, of course, completely ignorant of the plot, and when the time came for the savoury, and the footman passed the dish to the frog eater, I saw in a side glance that all the conspirators wore an expression of angelic satisfaction.

Of course, it had never been our intention to let the professor eat the tadpoles, but before my mother could utter a warning, he was attacking the toast with knife and fork, and conveying the half of it to his mouth with a gesture of anticipation. Mama cried, "No, no!" and stammered that it was all a joke, and that his special savoury was not meant to be eaten. My impression is that M. Hua gallantly swallowed what was already in his mouth, but pure hatred was in the glance with which he swept the table; and with a curt bow to my mother that was like cocking a shotgun he flounced from the dining-room. Mama's eyes twinkled. "I am afraid, children," she said softly, "that between froga' legs and tadpoles the French gourmets draw a fine line."

From M. Hua my brother and I learned one polite accomplishment —the ability to recite in French. This accomplishment was the origin of a novel way of saying happy birthday to my parents and grandparents on their individual birthdays. In advance of the family celebration, each of us would choose a poem which we would undertake to memorise, and copy with painful care on long sheets of foolscap, which were then bound with bright ribbons. At the party we children would advance all in a row, recite our little pieces, and then present the copies.

My parents usually so arranged it that these prodigies of memory were performed in the privacy of the family. But at Sandringham my grandparents liked to invite their guests to listen to the performance. My grandfather was always polite in his applause, but no more so than my grandmother, who was stone deaf; hence I was never quite sure whether either one derived much pleasure from these acts of virtuosity.

In any case, for us children the whole business was a nightmare, entailing hours of memorising and copying until we were word and letter perfect.

"Upon the good education of princes the welfare of the world depends." Thus expounded the Prince Consort in planning out for my grandfather an educational programme which in its severity and harshness seemed more appropriate for the rehabilitation of a criminal. To the extent that the end desired was a sober, learned and rigorous mind, that straitlaced programme had failed notoriously in the case of my spirited grandfather, and on looking back over my first five happy years under Hansell—happy but curiously ineffectual years — I am forced to admit that by contrast a milder régime had little if any more success with me.

Worry to His Mother

My lack of progress used to worry my mother, who once exclaimed, "But these chilren are terribly ignorant!" My father, in his more direct way, attributed the trouble directly to my dumbness. Yet quite apart from the question of whether I possessed the intellectual equipment to make a good student, the circumstances of my birth combined with the constitutional constraints of a monarchial democracy to dilute and slow down my preparation for the modern world.

For one thing, I never knew the spur of competition until I was nearly 13 and had gone to a naval school. While its absence no doubt made my childhood pleasanter, those formative years were devoid of the sudden creative bursts and ranging interests that are normally inspired by the competitive association of young boys.

Then, too, the fact that I was destined from birth for the Navy tended to throw an iron ring around my education. Indeed about the only condition enjoined on Hansell by my father was that I should be able to pass the entrance examination for naval cadets by the time I was 12 and a half years old. Because Greek and Latin were not required for the Navy my father saw no sense in my learning them. Nor did I even know those wonderful books that my friend Winston Churchill taught himself to read—Gibbon, Macaulay, and all the rest.

Yet in justice to Hansell, it must be said that he appreciated the shortcomings of his tutoring. Possibly at the risk of losing his job, he repeatedly warned my father that if ever I was to catch up with my contemporaries, with whom I would have to compete in the Navy entrance examinations, I should be sent to a good preparatory school where my intellectual development would be stimulated. My father would not hear of it. "Send this boy to a private school and he will only acquire a lot of bad habits," he declared. "The Navy will teach him all that he needs to know."

Canada Wants 200,000 Men

WANT 200,000 MEN

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 (CP). — The 11th annual conference of Defence Associations—an organization of officers formed in 1932 and regarded as one of the most important unofficial military organizations in Canada — concluded a three-day session last month behind closed doors here and reaffirmed its belief in the need for a strong defence force.

The conference urged the development at the earliest possible date of a strong national defence force for the defence of Canada against any potential alien foe as well as "defence against such forces as would destroy us from within."

Attended by senior officers from all Canadian military districts, the conference discussed a resolution formulated a year ago and presented to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and the cabinet.

The resolution, still before the cabinet for consideration, reviewed the attitude of the Defence Associations on matters of national defence. It embodied recommendations which in effect called for the creation of a peacetime national defence force or reserve army which would number approximately 200,000 men. The association urged the government to find the money, accommodation and men for the development of such a force.

The resolution said in part that "if the provision of accommodation and training facilities conflicts with projects which the department of reconstruction considers to be more important, then the government must tell the public that such is the case and that he formulation of final defence policy must wait."

The national body meets annually in Ottawa and is representative of unit and smaller local associations. Among other things the conference considers problems of national defence, assists the government in placing these problems before the people of Canada, and generally promotes the welfare of the defence forces of Canada as a whole.

Bites Mailman Twice In 2 Days

LINDSAY, Jan. 15.—(ENS). — Postal authorities report dogs biting the mail carriers on their rounds.

Latest incident brought to the attention of police is the case of carrier Grant Ferguson, bitten by the same dog two days in a row. The day before yesterday the dog jumped at him, catching him by the arm and sinking his teeth through a heavy mackinaw and into the flesh below the elbow. Yesterday, Ferguson said, the same brute took a bite at one of his legs, only to be foiled by heavy boots.

Postmaster A. R. Warner says he is getting fed up with the existing situation. "If these incidents continue," he says, "I will have summons sworn out to hail the owners of the dogs into court. Police have promised speedy action.

More than 125 of the coins have been dug up by the treasure seekers.

Family Testifies Father Drunk Before Stabbing

GODERICH, Jan. 15 —(CP) Testimony that hair tonic, shaving lotion and wine "bought bootleg at the roadside" were all consumed during a party which preceded the slaying, was given yesterday at the murder trial of Frederick Littlechild, 42, charged in the fatal stabbing of Charles Bell Sept. 15.

Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder and the Supreme Court jury were told that Bell was intoxicated when he was stabbed during the party at the Littlechild home.

Donald Littlechild, 20, son of the accused, said he came home from work and ate in the pantry because his father and Mr. and Mrs. Bell "were all drunk." He stepped outside and later heard the sound of a scuffle.

"I saw Charlie (Bell) come to the door with blood all over his chest, then I heard him fall," said Donald Littlechild. "I sent the kids for the doctor. I found Charlie in a pool of glood on the floor. Mabel (Mrs. Bell) was lying on her side in the blood. Father was lying on the couch. The doctor came in and said Charlie was dead."

Identifies Knife

Another son of the accused, 12-year-old Bobby, gave testimony without being sworn, after he said he had never been to church or Sunday School and did not know the meaning of an oath. He identified the knife allegedly used to stab Bell as one given by Bell to Littlechild as a token of friendship.

The boy said he came home from school to hear his father and Bell "talking loudly. Charlie was talking louder than my daddy. Charlie went to the pantry. Daddy was lying on the couch. Charlie came out and slapped daddy in the face. Daddy didn't say anything. Daddy didn't get up."

The boy went out to play, and when he returned he saw Charlie Bell on the floor "with blood on him. I was afraid and didn't go in the room."

Mrs. Mabel Bell said "I don't know who struck the first blow but I think it was my man. I saw Fred (Littlechild) with the knife."

Suspended Sentence

CALGARY, Jan. 15.—(CP). — Harry A. Read, 32, of Calgary and Medicine Hat, yesterday was placed on a four-year suspended sentence when Magistrate G. H. Rose termed the story of the Second World War veteran's life since his discharge "an indictment of our whole society." Read, a bomber pilot with the RCAF, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to rob the main branch of the Bank of Montreal here Dec. 24.

Reverse Policy On Beer Stores

TORONTO, Jan. 15 — Policy of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario to acquire the retail beer stores now owned by private companies apparently has been reversed. From Oshawa yesterday it was announced the Brewers Warehousing Ltd., Toronto, had purchased the retail outlet in that city from E. A. Donald and had obtained a long-term lease on the Whitby store owned by Mr. Donald.

When queried last night as to whether there has been a policy change, Liquor Commissioner William Griesinger declined to comment.

At the 1946 session of the legislature, the Liquor Control Act was amended, giving the board the power to operate outlets for the sale of beer only, in addition to the stores which now sell liquor, beer and wine. At that time it was indicated that the beer stores would be acquired as the individual leases ran out.

Despite the change in ownership of the Oshawa and Whitby stores, Mr. Donald remains as manager of both and there will be no shift in personnel. The undisclosed purchase prices is believed well above $100,000.

Bandit Orders Glass Then Rifles Safe

THORNBURY, Jan. 15 — Police here are looking for a nervy bandit who walked into Gordon Pyatt's hardware store, ordered a pane of glass, rifled the safe while it was being cut, paid for his purchase, thanked Mr. Pyatt and walked out.

The robbery went unnoticed for several hours because Mr. Pyatt, although he missed the money, thought his secretary, Vardella Boone, had taken the money to the bank. Later, when he learned what had happened, he called police.

Tonight Pyatt, a council member, was being taken to Simcoe County Jail to look over a lineup including James Martin and Edward Williams, captured after a similar robbery attempt at Thornton.

Guilty Of Blinding

DETROIT, Jan. 15.—(CP). — Roy B. Hix, '41, county fair sideshow barker, was found guilty here yesterday by a Recorder's Court jury of delivering the kick which blinded one eye of 10-year-old Richard Hinson last summer. Sentence will be passed later.

Local Firm Gets House Contract

Indication that 550 houses would be built in Belleville beginning in the spring was reported in the Belleville Intelligencer in reference to a communication to the municipal council Monday night from Sands and Bateman, Limited, of Peterborough, "asking that sewer and water services be laid in the Sidney township property that is to be annexed to the city."

"These houses would be in addition to the 300 which are to be built under Wartime Housing, Ltd. in the Thurlow township area east of the city."

Belleville has three new industries, American Optical Co., American Bakelite and Northern Electric, and it has been reported that their location in that city was dependent upon assurance of adequate housing accommodation.

Sands and Bateman have taken an option on the Sidney township property. That project contemplates in its present stage the building of 150 houses for sale and 400 for rent.

Pakistan Draws Far-Reaching Plan For Educating Citizens

By NOEL BUCKLEY

KARACHI, Jan. 15—(Reuters).—Beset by troubles within and without, with little but courage to brighten its immediate future, the Moslem dominion of Pakistan recently found time to draw up a far-reaching plan for the education of its future citizens. A convention of 30-odd educationists and education ministers from the provinces and states of Pakistan who gathered in Karachi for a four-day session with the Dominion Education Minister was Pakistan's first education conference; but its significance was greater than that.

It was an important step towards realization of the visionary Pakistan as a new, strong Moslem power, progressive, yet true to Islamic teaching and drawing inspiration from its Mogul past.

Fazlur Rahman, Pakistan education minister, described the conference as the "first important landmark in Pakistan's history," while Dawn, leading Moslem daily newspaper in Karachi, described the three broad recommendations made by the conference as "momentous."

The conference passed a resolution that the educational system in Pakistan "should be inspired by Islamic ideology, emphasizing among many characteristics those of universal brotherhood, tolerance and justice, that religious instruction should be compulsory for Moslem students in colleges; that the same facilities may be provided for other communities in respect of their own religions should they desire; that physical training should be compulsory at school stage with special emphasis on such activities as scouting, military drill, rifle clubs, mountaineering, and that provision for compulsory military training should be made in universities and colleges.

Research Council

Most specifically, the conference recommended establishment of a council of scientific and industrial research, a council of technical education, a women's nursing training corps, a council of Islamic studies, a Pakiston historical records and archives commission, a central advisory board of education, a Pakistan academy and a national library and mueseum.

They further recommend establishment of an institute for the teaching of foreign languages and introduction of a scheme for the exchange of educationists, teachers, students and literature with other countries.

The conference's recommendation to the Pakistan Constituent Assembly that Urdu be adopted as the universal language of Pakistan may cause some surprise outside India and Pakistan where Urdu—sometimes called Hindustani—has been widely regarded as the lingua franca of the whole sub-continent of India.

What the average foreigner arriving in India learned or picked up as Urdu was frequently a few hundred words of basic Urdu.

What the average Pakistani means by Urdu is the polished, literary, Persian-based language of the old Mogul courts. But even in Pakistan, what constitute pure Urdu is as much a matter of controversy as what constitutes pure English or pure French is in the countries which use these languages.

Lumber Remains Popular Export

By The Canadian Press

The significance to Canada of stabilized international trade and a workable foreign exchange is illustrated by the president of a large lumber exporting company.

H. R. MacMillan, in his annual address to shareholders of the H. R. MacMillan Exporting Company, Ltd., of British Columbia—which, incidentally, increased its 1947 profits by more than 300 per cent. to $7,123,234 and its gross income by 100 per cent. to $636,129,300—emphasized that despite a heavy construction year in 1947, Canada absorbed only 38.7 per cent. of British Columbia's lumber production while 61.3 per cent. went outside the country.

A breakdown of the market for lumber shows that United States received only 13 per cent. of the export while other countries, largely dependent on Canadian and United States loans, received the remaining 87 per cent.

The MacMillan report predicted that lumber will remain in great demand abroad and will exceed any possible satisfaction for many years. "If there is to be a world re-construction program the fundamental problem is not that of supply or demand but one of foreign exchange."

40 Join Battery Plan Summer Camp

Already well into their winter training schedule on military subjects, the gunners of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment (The Prince of Wales Rangers) RCA, at the Peterborough Armouries, turned their thoughts to lighter things Tuesday evening, following their evening workout, when they laid plans for their first gunners' dance of the current season, at the Armouries.

Date set for the dance is January 23, and invitations are being issued to all ranks of the regiment to attend this special function, first social effort of the newly-formed gunners' mess. A meeting of the mess will be held following the parade, when committees will be appointed and a good attendance of all hands is expected for the training period prior to the meeting.

Recruits for the regiment are steadily coming in and an excellent number is turning out each night for training. New equipment is arriving and many of the lads are having their first crack at predictors, heightfinders, guns and equipment. Openings in all branches are still available, however. Word in connection with the formation of the new artillery band is expected within the next few weeks and already a number of former bandsmen have expressed their intention of renewing their acquaintanceship with the regiment. More than 40 recruits have signed since the first of the season and plans are now being laid for summer camp in July, at Picton, at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery (AA).

Alderman Says Attack Slander

TORONTO, Jan. 15 — (CP) — Charles Sims, English-born alderman for Ward Five, appearing before Board of Control to answer a charge that he surrendered Canadian citizenship in favor of Russia citizenship, said today it was "slander . . . concocted since the election as a flimsy way of depriving Ward Five of its alderman."

The charge was contained in a letter made public last week by J. Osborne-Dempster, who was a central figure in the CCF's charges in 1945 that the Progressive Conservative provincial government operated a "gestapo."

Mr. Dempster said that, because of the alleged renunciation of Canadian citizenship, Mr. Simms was not rightfully elected to city council.

The alderman said he was born in England and entered Canada legally 24 years ago. He had visited Russia in 1934.

"The most significant thing about this letter is that it was not written before nomination day—the time to have raised such a matter . . ."

Meters Are Fed Phony Coins, Slugs, Souvenirs

Something new in the line of parking meter slugs was unearthed yesterday. A copper coin, the size of a one-cent piece, and showing considerable age had been used by one enterprising customer in an attempt to get the meter into action.

The coin was inscribed on one side, in old-fashioned style lettering: "A. Schmidt, East Saginaw, Mich." The resourceful Mr. Schmidt's business was described on the other side: "Dealer in Iron, Nails, Stoves, Crockery and Paints."

Every collection of the meters reveals several dozen further examples of motorists who evidently regard the meter as something to be beaten at all costs.

Amusement park slot coins—which loudly proclaim that they are not negotiable for cash—are one of the most popular. The police are also building up a fine collection of steel, lead, iron, copper and brass washers of various shapes and sizes. Metal disks of all materials (including wood) are included in the faulty attempts to avoid the payment of a copper or nickel.

SPOTLIGHTED BY U.S.-RUSS DISAGREEMENT — General Lucius D. Clay, U.S. military governor of occupied zone in Germany, left, shakes hands with Lieut.-Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, the British military governor, as they met in Frankfurt to discuss the new plans for German bizonal economic administration. Evidently his meeting and plan does not suit the Russians. In the Soviet army paper, "Taegliche Rundschau," an editorial deplored the meeting on the plan. They also hined, in the story, that the Reds will attempt to force the western Allies to leave Berlin. Said the story, written by M. Sibinow, a Russian officer, "There is no room in Berlin for adherents of the partition of Germany." However, Generals Clay and Robertson have anticipated the possibility to attempt to force them out of Berlin and it is known hat they are prepared to fight it.

Leading auto makers switch to new kind of tire

Call Super-Cushion by Goodyear greatest tire advance in 15 years

Bigger, softer tire runs on only 24 pounds of air . . . gives incredibly smoother ride, amazing new comfort, safety and mileage.

EVERY day more and more new 1948 cars are rolling off the production lines equipped with a new kind of tire.

Auto engineers who tested this new tire . . . the Super-Cushion by Goodyear . . . said: "We want this tire for our new cars . . . now!" Here's why:

First tire to lick lateral shock

After the tests these engineers were openly excited. "It really absorbs lateral shock," they said. "No tire ever did it satisfactorily before!"

Springs and conventional tires absorb up-and-down shock. But until Goodyear produced the Super-Cushion, lateral (crosswise) shock was one of the few things yet to be licked in the modern motor car. Pillowy Super-Cushions soak up crosswise jolts.

To you, the motorist, this means a sensationally new luxury ride . . . far less fatigue . . . less wear and tear on your car from engine to body bolts.

Super-Cushions blot out shocks, help prevent rattles, lengthen the life of your car.

• Until Goodyear produced the Super-Cushion, lateral (crosswise) shock was one of the few things yet to be licked in the modern motor car.

Super-Cushions soak up both kinds of shock, give an unbelievably smoother ride, better car handling, cut wear and tear on your car!

• The Super-Cushion is an altogether new KIND of tire. Leading car makers found it made an astonishing improvement in motor car operation. Then they said: "We want this tire for our new cars—now"! In 1948 Super-Cushions will be standard equipment on a large share of Canada's best-known automobiles.

An incredibly softer ride— easier, safer car handling

The Super-Cushion is a bigger, softer tire. It holds more air, but runs on only 24 pounds of air pressure . . . instead of the usual 28 to 32. It gives a softer ride, an unbelievably smoother ride . . . not only on bad roads but even on good roads.

Super-Cushions bring you indescribable new ease and security. Your car hugs the road better . . . seems to float through traffic. On a small car Super-Cushions give you the ride and feeling of security you get in a big car . . . they make big cars ride even better.

Super-Cushions are safer— give more mileage

Super-cushions literally flow along the road. You get safer steering, easier handling . . . especially on curves. Since they're softer, they "roll with the punch," are harder to cut or bruise, have extra blowout resistance.

Super-Cushion Tires are BIGGER!

Conventional Size		Super-Cushion Size
5.50	replaced by	6.40
6.00	replaced by	6.70
6.25	replaced by	7.10
6.50	replaced by	7.60
7.00	replaced by	8.20
7.50	replaced by	8.90

Super-Cushions run cooler, build up less pressure, give greater mileage than the finest standard tires.

Super-Cushions on new cars

Your new car may have Super-Cushions. If so you are already enjoying an incredibly finer ride. If you have yet to order your new car take a tip . . . insist on Super-Cushions . . . a new kind of tire for a new kind of ride.

• Super-Cushions run on only 24 pounds of air as against 28 to 32 pounds in most tires.

City Leaders Welcome Nashua Group

Industrial, business and municipal leaders welcomed at the Peterborough Club Wednesday afternoon the large party of Nashua Paper directors and executives who are here for three days to dedicate to production the splendid new plant of Canadian Nashua on Braidwood Ave.

From Mr. V. E. Nunez, president of the company in New Hampshire, down the list of 18 visitors, everybody seemed delighted with the warmth of the greeting with which the three-day stay began. Directors and others have come to know Peterborough from other visits, and executives of the party had lived here for years. The occasion was a renewal of felicities, and for quite a number of the Nashua group it was pervaded with something of the color of old home week.

A Nashua party is being held tonight at Club Aragon celebrating the transfer of manufacture from the old Aylmer St. plant, occupied 26 years, to the company's own estate in the new south end of the city. Peterborough employees and management will be joined by the visitors from the parent company.

WILLIAM AGGAS

City Officer Joins Mounties

William Aggas, a member of the city police for nearly three years, leaves Saturday for Rockcliffe, where he will enter training school with the RCM Police. He will specialize in study of fingerprints and identification technique.

Born and educated in Manitoba, Constable Aggas is well known in Peterborough. Prior to the city police appointment and during the war he was for more than three years a member of the United Kingdom Inspection Board, serving at Brockville, Montreal and Peterborough.

Before this, he was employed at the CGE plant here for about eight years. During that period, he played lacrosse for various teams in city and district competition.

Child On Sleigh Whisks Under Truck

The rear-mirror view of a child on a sleigh skidding under the back end of his truck brought an instant and horrified reaction from Stanley Scott, 80 Victoria Ave., yesterday afternoon. Slamming on the brakes, Scott jumped from his cab, expecting to find the worst.

Six-year-old Robert McIlwain, by some freak of luck, was not touched by the truck. His sleigh-ride on Stormont street put such momentum into his sleigh that he was unable to stop.

As best the two participants in the hair-raising incident can piece together, Bobby shot right between the wheels under the truck. When the truck stopped, one wheel was just touching a runner of the sleigh.

The child had disobeyed his mother and he knew it; however, the only penalty apparently that he will pay is to have his sleigh taken away, but this should serve to impress on his mind the danger he exposed himself to.

Wage Boosts Not To Blame For High Prices, He Says Forecasts Economic Chaos

"Wage costs in the past twelve months have had practically nothing to do with the spiralling prices," declared Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, speaking at a union-sponsored meeting in the Collegiate Auditorium here Wednesday night. During the meeting, which was attended by about 100, local and national labor officials lashed out at the government and "vested interest," which were blamed for the present price situation.

Mr. Conroy, principal speaker of the evening, outlined the history of prices for the past decade. He pointed out that before the end of the war organized labor had warned the government of the impending crisis and that they had urged that price control be retained "until we are out of the woods." This opinion—that controls should have been retained—he argued represented the wishes of the majority of the Canadian people. Describing the current price levels as the "worst thing which has happened to this nation in the past seven or eight years—including the war," the speaker said that removal of controls meant "planting the seeds for another military conflict."

"It is not the function of govment to fit the people to a particular system which happens to be their philosophy," he contended.

"Rather, it is the duty of a government to operate to fit the needs of the people."

Price controls—the "keystone" of a stabilizing program after a major conflict—were removed at the pressure lobbying of "at most ten per cent. of the people of Canada," he said, referring to the "industrialists who supply the two old parties with the money to elect them."

He termed "false propaganda" the argument put forward by many—including Finance Minister Abbott in the House of Commons recently—that wage increases had been largely responsible for the price jumps.

Using the packing house situation as an example, he said that the ten cent per hour increase recently won by the workers could have been covered by an increase in price of less than one-half cent per pound.

Issuing an urgent and eloquent appeal to the general public to support the campaign of organized labor for price reforms, he said that the only true "cure" was the election to Ottawa of "a government which would carry out the wishes of the people—the ordinary men and women who form the sinews of this great country of ours."

He denied reports that the purpose of this visit to the city—his first—was to "oust the AF of L" as had been reported in a Toronto paper. This, he said, was "the last thing" he had in mind. Rather, he assured members of the Federation that he wanted to co-operate in unifying the drive.

The warning of labor during the war was ignored by the government, he said, but "it doesn't help now to say 'I told you so.'" That warning had been "good to the last letter."

"We are now marching towards the verge of economic chaos."

"We can't do it ourselves," he told the audience, in asking their backing.

"Take your place in the ranks. Support us in asking for a square deal. The government will listen to the people if the people show that they mean business."

Industry In Control

Sam Hughes, eastern Canadian director of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, and vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, another speaker, charged that "these manufacturers have control of the government."

Stressing that industry could have paid wage increases from profits, he recalled the urging of industrial leaders that controls be released, and the arguments advanced at that time that, under uncontrolled economy, the price figures would "level off."

"Look what has happened," he said.

Referring to experiences of organizing labor groups in sections of Canada, he termed the government of Premier Duplessis of Quebec as "fascist." He told his audience that "storm troopers" of the provincial government there

Find Yugoslavia Disappointing

HAMILTON, Jan. 15—(CP)—A Yugoslav-Canadian, back in Canada after a brief stay in his Communist - dominated "fatherland," said today he found most Yugoslavs are "badly disappointed" with conditions under the regime of Marshal Tito.

The man, who asked that his name be withheld because of possible reprisal, said in an interview that he was one of several hundred persons who went to Yugoslavia from various parts of Canada last year.

"I spent six months in my homeland and I found most of the people were badly disappointed. They had been led to believe they were fighting for a free Yugoslavia when they supported Tito, but now they find the government does not give them the freedom they had looked for.

'Everything is done by plan and any person who dares to say anything against the government is thrown into prison....the Yugoslavs living in Canada were led to believe that they would find much better living conditions at home than they had enjoyed in Canada but such is certainly not the case....I think you will find that just about all of them who have enough money left will return to Canada....I stood it for six months but that was enough."

TRULY GALLANT DEEDS...acts of bravery, of kindness, of unselfishness...are being performed daily by people like yourself—most of them with the same worries and problems that you have. The DOW AWARD, sponsored by DOW BREWERY, was inaugurated in the belief that these brave deeds should be recognized publicly and deserved praise given. Recipients of the DOW AWARD, who receive a framed citation as well as a $100 Canada Savings Bond, are selected by the Dow Award Committee—a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers—from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

College Students Aim Too High Opinion Of University Head

By RICHARD CUSHING

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15 (AP).—Trying to follow in the footsteps of Horatio Alger heroes has frustrated a lot of fine college students, says a California educator, and it's high time the boyhood yarns were tossed out the window.

"Every youngster can't grow up to be president, and they might as well realize that cold fact," says Dr. J. Paul Leonard, 45-year-old president of San Francisco State College. "It takes second fiddles, too, to make up a symphony."

Dr. Leonard is revising his college's curricula to fit individual needs and aspirations. The Missouri-born former professor of education at Standard University conducted a searching study of 200 students carefully selected as a cross-section of the student body of 3,200.

What he found, raised faculty eyebrows. Forty per cent of the students were socially maladjusted, some tragically so. Thirty-seven per cent came from broken homes and reflected insecurity. Sixty-two per cent were determined to enter the professional lines, such as medicine or engineering.

This 62 per cent bothered Dr. Leonard, since only about five per cent of Americans actually find work in the professional field. Dr. Leonard feels this remaining 57 per cent struggles futily seeking a goal impossible to achieve, and the result is personal tragedy — maladjustment, discontent, frustration.

In this words: "There is a great wastage in education by students pursuing a number of courses for which they are not suited, only to discover they have to start over again.

Personal Guidance

Dr. Leonard proposes to study each student personally to determine his capabilities, interests, emotions, successful experience, adjustments and maladjustment, drive and other things that will affect his vocational choice.

Then the student will be presented with a wide variety of occupations in which he can expect success, adequate earnings and emotional tranquality.

"We want to encourage him to seek training in those positions rather than to have him flatten his head against a wall which he could probably never batter down."

"We just have to reorient these young people or they are going to go on being maladjusted," he said.

"Look at it this way: Youth needs to come to the conclusion that every man is worthy of his hire and that life is a symphony, and that a symphony would be worthless with nothing but conductors or first fiddles." Dr. Leonard plans to establish guidance panels to which students can go with their problems. And he proposes to build college courses to fit individual needs. The result, he hopes, will be college graduates vocationally adjusted to their roles in life, adequately trained in the basic skill, prepared for marriage and parenthood, and ready to assume an active part in a democratic society.

Abdication Or Prison Choice Given Michael

VIENNA, Jan. 15 — (AP). — A member of the Romanian royal household, en route to Switzerland to join ex-King Michael, said here yesterday Michael's abdication on December 30 was a "direct result of Russian pressure on the Romanian Government to recognize the regime of General Markos (Vafiades) in Greece."

(In Athens the Conservative newspaper Embros said yesterday in a Paris dispatch that Moscow forced Michael to abdicate because he and his entourage had access to too much information concerning Communist plans to incorporate all of the Balkans into the Soviet Union. The dispatch also said there was no opposition from Michael on orientation of his country to Russia, and that he was offered only the choice of abdicating or being abducted to Russia.)

He predicted further that Premier Petru Groza would be forced out within a month and that Anna Pauker, Communist Foreign Minister, would become the ruler of Romania, in name as well as in fact.

Tel Aviv, Jaffa Turn Guns On Each Other As War Nears

JAFFA, Palestine, Jan. 15 — (AP).—The streets of this all-Arab seaport city are dotted with Syrians, Iraqi, and Trans-Jordanians mingling with Palestinians awaiting orders to move next door into all-Jewish Tel Aviv.

And over there the Jews are preparing a welcome with grenades and bullets from behind sandbag barricades.

These coastal "twin" cities are Palestine's most heavily fortified bastians for the conflict which everyone confidently expects is coming.

If full-scale civil war comes, the Jews will have lost it Tel Aviv falls; the Arabs never will win until and unless they take it.

Tel Aviv is the symbol of Jewry in Palestine. It is the one best bet to become at least the provisional capital of the Jewish state.

Jews believe that as long as Tel Aviv stands, partition and Jewish statehood are possible.

There is a protective ring of steel around Tel Aviv, put there by the Jews. Every point is bristling with gun posts.

Against them are Arab gun posts on all sides but the sea. Residents of Tel Aviv still sit in the sun on terraces, but when they go across the street they duck and run, because Arabs atop minarets in Jaffa can, and do, snipe at them at will.

Jaffa, target for recurrent Jewish attacks in recent weeks, appears to be a seething cauldron of hate. It is laced up by dozens of steel-and-stone road blocks, and there are little knots of people with guns on virtually every street corner.

Fred McKenzie Heads Education Board

HAVELOCK, Jan. 15—(ENS)—Fred McKenzie was elected chairman at the inaugural meeting of the Board of Education Monday night. He has been a trustee for 4½ years.

The retiring chairman, Robert Sayers, thanked the board for their co-operation during 1947.

The following committees were appointed on motion by Trustees Wide and Sayers:

Property Committee— B. Haryett, D. Plunkett, J. Wilde.

Finance Committee—D. Mathison, W. J. Nobes, R. Sayers.

Principal L. Cooke of the high school reported ten pupils absent through illness. One pupil was absent two weeks in October and three weeks in December. Attendance officer had investigated and found he had been working at a service station. The parents had been contacted and had no knowledge of his non-attendance and it was their desire that he should attend school. He has only attended one day since holidays.

Mr. Cooke also reported that while in Toronto he had visited the Department of Education regarding the physical culture course. Rifle shooting, he said, was compulsory and that girls may take target practice. Fifty rounds of ammunition will be supplied for each pupils.

Want Prizes

A donation for prizes at the commencement exercises some time in February was mentioned and on motion of Trustees Plunkett and McMillan, Principal Cooke was given a grant of $20 for that purpose.

Principal W. M. Patterson of the public school reported a total enrolment of 169 pupils, the attendance being from 30 to 35 per room. The Christmas concert, he said, had been a big success, and financially the best since he had been in charge. The net proceeds amounted to $61.79, giving each room approximately $12.35, the teachers to spend the money on their respective rooms.

The attendance percentage for December of 93.69 per cent was lower than for the preceding month. There were 130½ lawful absent days and 19½ unlawful days. The epidemic of mumps and chicken pox accounted for the lower attendance.

The appointed of a truant officer was left until the February meeting.

Principal L. Cooke of the high school requested salary increase of $200 per year. It was moved by Trustees Nobes and Haryett that the request be granted.

An amendment was moved by Trustees Mathison and Sayers that no action be taken at this time regarding a salary increase was lost. Mr. Cooke's salary will now be $2,800 per annum.

Principal W. M. Patterson of the public school, requested and was granted a salary increase of $100 per annum. His salary is now $1,900 per annum.

On motion by Trustees McMillan and Haryett, the secretary, Mrs. D. McMillan was given an increase of $50 per year, bringing her salary to $150 per year.

The following accounts were passed Teachers' and caretakers' salaries, $1,629; A. Spencer and Son, $1.92; Clarke Irwin and Company, $10; Hydro Commission, lights, $36.75; Havelock Standard, printing, $26; Moyer School Supplies, $19.

Requisitions to the municipal council to meet the operating costs of the high and pblic schools for 1948 were as follows: High school, $1,000; public school $7,-250.

COAL-FED BACON—Did you know that hogs thrive on coal? Ross Bennett, of Pueblo, Calif., owner of the hogs being fed here by Miss Marie Massarotti, says that coal-and-rock-salt is an excellent conditioner for hogs. He feeds his 70 porkers a ton of slack coal a month and 100 pounds of rock salt. He gets the coal at $5 a ton, which is also cheaper than corn or grain. Because the coal keeps the hogs in top condition, says Bennett, they derive more good from what they eat and thus require much less corn. They seem to be enjoying the shovel of coal donated by Miss Massarotti here.

Woman Driver Wins Acquittal

KITCHENER, Jan. 15.—(CP).—Dorothy Stumpf, 20, of suburban Knollwood Park, was acquitted late yesterday of manslaughter and dangerous driving charges arising from the death last Aug. 22 of seven-year-old Dennis Hartung.

An Ontario Supreme Court jury returned the acquittal verdict after 45 minutes' deliberation.

Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven said he had no quarrel with the verdict but he advised Miss Stumpf never to drive an automobile without having a driver's license and never to drive after drinking.

Earlier yesterday, the young woman testified she had no license at the time of the fatal accident but that she had intended to apply for a "learner's permit." She said she felt competent to drive and that the accident happened when he foot slipped off the clutch pedal.

Miss Stumpf testified she drank 1½ glasses of beer shortly before the fatality. Two policemen said earlier that she smelled of alcohol after the mishap but that she was not intoxicated.

Steel Production Hits New Peacetime High

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—(AP)—Steel production this week in the United States hits a new peacetime high, a rate that would produce 89,500,000 tons of steel ingots annually, the Iron Age, national metal-working weekly, said today.

This production has not been attained since the all-time high in 1944.

Major steel firms are still boycotting the free steel scrap market in an effort to force scrap prices down but they have budget it little.

"Faced with a lack of scrap business from big steel firms, scrap dealers have been forced to turn their effort to foundries and other channels," the Iron Age said.

Strachey Asks Canadians Match Drive

LONDON, Jan. 15 — (CP). — Food Minister Strachey, on behalf of the United Kingdom Government, to-day appealed to Canadians to help—"to match if you will"—Britain's export drive to Canada with a parallel "Canadian drive to import British products."

This, he said in addressing the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, would be the best way for Canadians to help Britain pay for Canadian foodstuffs and put the Anglo-Canadian economic relations back on a sound footing.

"If you will inform us of the buying programs of your great public authorities, of your major industries and the like, it will . . immensely help us to cater for your real needs.

"And by so doing we shall surely be assisting you both to continue to sell your agricultural products and raw materials in the United Kingdom and to get the imports you need from a place in which you have no difficulty whatever in paying for them.

"Such an increase of direct bilateral trade between the United Kingdom and Canada can never be more than one factor in solving the Anglo-Canadian economic problem. But it is an indispensable factor. For the rest we must, in the short run, frankly patch up perhaps by temporary expedients the gap which otherwise threatens to open between our two economies."

Of the 72 bachelors who participated in the hunt, 30 of them were tracked down and claimed by the girl-friend admirers.

Choose Thomas Pryde Huron PC Candidate

HENSALL, Jan. 15.—(CP). — Thomas Pryde, 59-year-old manufacturer from nearby Exeter, yesterday was chosen Progressive Conservative candidate in the Huron riding by-election set for Feb. 16 and it was indicated the contest might be a straight fight between Liberals and Progressive Conservatives.

Through F. R. Darrow of Goderich, John Huckins, C.C.F. candidate in the 1945 general election, announced he would not run in the by-election called to elect a successor to Dr. R. Hobos Taylor, Progressive Conservative, who died last month. Mr. Huckins will support Mr. Pryde, Mr. Darrow said. No other C.C.F. candidate has been nmentioned.

Liberals of Huron meet here today to nominate their candidate.

Urban Housing No Job Of DVA

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—(CP).—An official of the Veterans Affairs Department said yesterday that the Department has nothing to do with housing in urban centres.

He was commenting on a dispatch from Kitchener which said the Canadian Legion was complaining that a house, which the owner refused to rent to veterans, was being made available to 24 Estonia refugees.

The official said he had not yet seen the protest and that it likely would be referred to the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. A Corporation official said he had not received the protest and he doubted if anything could be done unless the house was one that belonged to the Corporation.

He said that while emergency shelter regulations still are in effect it had been some time since the Corporation had ordered a vacant house to be rented.

Asks Age Limit For Retiring Of Senators

MONTREAL, Jan. 15 (CP). — An age limit at which Canadian Senators should retire and a "most careful study" of a proposal that they not all be appointed by the same source, the Federal Government, were suggested by Senator A. K. Hugessen.

The Liberal Senator from Montreal said he believed it would be a desirable reform if Senators were automatically retired at a certain age but that this age should not be too low.

"It is surprising how much of vigor and of ripe and mature judgment is contributed to our proceedings by men in their 70's," he explained. "I would be inclined to place the age of compulsory retirement at 80 or at any rate not sooner than 75."

He added that today there are only 16 Senators who have reached the age of 75, of whom nine are over 80.

The speaker said he thought the fact that Senators were appointed only by the Federal Government was "an undoubted weakness." A reform proposal that one half of the Senators from each province should continue to be nominated by the Government of the province was worthy of careful study, he remarked.

Won't Affect Ships

LONDON, Jan. 15 — (CP).— A government spokesman said yesterday that the one-fifth reduction in steel deliveries to the British shipbuilding industry announced Monday by Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will not affect the size of the British merchant marine since the planned cut will be imposed on ships built for sale to dollar-area countries.

HELSINKI, Jan. 15 — (Reuters). — Prof. Elis Berven, Sweden's leading cancer specialist, said on his arrival here last night from Moscow that he had been treating "one of the Soviet Union's marshals." Asked if his patient was Marshal Stalin, the professor replied: "No, but I cannot disclose the identity of my patient."

AIRLINER CRASH KILLS FIVE—Five persons were killed and four injured when an Eastern Airlines DC-3, two-motored plane, en route from Houston, Texas, to New York, crashed in a severe rainstorm about five miles southeast of Washington, D.C., just a few minutes after receiving clearance to land at the capital airport. A rescue party is shown at left extricating a victim found pinned under the wreckage. Moshe Shertok, right, head of the Palestine agency's political department, now in the role of liaison official to U.N., is pictured with his hands to his face as he ponders a point during a press conference at Lake Success, N.Y. He disclosed that the Jewish agency soon will ask the U.N. for an international police force, arms and funds to enforce the partition of Palestine.

Hugh Stewart Purchases Lakehead Farm

In Peterborough County's largest property transfer for many years, Hugh Stewart has bought "Lakehead Farm" near Fowler's Corners, on the Peterborough-Lindsay Highway, from the estate of T. S. Kerr, Toronto.

This farm is situated on the north side of the highway with flankage on the boundary between Smith and Emily townships, and has a long shore line on Chemong Lake. Its 250 acres includes an island of 45 acres.

Mr. Stewart acquired land and buildings, livestock and implements, the entire establishment of the late Mr. Kerr, a former stock brokker who had been gradually developing it as a business man's country estate, different from many others in that its operation is reported to have showed an annual profit.

The livestock comprised 95 head of Hereford and Shorthorn cattle, 159 hogs, 450 hens, seven work horses, and, for their feed, 3,000 bushels of grain, 75 tons of hay, and also 15 tons of straw.

Dispersal Sale

Mr. Stewart has not yet decided what he will do with this highway and lake front farm, but he has completed arrangements for a dispersal sale of the stock and implements Thursday, January 29 beginning at 12 noon.

The purchase of the property was completed by Mr. Merton Storey and Mr. Charles Quinlan, local realtors, and Mr. Gordon Hancock has been engaged as auctioneer.

This whole farm plant is thoroughly modern in its equipment, and particularly in its bran, piggery and hen house. They were built for efficiency in production, are lighted by electricity, have their own chopping machine, weigh scales and so on. The water system is a principal asset for the care of stock. There is a central well from which water is pumped through a system that includes a water bowl in every stall.

Eggs Sent to Toronto

In the business of the farm 130 dozens of eggs were supplied weekly to the Granite Club, Toronto. Two men have been engaged in working it. Buildings included a comfortable stucco house on the highway. The southwest corner at Fowler's Corners was sold in lots and are occupied by store, blacksmith shop and garage, comprising a comunity group of services.

Mr. Stewart told The Examiner today that he was not interested in keeping beef cattle, decided to sell the 55 head that came into his possession, and with them the full range of equipment and stock.

Lots Surveyed

"Lakehead Farm is in Smith township," Mr. Stewart said. "Mr. Kerr had the property surveyed, dividing the highway frontage into 20 lots each of two acres, 200 feet along the highway and 512 feet deep. Apparently it was his intention to sell them to those who wish to live in country surroundings. The lots perhaps would have attracted buyers because the farm is only a short motor run from the city, and is on the provincial highway. There were other lots marked off along the west boundary. The farm has been steadily improved by Mr. Kerr, and with its Chemong Lake frontage has been an attraction to most motorists passing that way."

Mr. Stewart said he could only make a guess of the Kerr expenditure on buildings, machinery and so on, and suggested that the total may have ben more than $20,000.

ASKS $251,000,000—A damage suit for $251,000,000 was launched in New York's federal court by Harry Ferguson, above, naming the Ford Motor Co., and Henry Ford II among the defendants deliberately copied the Ferguson system tractor and line of farm implements and unlawfully seized and used Ferguson's inventions.

Lack of Entries Hamper New Brunswick, PEI Festival

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Jan. 15 (CP).—Stung by lack of entries and wartime loss of actors, the New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island Regional Drama Festival opens here Jan. 19 for a three-day stand with only four New Brunswick groups and one guest company from Nova Scotia competing.

Prince Edward Island is having no regional festival and the only Nova Scotia entry, from Kentville will play here. This play will not be in competition with New Brunswcik entries but will be eligible for representing the sister province in the Dominion Festival.

Lack of sufficient entries prevented a Nova Scotia festival.

Entering the provincial competition are St. Bernard's Catholic Youth Organization of Moncton, the Saint John District Council of the C.Y.O., the Theatre Guild of Saint John and the newly-formed Rothesay Play House.

The New Brunswick entries will be battling for double honors before the eyes of Robert Stuart, British actor who has been named adjudicator for the regional festivals.

Besides the right to represent the province in the Dominion competitions opening in Ottawa in April, the Provincial Players will also have their eyes set on a cup donated by Lieutenant-Governor D. L. MacLaren for the winning company of the foursome.

Sharp Contrast.

Sharply contrasted, but time-worn plays have been selected by the players — two groups selecting the same play independently.

The budding Rothesay Play House will present Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women," with its setting in Concord, Mass., a not unfamiliar spot to New Brunswickers.

The famous thriller by W. W. Jacobs and Louis N. Paker, "The Monkey's Paw," will be given an airing the following night by the Saint John District Council of the C.Y.T. Local C.Y.O. Chapter members will supply the cast for the mystery of gripping situations and Oriental superstition.

Boccaccio's "Decameron" will be the contributoin of the Theatre Guild of Saint John which will present the play in a medieval manner entitled 'Boccaccio's Untold Tale."

"The Valiant" by Holworthy Hall and Robert Midlemass has been selected for presentation by both the Kentville Art Guild and St. Bernard's C.Y.O. of Moncton.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, January 16

While the prospects are encouraging for the successful launching of ambitious projects, with the recognition and definite support of those in influential positions, yet a show of erratic, extravagant and wild ideas, or excessive zeal, might swerve this cooperation. Any strange conduct, forced plans, or intemperate words or deeds might alienate such interest.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is might upset the applecart on really constructive propositions, by a reckless, impulsive and extravagant mode of conduct, in words, acts, and other erratic or irresponsible conduct, when friendly interests stand by for concrete assistance and earnest recognition. Curb all quick impulses or emotional urges to force issues, by extravagant gestures or excessive hopes.

A child born on this day while attracting support for its unique or ambitious plans and ideas, is likely to have all hopes blow up through erratic or extravagant behavior.

Well-Trained Ear Required To Judge Canary Warblings

CALGARY, Jan. 15 (CP). — Even wondered why a canary sings? T. Retallack of Edmonton has the answer.

"A canary sings because he is bred to sing and because he likes it," says jovial cigar-smoking Mr. Retallack, a retired locomotive engineer.

He has raised canaries for 20 years. He's registered as a judge with the Dominion Roller Canary Association, and in two days of judging entries at the Calgary show recently he heard — and marked — the vocal efforts of 118 entries.

The competitors are divided into novice, amateur and champion classes, depending on their performance and record, if any, in previous competitions.

From two to four birds, each in a small contest cage, are brought into a room in which the judge sits alone. He knows them only by numbers on the cages, and when he is ready he opens the fronts of the cages and lets the birds do their best.

Owners train canaries entered in competition to sing when cage doors are opened. Sometimes a temperamental bird refuses to sing. Mr. Retallack encourages it by whistling and shaking a buckshot rattle. This usually does the trick.

To a layman judging is anything but easy. A canary's full song consists of "tours" and "rolls" which, blended make up the recognized song.

Many Types of Tours

The tours are classified as hollow roll, bass, water glucke, glucke, glucke roll, koller, hollow bell, schockel, flutes, water roll, deep bubbling water roll, bell glucke, bell roll and bell tour.

The judge must be able to recognize each of these and score so many points for the quality of each tour or roll performed. A bird is marked for the general effect of song, too.

But marks may be deducted from his rating for faulty gluckes, sharp flutes, hard aufzung — whatever that is — bad nasal tours and faulty bells, plus "ugly interjections."

With perhaps four birds singing at the same time, each performing a different tour or roll, a judge must concentrate with both eyes and ears if he's to keep the record straight.

A bird has 20 minutes in which to "put up or shut up. But judges make every effort to have them sing. They dislike returning a score marked "no song."

Competitors travel a regular circuit of their own. Many of the birds in the Calgary show competed at Vancouver and will be taken to other Canadian centres. The national competition is scheduled for Montreal in January.

COSTLY LUXURY

CANBERRA— (CP)— Tobacco is said to be Australia's "grossest dollar extravagance and her biggest agricultural flop." More than $12,000,000 a year are spent on smokes and of all the British Dominions, Australia alone is unable to grow a large share of her own tobacco despite more than 100 years of effort.

ESTABLISH SCOLARSHIP

WINNIPEG — (CP) — On the recommendation of the Manitoba minister of education, a Manitoban will be selected each year to attend the Colorado School of Mines on a scholarship which pays tuition. To begin next year, the scholarship will be extended for four years if the student's record is high enough.

Scrambled Eggs DeLuxe Served Instead of Meat

By MARY MOORE

A doctor friend of our family said recently: Dollar for dollar, calorie for calorie, one egg and one slice whole wheat bread, one glass whole milk is the best buy in Canada today."

Even in the face of high milk prcies this is such an obvious fact that I am afraid that it is not aired often enough.

Remember it when you are perturbed over providing adequate nutrition for your loved ones.

On such a diet it would be weeks before basic nutrition or metabolism were disturbed. What you would need to supplement this diet are green leafy vegtables and citrus fruits.

Nowfollowing up my plan announced last week, I am taking a lead from the above-mentioned doctor and am going to describe in detail how to perfectly scramble eggs,—with the idea in mind that you will use them as the protein component for the main meal of the day.

Emem's Scrambled Eggs

To serve four people beat six eggs until as foamy as possible. Add ½ cup milk or evaporated milk and ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Beat again. Have ready in frying pan 2 tablespoons fat. (This is a good time to use up some of the drippings from the turkey or holiday roasts. With bacon prices so high I dare not mention using bacon fat—or butter). This fat should be hot enough to turn light brown. Immediately add beaten eggs all at once. Let cook for one minute, or until dark gold on bottom. Push the "set" part to side of pan, and allow the liquid to form a layer over pan. Continue pushing "set" part to one side till all is "set". These interesting strata of browning add to the flavor and attractive appearance. Serve at once on unbuttered toast.

Interesting Variations Of Srambled Eggs

(1) Savoury Scrambled Eggs: To the fat in pan add 1 tablespoon each grated onion and finely chopped green pepper or parsley and proceed as above.

(2) Scrambled Eggs With Bacon: Omit the fat and saute 2 slices finely chopped side or back bacon for 5 minutes, before adding beaten eggs and "scramble" as described above.

(3) Cheesy Scrambled Eggs: When eggs are first put in pan add from ½ to 1 cup grated old cheese or 1 cup shredded processed cheese. If method of handling as above is followed the cheese is heated through enough to melt by the time the eggs are cooked.

(4) Scrambled Eggs with Mushrooms: To hot fat in pan add ¼ pound washed and thinly sliced mushrooms. Saute, stirring frequently, for 5 minutes. Then add eggs and proceed as above.

When fresh tomatoes are obtainable they make an ideal accompaniment when sliced, for scrambled eggs on toast. Indeed, they are an ideal "brunch" or supper.

"DON'TS" FOR NEW MA-IN-LAW

Few Helpful Rules On How to Be Popular With Son's Bride

✧ ✧ ✧

A mother whose only son is about to be married asks me if I will give her a few never-failing rules for being a good mother-in-law. Well, the Ten Commandments are not harder to keep than the rules for being a good mother-in-law, but here are a few suggestions that may help you to make yourself persona grata with Johnny's bride.

Dorothy Dix

First of all, begin preparing yourself to be a good mother-in-law when the doctor says: "It's a fine boy, Madam." Accustom yourself to the thought that some day Johnny is going to grow up and fall in love and get married and bring home a terrified little girl, with a chip on her shoulder, whom he is going to present you as your new daughter.

Of course, this will be a shock to you, for you had hoped that Johnny wouldn't marry until he was 75 or 80 years old, but take it easy. Don't burst into tears at your first glimpse of the bride. It can't be very cheering to a girl, who thinks she is bestowing a favor on a chap by marrying him, to have his mother welcome her as if she were Calamity Jane.

Just remember that the new daughter-in-law is just as scared of you as you are of her, and the reason that she is so standoffish is because she is afraid you are trying to put something over on her, and she is determined to make you understand, at the very start, that now Johnny belongs to her, not to you. So handle the situation with gloves.

Brides Are Jealous

Bear in mind that every bride is more jealous of her husband's mother than she ever is of any other rival. She simply can't endure the thought that his mother saw him first and that he loved his mother before he loved her. So don't get out all of Johnny's baby pictures, or his first little shoes, or tell her about all the cut things he did as a kid. Just act as if Johnny were a pleasant young man with who you were slightly acquainted until Friend Bride gets over being green-eyed.

Even the smartest men are dumb when it comes to dealing with their own women folks. Because you and Johnny have been chums ever since he was born and have enjoyed talking over all of your hopes and plans together, don't think you can keep on being pals with each other after he gets married. Nothing is more likely to blow a marriage to smithereens, for it fills the young wife with dark suspicions that her mother-in-law and her husband are plotting against her and are trying to break up her home.

Never give a daughter-in-law advice on any subject whatsoever. Never tell a daughter-in-law the best stores to patronize, or how to make a pie, or cook a roast, or how to cook things the way Johnny likes them. No young wife will stand for it. She knows it all. Solomon himself couldn't tell her anything.

And, finally, bear in mind that the real secret of being a good mother-in-law is never to live in the same house with your daughter-in-law, or your son-in-law for that matter. The faults and foibles and eccentricities of others rub us raw if we are brought into daily contact with them, but we laugh them off if we only have to stand them occasionally.

So, if you want to be a beloved and admired mother-in-law, never go to live with your children or let them come to live with you, and make your visits short and far between.

Decide Indian To Stand Trial

BRANTFORD, Jan. 15 (CP).—Alleged to have struck Isaac J. Hill a blow that fractured the 77-year-old Indian trapper's skull, Maynard Jonathan, 17, a Six Nations Indian, yesterday was committed for trial on a charge of murder.

Joseph Clause, Jonathan's cousin, quoted the youth as saying last November 9:

"I slugged the old man."

Clause said he and Jonathan went to Hamilton from Fruitland, where they were working, in an unsuccessful attempt to borrow money to meet an automobile payment. He said Jonathan later went out with a borrowed shotgun and on his return told Clause he had struck Hill.

The old trapper was found unconscious in the garage at his home on the Six Nations Reserve at nearby Oshweken by Donald David, a neighbor. David helped Hill to the house and sent for a doctor and the RCMP.

Constable A. H. Langille of the RCMP said Jonathan led police ao a brushpile where they found a broken shotgun. He said Jonathan told him:

"They've got me if they have got enough evidence to prove it."

Gandhi Worried Over Massacre

NEW DELHI, Jan. 15 —(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, demonstrating for harmony among India's religious communities, today entered the third day of his peace fast in growing danger of starvation and openly worried over a new massacre in Moslem Pakistan.

The Indian government said last night Pathan tribesmen in Pakistan's West Punjab ambushed a refugee train Tuesday and only 750 of the 2,400 non-Moslem passengers were known to have survived the attack.

Later Gandhi, holding his nightly prayer meeting, referred to this report and told followers, "It distresses me." In a released text of his remarks, the 78-year-old Hindu spiritual leader was quoted:

"How long can the (Indian) union put up with such things? How long can I bank on the patience of the Hindus and Sikhs in spite of my fast?

"Pakistan has to put a stop to this state of affairs. They must purify their hearts and pledge themselves that they will not rest until Hindus and Sikhs can return and live in safety in Pakistan."

THE BIT IN YOUR TEETH

HERE GOES for a terrific mixed metaphor: "You take your fate in your hands when you take the bit in your teeth." Yet that just about describes what occurs if you intentionally violate a clear-cut signal given by your partner during the defense of a hand. It is particularly so in a match point tournament, in which one trick more or less can determine whether you get a top or bottom on the deal and possibly even whether you win the tournament by a bare margin or fail by an eyelash.

	♠ 8 7 6 5 2 ♥ A J 2 ♦ A 10 ♣ J 10 4
♠ Q 9 4 ♥ 8 7 6 5 4 3 ♦ Q ♣ A 9 2	N W E S	♠ J 3 ♥ Q 9 ♦ K 7 6 5 3 ♣ 8 7 5 3
	♠ A K 10 ♥ K 10 ♦ J 9 8 4 2 ♣ K Q 6

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 NT
Pass	3 NT

West opened his fourth-best heart 5 on this individual tournament deal, the 9 being taken by the 10, and South put forth the diamond 2 to the Q and A. The diamond 10 came back, East playing low and West tossing the discouraging club 2. Then the spade 2 was led to the A, West playing the 9—which everybody read as unnecessarily high and therefore some kind of a signal. The diamond 8 was now led to the K, and East had his chance to obey or disobey the high-spade signal of his partner.

Upon study, he decided late it, feeling that West would be helped more by a heart return since he had the undisclosed Q. South of course got that with the K, promptly led the club K to the A, and so was sure of the remaining tricks. No matter what West now returned, the declarer was sure of two more tricks in each minor and one each in the majors, enabling him to score all except two tricks for a neat top.

If East had returned a spade when in with the diamond K, he would have immediately established a trick in the suit for West. It could have been cashed then as soon as West scored his club A. That would have held the declarer to four-odd, a good score for East and West, instead of the five-odd actually made as a bad score for the defense.

Proof that Rototiller is profitable equipment is evidenced by the number of Commercial Growers and Big Scale Producers who are now using one or more of these Machines. They realize the savings in time, manpower and equipment costs obtained by using one implement to perform better work than plow, disc, harrow, and cultivator combined.
